Ag department joins in aiding co-op formation

Minnesota Department of Agriculture has added new services to assist groups that are interested in forming agricultural cooperatives.

MDA has contracted with Cooperative Development Services to provide development and organizational assistance to new groups. The organization has offices in St. Paul and Madison, WI.

"The success of any cooperative development project relies on the leadership, the quality of the business idea and the applicability of the cooperative business structure to the business idea," MDA Commissioner Gene Hugoson said.

"CDS will help groups evaluate these key areas and assist them in forming a steering committee. If all these key aspects are in place, CDS will also assist in the incorporation of the cooperative."

Value-added agricultural cooperatives can then apply to the MDA for assistance through its Value-Added Agricultural Cooperative Grant Program. This program awards up to $50,000 per cooperative for market research, feasibility studies, product development, development of business plans and predesign of facilities. Since its inception in 1997, the program has awarded more than $295,000 to 15 cooperatives in these critical areas to date.

One new poultry cooperative has obtained a two-year contract with a processor that will result in the production of more than 15 million chickens, which will consume 1.5 million bushels of corn, 790,000 bushels of soybeans and contribute $3.3 million to the local community.

Another cooperative is in the final stages of an equity drive to build a $5 million hog processing plant.

Applications are accepted on a continuous basis. Contact Terry Dalbec at 651-215-0368 for an application or more information.

Q&A SOCIAL SECURITY

Provided by the Social Security District Office in Grand Forks, ND

Q. I plan to file for retirement soon. How do I go about it? What documents do I need?

A. Filing for Social Security retirement is usually a fairly simple process which can even be done by telephone.

First, about two months before you want to start drawing benefits you should call SSA's national toll-free line at 1-800-772-1213 and make an appointment. The appointment will be received in a local SSA office.

On the appointment date, a SSA representative will call you or see you in the office and go through an application for benefits with you.

The interview will take approximately 45 minutes, and you will be asked information which will help Social Security compute your benefits properly, determine if you are eligible on the record of someone else, such as a spouse, and determine if someone else is eligible on your record.

Social Security helps you chose the best month to start your benefits based on your actual retirement plans and explains the overall Social Security requirements.

Documents needed will vary, depending on individual circumstances, but generally, a certified birth certificate, your most recent W-2 form or tax return if you are self-employed and bank information for electronic direct deposit are needed. The bank information consists of the bank routing number and your account number. This information is available on a personal check but not on a deposit slip.

Marriage information is also needed, including date of marriage and the name, birth date and social security number of your spouse. If you have had multiple marriages, expect to be asked about them. You will be asked about children only if they are under the age of 19 or disabled.

You might be asked about military service and, in some cases, Social Security will ask to see your military record such as the DD-214.

The self-employed can expect many questions about what will happen to the business. It is best if you have a definite plan, including when you intend to retire and how much you anticipate earning during the year of your retirement. This includes wage or self-employment earnings from before you retire plus whatever work you anticipate doing after retirement. Pensions will not be included with these earnings.

It is important to remember that the interview is not a one-way street, and you should ask whatever questions you have.

Those doing the interview by telephone will have the application mailed to them for signature and return with the needed documents. In all cases, documents will be returned to you.

Q. Is there such a thing as a supplement to Social Security if you have a low retirement check? If so, how do I sign up?

A. There is not a direct supplement to Social Security benefits. Benefit amounts, whether from retirement, survivors or disability, are based on the career earnings of the numberholder's record. For example, if you receive retirement benefits based on your own work, then you are the numberholder, and your earnings record was the basis for the amount of the benefit. If you are receiving survivor benefits as a widow, then your deceased husband would be the numberholder, and the amount would be based on his earnings. As most people know, Social Security benefits were never intended to provide for a person's full retirement needs.

What does confuse some people is that the Social Security Administration also works with a separate and different program named Supplemental Security Income (SSI) which is need based.

SSI is paid with general tax revenue, not Social Security money. Eligibility for SSI is based on general factors of income, resources and living arrangements for an individual or couple with low overall income. SSI benefits are payable in the general categories of low income for people over age 65, disabled adults and disabled children under the age of 18. In the cases of disabled children, family income is considered.

In 1999, the most that an individual can receive monthly from SSI is $500. Couples with both people eligible can receive a maximum of $751 per month. These maximum amounts are reduced by virtually all other income, including Social Security, pensions, work income or the value of housing provided by someone else. Usually, persons eligible for SSI are also clients of county social services.

For more information about Social Security or Supplemental Security Income (SSI), call the SSA's national toll-free number, 800-772-12134 between the hours of 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. The representatives can also schedule an appointment for you to file for benefits.

Prized awards received by Ione Austad of rural Oklee hang proudly on the wall of her kitchen. She was Pennington county outstanding senior citizen in 1998 and received the first state Humanitarian Award presented at Senior Citizen Day at the Minnesota State Fair. She was recently named rural beautification winner for 1999 by the Pennington County SWCD.

A carpet of moss roses covers the outer perimeter of this octagonal flower bed in the yard of Ione Austad north of Oklee. Mrs. Austad, 74, is shown looking for a rare weed among the roses. Also adding interest to the display are marigolds, a cistern hand pump, flag pole, large rock, implement wheels and a few catchy signs.

A large flower bed in front of Ione Austad's house 10 miles north of Oklee contains an assortment of flowers that provide blooms throughout the summer season. Bricks defining the border of the bed were salvaged by her sons Russell and Lyle from demolition sites where they were employed in the carpentry trade. The Austad farmstead was selected by the Pennington County SWCD as rural beautification award winner for 1999.

Russell Austad was a carpenter with his brother Lyle in the Twin Cities for a number of years before returning to his rural Oklee home in 1991. His interest in yard and garden helps his 74-year-old mother Ione keep ahead of the yard work. It takes Russell five hours of steady mowing to cut the grass on the farmstead. He often also rises early in the morning to accomplish yard tasks that need doing. The friendly Springer Spaniel is named "Ole."

Once a post office was located in the house now owned by Ione Austad of rural Oklee. The house was built in 1907 and a portion housed the Malone Post Office until 1910. The Austad farm was recently named 1999 winner of the Pennington SWCD rural beautification award.

Row upon row of garden items are in this large garden on the Ione Austad farm north of Oklee. Strawberries are in the patch in the foreground and raspberries along the back of the garden. Dill and potatoes are also in this garden, one of three on the farm.

Potatoes, tomatoes, sweet corn, string beans and cucumbers are grown in this garden on the Ione Austad farm north of Oklee. Most of the trees in the background were planted by Ione and her late husband Ole. Mrs. Austad was named 1999 rural beautification winner by the Pennington County Soil and Water Conservation District.

Acres of grass all neatly mowed surround the home of Ione Austad of rural Oklee, winner of the 1999 rural beautification award selected by the Pennington County Soil and Water Conservation District. This area of the yard was once a part of the Austad's cattle pasture. The large octagonal flower bed is dwarfed by the expanse of green lawn.

Buckets of begonias are located in the large flower bed in front of Ione Austad's house north of Oklee. Winner of the 1999 rural beautification award presented by the Pennington County Soil and Water Conservation District, Mrs. Austad likes to plant flowers in containers—and almost any container will do.

Darryl Tvietbakk named NMPA general manager

the board of directors. Earls, who is director of public works for the City of Fosston, filled the same dual role during a recent interim period.

As superintendent of the Thief River Falls City Power and Light Department, Anderson was a prime organizer of NMPA. He served as board president for 19 years.

NMPA was formed in 1976 following notification that the Western Area Power Administration (WAFA) allocations would no longer be able to provide for all of the growing electric requirements of the cities, most of whom were dependent on that power source. In 1981, NMFA and Minnkota Power Cooperative reached an agreement to pool resources available to both organizations, thereby reducing the cost of wholesale power to the members.

"Our mission in the next few years is to prepare this agency and our 12 member cities for the future," Tveitbakk says. "We have to look at cost of service, at unbundling of distribution costs, the rising value of power in the market place, territory issues and annexation. . . there are many issues on the table and we need to be ready to respond to them."

Tveitbakk, who grew up on a dairy farm near Clearbrook, attended the University of Minnesota for two years before earning an associate degree in electronics from Northland Community and Technical College, Thief River Falls, in 1973. He worked for the City of Thief River Falls in its metering department and later as its customer service representative before becoming an electronics instructor at Northland Community College in 1990. He joined NMFA in 1992.

NMFA and Minnkota Power Cooperative make up a joint system that includes 12 rural electric distribution cooperatives and 12 municipal power distribution systems in northwestern Minnesota and northeastern North Dakota. A part of the system, too, are generating plants in the lignite fields of North Dakota and the transmission system that brings that power back to the Red River Valley area.

NMPA owns a 30 percent interest in the Coyote Station at Beulah, ND. Other owners are: Otter Tail Power Co., Fergus Falls (35 percent); Montana Dakota Utilities Co., Bismarck, ND (25 percent); and Northwestern Public Service Co., Huron, SD (10 percent). NMPA purchased Minnkota's interests in the station along with a load-ratio share of the Minnkota transmission system in a transaction that was closed just prior to Coyote's start of generation in October 1977. Minnkota Power is the operating agent for NMPA.

Governor's Farm Cabinet pays visit to Roseau area

Members of Gov. Jesse Ventura's Farm Cabinet visited Roseau county Tuesday to meet with farmers and elected officials in the hope of forming an action plan to help northwestern Minnesota farmers recover from a crippling combination of poor weather and depressed commodity prices.

Making the trip from St. Paul were Commissioner of Agriculture Gene Hugoson, Trade and Economic Development Commissioner Jerry Carlson, Director of Planning Dean Barkley and representatives from the Pollution Control Agency, Department of Revenue and the Governor's office.

Meeting with the Farm Cabinet representatives were farmers, agricultural lenders, implement dealers and local officials to show and explain how the northwestern corner of the state has been affected by heavy rains and flooded fields. . .

"Everyone knows farmers around the state are suffering from low commodity prices, but the producers in northwestern Minnesota have also had to deal with terrible growing conditions and ruined crops," Commissioner Hugoson said.

"To their credit, the people in that area have been working hard to come up with a local recovery plan. Now the Governor's Farm Cabinet has met with them to discuss possible steps the state and federal government can take to help."

Unusually heavy spring rains prevented planting of many fields or washed out other fields which were seeded. Local officials estimate that up to 70 percent of Roseau county annual crops may not be harvested this year due to excessive moisture, while some nearby counties may lose 25 to 50 percent of their tillable acres.

Governor Ventura created the Farm Cabinet earlier this year as a way to combine the resources of a number of state agencies to help boost the competitive position of Minnesota's agricultural community. The cabinet includes the department of agriculture, commerce, trade and economic development, revenue, finance and planning and the pollution control agency.

A tiny flower such as the one above has a tendancy to get lost in the profusion of blossoms in the Ione Austad farm yard 10 miles north of Oklee, but its beauty is not lost on the grower, who is the Pennington County SWCD 1999 rural beautification winner.

Chamber policy development to be discussed August 30

Minnesota and Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce are hosting a legislative priority development session for the year 2000 session of the legislature on Monday, August 30, from 12 noon to 1:30 p.m. at the Best Western Inn. Cost of lunch is $7.

"While the ink isn't dry yet on bills passed by the legislature this year, the Minnesota Chamber wants to know what local people think the business priorities for the 2000 session should be," noted Julie Olson, president of the Thief River Falls Chamber.

The session will provide a brief recap of the 1999 legislative session and what the outcome means to local employers. More importantly, the Minnesota Chamber wants local help and input as it begins building the business agenda for 2000.

"The next legislative session will be particularly important with an election and redistricting around the corner," Olson said, "not to mention significant policy issues for Minnesota companies."

To make a reservation to attend the session, call the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce office at 681-3720.

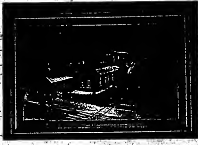
A second plaque appearing on the other side of the painting in the council chambers lists the families and friends of Soo Line Rails" who provided funds for the permanent memorial. There are about 100 names on the list.



Prints of the John Fisher Painting "Night Departure From Thief River Falls," can be purchased from the City. The original, which is on display in the city council chambers of the renovated depot, was unveiled in a ceremony last Friday.

Ione Austad farm receives rural beautification honor ming with Roundup a couple of times a year; that takes less time.

The former Ione Weberg of Trail, Ione said she has had a garden since she married Ole Austad in Hibbing in 1943 and they moved to Ole's home farm where she now resides. Ole died May 29, 1995.

Ole's parents, Grande and Berget Austad, moved to the farm from Hickory township in 1905 and built a tiny house for themselves and their three children. The present house was built in 1906 and served as the Malone Post Office until 1910. It has been modernized, added to, remodeled and redecorated over the years.

Not only does Ione do a lot of home canning and freezing of garden produce, much of the Austad garden bounty finds its way to family members and neighbors. Ione seems to delight in giving vegetables away as much as she does in using them.

Neighbors Have No Gardens

She wonders aloud why none of her neighbors have gardens, then chuckles at the suggestion that they probably don't need them as long as she has hers.

A year ago Ione was selected as Pennington county's outstanding female senior citizen. She was reluctant to take the trip to St. Paul for the Minnesota State Fair where county winners are recognized; her heart condition, you know.

Her caution didn't make much of an impression on her daughters who live in the Twin Cities suburbs. "There are more doctors down here than there are up there," they said.

So Ione went to the State Fair, enjoyed the day and was ready to leave following the afternoon program. Officials insisted she stay for the evening grandstand program.

Earns Humanitarian Award

"They finally told me they were giving the first state Humanitarian Award, and that it was going to be given to me," she said. Despite her expected nervousness in front of the sea of grandstand faces, she said she was surprisingly calm at the evening presentation ceremonies. And she treasures her award—an embossed leather plaque which hangs with other awards and certificates in her cozy kitchen.

Walls of the living room are covered with photos of family, from long-deceased ancestors to recently born babies. Ione has five children, nine grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren, the latter ranging in age from a month to 10 years.

Five Austad Children

In addition to Russell who now lives at the farm, the children include Lyle, Gary, Judith and Jean.

Lyle is married to the former Vickie Johnsrud of Goodridge and they live at Trail. He and Russell are both graduates of the carpentry program at the former vocational-technical institute in Thief River Falls and worked together in the Twin Cities for some time before moving back to northern Minnesota.

Gary lives at Detroit Lakes, Judith is married to Gary Bartz and lives in Coon Rapids and Jean is married to Allan Hoiby and lives in Blaine.

While her husband was never particularly interested in gardening, all of the children seem to have inherited Ione's love for growing things. It's difficult not to catch her enthusiasm as she talks about the maple tree she and Ole dug from a ditch by Trail, or the Scotch pines on the edge of the windbreak, or the chestnut trees and other trees and plants given by friends and neighbors throughout the years.

Now if someone could just explain those non-flowering potatoes.....

Haviland medalist in national diving meet

Chelsea Haviland returned to Thief River Falls Monday from Orlando, FL with a medal on the one-meter board in the 14-15-year-old age group at the 1999 Summer Junior Olympics Diving Championships.

The 15-year-old Haviland, who will be a Lincoln High School sophomore this fall, placed eighth on the one-meter board Tuesday and was 16th on the three-meter board Saturday. Top 12 finishers in event event earn medals.

It was the third national meet appearance for Haviland, who competed as a 13-year-old in Austin, TX and advanced to the Winter Junior Olympics earlier this year in St. Louis, MO.

Chelsea, the daughter of Jim and Alicia Haviland, advanced to the nationals through region and zone competition that narrows down an an original field of about 8,000 divers in each age group.

"We want to let everyone know how much we appreciate the community support," said Alicia Haviland. Funds raised through a community car wash were used to help cover the cost of the trip.

Girls high school swimming practice begins Monday. Haviland is the defending Minnesota Class A state diving champion.

GREENBUSH RACE PARK

by Bob Hultgren

Greenbush Race Park held its second annual Elliot Baker Memorial Race Friday, with Greg Ferris of Emo, ON claiming the Baker Cup for the second straight year.

The Modified feature suffered through five caution flags in the first three laps before Ferris jumped out front and led the final 17 caution-free laps for the win. Race Park Modified points leader Nolan Olmstead of Badger finished a strong second.

Scott Ripplinger of Warroad led a strong Super Stock field for his first feature win of the year. Ripplinger had a good-sized lead going into turn three on the final lap when he went sideways and almost lost his edge. He bounced his car off the front straightaway retaining wall and crossed the finish line just ahead of Bob Shafer of Bemidji.

Sixty-four cars competed in the five classes, with strong competition in each class.

The points race is still close in all classes, with only three Friday night races remaining on the 1999 schedule. The Race Park will hold a regular race this week, followed by the track championships Aug. 20 and the season finale/awards presentations Aug. 27.

Race time each night is 7 p.m. The track is located one-half mile north of Greenbush on County Road 7.

Class D District 7 women's softball tournament played in Cloquet has TRF entries

Three Thief River Falls Women's Slow Pitch Softball League teams competed in the Class D District 7 tournament over the weekend at Cloquet.

The Sluggers turned in the best showing among the trio with a 3-2 record in the elimination round that moved them into the state tournament-qualifying round, where they lost their first start.

Dairy Queen-Sather-Law had a 2-2 tournament showing and Pepsi went 1-2.

The Ridgerunners and Tony Dom Inc.-Fitness Center will play in the Class B state tournament this weekend at Moorhead.

SPORTS BRIEFS

Polum coaches title team

Brent Polum, a Lincoln High School instructor and the Prowlers' head baseball coach the past two years, led the Grand Forks American Legion baseball team to its first state tournament title since 1972 Sunday when the Royals edged Minot 10-9 in the finals of the eight-team, double-elimination event at Kraft Field.

Polum is in his fifth year as the Grand Forks Legion coach. The Royals, under Polum, were also state finalists in 1996 and 1997.

Grand Forks will now advance to the Central Plains Region tournament that begins Thursday in Dickinson, ND.

In Minnesota, Ninth District champion Moorhead had a 2-2 finish at the 16-team, double-elimination Division 1 state Legion tournament played in the St. Cloud area.

Moorhead beat the Richfield Reds 11-3 in first round play, but lost to Bloomington 10-0 in Round 2. That dropped the Blues into the loser's bracket, where they advanced with a 3-0 win over Monticello, but were eliminated by Eagle Lake 4-2.

TRF women's bowling meeting is set Aug. 16

Thief River Falls Women's Bowling Association will hold an organizational meeting Monday, Aug. 16, at 7 p.m. at the Family Bowl. All league secretaries are asked to attend, along with all interested bowlers.

Jodi Krute had a number of family members and friends in the stands at the Winnipeg Convention Center when the Thief River Falls native competed in the 1999 Pan Am Games as a member of the United States women's team handball squad. Part of her cheering section included Mackenzie (left) and Rebecca Kruta, daughters of Steve and Jill Krute of Thief River Falls. Steve is Jodi's cousin.

Kruta enjoys Pan Am Games

■ No Olympics or medal, but memorable experience

by Sports Editor Mike Lundgren

There will be no 2000 Olympics for Jodi Kruta and the USA women's team handball squad. The Thief River Falls native was part of the 13-member United States National Team that wrapped up its 1999 Pan Am Games appearance Sunday in Winnipeg, MB.

Needing a gold medal-winning performance in the Olympic-qualifying event to earn a spot in the Sydney, Australia Summer Games, the United States lost a 27-23 Saturday semifinal game to Canada, and then dropped a 29-26 bronze medal game to Cuba Sunday.

During the round-robin pool play portion of the Pan Am Games that set up the medal round pairings, the USA beat Argentina 22-17 and Uruguay 24-16, then tied tournament favorite Brazil 22-22 before losing to Canada 19-15 and Cuba 25-22.

Brazil wound up out-scoring Canada 31-27 in the gold medal game.

Kruta was not one of the seven Team USA starters, but still managed to score four goals while playing behind two-time Olympian Pat Neder on the right wing.

"I knew my playing time would be limited because she (Neder) is really good," said Kruta. "She scored 35 goals in the seven games. I just tried to do the best I could whenever I got a chance to play. I thought I did okay, with the amount of playing time I got."

With the gold medal and the Olympics as a goal, the outcome was letdown, acknowledged Kruta. "We wanted to make the Olympics," she said. "Naturally it was disappointing. We could have played better. We should have been playing for the gold medal. But even if we would have played our best, I don't know if we would have beaten Brazil. They are really good."

Members of the women's team handball squad didn't arrive in Winnipeg until Aug. 27 – several days after the opening ceremonies and after many venues had already been completed. But they did take part in the Sunday closing ceremonies before flying out of Winnipeg late that night.

"It was really a great experience to be able to represent your country in an event like that," offered Kruta. "That's something you don't ordinarily get a chance to do."

It was fun," noted Kruta. But it was also demanding. "We played a lot of games in a short time," she said in reference playing a schedule that called for seven games in nine days.

Part of the enjoyment came from the fact that family members and friends were in the stands cheering Kruta and her USA teammates whenever they played. At halftime of a first weekend contest, Kruta said her teammates mentioned they felt like they were playing a home game because of the cheering generated in her fan section.

Kruta, a teacher in the Atlanta area, returned to Georgia Monday in preparation for the start of the 1999-2000 school year next week. Her future in the sport is up in the air. "As of right now, I have no idea what's going to happen," she said. "It's all up to the (team handball) Federation. They probably won't have a national team for another four years. You never know, but at this point, I have to continue on my life and concentrate on my career."

DNR wildlife tourism workshops planned at 19 statewide sites

Beginning in September, the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources will be teaming up with the Minnesota Office of Tourism, the Minnesota Resort Association, the Minnesota Association of Innkeepers, Minnesota Hotel and Lodging Association, Minnesota Ornithologist's Union, and local bird clubs to sponsor 19 wildlife tourism workshops.

The workshops are designed for the benefit of owners and managers of resorts, motels, hotels, bed and breakfasts, convention and visitors' bureaus, and local chambers of commerce. Information will be presented that will help Minnesota's hospitality industry to better accommodate the growing number of visitors and travelers who see, enjoy and photograph Minnesota's wildlife.

Recent studies from the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service revealed that about 650,000 people are traveling to see Minnesota's wildlife each year. About one-third of these people are from out of state. These wildlife enthusiasts are spending about $380,000,000 per year for their wildlife-related pursuits.

"Many segments of the hospitality have not yet developed programs, facilities and activities that will appeal to these wildlife enthusiasts," said Carrol Henderson, DNR Nongame Wildlife Program supervisor.

Among the big attractions are fall raptor and swan migrations, wintering bald eagles, wintering by rare owls in northern regions, spring warbler migration, prairie chicken booming grounds, waterfowl migration sites, moose observation areas, and places to see peregrine falcons.

First workshop will be in Bemidji (Sept. 29). For more details, or to obtain the schedule for the remaining workshops, call the DNR at 651-297-4966.

These activities are sponsored with funding from the Legislative Commission for Minnesota Resources with funding from the Environmental Trust Fund (Minnesota lottery proceeds).

Magnum (center) recently became Pennington County's first and only canine officer in the sheriff's department. Deputy Terry Bayne (left) and Magnum completed six weeks of training at a K-9 school in Evansville last May, and are now working a regular shift. Bayne and Magnum are pictured with Pennington County Sheriff Mike Hruby, who has welcomed and supports the creation of the county's first K-9 unit.

Pennington County Sheriff's department introduces Magnum

Magnum is Pennington County Sheriff's department newest member, and the county's first and only canine "officer".

"We are pleased and proud of Chief Deputy Bayne and his accomplishments and welcome Magnum to the sheriff's department," said Pennington County Sheriff Mike Hruby.

Before Magnum made his debut in Thief River Falls, Terry Bayne, chief sheriff's deputy, participated in six weeks of intensive training with Magnum at Top Dogs Evansville Police K-9 Academy. Bayne said he was very impressed with the course. His trainers were equally impressed with Magnum. Only after he had returned did Bayne learn how well he and Magnum had performed during testing. Shortly after completing the course he learned they had finished the course with a 94 percent and at the top of his class.

"Terry's graduating at the top of his class shows his dedication to law enforcement," said Sheriff Hruby. "We feel that the addition of a canine unit to Pennington county will be an assist to public safety in the community."

Although Magnum has received specific training in obedience, tracking, narcotics work and apprehend and hold, training will be a life-long process. Bayne said he continues to work with Magnum on a daily basis. He also plans to continue narcotics training.

Magnum's introduction to the community will be measured and thorough. He is ready to perform his assigned duties now and is traveling around in a specially designed kennel in the back of a squad car. As he did recently at National Night Out in Thief River Falls, Magnum and Bayne will be visiting and demonstrating the skills they learned for the many organizations that helped pay for his training.

The cost of training and equipping Bayne and Magnum with the necessary knowledge and tools is estimated at $16,000. Before he left for training in April, Bayne had raised about $10,000 in cash and pledges. He is still raising funds for the cost of the training.

Why does it cost so much? Magnum is a 15 month old German Shepherd brought to the United States from the Czech Republic. Bayne explained that the instructor obtains his dogs from special breeders in the Czech Republic because American German Shepherds have been trained and bred for show. Prior to Bayne even meeting Magnum, the instructor spent 10 weeks training Magnum making sure he had the characteristics necessary to become a police dog.

Bayne not only paid for a specially bred police dog, but paid for the training, his motel and travel expenses, a kennel for the squad car, and a kennel for Magnum at his home.

Magnum will stay with Bayne and his family. "He has an excellent disposition," said Bayne. "He's already playing with my children."

Bayne said he's confident Magnum will do his job. Before taking an active police dog role, Bayne held a meeting with the law enforcement community to address safety issues and whatever concerns they might have regarding Magnum. "There are some things they need to know about Magnum," he said.

Magnum is expected to have a seven-year work life. After seven years, he'll retire to live a more leisurely life with Bayne and his family.

Company begins mapping county for new E911

Within the next two to three weeks GeoComm Corporation will begin driving the roads in Pennington county to collect accurate address information for the rural residents. This is all part of an effort to standardize the addressing system and provide better information to emergency responders.

GeoComm will determine the specific location of each rural resident using GPS (Global Positioning Satellite) equipment. This requires that GeoComm stop at the end of each driveway for approximately 10 to 15 seconds to capture an accurate latitude and longitude reading. The vehicle being used by GeoComm officials is a white Nissan Pathfinder with the GeoComm logo on the side.

After the GPS locations have been determined a new address will be assigned to each rural resident. This address will consist of a five digit house number and a street or avenue name. An example would be 12345 120th Ave. SW. The new addresses will be delivered later. Residents of Pennington county who live within the limits of an incorporated city will not see a change of address.

Sen. Roger Moe notes new laws on the books as of August 1

Sen. Roger Moe

Many changes in Minnesota laws took effect at 12:01 a.m. on Aug. 1. These are policy changes that will show up in the statute books, but they typically have no direct impact on the state budget.

Personally, I spent a great deal of time this year on state fiscal issues, such as setting up the two tobacco endowments for a healthier Minnesota; funneling additional funds into public education; and providing for a fairly distributed Sales Tax Rebate that will be mailed out before Labor Day. Most of these fiscal measures took effect on July 1 when the new biennium started.

The laws that take effect on Aug. 1 will have an impact in a wide variety of areas, including the 1999 crime, consumer protection, health care and road safety measures illustrated below.

Crime victims compensated. Crime victims are more likely to collect restitution payments, even if they move away. A new law allows crime victims to make claims for moving expenses and other costs related to the crime against them. The measure also sets up a system for courts to deposit any unclaimed restitution from offenders into the state reparations account available for collection when the crime victim is located.

Criminal counterfeits. Until now, it was not a crime to sell fake name-brand merchandise in Minnesota. Counterfeiters take business away from legitimate companies, posing a danger to consumers who often are not aware that they are receiving inferior goods. In the past, the only recourse available was the arduous civil court litigation process. The new law establishes penalties based on the number and value of the items counterfeited. The maximum penalty provides for a five-year prison sentence and up to a $100,000 fine.

No fees for nothing. Landlords are now prohibited from collecting screening fees from applicants when they know no apartment units are available. The new law also prohibits a landlord from keeping a fee collected for a background check that is never performed. Landlords are also required to tell prospective tenants who pay the screening fee, which background service will be used.

Helpful pharmacists. Pharmacists are now allowed to perform additional tasks that are helpful to their customers under pharmacy practice changes approved by the Legislature. The measure allows pharmacists to engage in monitoring of drug therapy, selection of therapeutic devices, drug research, and first dose and emergency drug administration. Working by written agreement with a health-care practitioner, pharmacists are also now allowed to manage drug therapy on a case-by-case basis.

Three ambulance service changes. Three separate changes will have a positive impact on ambulance services. First, ambulance services and other first responders now have the benefit of peer review as they work with other medical professionals. Peer review is used by medical professionals to discuss and consider controversial incidents in an effort to find solutions when problems arise. Information exchanged in peer review sessions is protected from legal discovery associated with civil litigation.

Second, training and operating rules have been modified to address the concerns expressed by many smaller, rural ambulance service providers. The training criteria are now more convenient and geared toward effective field operations. Basic life support (BLS) services, which are most common in rural areas, are now authorized to provide advanced life support (ALS) on a part-time basis without having to make the big leap to ALS service on a 24-hour, everyday basis.

Lastly, ambulance services are also now allowed to participate in shared service purchasing arrangements to obtain new ambulances, equipment and supplies. The law change provides greater flexibility in cooperative purchasing and is expected to reduce ambulance services, overall costs.

Slow down in rural residential areas. In an effort to make them safer, the speed limit on town roads in residential areas of rural townships is reduced to 30 miles per hour. Previously, many of the roads in these areas had 55 mph speed limits.

The lower speed limit applies in rural township residential areas where buildings are located within 300 feet of each other along stretches of road where the neighborhood extends for at least one-quarter mile.

Tables and benches were full, but it really didn't matter because the weather was perfect for the National Night Out event held in Thief River Falls Tuesday night. Over 600 people attended the free event which was held in Floyd B. Olson Park.

Glaucoma is leading cause of blindness

Most people over 35 have heard about glaucoma but many are not taking action to protect their eyes and vision from it, says Dr. Marlane Brown, president of the Minnesota Optometric Association.

Glaucoma is an eye disease and the leading cause of blindness in the United States. Although it can strike at any time, it is more likely to develop after age 35 and particularly after age 60. It affects about two to three percent of older adults.

Glaucoma is an increase of pressure within the eye. It occurs when the fluid inside the eye goes beyond the normal level needed to retain the eye's shape. This can happen when too much fluid is produced or when normal drainage is disturbed. The buildup of pressure damages and gradually destroys both central and side vision.

Although it cannot be prevented, glaucoma usually can be controlled through medication or surgery if it is diagnosed and treated early, says Dr. Brown. The difficulty is that glaucoma seldom has any noticeable early symptoms, so people do not realize they have it.

Optometrists, however, use several tests to diagnose glaucoma, even in its earliest stages. This is why annual eye examinations after age 35 are so important.

One test used to diagnose glaucoma is called tonometry. The tonometer measures the pressure inside the eye. A single high reading is not sufficient basis for a diagnosis but it is an indication further testing is in order. According to Dr. Brown, optometrists routinely include tonometry in the eye health part of their eye examination but they also use other tests to diagnose glaucoma. These include looking inside the eye through the pupil, to observe the health of the optic nerve and administering tests to determine any loss of side vision.

Several pets in TRF pound

Several pets are being held in the Thief River Falls Police Department Animal Pound. Owners may claim their pets by proving ownership. Any expense, pound fees, license fees, incurred by the police department will be assessed prior to release.

Each animal impounded will be kept for a minimum of 10 days from the date of impoundment. For more information about the following animals contact the police department at 681-6161: a male beagle, impounded August 6 from the area of East Greenwood; two male coon-hound puppies, impounded August 3 from Marshall county; a male black lab impounded July 30 from the North Knight area; a male gray cat, impounded August 5 from the Horace Avenue area; a female orange and white cat, impounded August 3 in Red Lake Falls.

The following animals will be given away: a female white lab cross, impounded August 5; a male chow cross, impounded August 5; a male orange and white cat, impounded July 28; and a male black cat, impounded July 25.

Instead of diesel fuel or dye, officials obtained permission to use popcorn to gauge the speed of an element moving through the city's storm sewer lines. The exercise also gauged the effectiveness of booms stretched around the opening of the outlet. The test was part of an emergency drill held Wednesday in Thief River Falls. Two more booms were stretched across the river beyond the initial boom.

Market Day

Each year when we attend the 4-H market livestock sale on the last day of the Pennington County Fair, we wonder what is going through the minds of youngsters offering their blue ribbon animals for sale and eventual conversion to table fare. After all the time spent caring for, training and grooming them, are the animals more to the exhibitors than commodities?

Certainly the purpose of raising livestock is to provide a meat source that is saleable, hopefully for a profit. The market sale at the fair is intended to reward livestock project members for their efforts with a premium price for their animals. The 4-Hers know early on that their animals won't be lifelong pets, but attachments must be difficult to avoid.

Shortly after this year's market sale we received the following poem from a reader that seemed especially appropriate. It was from a column by Cecil Femling, was credited to "The Grease-Pit Poet" and was dated December, 1973:

MARKET DAY

At six a.m. we hide our time
Amid the smells and sights
With cattle trucks in endless line
That's marked by clearance lights.
Since early eve and through the night
Our big green truck has roared,
With sixteen Herefords jammed in tight
And us in Walker's Ford.

In Walker's Forty-Seven Ford
With saddles on the side
And tandem duals beneath the boards
Where fatted Herefords ride.
Old Walker shifting up and down
And sometimes he would grin
And let me push the button down
That shifts the two-speed in.

And so the night has slipped away
'Til the first faint dawn that breaks
Finds us backed, on market day,
Against the loading gates.

I stroke old Big Boy through the rail
And I can plainly see
The flicking of his friendly tail
As he answers back at me.
A thousand pounds of Hereford steer,
He stands with trusting eyes
And munches hay with flicking ear
And swishes at the flies.

"Save him, boy," my Pa had said
When he was young and sick,
And so I'd raised him bucket-fed
And kept him curried slick.
And how he'd follow me around
And act a regular pest
And munch the extra corn he found
I'd hidden in my vest.

But I shouldn't think of that today.
He's just another steer.
"Be a man," my Pa would say,
"And keep your thinking clear."

And so upon a rail I stare
At endless rows of pens
With constant movement everywhere
Of trucks and trains and men.
To my right the railroad yard
As far as I can see
Where slant-back switchers, puffing hard,
Spot cars for M.K.T.

Where cattle cars from all the roads
Are lined against the chutes
And empty out their bawling loads
To the drovers' yells and hoots.
And to my left the packing plants
That stand a block away
Where traffic moves like colored ants
To Swift and Cudahay.

And I can see the giant ramp
That angles to the door
Where endless lines of cattle tramp
To reach the killing floor.
But I shouldn't think of that today
And I hear the drovers shout
As the giant gates are swung away
And our steers are driven out.

"Goodbye, Big Boy," I softly sigh,
But of course he doesn't hear.
And no one sees my blinking eye
That fights to hold a tear.
Far now he's gone beyond my glance
And he will spend the day
In the shadow of that giant ramp
That stands a block away.

So as the day begins to go
And the city's far behind,
The dash lights cast their golden glow
And the engine softly whines.
I nudge my Pa and watch his eyes:
"Do you suppose he's dead?"
"Not as long as you're alive."
And that was all he said.

I turn away and watch the land
'Til Walker starts to grin
And gently nudging at my hand
We shift the two-speed in.

"R" Day Minus 51...And Counting

Having made the decision to retire from newspaper work as of September 30, 1999, I am looking forward to the freedom from deadlines and schedules that retirement is expected to provide. As I have told a number of people who have heard and asked about my retirement, I have decided that living for 45 years on other people's schedules is enough. It's time to set my own agenda.

Newspaper reporting work is primarily a job of reaction. You go where and when the news is happening, and that often involves activity that is considered "after hours" by others—evening meetings, late night or early morning fires or accidents, weekend celebrations. I think that one of the first words our children learned was "meeting," and when they heard it they knew that Dad was going to miss another bedtime.

As of today's issue of The Times, 51 days remain until my last day on this job. Yes, I'm counting down the days left and checking them off on the calendar. There will be more editorial comment on retirement later, I'm sure, and announcements regarding changes to take place in staffing at The Times, but I thought it was time to let readers know that rumors they might have heard are true. Retirement is coming soon.

"R" Day minus 51....and counting.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Editor:

We live 13 miles southeast of Thief River Falls and our home is surrounded by trees so you can't see the county road. On Thursday, August 5, we were outside doing yard work and heard a car going by rather slow. The next thing we knew, our very curious four-year-old purebred black female Chinese Pug was gone.

I can't believe the nerve of someone! It's pretty sad when someone steals a family pet. What's going to be next? This letter is intended for the person or persons who stole her.

Don't you have a heart? She's our pet. How would you feel if someone stole your dog? I've seen a lot of dogs roaming around but would never pick one up because I know how the owner probably would feel. I hope you can't sleep at night; I know my kids can't!

If you have any conscience you will return our pet to us. There will be no questions asked. Just don't hurt her. She's our dog and we love and miss her. We want our dog back!

Sincerely,
Sue Qualley

F. Myrtle Vagle • 436-2133

The weather in northwest Minnesota has even the expert weather reporters puzzled what to tell us as it can change as fast as nervous persons can change their minds. Too bad they haven't learned to pull petals off daisies and let that settle the question of what the weather will be. I remember when the radio announcer would say we should wait while he lifted the curtains to see what the report for that day would be. I guess he forgot that first graders in school had to memorize poetry and had already learned "Evening red and morning gray, sets the traveler on his way; Evening gray and morning red, brings the rain down on his head." For 75 years I was as good as any other reporter until lately, very few old ways hold water anymore.

On the way to Thief River Falls the other day, about three miles south of Strandquist, we saw five coal black bears run across the highway in front of us. They were one behind another, stretched out as far as they could, going full bore; and they didn't stop until they were up on the railroad track. There they sat getting their breath back - mama bear, two yearlings and two teddy bears, who were as cute as could be. I learned that there is a good blueberry patch about four miles east of the road, and she was out for berries. This morning another big bear crossed the road north of Strandquist and disappeared into the woods. It may be that the apples will be eaten right off the trees around here, unless the other fruit holds out a bit longer.

Strandquist is proud and happy to welcome another member to the parsonage. Little Thor Heskin joined an older brother, Leif Heskin. What a wonderful addition to Pastor and Mrs. Eric Heskin. Congratulations! The ladies Bethesda Lutheran Church welcomed him with a shower last Wednesday.

The Strandquist Seniors met on Thursday at the Center with the following visitors: Pastor Heskins and son, Leif, Mrs. Manwarren, and Vance and Adriene Lefrooth. Evelyn Kline won the door prize and Delphina Braff served a delicious lunch. On Sunday the following went to Thief River Falls at the college to see the play, "The King and I."

Marlys Lefrooth had dinner with Elsie Lefrooth on Tuesday. On Friday, Rick and Karen Zimmerman, and Lee, Sara, Jimmy and Jessica had dinner with her.

Father John Kleinvachter of Akeley, Betty Pietruszewski, Marian Pederson, Bud and Marie Steffen of Argyle, June Kasprowicz, Tracy Folland, Kelly Lefrooth and Amanda and Jessica partook of Judy Kleinvachter's kind hospitality. There's one place many folks like to go.

Sunday visitors at Elsie Lefrooth's home were Pearl Thompson, Vanetta Pettis with Stephanie, Noelle, Krystine, Alaura and Sara Donaldson.

I just saw nine geese heading northwest. At this time of the year I think they must have gotten their directional bearings mixed up. I'll keep an eye out to see if they were circling in their landing pattern and were changing to another restaurant.

FROM THE PAGES OF THE TIMES

Fair Attracts 20,000 Persons During Four Days

"After supplying the Pennington county fair with three days of clear skies last week, the weather man acted up on Thursday, the last day of the event, by bringing heavy afternoon showers that curtailed the automobile race program and permitted only a sketchy presentation of the evening grandstand show.

"In spite of Thursday's setback an estimated 20,000 persons, including children under 12, who were admitted free, passed through the gates during the four days of the fair.

"Well over 800 persons braved the muddy grounds to enter the grandstand Thursday evening being admitted at a special low fee of 25 cents. The spectators received an unexpected thrill when most of the elaborate display of fireworks, due to be shot off that evening, went off all at once when the wind shifted and blew a spark into the pile of fireworks, setting off a noisy barrage. Fortunately, no one was injured by the explosion."

Life Guards Now On Duty Only From 1 To 6 P.M.

"Quentin Jones, swimming instructor at the Tindolph park pool, announced today that beginning next Monday, August 15, lifeguards will be on duty at the pool only between the hours of 1 and 6 o'clock p.m. The pool has been a popular place during the recent hot spell."

This Area Experiences Its Most Sustained Hot Weather Of The Season

"This locality, in common with other parts of the Northwest, has experienced since last Saturday the summer's most sustained spell of extremely hot weather. The mercury reached high marks of 95 on the KTRF thermometer Sunday and Monday, followed by 86 Tuesday and 85 Wednesday afternoon. More heat is scheduled for today, with the temperature mounting to the 80-degree mark at 9:30 this morning. No rain has fallen since last Thursday, when .74 inch was recorded."

Police Car Is Damaged In Collision Tuesday

"The local police car, which is used frequently in checking up on automobile accidents, became more directly involved in a mishap Tuesday afternoon at 2:10. The car, driven by Patrolman William Sheedy, reached the intersection of Knight avenue and First street at the same time as a Deitz cab driven by John Flynn. The police car came off the worst in the encounter, suffering a damaged door, fender and running board."

S.O.S.C. Conference Room A

A special school board inservice meeting of Independent School District #564 was held on Monday, June 28, 1999, at 6:00 p.m. in Conference Room A of the School District Service Center.

The following board members were present: Carl Clark, Barb Kalinoski, Jean Larson, Lyle Olson, Mike Spears, Randy Twistol, and Steve Young. Also present were Dr. Jerry Robicheau, superintendent of schools, and Marcia Sandahl, executive assistant.

Chairperson Steve Young called the meeting to order and Clerk Jean Larson established that a quorum was present.

A motion was made by R. Twistol and seconded by B. Kalinoski to approve the agenda as presented. Motion carried unanimously.

Chairperson Steve Young reviewed the evaluation that the board completed and was compiled for Superintendent Jerry Robicheau. Discussion was held regarding the evaluation and the process used. The evaluation was favorable and Dr. Robicheau was commended for his work performance during the past year. Board members were asked to schedule individual meetings with Superintendent Robicheau as has been done periodically in the past.

Discussion was held concerning any possible modifications to the evaluation process itself and some suggestions were made. It was noted that the evaluation and a recommendation for approval of a performance compensation for the superintendent, as per contract, is included on the agenda for the regular meeting to be held at the conclusion of the special meeting.

REGULAR BOARD MEETING
June 28, 1999
7:00 p.m.
S.O.S.C. Conference Room A

A regular board meeting of Independent School District #564 was held on Monday, June 28, 1999, at 7:00 p.m. in Conference Room A of the school district service center.

The following board members were present: Carl Clark, Barb Kalinoski, Jean Larson, Lyle Olson, Mike Spears, Randy Twistol, and Steve Young. Also present was Dr. Jerry Robicheau, superintendent of schools.

Chairperson Steve Young called the meeting to order and Clerk Jean Larson established that a quorum was present.

A motion was made by L. Olson and seconded by B. Kalinoski to approve the agenda as presented. Motion carried unanimously.

A letter from Diane Kays was distributed on behalf of the Challenger Elementary and Preschool Playground Project Committee recruiting volunteers to help install the equipment the weekend of July 17 and 18. Information was also distributed regarding the MSBA new board member orientation and summer seminar to be held in Bloomington on August 11-13. Members were asked if any of them, besides Carl and Jerry, would like to receive the American School Board Journal publication. The June 1 enrollment report was reviewed.

The board recognized the Thief River Falls Area United Way for their donation of $5,000.00 to the Family Advocacy Program in the 1998-99 school year.

Faye Auchenpaugh, of the Northwest Service Cooperative, reviewed the Decision Band process which the district uses for its comparable worth report.

Carl Clark, Randy Twistol and Mike Spears reported that the facilities committee met a couple of weeks ago and considered the issues of the addition of the technology center at Lincoln noting that project has been put on hold. The committee also discussed the phone system at Lincoln, Franklin and Challenger. The district is considering a system that will provide better access to our buildings especially after office hours. The third issue the committee reviewed was the need to make the District Service Center handicap accessible. It is recommended that the district proceed with this project.

Carl and Steve reported on behalf of the negotiations team indicating that a recommendation to approve the principals and directors contract for the 1998-99 school year only is on the agenda. It was noted that negotiations with the teachers will resume in the fall.

Superintendent Jerry Robicheau reported that the business partnership advisory committee met a couple of weeks ago and discussion centered around fund raising. It has been suggested that fund raising activities take place for a specified period of time (1-2 weeks) in the fall and be coordinated for all activities in the district.

Superintendent Robicheau also reviewed the recommendation for the 1999-2000 revenue and expense budget which is on the agenda for approval noting that the district will be in deficit spending for the next school year. This is partly due to increased severance payments that will be made in the next year and that we do not know yet what our revenue will be in special education. Adjustments to the budget will be made later this summer. Jerry also reviewed the lease agreement with Inter-County Community Council for use of space at Challenger for the Head Start program.

Representatives of the junior class were present and reviewed the results of the survey they conducted regarding scheduling graduation in the year 2000. Of the 155 students in the class, they were able to reach 100 families. Eighty percent of those 100 families indicated that of the June 4 and May 28 choices they were given, May 28 was their preference.

Superintendent Robicheau presented a request from Crookston Public Schools for a cooperative agreement in girls hockey. The agreement would allow a few players from Crookston to play with our team. Discussion was held as to the pros and cons of such an agreement and a decision will be made at the next meeting which will be held July 26.

Organization looks at older drivers and safety

A report written by Audrey Straight and Ann McLarty Jackson of the Public Policy Institute, Research Group has taken a close look at the importance of driving to older drivers, and safety issues for older drivers. The AARP recently released the report in conjunction with information about its 55 ALIVE program.

The Importance of Driving. The private automobile is the primary mode of transportation in the United States. Persons over age 65 make more than 90 percent of their trips by private vehicle, either as a driver or passenger. The trips they make connect them to the goods, services, and activities that make it possible for them to continue to live independently.

A nationwide personal transportation survey conducted in 1995 and prepared by AARP Public Policy Institute shows that 48 percent of those persons 65 and older, utilize automobiles for family and personal business, 9 percent to earn a living, seven percent for civic, educational and religious matters, 35 percent for social and recreational purposes, and one percent for other.

Not being able to drive has consequences for the individual and the family. Research shows that individuals who must stop driving experience "lower life satisfaction, poorer adjustment, loneliness, and lower activity levels . . . . Families or friends may experience anxiety or guilt about not being able to meet the non-driver's transportation needs.

Growing Reliance of Older Persons on Driving. An increasing proportion of the older population has relied on being able to drive themselves through most of their lives. This is reflected in the growing rates of persons age 65 and older who are licensed drivers. In 1996, 74 percent of all persons aged 65 years and older were licensed drivers, compared to 61 percent in 1983. A significant segment of this population is aging in places where alternative modes of transportation, such as buses and walking, are not available. In 1995, 44 percent of older persons lived in suburban areas and 28 percent in rural areas. The remaining 28 percent lived in cities. Most suburbs are designed so that residents must drive from residential areas to shopping and services. The lack of public transportation in rural areas has further increased reliance on the automobile.

Older Drivers and Safety. As a group, persons age 65 and older are relatively safe drivers. Although they represent 14 percent of all licensed drivers, they are involved in only eight percent of police-reported crashes and 11 percent of fatal crashes. This can be compared to drivers age 16 to 24, who are involved in 26 percent of police-reported crashes and 26 percent of fatal crashes, but represent only 14 percent of licensed drivers. In fact, drivers age 65 and older have a lower rate of crash involvement per 1,000 licensed drivers than any other age group. They also drive fewer miles on average than any other age group.

When drivers over 65 are involved in crashes, the situations and reasons are generally different from those associated with crashes involving younger drivers. For older drivers, the situations in which crashes occur most frequently are when they are turning left, whereas for younger drivers, crashes occur most often while they are driving on a straight road or highway. The errors most often involved in older driver crashes are failing to yield right of way or not responding properly to stop signs and traffic lights. By comparison, the errors most frequently made by younger drivers are related to speed or to following too close.

Among all drivers age 65 and older, it is the oldest drivers who pose more risk to themselves and to public safety. For all adults age 25 to 64, and for adults age 65 to 69, the rate of crashes per miles driven is relatively constant. The rate begins to rise at age 70, and increases rapidly at age 80.

In addition, the risk of the oldest drivers dying if they are in an accident is substantially greater than it is for those age 65 to 69. In 1996, drivers age 80 to 84 who were involved in a crash were more than four times as likely to die as drivers age 65 to 69 who were involved in a crash. Drivers age 85+ were six times as likely to die in a crash as drivers age 65 to 69. When compared to crash-involved drivers of any age group under 65, the difference in the fatality rate is much more dramatic. For instance, drivers age 85+ are more than 11 times as likely to die in crashes than drivers age 40 to 49. Traffic safety experts attribute this large difference in part to the increased physical fragility of the oldest old.

Why are older drivers at greater risk when they drive?

Aging process. As one ages, specific functions related to driving skills may be impaired. These functions include vision, hearing, sensation, and cognitive and motor abilities. For example, a decline in peripheral vision may affect the ability to pass approaching vehicles safely, and the decreased range of motion in an older person's neck may impair the ability to look behind when backing up. In addition, reaction time decreases by almost 40 percent on average from age 35 to 65.

The aging process may also affect cognitive skills. Short-term memory loss, for instance, can impair driving skills by interfering with a person's ability to process information efficiently when merging with traffic or changing lanes. Such difficulties are magnified when the older driver performs these driving skills under stressful conditions. The higher incidence of cognitive impairment, particularly dementia, among older adults produces an increased risk of accident involvement.

Environmental barriers to safe driving. The surrounding driving environment may also interfere with the safety of older persons when they drive. For instance, the design and location of modern roadways can be intimidating to older drivers. Transportation planners have given little consideration to designing roads in ways that accommodate the increasing number of drivers with reduced vision or reaction time. Highways separate residential areas from commercial areas, thereby increasing both the complexity and distance involved in reaching necessary services.

Many traffic signs have not been designed for an aging population. Lettering is often small, signs with a large amount of information may be confusing, and the spacing of the letters may create a reading problem even for a person with a mild vision impairment.

Furthermore, the vehicles in which older persons find themselves may also impede extended years of safe driving. Modern instrument panels may provide a confusing array of information. Airbags may need fine-tuning so the force of inflation does not break older persons' more fragile bones.

Reducing the risk for older drivers. There are several approaches to increasing safety for people who rely on the automobile as their major source of mobility. Transportation experts are seeking ways to improve the driver, the vehicle, and the driving environment.

Improving the driver. Transportation experts at universities and in state and federal offices are conducting research and developing ways to improve driver assessment, so that impairments of driving skills can be accurately identified. A 1996 study shows that simulators can both identify impaired skills and teach the driver how to compensate for the impairment. Other research is attempting to develop predictive screening methods using both performance in skills tests and driving records.

In addition, driver retraining courses are available. AARP has developed a driver education program, the 55 ALIVE/Mature Driving program, which is completed by about 640,000 older drivers annually. Thirty-four states and the District of Columbia have laws that require insurance premium discounts or reductions in infraction points for older people who take an approved driving courses like 55 ALIVE.

State licensing policies can also extend the period during which a person with minor limitations can drive safely. Sixteen states have enacted graduated licensing laws. These laws enable the state to identify driving conditions under which a particular driver might be unsafe and then to issue a graduated license that restricts the person from driving under those unsafe conditions. Holders of graduated licenses might be licensed to drive only under specific conditions relating, for example, to time of day, destination, or type of vehicle.

Some state licensing laws focus on physical or medical conditions. As of 1992, seven states had licensing laws that required physicians to report physical or medical conditions that might impair driving skills to the state licensing bureau.

Some states have enacted laws that use age as a screening tool to identify risky drivers. These states require special testing for renewal such as knowledge tests, vision tests, or road tests. However, researchers do not currently know whether age-based requirements result in removing unsafe drivers from the roads or in simply reducing the number of older drivers, whether they are safe drivers or not.

Older persons may also regulate their own driving behavior. They may stop driving or limit driving to accommodate their individual declining capabilities. On average, persons age 65 and older drive substantially fewer miles than drivers in any younger age group.

In addition, older drivers often adopt different travel patterns, driving shorter distances, driving less at night, and avoiding rush hours, major highways, and bad weather conditions.

Improving the vehicle. Safety experts are giving special consideration to enhancing the safety of vehicles for older drivers. These changes can benefit all drivers. For instance, automobiles are being designed with special adaptations to make driving easier, such as wide-angle rearview mirrors. In addition, new technologies such as crash avoidance alarms and night vision enhancement systems are being developed to supplement functions needed for driving.

Improving the driving environment. The driving environment can also be modified. The Federal Highway Administration has developed a handbook for state traffic officials on road design and management that improve the safety of the driving environment for older persons. The lettering, color, size and location of traffic signs can be changed to significantly improve visibility and communication with the driver. Traffic and road design can enhance driver safety by including left-turn lanes or traffic signals that show who goes first. "Traffic calming" — slowing the speed of traffic through neighborhoods with special road design and planning — can enhance safety both for drivers and pedestrians. One example of traffic calming design is the traffic bump.

Farm crisis draws U.S. Senator, Congressman to area Monday

U.S. Senator Paul Wellstone brought his dramatic speaking style to Northland Community and Technical College Monday evening, August 16, where a packed meeting room heard him call for a grassroots organizing effort to spur favorable action for farmers in the U.S. Congress. The senator was touring the state to gather information and promote a "Rural Crisis Accountability Day" at the Carver County Fairgrounds in Waconia Saturday, August 21. It was the second appearance by a U.S. Senator in Thief River Falls this summer. Sen. Rod Grams made an earlier appearance to talk and listen regarding the farm crisis.

Associate Editor

U.S. Sen. Paul Wellstone's and Congressman Collin Peterson's visit with farmers at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls Monday was more like a call to arms. Wellstone, Peterson, State Sen. LeRoy Stumpf, State Rep. Jim Tunheim, and Dave Fredrickson, president of the Minnesota Farmers Union, urged farmers and residents of Northwest Minnesota to participate in a grassroots movement and attend Minnesota's Rural Crisis Accountability Day at the Carver County Fairgrounds in Waconia on August 21.

Specifically, the legislators called upon farmers to lobby for changes to the Freedom to Farm act, price supports, anti-trust actions against multi-national corporations, and for changes to trade agreements.

Over 150 people representing farmers, bankers, laborers and local government politicians and others attended the meeting Monday, shocking organizers who were expecting a much smaller crowd. While Congressman Peterson provided participants with an overview of legislative action, Wellstone gave a much more passionate appeal. Wellstone said he viewed the gathering with a sense of history because so many in the community of greater Minnesota are really in a tremendous amount of economic pain.

"What it's about," Wellstone said, "is getting a fair price for farmers' products."

Wellstone also attacked multi-national corporations and the trend toward corporate farming. That battle, he said, has been lost in many areas of the county, but not the Midwest . . . yet.

The Emergency Assistance Package, he said, is not the solution, but it will get money out there to permit farmers to farm another day. Wellstone said they weren't there because they wanted support for a bail out this year or the next year, but they want support from the public to re-write the Freedom to Farm act or as Wellstone described it -- the "Freedom to Fail" act. "What's happening in agriculture," he said, "is not inexorable, not the law of gravity. It's the inevitability of a stacked deck."

Wellstone went on to criticize big companies and asked for support for anti-trust action.

Congressman Peterson was more concerned about a need to address disparities in trade agreements. Peterson said he took a lot of heat for taking a stand against NAFTA and GATT, but as time has shown, he was right. During trade negotiations in Geneva, Switzerland, Peterson said the agriculture delegation was just "window dressing" and "patted on the head". The trade negotiators, he said, were really not on the side of production agriculture. They receive much of their support from multi-national corporations, like Cargill. The multi-nationals, he explained, wanted into the European market. In the exchange, the United States gave up on agriculture, Europeans got to keep their Ag support, and multi-nationals got access to European markets.

Payment begins on largest tax rebate in U.S. history

Totaling about $1.3 billion, the largest tax rebate in the nation's history has begun to be paid as a sales tax refund in the state of Minnesota. Nearly two million checks ranging from $212 to $5,186 are in the process of being distributed by the Minnesota Department of Revenue.

The sales tax rebate is an effort to return money to taxpayers from the state surplus. The state budget surplus is a result of a number of factors, including higher than expected collection amounts from a variety of state taxes and fees and lower than expected state spending. Because of this variety, rebating any single tax type would result in some citizens getting more back than they have contributed to the current surplus, and others less.

Qualifying for the rebate are Minnesota residents who lived in the state at least part of the year during 1997, and non-residents who made purchases and paid consumer sales tax here. The latter had to complete a special form by June 24 to qualify.

"Essentially, if you filed your 1997 tax return and paid even $1 of taxes, or if you claimed your property tax rebate on a 1997 M-1 Form, you are eligible for this rebate," states Matt Smith, commissioner of the state revenue department. The rebate amounts are based on Minnesota taxable income, shown on Line 4 of the 1997 M-1 form.

To distribute rebate checks within the time frame specified by the 1999 legislature, the Department of Revenue worked to develop a plan with the Department of Finance, the State Treasurer's office, U. S. Postal Service and Wells Fargo (formerly Norwest Banks).

Joe Lefto, project manager for the sales tax rebate in the Department of Revenue, said the effort "involved a real team effort among the state agencies involved and the private sector."

For printing and distributing of the nearly two million checks, the state turned to Wells Fargo, which won a competitive bid to provide that service and additional banking services—including cashing rebate checks for anyone who has proper identification at any Norwest Bank location in the state.

The state also worked in close cooperation with the U.S. Postal Service to devise a check-mailing procedure that would distribute checks over the course of several days. The exact mailing dates were not disclosed—even to most state employees—to assist in providing security.

"Our overriding concern with the mailing is to make sure the person whose name is on the check is the one who opens it," Commissioner Smith said.

"The checks won't look like the standard refund checks the state issues," Smith said, "so we're asking people to look at their mail carefully and, above all, not throw away anything that comes from the Department of Revenue."

He added that the complex nature of the mailing process means that citizens who live near one another may receive their checks on different dates.

"Your neighbor may get a check before you do, or you may receive your check first, but neither should worry if that happens," Smith said. "Keep watching your mail. If you feel that you are eligible and haven't received a check by Labor Day, then you should contact us."

The Department of Revenue has taken a number of special situations into account as it issues rebate checks. Taxpayers who opted for direct-deposit of their 1998 tax refunds will have their sales tax rebate checks direct-deposited and receive a notice of the deposit.

TRF Council approves transfer of pool funds

At the request of the Hartz Foundation, and behest of Dick Sjoberg, the Thief River Falls City Council approved a request to transfer approximately $35,000 from the Swimming Pool Fund to the Hartz Park Renovation project.

In 1987 the Hartz Foundation donated $25,000 and another $10,000 in 1991 to the Swimming Pool fund. Sjoberg, who chairs the Hartz Foundation, explained that the request to transfer the funds should in no way be interpreted to mean that they were prejudiced against the pool project. If they come with a request in the future, they would certainly consider the request. This request to transfer the funds was due to a more immediate need for the Hartz Park renovation project. The Hartz Foundation has already donated $25,000 for the past two years to the project.

A number of the city council representatives wondered at the implications of giving back funds dedicated for a specific purpose.

Milt Burstad, city council representative, warned that the phone would ring off the hook from people who would say they are robbing the swimming pool fund. Many people, he said, have been waiting years for something to happen with the swimming pool fund.

Delray Sparby, city attorney, explained that the council would not be giving back the money but spending it on another recreational and civic improvement.

With one vote against the recommendation, coming from Burstad, the council approved the request.

Allan Page of J.F. Brennan of LaCross, WI, informed the city council that dredging of the Red Lake river reservoir in Thief River Falls had begun. Page said the pipes which move the slurry (sediment) from the river to a holding area were in place, and dredging

DNR announces proposed Con-Con land designations

The fate and future of Consolidated Conservation (Con-Con) lands in five northwestern Minnesota counties is nearing resolution, according to a recent news release from the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

Department of Natural Resources Commissioner Al Garber has announced the agency's proposed designation for more than 187,000 acres of land in Beltrami, Koochiching, Lake of the Woods, Marshall and Roseau counties, following an extensive process of public review and comment.

Con-Con lands are state-owned lands that Minnesota received in exchange for paying off ditch bonds issued by seven Minnesota counties in the early 1930s. According to state law, these lands are to be used for "conservation purposes" and managed by the DNR. Over the years, nearly 75 percent of these lands have been designated as management units or sold to private landowners.

According to Garber, much of the land will be proposed for designation as state forest, with the remaining acres being proposed for designation as wildlife management areas or for land exchange. None of the Con-Con acres are being proposed as scientific and natural areas or state parks.

"We heard from many people and organizations who said that they did not want Con-Con lands sold," Garber said. "They feel these lands have tremendous conservation value and should continue to be maintained for public use and enjoyment. People predominantly favored state forest designation, which allows opportunity for more varied recreational use. We have considered this in our proposal to the Legislature."

In arriving at the recommended designations, the DNR first attempted to consolidate parcels of land adjacent to existing state forests or wildlife management areas, and took into account the concern of citizens and the previous use of the acreage. Certain parcels that are isolated or detached from existing management areas will be proposed to be designated in the interim as state forest lands or wildlife management areas, and then offered for exchange with the counties or private individuals. There also is the possibility of other future land exchanges under existing law.

Wayne Edgerton, DNR agricultural policy director, who led the Con-Con designation project over the last six months, said the process was fair and open. "We listened carefully to the public and tried to find areas of common ground. It's inevitable, given the long history

"Back to School Night" at Plummer school August 24

Plummer public schools will hold a "Back to School Night" on Tuesday, August 24, for students and parents of students. Barbecues and potato chips will be available at 6:30 p.m.

A seventh grade orientation at 7 p.m. will be conducted in conjunction with the "Back to School Night." All seventh graders, non-residents as well as residents of the Plummer school district, should attend the orientation session.

Richard Lorenson, superintendent and principal, said that letters have been mailed to each seventh grader who has been registered for classes for the 1999-2000 school year. Those who will be attending seventh grade in Plummer but did not receive a letter are asked to call the school office at 465-4222.

Supt. Lorenson said the "Back to School Night" was planned in response to phone calls from parents and students.

"We think this will be a great opportunity for students and their parents to meet and visit with new teachers and become acquainted in many cases with new classrooms prior to the start of a new school year," the superintendent said.

"It will also provide a time for students who will be new to the district to register for the new school year and for everyone to discuss concerns, interests and activities with teachers, administration and other personnel," he added.

Classes for the 1999-2000 school year at Plummer will begin on Wednesday, September 1, with a full day's schedule. Buses will run on regular routes and the school meal program will also be in operation that day.

Area youngsters participate at Camp Sioux for diabetics

Dillon Berg

John Hagen

Several young people from northwestern Minnesota participated in the second session of Camp Sioux, an educational camp for children and teenagers with diabetes held at Turtle River State Park, 25 miles west of Grand Forks, ND.

Attending were Dillon Berg, 13, Middle River; John Hagen, 13, Tyler Holmes, 12, Tiffany Holmes, 16 and Alisha Larson, 16, all of Plummer.

This is the 48th year for Camp Sioux, directed by Lynette Dickson, who is also director of educational programs for the American Diabetes Association serving North Dakota and northwest Minnesota. Persons who would like more information on how to better control their diabetes may call toll free 1-800-666-6709.

At the camp children and teenagers with diabetes hike, create crafts, learn Native American dancing, swim and take part in many other activities in an environment carefully controlled to keep them safe while they are having fun. In the process they learn how to manage their disease so it doesn't control them.

What makes the camp so significant to campers is that the situation allows them to feel "normal." All around them campers are monitoring sugars, taking shots and eating on a strict schedule, whether or not they're hungry. Meanwhile, their families get a break from the day-to-day concerns of keeping a person with diabetes well.

At camp, children don't just switch from parents to counselors for supervision. They learn more about how to care for themselves and how to manage when their medical needs don't fit young people's need for spontaneity.

Having diabetes means you have to plan everything: what you eat, when you eat, when to take shots, how much to exercise, how to regulate food and insulin to accommodate that exercise. Diabetes never takes a vacation. People can't skip their regimen without paying a price. At camp, staff with diabetes show how to live a normal and vigorous life. Diabetes means having to make adaptations, but the disease doesn't have to control one's life.

Even though the pace at Camp Sioux can be hectic, physicians, nurses, dietitians and other health professionals volunteer their time at camp. This includes making rounds at 2 a.m. to check that campers do not have low blood sugar, which can be common at night.

The camp is arranged to accommodate 100 people for each weekly session. Over the past 48 years, thousands of people with diabetes have learned how to best manage their disease in a fun and safe atmosphere at Camp Sioux.

In the 15 counties of northwest Minnesota there are 9,916 diagnosed cases of diabetes, including 125 children, and an estimated 5,200 people who have diabetes that is not diagnosed. About 768 new cases are diagnosed each year.

Number of diagnosed cases by counties includes the following: Becker, 1,127; Clay, 2,020; Clearwater, 324; Grant, 241; Kittson, 211; Mahnomen, 199; Marshall, 410, Norman, 299; Ottertail, 2,059; Pennington, 518; Polk, 1,265; Red Lake, 171; Roseau, 619; Traverse, 166; and Wilkin, 287.

Announce fall registration at BSU August 23

Registration for new freshmen or transfer students who have not yet enrolled for fall semester classes at Bemidji State University will be held August 23 at 8 a.m. in room 100 of Hagg-Sauer Hall.

The program includes orientation, sessions with academic advisors and registration. Senior citizens will register from 3:30 to 4 p.m. in the records office, room 101 of Deputy Hall.

Evening classes begin August 23 with the full schedule of day classes starting August 24. For more information, contact the BSU admissions office at 1-888-345-1721.

These reports include names of individuals charged, arrested or cited with various crimes and offenses by police, the sheriff's department or other law enforcement officials. Depending upon the circumstances of a case, charges can be, and sometimes are, changed or dropped by law enforcement officials or attorneys even before the case reaches court. Readers should also realize that under the American system of jurisprudence, individuals charged with crimes are innocent until proven guilty of those crimes in a court of law.

Report of threat investigated by sheriff's dept.

Red Lake County Sheriff's department received a call from a resident at 7:44 a.m. on August 15. The individual reported that a person had pulled a gun on him at the convenience store and had threatened him. This vehicle was later spotted by a Polk County Sheriff's deputy on Highway 2. It was stopped by Polk and Clearwater county sheriff's deputies, a Bagley Police officer and Minnesota State Patrol officer.

No charges have been filed at this time. Red Lake County sheriff's department is continuing to investigate this incident.

Jim Haviland wins speaking competition in Washington D.C.

by Kathi Carlson
Times Reporter

While he didn't particularly impress a group of third graders last week, Jim Haviland had made an impression on fellow members of the International Platform Association (IPA) a few days earlier.

Jim attended the organization's annual convention in Washington, D.C. August 4-8 and returned to Thief River Falls with the silver bowl award, having won the association's prestigious Speaking Ladder competition.

The International Platform Association was founded by Daniel Webster and Josiah Holbrook in 1831 as the American Lyceum Association. Since that time the association has been a professional organization of those who set the policies of and speak before the nationwide structure of organizations that make up the American Lecture Platform.

Jim learned of the organization from a New York woman while on vacation last year. She explained that the association's annual conference provides a platform for people to present current thoughts and is an ideal audience for anyone who has a book coming out.

Jim followed up on the association and joined last August. When he received its conference brochure, he learned of the speaker's competition and entered it. The timing could not have been better. His book, This Book Is No Joke!, is expected to be released this fall.

Haviland described the convention in Washington, D.C. as "rich with historical influence." Since Theodore Roosevelt, 14 United States Presidents have been members of the IPA as well as such legendary communicators as Norman Vincent Peale, Drew Pearson, Art Linkletter and Victor Borge.

From Wednesday August 4 until Sunday, August 8, speakers, workshops and entertainment filled the convention schedule from morning until night.

Among this year's speakers were General Henry Shelton, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, columnist Jack Anderson and entertainer Dixie Carter. Influential speakers who have taken part in recent conventions include Tom Brokaw, Mario Cuomo, Robert Dole, Hugh Downs, Ann Landers, Ted Turner and Barbara Walters, to name a few.

The speeches are informal and held in an open forum without the constraints of electronic or print media. Questions from the audience are unrehearsed and encouraged.

Jim made his first competitive speech on Wednesday, August 4. This first one and one-half minute speech was judged and critiqued by professional teachers and speakers.

With the competitive field narrowed by 50 to 70 percent on the first day, Haviland's name was announced in the IPA newsletter on Thursday, August 5 among the names of the ten participants who would advance to the second rung of the ladder.

Judging in the second and third rounds of the competition is by popular vote of the entire convention audience. Speeches were limited to three minutes on the second rung.

Tension built as Friday's newsletter delivered the names of the four participants who would advance to the third and final rung of the Speaking Ladder competition with a five minute speech. The name of Jim Haviland was among them.

To his delight and great honor, the name of Jim Haviland headlined Saturday's IPA newsletter which announced him the winning orator of the 1999 Speaking Ladder competition. He had competed against many of the country's greatest speakers, many of whom had participated in the contest numerous times without winning it.

Along with the prestigious silver bowl award, Haviland was given the opportunity to address the convention with a half hour speech on Sunday, August 8.

Jim's speeches were all based on his soon to be published book of which humor is the subject.

This Book Is No Joke! is the culmination of more than 20 years of research. "I've always been interested in humor and its relationship to communication, and the use of humor in order to diffuse conflict," Jim said.

Having studied prominent politicians and businessmen, Haviland particularly notes the humor used by Abraham Lincoln, Ronald Reagan and Lee Iacocca as being essential in diffusing conflict.

Jim's final competitive speech addressed three critical questions about humor. Where does a sense of humor come from? What happens to it as we age? And, how can we get it back?

The rough draft of his book was written during his 1995 sabbatical from his position as president of Northland Community and Technical College.

In 1996 he went to work for MnSCU, coordinating the Kellogg Leadership program for the State of Minnesota which was selected as one of five model programs for the country.

Jim was fulfilling a speaking engagement when discovered by a head hunter who connected him with his current employer, Corporate Visions. Based in Nevada, the company trains other companies in creating, delivering and managing their corporate messages.

With a strong influence on software, Corporate Visions teaches its clients to make personable presentations, based on relationships rather than product.

Presenting three-day workshops, Jim's position with Corporate Visions has afforded him worldwide travel, logging about 250,000 miles last year. However, he said, "I'm home more now than I've ever been." Home is Thief River Falls with his wife, Alicia, and their seven children.

The Haviland household is a busy one, and the first week in August was no exception. As Jim was delivering a speech in Washington D.C., his 16-year-old daughter, Chelsey, was diving in a national competition in Florida.

As the result of his success, doors will open for Jim as he promotes his book and pursues speaking engagements with the National Speakers Bureau. "The next year is going to be an interesting one," he said.

In the meanwhile, he returned to Thief River Falls to teach vacation Bible school last week. Still "puffed up" about his recent coup, he took the engraved silver bowl with him to church to show his third grade students. Instead, the youngsters brought him back to earth.

The fact that Jim Haviland had joined the ranks of some of the world's most famous and influential orators didn't make an impression on the students. "They just wanted to color," Haviland laughed.

Jim Haviland returned to Thief River Falls recently after having won the prestigious silver bowl award in the Speaking Ladder competition of the International Platform Association (IPA) at the organization's annual convention in Washington, D.C.

Minnesotans deserve credit for sales tax rebate

by Sen. Roger Moe

Who should take all the credit for Minnesota's Sales Tax Rebate? You have heard a lot of elected officials trying to take the credit for it -- the Governor, Republicans and Democrats alike. Beyond all the rhetoric to take credit, let's remember this is the people's rebate.

The hardworking people of Minnesota deserve all of the credit. They have created an enduring, strong state economy. The strong economy resulted in a state budget surplus, making the huge Sales Tax Rebate possible.

Between mid-August and Labor Day, most Minnesota families will receive a Sales Tax Rebate check. The state expects to send out 2.2 million checks totaling $1.3 billion in rebates by Labor Day. I think many people will be pleasantly surprised about the size of their rebate. Statewide, the average check will be $650.

Personally, I fought against initial income tax rebate proposals from the House that would have triggered unnecessary federal taxation and would have paid out a disproportionate share to people who make $200,000 a year or more.

Instead, the legislature came up with a Sales Tax Rebate plan that fairly recognizes the contributions made at every economic level, including people who work for the minimum wage, middle-income families with more than one wage earner, as well as the wealthy who usually earn much of their income through investments.

Through our efforts in the Senate, we also managed to extend rebate eligibility to most seniors on Social Security and farmers who have recently encountered hard times through no fault of their own. Ultimately, eligibility was extended to approximately 300,000 tax filers who would not have been eligible under early proposals. However, it is my intention to pass legislation early next year extending the filing deadline for some groups of people who still "fell between the cracks."

The rebate is based on taxable income after deductions, as reported to the state in 1997. The rebate amounts are based on the most recent Tax Incidence Study indicating the average sales tax liability for Minnesotans. For a married couple filing jointly and single heads of household (with at least one dependent), the rebate checks will range from $371 to $5,186. For single filers and married couples filing separately, the rebate checks will range from $212 to $2,593.

State tax experts are optimistic that the rebate checks will not be taxed by the federal government because the state sales tax is not federally deductible. If the Legislature had passed an income tax rebate, the federal government certainly would have taxed that income because state income taxes are eligible for deduction from federal taxes.

In the days ahead, it is very important that you open up your mail from the Minnesota Department of Revenue because it is likely to contain your Sales Tax Rebate check. Revenue officials are concerned that some people will throw away their checks by mistake.

Officials are also concerned that some checks might be stolen out of mail boxes, even though this would constitute a federal felony. For purposes of security, checks are being mailed in a scattered fashion over several days. If a neighbor has already received a check, don't be concerned about being left out. Your check should arrive soon.

Once again, rebate checks should arrive by Labor Day. Taxpayers who electronically filed their 1998 returns (earlier this year) by direct deposit–can expect to receive their Sales Tax Rebate in the same way. You will be notified by mail that the check has been deposited into your account.

Meeting about adoption/foster parenting Aug. 24

At any given time in Minnesota, about 600 children living in foster homes, group homes and residential centers are waiting for adoptive families.

These children are not babies but children with a wide variety of special needs and special gifts. Most are school aged. Some have physical, mental or emotional disabilities. Many are children of color. Some are siblings who want to stay together. Most have experienced some degree of neglect or abuse. Their common bond is a strong desire to become part of a permanent, nurturing family.

The state of Minnesota has entered into an initiative with private adoption agencies throughout the state to assist with the placement of these children at no cost to adoptive families.

North Homes, Inc. in coordination with Minnesota Adoption Resource Network will host training sessions for families and individuals interesting in adopting or becoming foster parents for older children and sibling groups.

An orientation meeting will be held on August 24 from 7 to 9 p.m. at North Homes, Inc., 303 South Main Street, Crookston.

Those planning to attended the meeting or seeking more information should call North Homes, Inc. at 327-3000 or toll free at 1-888-430-3055.

Down On The Farm

Eric Bergeson

Tis the season for corn on the cob. Few things taste better than fresh sweet corn, picked a little bit on the white side, dripping in butter. I like to eat up to ten cobs in a sitting.

My grandfather used to plant way more sweet corn than we needed. As it started to ripen, he enlisted me to help build a fortress of chicken netting around the corn patch to keep the raccoons out.

What a job. Grandpa enjoyed fighting off the raccoons, but I didn't think much of the annual project. Chicken netting is stubborn to deal with, especially when you are in sixth grade and would rather be riding bike.

The raccoons always got into the corn anyway. The morning after their raids, Grandpa would roust me out of bed to help him strengthen the chicken netting fortress. We tacked the netting to the ground every couple of feet and wired shut the openings.

When that didn't work, and it never did, Grandpa would add a transistor radio, tuned to the hardest rock available on the AM dial. It blared all night.

The raccoons didn't let the Rolling Stones deter them either.

One year when all else failed, we sprinkled cayenne pepper on each tassle to make the raccoons sneeze. That worked. Grandma was so happy we found a use for that canister of cayenne pepper which had been gathering dust in her spice rack since the Eisenhower years. Here she had thought she might have to throw it away!

Grandpa ate corn-on-the-cob like a pit bull would eat a sirloin. You knew not to bother him. When he dove in, kernels flew in all directions. The butter made many of the kernels stick to his face.

He often invited company in for supper, and no matter how dignified the guest, be it a minister, the state Farm Bureau president, or the Fuller Brush Man, Grandpa ate his corn the same way. When he looked up from his plate, his face was covered in corn, and nobody dared tell him to wipe it off.

I am the same way. Corn-on-the-cob happens so seldom, why not enjoy it while it is here? We can mind our manners in January.

But I refuse to grow the stuff. I do not care to fight with the raccoons. If Grandpa were here, he would think I was soft and destined to go broke, but why go through the hassle of peppering tassles when you can get fresh corn for a dollar a dozen at the roadside stand?

...Rummage Sales and Me

It is getting to be the best time for me and rummage sales, both having them and going to them. I love to get out early Saturday in the nippy fall air and search for those elusive treasures. Later the sun will come out and warm me, but at the beginning, the cool air clears my head and makes me energetic (maybe I have to be energetic to keep warm in the cool fall air, hmm?).

I've only been going to rummage sales regularly for the past 10 years or so. Back when I had small children, I didn't go to them, maybe because I had no time, and maybe because I just didn't know what bargains were out there. But "rummage saling" has now become one of my favorite pastimes in the non-snow months.

I can hardly wait to get to the first few sales that appear in the spring, and I enjoy beating the hot weather by going early in the summer months, but fall is my very favorite time to head out to the sales. Not only are there treasures waiting for me, but fall is such a beautiful time of year to be out and about, looking at people's pretty gardens and the lovely-colored trees and bushes. At the very early sales, the sellers are shivering in down jackets holding steaming, wonderful-smelling mugs of coffee, and they always appear genuinely happy to see someone, maybe so they can move around and warm up a bit.

I can get up and go to the rummage sales whenever I want to do so now that I am old, with no small children to feed and clothe. My dog doesn't mind keeping an eye on things when I leave; in fact, I think he is glad I'm out of there because I'm up even too early for him. He cocks a wary eye at me as I breeze downstairs, grab a jacket and my purse and head out the door. I'm sure he simply heaves a sigh of relief and burrows further into his bed when I'm gone, glad to be rid of my enthusiasm.

I am such an busy rummage saler that I and my family now have a yearly sale of our own. They have the sale to get rid of outgrown and unused items, but I am having the sale to get rid of the things I bought at past rummage sales and no longer need or want or have room for. I have to get rid of some of the things I have around or I wouldn't be able to go to rummage sales any more – I would have no place to put the new treasures I find – wouldn't that be a pity!

I've had to become a somewhat selective rummage saler in recent years. When I see something I like, I must weigh the advantages and disadvantages of buying it and decide whether or not it will fit into my home. Lately I've been buying things for my family and friends as well as myself, simply because I hate to see a piece of good rummage go to waste. I don't know if they appreciate these treasures or not. Sometimes I swear I see the treasures I bought them turning up on tables at our rummage sales. Oh well.

I buy lots of things at sales, some of them things that no one in their right mind would buy, and some of them very handy things. Just ask my kids. I believe I have the best collection of little wicker animal holders in town. Now isn't that something valuable to have? I do use them, however. They hold all sorts of things all around my house. Some day I'll get rid of them at one of our sales. Another of my favorite things to buy at rummage sales is books. I now believe I have enough books to last me for the next five years, or maybe 10, depending on how fast I can read them. I even store some of them in the wicker animal holders, so just see how handy those things are.

Since I've gotten to be somewhat of an expert at rummage sales over the years, there are some Unwritten Rummage Sale Rules I should talk about. I've noticed lately that there are some people going to sales and having sales who obviously don't know about the Unwritten Rummage Sale Rules. These Rules are very handy and make rummage saling much more fun for everyone. Since I am out of space this week, look for the Unwritten Rummage Sale Rules in next week's column.

Teeny-Tiny Aquarium

To make a mesmerizing water toy, fill a clear-plastic two-liter bottle one-quarter full with water. Add a few drops of blue food coloring and a drop of of liquid dishwashing detergent. Pour in a small amount of sand or some colorful aquarium gravel. Blow up two small balloons, release most of the air, and tie the ends closed. Push the balloons into the bottle. (These will be the fish.) Secure the bottle cap with strong glue and duct tape. Your children will enjoy holding the bottle on its side and tipping it back and forth to make the fish "swim."

PARENTING TIPS

Children and Stress

Childhood used to be a carefree time, but not for many of today's children. Today, children are often the victims of overwhelming stress.

The causes of stress are varied. Some children worry about being embarrassed or teased or about not being listened to. Others are pressured to meet unrealistic parental expectations. Children often feel the effects of family pressures. Still others worry that their parents will divorce.

What are the signs of stress? Frequent headaches, stomachaches, forgetfulness, tightened muscles, sleeplessness, stuttering, anger and irritability can all be signs of stress in children.

One way parents can ease stress in children is by being polite. Politeness shows we value our children for who they are. Here are a few things to keep in mind:

- Remember to say "please," "thank you" and "I'm sorry" to your children.
- Tell your children how happy you are to see them after a day apart.
- Pay attention to what your children say and their reaction to stressful news.
- Tell your children that you appreciate the things that they do for you.
- Show your child natural ways to unwind such as taking a walk, kicking a ball or playing with the things they like.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Children can sense when there are problems in the family. Without any information at all about these events, they will often think that they are the cause. Talk to them about family events, giving them only as much information as is necessary and in words that they can understand about family events.

Free water-testing clinic in Beltrami Co. tests nitrates

Clinics will be conducted September 1 and 2 at four sites in Beltrami county to test drinking water, livestock watering systems and irrigation wells for nitrates in Beltrami and surrounding counties.

Testing is free and the clinics are sponsored by the Minnesota Department of Agriculture, the well management unit of the Department of Health and the Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District.

Clinics are scheduled Wednesday, September 1, from 9 to 11:30 a.m. at the Blackduck senior citizen center and 1:30 to 4 p.m. at the Kelliher water department and Thursday, September 2, from 9 to 11:30 a.m. at the Solway fire department and 1:30 to 4 p.m. at the Debs community center.

Testing is part of a statewide series of clinics being offered throughout 1999. Nitrates are the most common contaminants in Minnesota's groundwater and between five and 25 percent of the private wells in Minnesota have nitrate levels above the federal drinking water standard.

"Nitrates can be a major problem when they are consumed by infants because they can cause suffocation due to a condition known as 'blue baby' syndrome," notes Gene Hugoson, Minnesota Commissioner of Agriculture.

In order to participate in the testing, homeowners must bring at least one-half cup of water in either a Whirl-Pak plastic bag or a Ziploc-type bag. Allow the water to run for five to 10 minutes before filling the bag to get a representative sample.

Homeowners with water treatment equipment should take one sample from before and one from after the treatment process. Those with only a water softener need only one sample, from either before or after the water passes through the softener.

Samples should be taken no more than 24 hours before testing, must be refrigerated and should be cool when arriving at the clinic. To ensure accuracy, homeowners should mark the bags with their name, phone number and a well identification number if more than one well is sampled. Homeowners may remain anonymous if they wish by using an easily recognized number instead of a name on the well samples.

Analysis on the spot usually takes less than five minutes and results are given directly to the homeowner. If the nitrate level in a sample is elevated, MDA/MDH staff can refer the homeowner to certified labs that will retest the water.

Area students among Cadets in ROTC camp

Sixteen cadets from St John's University and St Cloud State University recently graduated from the 1999 Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) Advanced Camp, Fort Lewis, Washington. This event is the single most important training event in preparation for future commissioning as an Army officer.

Cadets Chad Edlund (SJU), Thomas Feist (SCSU), William Fogarty (SCSU), Wayne Langenfeld (SCSU), Matthew Leblanc (SCSU), Jeremy Mitchell (SJU), Patrick Murray (SJU), Adam Randall (SJU), Michael Roder (SJU), James Sanfi (SJU), Stephen Schmelzer (SJU), Benjamin Selzer (SJU), Douglas Serie (SCSU) Grant Thimsen (SJU), and Steve Weber (SJU) completed the 31-day camp that incorporated a wide range of subjects designed to develop and evaluate the cadets' leadership ability.

Army ROTC is the largest officer-producing organization within the American military, with approximately 75 percent of all officers in the U.S. Army receiving their commission through the program.

Advanced Camp training is a series of exercises and evaluation procedures that challenges each cadet individually and each platoon and regiment as a group. This dynamic training includes individual, water safety, basic rifle marksmanship, machine gun, land navigation, fire support, hand grenade, tactical and physical training.

Advanced Camp placed each cadet in a variety of leadership positions, many of which simulated stressful combat situations. The camp is based on 23 leadership dimensions developed by the U. S. Army Cadet Command and is designed to develop leadership, teamwork, and military skills and knowledge.

The training program is sequential and progressive. It starts with individual training and leads to evaluated squad and platoon training exercises. Each cadet has proven their leadership ability by excelling at the 1999 Army ROTC Advanced Camp. They are now prepared for their senior year at St John's University, St Cloud State University, and College of Saint Benedict and subsequent commission as an Army officer upon graduation.

Alexander Carlson attends conservation leader school

Alexander Carlson

Alexander Carlson, son of Pete and Debra Carlson of Thief River Falls, attended the conservation leadership school at Long Lake Conservation Center near Palisade in Aitkin county August 1-6.

The center is Minnesota's original residential conservation/environmental center. It was established in 1963 with a gift of land and a building to Aitkin county by the Kiwanis club of Southwest Minneapolis and is operated as a part of the Aitkin county parks system.

The conservation leadership school is devoted to promoting awareness and understanding of the complexity of the natural world. According to Bob Schwaderer, executive director, the goal of the summer camp is to create sensitivity in youngsters toward their environment and, by extension, to make sound conservation decisions in all facets of their lives.

"Not only that," Schwaderer said, "we want kids to have a great time in the out-of-doors."

Explored at the conservation leadership school's summer program are the topics of water, soils, forests, wildlife, bogs and other natural history subjects. In addition, students learn recreation skills such as canoeing, orienteering (map and compass use) and minimum impact camping.

Long Lake Conservation Center is accredited as a school by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools. Students desiring to do so may return to the center in subsequent years for advanced sessions involving wilderness canoeing excursions or sessions in ecology.

For more information on the center and its summer program, write to LLCC, Route 2, Box 2550, Palisade, MN 56469 or call 1-800-450-5522.

Ag in the Classroom has mini-grants for educators

Minnesota Agriculture in the Classroom (M-AITC) announces the availability of mini-grants for educators who are interested in providing educational experiences for students through integrating agriculture into their regular curriculum.

Grants are generally available in amounts up to $200, but larger grants are available for projects reaching a larger base of students. During the last school year, mini-grants from M-AITC totaled $6,600. Interested educators must complete an application and submit a budget by September 15.

The grant program offers these cash awards to help educators more effectively integrate agriculture and the "food system" into their regular curriculum. Agriculture has no subject area boundaries, so projects are encouraged in social studies, science, environmental education, career exploration and technology, language arts, math or a combination of areas that effectively integrate key agricultural principles.

Based at the Minnesota Department of Agriculture, M-AITC is a public and private partnership between MDA and 90 businesses and organizations serving K-12 education. Goal is to increase agricultural awareness among students and educators.

For more information on M-AITC or to receive a mini-grant application, write Al Withers at 90 West Plato Blvd., St. Paul, MN 55107 or call 651-296-6688. Applications must be received by September 15.

Q&A SOCIAL SECURITY

Provided by the Social Security District Office in Grand Forks, ND

Q. Just how does Social Security figure out the amount of reduction if I take retirement before age 65?

A. For benefits on your own work record, the Social Security retirement amount is permanently reduced by five-ninths of one percent for each month that you receive benefits before age 65. This means that pre-age 65 benefits are computed in part on how many months you are away from age 65, not whether you are age, 62, 63 or 64.

The math works out to be an approximate reduction of 20 percent at age 62, 13.3 percent at 63 and 6.6 percent at 64. However, you should keep in mind that each month closer to age 65 will have a somewhat higher benefit than the preceded month.

There is a different reduction rate for those receiving benefits on the record of someone else. Spousal benefits are an example. Also, remember that for those born in 1938 and later, the age for reduced benefits will gradually be increased over several years from age 65 to age 67. A person will continue to be able to start receiving retirement benefits at age 62, but the reduction rates will be somewhat different.

Between 150 and 200 people attended a farm crisis meeting at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls Monday afternoon. Key speakers of the event included U.S. Sen. Paul Wellstone, U.S. Congressman Collin Peterson, State Sen. LeRoy Stumpf, State Rep. Jim Tunheim, and Dave Fredrickson, president of Minnesota Farmers Union.

Tax rebate payment begins

About 250,000 refunds will be deposited directly into bank accounts.

Divorced taxpayers also figure into the equation. "If a taxpayer filed jointly in 1997 and then as a single person or remarried person in 1998, we will split the checks in half," project manager Lefto added.

If a taxpayer owes taxes or has other debts to the state, his or her rebate check will be adjusted accordingly since the rebate is subject to the state's revenue recapture program. Once money for existing debt to the state is recaptured, the money left, if any, will be sent to the taxpayer along with a notice of revenue recapture—why the money was recaptured and where it went.

Taxpayers who had their 1997 homestead taxes abated to zero because of flood damage and were, therefore, not eligible for the property tax rebate in that year are also eligible for this year's sales tax rebate.

Rebates are not adjusted for family size. People who were claimed as dependents on someone else's federal income tax return for 1997 are not eligible for the sales tax rebate.

While the mailing dates have not been divulged, the rebate project itself has been one of the most visible projects in the Department of Revenue's history. The department's website on the Internet hosted more than a quarter of a million visitors this summer.

"Our goal has been to surround people with accurate, timely information so they are as fully informed as possible," Commissioner Smith said. "We have tried to anticipate any possible questions taxpayers might have so they won't have to contact us now for answers," he added. Overall average rebate check is $652. Average single and married filing separately rebate will be $412. Average married filing joint and head of household rebate is $840.

"There is no perfect formula for a rebate," Commissioner Smith said. "While it is true we don't know exactly what each citizen paid in consumer sales tax during any specific year, we do have good information on what households of various income levels paid on average.

"We know a lot about average consumer sales tax burdens by household income level because of the Tax Incidence Study which the Tax Research Division completes every two years," he added. "This gives us a good basis for computing a rebate amount automatically and sending it to taxpayers without any additional application required."

Total consumer sales tax paid during 1997 was about $1.9 billion. the rebate bill is to return abut 69 percent of that tax (about $1.3 billion) via the rebate.

would begin near the Eighth Street boat landing. He asks that all residents using the river use caution near the dredging platform and pipes which will be marked by buoys every 200 feet or so.

The council also approved payment of about $38,000 to the Red Lake Watershed District as its share of the dredging project. This payment represents only part of the city's share of the project cost.

A request to increase the yearly funding for the Heritage Community Center from $16,000 to $20,000 was referred to the administrative services committee. Representatives from the Center noted that the building was getting older and more repairs were needed. (Funding for the Center has not increased since it was built.)

The council has approved the first step in establishing a gas franchise fee with Northern Minnesota Utilities. This step is, in effect, giving NMU notice that the city is proceeding.

The city council approved a recommendation to declare the Busch Selzer Diesel generator at the power plant as surplus property. Superintendent of Utilities, Arlo Rude, explained that the generator was purchased and installed in the 1940s. In the 1950s they learned of a cracked block. Recently the heads on the engine racked and there are no parts available for the old diesel unit. There is some concern about how to get the old generator out of the building, but the utilities department hopes to replace it with a newer engine.

The city council has approved a parking agreement with the American Legion for use of 28 spaces in the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center parking lot.

The council approved a two-year labor contract with Management, Administrative, Professional and Supervisory (MAPS) employees. The total package increase, which includes the value of salaries and cost of benefits, was stated as 5.93 percent.

In other business, the council: extended the Shefland Flying Service lease at the airport for an additional three months; approved a salary progression raise for Mike Dahle, street department heavy equipment operator; approved a salary progression raise for Steve Swanson, wastewater superintendent; and approved the renewal of the city auditorium lease with St. Bernard's church for the 1999/2000 school year.

Proposed Con-Con land designations

and strong feelings related to this issue, that some people may not be fully pleased with the suggested designations," Edgerton said. "But we feel we have done our job in a responsible way."

The Minnesota Attorney General's office recently advised the DNR that although the department has statutory authority to classify and manage Con-Con lands for wildlife management purposes, legislative action is necessary to formally designate Con-Con lands into management units such as wildlife management areas or state forests. Therefore, the DNR will recommend the proposed designation changes to legislators for their consideration next session.

"The Legislature will ultimately have to authorize these designations," Garber said. "We feel we have provided legislators with our best efforts, based on public input, professional advice by our field staff, and county government input. It will now be up to legislators to pass legislation for the final designations."

Because of the recent determination that legislative action is required to place Con-Con lands into formal wildlife management area status, the DNR is suspending enforcement of the use rules applicable to the Con-Con wildlife management areas, pending final designations by the legislature. This action will affect a portion of wildlife management area land sin Beltrami, Lake of the Woods, Marshall and Roseau counties. It primarily involves suspending enforcement of restrictions related to all-terrain vehicles, permanent tree stands, camping, and target shooting on wildlife management areas.

DNR field staff are currently doing a detailed review of management area parcels. The DNR will provide more information soon about specific areas where enforcement of the wildlife management area use rules is suspended. Hunting and fishing regulations still apply on these lands in the same manner as other areas of the state.

To check specific land designation recommendations, log on to the DNR website at www.dnr.state.mn.us to view maps of the five counties. The public can also view maps in DNR offices at 2115 Birchmont Beach Road N.E. in Bemidji and 500 Lafayette Road in St. Paul.

Farm crisis draws U.S. Senator, Congressman to area Monday

River Falls also encouraged farmers to rally in support of change. "This is the time and place where we need to make a stand — to save the family farm and our communities," said Stumpf. Stumpf said this is not a partisan issue. It is a bi-partisan issue.

Rep. Jim Tunheim of Kennedy encouraged farmers to write letters to their state legislators and governor and communicate their support for a higher price. Rep. Tunheim said, "We should have a state united for agriculture since it is such a large part of our state's economy."

For the most part, farmers attending seemed solidly behind what was said, and few expressed skepticism. There was also the voice of desperation from Norma Hanson of Goodridge, who said many farm wives are tired of funerals and auctions. Hanson said there was no reason why farmers should not be able to make it today. She like others, also proposed changes. Hanson said one solution would be price supports like European farmers receive. Another farmer suggested a food tax that would be given to farmers. Another suggested providing revenue for value-added industries. Yet another farmer suggested building alliances between labor and farmers.

UMC honors four top Aggies

Four alumni were honored at the annual Northwest School of Agriculture (NWSA) Alumni held recently at the University of Minnesota, Crookston (UMC).

Receiving the Top Aggie Awards were: Evelyn Bierbaum Peterson '29 of Villa Park IL, John Drees '64 of Grand Forks ND, Hazel Stephenson Halverson '29 of Roseau MN, and Forrest Mykleby '44 of Cedar Rapids IA.

Evelyn Bierbaum Peterson was both a student (as Evelyn Bierbaum) and a faculty member from 1953 to 1959 (as Evelyn Peterson). Throughout her life her standard of excellence has been her training at the Northwest School of Agriculture. It has been her foundation throughout her interesting career.

After graduation she took courses at the University of Minnesota, and became a 4-H Club Agent in East Ottertail, Becker, East Polk, Nicolett, Scott, Wabasha and West Polk Counties as well as a County and State Fair Judge in foods and clothing. She was a WPA Farm Housing Survey Director, and a county National Youth Administration Recreational director.

Bierbaum hosted a 4-H radio program in Moorhead and worked as a social worker. She was executive secretary of the Marshall County Welfare Board. She served her community as PTA President and her church as deacon, member of the Board of Education and Ladies Aid president. In later years she retired to the Texan Mobile Park in McAllen TX where her leadership continued for 19 years in organizing activities and programs.

While at the NWSA John Drees played basketball and enjoyed being in crop judging. Following graduation he served in the Army Reserves. He farmed in Grand Forks County from 1969 to 1998, growing 3,500 acres of potatoes, beets, grain and beans. At present he works for one of his brothers part-time in his construction business.

Drees is very committed to serving on non-profit boards, including the ARC and LISTEN Boards, ND Water Systems Association (chairperson), Thompson Rural Fire Department, Grand Forks Traill Water Board (chairperson), Grand Forks Planning and Zoning Commission, and Grand Forks Township (chairperson). He is a member of the Sharon Lutheran Church in Grand Forks and has been a Foster Parent for Grand Forks County for over 20 years, caring for 28 children over that time.

Drees and his wife Vivian have seven children, six were adopted and some are special needs children, ranging in age from 14 to 32 years. They have seven grandchildren.

For over 58 years Hazel Stephenson Halverson has been the organist at Messiah Lutheran Church in Roseau. Her love for music flourished while she was a student at the NWSA where she was active in music and drama. She recalls the excellent training she had both in piano and theater. After graduating, she attended Concordia College in Moorhead, where she continued with another very good piano teacher.

In 1934 she married Ruben Halverson and moved to Roseau where he was principal for the high school. She bought a piano and started giving piano lessons. Soon after they moved to Roseau, she became organist at Messiah Lutheran Church. Over the years she has had over 400 piano students. She is active in the Roseau Senior Center and Roseau Arts Association. In June of 1996 she was inducted into the Roseau Community School Hall of Fame.

After graduation from the NWSA Forrest Mykleby enrolled at the University of Minnesota. After six months, he was called in the last draft of World War II. He served 13 months in the Army Quartermasters. He returned to the U of M and graduated in 1950 with a degree in Agricultural Business Administration.

He joined Wilson Foods in Albert Lea and over the next several years, received promotions to Omaha NE, Chicago IL, Cedar Rapids IA. He was general manager of that plant and when the plant was sold, he joined the new owner as the senior vice president and chief operating officer. In 1987 he retired but continued to do some sales consulting for several years.

Brock Walseth to attend MSU

Brock Walseth, a 1999 graduate of Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls, has been accepted to Moorhead State University.

Walseth is the son of Ed and Mary Walseth, Thief River Falls. He intends to major in education.

Meetings will be held Tuesday, August 24, at 9 a.m. in the basement meeting room at the courthouse in Thief River Falls and at 11 a.m. at the community center in Goodridge.

Agassiz Wildlife Refuge offers program on American bitterns

Gary Huschle, Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge biologist, will present a program on the American bittern at 2:30 p.m. during an open house from 1 to 5 p.m. at the refuge located 23 miles northeast of Thief River Falls on Marshall County Road 7.

The program at refuge headquarters will discuss the study of bitterns radio collared at the refuge and which winter in the southern United States. This is the sixth year of the study. Satellite telemetry has expanded opportunities to study bird migration.

Refuge tours will also be offered at 1 and 3:30 p.m. Length of each tour will vary but none will last more than two hours. Five people can be accommodated per tour and those interested are asked to register prior to August 20 by stopping at refuge headquarters or calling 218-449-4115.

Birds and mammals of many species can be observed from roads or public use areas on the refuge. Many species of birds will be on their migration south. Waterfowl have molted their bright spring plumage in exchange for duller colored feathers, making identification more difficult and challenging, according to Gary Tischer of the refuge staff.

Visitors may view wildlife displays and discuss natural resources with refuge personnel. Lost-Bay Habitat Drive and Maakstad Hiking Trail are open during the snow-free months. The 100-foot observation tower will be open during the open house.

Also open will be the Agassiz Bookshop which has wildlife books, hand-made wood and leather wildlife items and Agassiz shirts for sale. Refreshments, doughnuts and cookies will be furnished by the Agassiz Audubon Society.

Lincoln cross country and swimming teams will make their debut Tuesday, Aug. 31 -- swimming against Fosston/Bagley/ Clearbrook-Gonvick at the Franklin Middle School pool and cross country in a meet at Warren that is hosted by perhaps the longest collection of names among the cooperative combinations in the Minnesota State High School League: Warren-Alvarado-Oslo/Badger/Greenbush-Middle River/Marshall County Central/Tri-County.

Northland volleyball team will start the year by playing the North Dakota State College of Science Wednesday, Sept. 1, in Wahpeton.

Fall high school hockey program includes Team North, based in Bemidji

Minnesota Hockey (formerly the Minnesota Amateur Hockey Association) will sponsor the second year of Project Prep, a fall season for high school hockey players.

The program features twice-a-week practices and a ten-game schedule that is followed by a season-ending festival at the Blaine Super Rink complex.

Team North, which includes the school districts of East Grand Forks, Crookston, Bagley, Bemidji, Hallock, Roseau, Warroad, Baudette, International Falls, Thief River Falls, Red Lake Falls, Indus, Park Rapids, Wadena, Detroit Lakes, and Moorhead, will operate out of Bemidji. Tryouts will be held at the Bemidji City Arena Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 21-22. Registration takes place at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday. A 20-member squad will be chosen at the completion of the tryout.

All high school students are eligible if they have completed their Bantam eligibility.

Charlie Bedord has put together 11 scrapbooks containing clippings from the hockey career of his father, Peul, a Winnipeg, MB native who played in Baltimore, MD, Washington, D.C., San Diego, CA, Fort Worth, TX, and Oakland, CA before bringing his family to Thief River Falls, where he played for the Thieves and was a driving force in the early days of the youth hockey program. Charlie is displaying two of the books, along with Peul's team jacket from the San Diego Skyhawks of the Pacific Coast League. Charlie invites hockey fans who might be interested in looking over the books to call him at 681-4474.

Charlie Bedard wraps up scrapbook project

■ Hockey history of his dad, Paul

by Mike Lundgren

Paul Bedard had a hockey career that took him from St. Boniface, MB to Oakland, CA, and his son, Charlie, has most of it compiled in a collection of scrapbooks that he is willing to share with the public.

The elder Bedard wrapped up his hockey playing days with the Thief River Falls Thieves in the early 1950s, then became a driving force in the development of the Thief River Falls youth hockey program. He died June 4, 1998, at the age of 73.

As a memorial to his father, Charlie completed the scrapbook project originally begun by his mother, Caroline. He wound up with 11 three-ring binders -- most of them containing some 70 pages.

According to the clippings, Paul Bedard was on the small side as a hockey player, but that never stopped him from gaining first line status at nearly every level of his career. He played junior hockey with the St. Boniface Athletics, and helped the Letellier Maple Leafs win the Manitoba Senior Hockey title and the Allan Cup, the top prize in Canadian amateur hockey.

Then began a country-crossing series of hockey stops in the 1940s that found Bedard playing as an amateur and professional with the Baltimore, MD Blades of the Eastern League, Washington, D.C. Lions of the American League, San Diego, CA Skyhawks of the Pacific Coast League, Fort Worth, TX Rangers of the United States Hockey League, and the Oakland, CA Oaks of the Pacific Coast League.

Bedard became a player-coach with the Thieves in the once-thriving Northwest League that drew crowds to what is now the Old Arena for games against rivals Roseau, Warroad, Crookston, Hallock, and Grand Forks, ND.

In addition to his involvement in hockey, Paul Bedard worked for the Thief River Falls city water and light department for 30 years.

While it was a personal project to complete the books, Charlie Bedard thought there might be others who may be interested in reviewing a bit of hockey history, and decided to offer them for public viewing. Those interested can call him at 681-4474.

Fifth annual high school summer volleyball league at Northland Community and Technical College was completed July 28, with Red Lake County Central beating Marshall County Central Gold 2-1 in the playoff finals. Largest turnout in the history of the program – 113 girls – also included Thief River Falls, Red Lake County Central/Red Lake Falls, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River, Goodridge/Tri-County, Crookston, East Grand Forks, Fosston, and Warren-Alvarado-Oslo entries. Members of the title-winning Red Lake County Central squad included, front row from left, Katie Halvorson, Emily Brusted, Becky Reinbold, Tammy Berberich; back row, Heather Schiefert, Kelsey Lundeen, and Amanda Spong. Circle of Champions state champion in track and field...

Kopari is Gatorade award winner

Nicole Kopari of Thief River Falls has been selected as the 1999 Gatorade Circle of Champions Minnesota High School Girls Track and Field Athlete of the Year, it was announced this week.

As a state winner, Kopari qualifies for consideration as one of the eight Gatorade regional winners. A National Girls Track and Field Athlete of the Year will be named from that group.

This is the 14th year the prestigious Circle of Champions awards have been presented to high school athletes across the country. Two plaques have been received from the Gatorade awards program -- one for display in the Lincoln High School trophy case and the other for Kopari. The local awards presentation will be held Monday.

Kopari's award-earning high school athletic performances featured a discus-shot put sweep at the Minnesota Class AA girls state high school track meet as a junior and senior.

She is also a member of the 1,000 Point Club in basketball, and was in the Prowlers' starting line-up in volleyball -- a sport she had left after middle school to concentrate on swimming. Kopari set records in the pool, but elected to rejoin the volleyball program as a junior.

Kopari starts school this fall at the University of Minnesota, where she signed a national letter of intent with the Gophers' track and field team.

RACE PARK

by Bob Hultgren

The 1999 Track Championships are scheduled Friday, Aug. 20, at the Greenbush Race Park. Trophies will be awarded to the first and second place drivers in each of the five classes. Racing starts at 7 p.m.

With only two races remaining on the schedule, the points battle is no clearer now than it was at mid-season. No single driver has an insurmountable lead in his class.

It was a return to victory lane for Dwayne Pihulak of Fort Francis, ON Friday when he topped the 18-car field for his first feature win in at least three years at the track. Nolan Olmstead of Badger finished second and continues to sit atop the Wissota Modified points standings.

Dean Forst of Thief River Falls reclaimed the points lead in the Wissota Super Stocks by winning Friday's feature. Mike Jeffords of Cavalier, ND was a strong second, with Bob Shafer of Bemidji third. Shafer is just a point or two behind Forst in the standings.

Since mid-July it has been hard to beat Outlaw Street racer Jade Fredrickson of Drayton, ND, who claimed his second consecutive feature Friday - his fourth win out of the last five feature races. But despite the win, Fredrickson is just a handful of points ahead of Richard Jacobson of Wannaska. Jacobson had a third place finish in the Aug. 13 action.

The Super Sport Class has provided loads of entertainment all season long, and the action continued Friday. Rod Peterson of Thief River Falls raced flag-to-flag for the feature win, but there was plenty of excitement along the way. Points leader Roger Fiola of Ste. Anne, MB withdrew just one lap into the race. Another Ste. Anne driver, Dan Gregoire was running in the top five when he hit debris on the front straightaway and punctured his oil pan. Dave Meyer of Thief River Falls, second in the points race, was running second with only five laps to go when he lost his left rear wheel and was out of the race. Fiola still leads the points standings, with Peterson and Meyer in striking distance.

Lately, leading the Mini-Sprint feature is not the place to be. Over the past several weeks it seems that the car leading the feature ends up watching the final few laps from the infield. That scenario held true Friday. In fact, running second and third wasn't good, either. Ten laps into the race, Robbi Peterson of Middle River and Rick Bates of Badger were running second and third, respectively, when they came up on lap traffic. The resulting contact in Turn Four caused Bates to flip his car, and left Peterson with a flat tire. Cory Olson of Roseau led the first 13 1/2 laps, and was a good half-lap ahead of his nearest competitor when he blew a belt on his car and coasted into the infield. Shawn Bugge of Thief River Falls was next in line, and he held on for the final 1 1/2 laps to win. Ken Perry of Fort Francis, ON was second, with LeMar Rantanen of Thief River Falls finishing third. Class points leader Merrick Hietala of Badger was fourth.

A week after the Track Championships, the 1999 season finale will be held Friday, Aug. 27. A half-hour after the final races are completed, Greenbush Race Park officials will hold their annual awards presentations at the grandstand.

The track is located one-half mile north of Greenbush on County Road 7.

Northwest Zone part of early-season hunt

In an effort to reduce expanding resident Canada goose populations in many areas of the state, the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources announced an expanded September Canada goose season for 1999.

The early hunt, which is intended to provide opportunities for hunters to harvest Canada geese before the arrival of migrating geese from Canada, has been extended for an additional week this year. Also, the Northwest Goose Zone, which includes portions of six counties in the northwestern corner of the state, has been included in the early hunt for the first time.

The early September goose season will be Sept. 4-22 statewide except in the Northwest Goose Zone, where the season will be Sept. 4-15. Daily bag limits will be five Canada geese except in the Northwest Goose Zone and an area which lies south of the Twin Cities Metro Goose Zone and east of Interstate 35, where the daily limit will be two Canada geese.

Hunters, except those under age 18 or over age 65, will be required to obtain a $3 permit, available from license agents, county auditors and the DNR License Bureau. Hunters must also possess federal and state duck stamps, and a valid small game license. DNR officials noted that hunters intending to hunt any migratory birds, including geese and ducks, must indicate this by correctly completing the Harvest Information Program questions on the small game license.

"We have had numerous reports of migratory bird hunters not filling this information out, or not checking that they intend to hunt these birds during the year, as required by law," noted Jeff Lawrence, DNR waterfowl specialist. The information is used to design surveys for obtaining accurate harvest information from hunters.

Although hunters in the early goose hunt are generally restricted from hunting within at least 100 yards of any surface water, over-water hunting will again be allowed in the West Goose Zone (south of I-94, west of U.S. 71 and State Highway 60) beginning the second Saturday of the season (Sept. 11-22). "The open-water goose hunting beginning the second weekend is in essence intended to provide two opening weekends in the West Zone which has seen some dramatic goose population increases in recent years," Lawrence said. "We hope hunters can take advantage of this to harvest a greater number of geese in this area of the state."

Lawrence encouraged waterfowl hunters to consider taking part in the early goose hunt. "Local goose populations have been increasing across the state. We need the assistance of hunters to help us reduce these populations."

Annual Youth Waterfowl Hunt is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 18. Hunting will be allowed from one-half hour before sunrise to 4 p.m. The daily duck bag limits and restrictions will be the same as during the regular waterfowl season, and one Canada goose will also be allowed.

Although final waterfowl regulations will not be available from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service until early September, it is expected that duck bag limits for youth waterfowl hunters (and all duck hunters) will be six ducks, and may not include more than four mallards (no more than two of which may be hens), two wood ducks, two redheads, one pintail, one black duck, and one canvasback. In addition, it is expected that scaup limits will be reduced to either two or three.

Details on the September Canada goose seasons and the Youth Waterfowl Hunt will be available in the 1999 Hunting and Trapping Regulations Handbook or the 1999 Waterfowl Regulations Supplement.

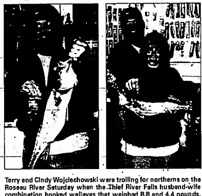
FMS football equipment being issued Aug. 18-19

Franklin Middle School seventh and eighth grade football players are to pick up equipment today (Wednesday) or Thursday, Aug. 18-19.

Eighth graders will be issued their gear from 9-11 a.m. at the equipment shed adjacent to the Franklin tennis courts.

Seventh graders will pick up their equipment from 1-2 p.m. in the Franklin multipurpose room. Players are asked to enter the school through the south doors by the tennis courts.

Locations for the distribution of equipment have been changed from earlier announcements.



Terry and Cindy Wojciechowski were trolling for northerns on the Roseau River Saturday when the Thief River Falls husband-wife combination hooked walleyes that weighed 8.8 and 4.4 pounds, respectively. Terry's fish measured 30 inches and Cindy's catch measured 23 inches.

Waterfowl hunting dates are set

Minnesota's regular waterfowl seasons are scheduled to open this year at 12-noon Saturday, Oct. 2, except for Canada goose seasons in the Lac qui Parle and West Central goose zones, the Department of Natural Resources announced.

"The continued wet cycle throughout much of North America's duck breeding grounds has provided for another banner year for duck numbers and production – yet whether this translates into improved hunting success for Minnesota's hunters remains to be seen," according to Tim Bremicker, chief of the DNR Wildlife Section. "Recent duck seasons have not met expectations of many waterfowlers, and last year Minnesota's duck harvest declined 17 percent from the previous year," Bremicker said. "Despite high continental waterfowl numbers, the excellent habitat conditions to the west of Minnesota provide attractive waterfowl staging and migration areas. That could mean that this fall's Minnesota duck season may be similar to last year's." The proposed duck seasons are similar to last year, except that the daily bag limit of scaup, commonly known as bluebills, will be reduced to three. Canada goose hunters will see several expansions in hunting opportunities this year due to an increase in the population of geese that migrate through Minnesota, and due to continuing efforts to harvest more Minnesota-bred Canada geese. Minnesota should again be one of the nation's top Canada goose harvest states.

"I remind all migratory bird hunters, including waterfowl hunters, that they must be enrolled in the Harvest Information Program known as HIP," said Bremicker. "This means that to legally hunt migratory birds, hunters must answer "yes" to the question on their small game hunting license about whether they will hunt any migratory birds this year."

Those who have already purchased their small game license and did not check "yes" but who wish to hunt migratory birds, should call 1-888-MINNDNR for details on how to register.

Proposed Duck Season

Total duck breeding population in the Dakota's, Montana, Alaska and much of Canada was estimated at 43 million birds, the largest number since surveys began in 1955. Numbers increased 11 percent from last year and were 32 percent above the 1955-1998 average. The predicted fall flight of 105 million is substantially greater than last year's 84 million – due to both the increase in breeding population and good production of young. Habitat conditions improved again throughout much of the duck breeding range due to adequate rainfall.

In Minnesota, the number of breeding mallards declined 14 percent to 316,000, but remains at relatively high levels. Blue-winged teal in Minnesota were 28 percent below the long-term average, but continentally were at record high levels.

North American populations of pintails and scaup are the only major species that are below long-term average numbers this year. While the scaup population estimate increased 27 percent this year, the daily bag limit on scaup is being reduced to three because of a long-term population decline since the mid-1980s.

Tentative dates for the 1999 Minnesota duck hunting season are Oct. 2-Nov. 30. Except for opening day, when shooting hours are noon to 4 p.m., shooting hours will be from one-half hour before sunrise to 4 p.m. daily through Saturday, Oct. 9, and from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset beginning Sunday, Oct. 10, through the close of the season.

Bag limits are proposed to be the same as last year, except for the reduction in the scaup limit. The proposed daily bag limit of ducks is six, and may not include more than four mallards (only two of which may be females), three scaup, two wood ducks, two redheads, one black duck, one pintail, and one canvasback. Possession limits are double the daily bag limits.

Proposed Goose Season

Regular and late season hunting opportunities for Canada geese will be expanded in Minnesota this year. Regular goose seasons will generally be back to those in place in 1997, before last year's additional Canada goose restrictions were put in place.

December Canada goose seasons will be expanded to provide more hunting pressure on Minnesota's growing resident goose flock.

"Biologists in states that harvest Eastern Prairie Population Canada geese have been working on a new management plan for these geese over the last year," said Bremicker.

Regular goose season will begin the same as the duck opener, Saturday, Oct. 2, except in the Lac qui Parle and the West Central zones where the season will open Saturday, Oct. 9, to better coincide with peak goose numbers in these zones.

In the Lac qui Parle Zone and the West Central Zone, the 30-day goose season will be Oct. 9-Nov. 7. The harvest index in the Lac qui Parle Goose Zone will be 16,000, compared with 10,000 last year. The season may close earlier than 30 days if the index is reached. The daily bag limit will be one Canada goose in these zones.

In the West Goose Zone (outside of the West Central and Lac qui Parle zones) and in the Northwest Goose Zone, the regular goose season will be 40 days from Oct. 2-Nov. 10. The daily bag limit will be one Canada goose in these zones.

Remainder of the state will have a 70-day goose season, from Oct. 2-Dec. 10, with a bag limit of two Canada geese daily.

December Canada goose limits have been expanded to include the entire state, except for the Lac qui Parle and West Central goose zones. "Because there are significant numbers of EPP Canada geese remaining in the Lac qui Parle and West Central zones in December, we could not meet the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service criteria to have a late season in those zones," Bremicker said. "The expanded December seasons will be experimental for three years, and hunters will be required to have the same $3 Special Goose Hunt Permit that is required to hunt the early September goose season."

The late season will be Dec. 11-20. Bag limits for Canada geese will be five per day, except in a new Southeast Goose Zone.

Light geese (snow, blue and Ross' geese), white-fronted geese, and brant seasons will be Oct. 2-Dec. 20. The only exception is in the Lac qui Parle Zone, where the season for all geese closes the same date as the Canada goose season. The daily bag limit will be 10 light geese, two white-fronted geese, and one brant. These species make up a small portion of Minnesota's total goose harvest.

Youth Waterfowl Day

Youth Waterfowl Hunting Day will be Saturday, Sept. 18, two weeks prior to the regular duck season opening. On this day, individuals who are 15 years and younger, accompanied by a non-hunting adult age 18 or over, can take ducks, mergansers, coots and moorhens following the regular season daily bag limits. They also can take one Canada goose, except in the West Goose Zone, where five Canada geese are allowed.

Due to the longer September Canada goose season this year, the early goose season will still be open on the day of the Youth Waterfowl Hunt. "While hunters will have to decide which season to participate in, there should not be much conflict because goose hunters must be 100 yards from surface water, except in the West Zone," Bremicker said. "I want to emphasize that the adults who are accompanying youth may not hunt while they are participating in the youth hunt. The focus of this day is on the young hunters."

Shooting hours will be one-half hour before sunrise to 4 p.m.

Other

Federal migratory bird baiting laws have changed. Waterfowl hunters should check the Waterfowl Hunting Regulation Supplement for details on these changes.

Waterfowl seasons will not be finalized until after the comment period closes in early September on the proposed federal migratory waterfowl rules. To comment on the proposed seasons, write Minnesota DNR Wildlife, 500 Lafayette Road, Box 7, St. Paul, MN 55155-4007; or write Chief, Office of Migratory Bird Management, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior, ms 634 - ARLSQ, 1849 C Street, NW, Washington, D.C. 20240.

Waterfowl hunters should consult the 1999 Minnesota Hunting and Trapping Regulations booklet, which is now available from license agents and DNR offices, for basic waterfowl regulations and September seasons. For details about regular and December season waterfowl regulations, consult the 1999 Minnesota Waterfowl Hunting Regulations Supplement, which will be available in mid-September.

Meeting is set Thursday for TRF girls swim team, USS Tigersharks squad

Members of the 1999 Thief River Falls girls high school swim team and their parents must attend a mandatory meeting Thursday, Aug. 19, at 7 p.m. in the Franklin Middle School cafeteria.

The session will also serve as a general meeting for the Thief River Falls Swim Club.

New Thief River Falls girls head swimming coach Mary Helen Houlihan and assistant coach Tony Delaney, along with Prowlers co-captains Andrea Olin and Julie Chrzanowski, will be introduced at the meeting.

Summary of the summer season and discussion of the fall schedule for the Swim Club-sponsored USS Tigersharks program will be part of the agenda, along with election of officers.

18-hole match play showdown...

Golf Club tournament final is scheduled for 2 p.m. tee-off Sunday

Finals are scheduled Sunday in the 1999 Thief River Golf Club tournament.

The 18-hole match play championship final has a 2 p.m. tee-off. Semifinal matches that were scheduled to be played during the week featured Stan Sjoberg vs. Tom Williams and John Sjoberg vs. Jeff Reese.

Stan Sjoberg is the defending champion. He also won the Club title in 1995. Williams is another two-time champion (1989, 1993), and Reese won three straight titles from 1986 to 1988. John Sjoberg was a Class AA state golf tournament qualifier last spring as a high school sophomore.

A year ago the championship flight featured a 36-hole final day, with the morning semifinals followed by the afternoon title match. Club officials opted to split those rounds into two days of golf this time around.

Stan Sjoberg beat Reese in the 1998 semifinals and defeated then-defending champion Jeff Wiltse in the title match.

Sunday's Thief River Golf Club tournament schedule will also include finals in flight play beginning at 9 a.m. and the completion of the junior tournament at 2:40 p.m.

Deer licenses, permit forms made available

The 1999 Minnesota Hunting and Trapping Regulations booklet, along with deer licenses and applications for deer antlerless and special hunt permits, are now available from county auditors' offices, license vendors, and the Department of Natural Resources License Bureau at 500 Lafayette Road in St. Paul.

Application deadline for antlerless permits and special hunts is the Thursday after Labor Day (Sept. 9), except that applications for the Camp Ripley archery hunt must be received by Aug. 20 and the deadline for the New Ulm archery hunt is Aug. 28.

Firearms deer season will open Nov. 6, the archery deer season will open Sept. 18, and the muzzleloader deer season will open Nov. 27.

A total of 177,380 antlerless permits are available this fall, a 26 percent increase from last year and the highest number offered since 1995. The higher permit quotas reflect the continued recovery of northern deer herds that were decimated by consecutive severe winters in 1995-96 and 1996-97. However, permit increases were seen in all hunting zones.

Antlerless permits are available in all areas except the Leech Lake Indian Reservation, areas along the north shore of Lake Superior, the Roseau River State Wildlife Management Area, the Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge, the Northwest Angle, and southwestern Minnesota. No applications for permits will be accepted for these areas.

However, hunters who do not apply for a permit this year or who decide to switch zones will retain whatever preference they currently have in the drawing system. In addition, permit area 211 north of Red Lake will be restricted to a limited number of antlerless permits available only to youth under age 16 during the firearms season; all other hunters in this permit area will be restricted to bucks-only hunting.

A total of 36 special hunts will also be held in parks and refuges where hunting is not normally allowed and where the number of hunters must be limited for safety purposes. The regulation handbook includes a complete listing of the hunts and application instructions.

DNR pointed out that some antlerless permit and special hunt quotas in east-central Minnesota within the 1837 Ceded Territory may be reduced prior to the application deadline to accommodate expected tribal harvest of antlerless deer.

Most significant regulation changes for deer hunters this fall are:

* Antlerless permit area boundaries and numbers have been changed in most areas of zones 1 and 2 (northern Minnesota). Hunters should examine the foldout map in the regulations carefully before applying for permits to ensure that the correct area is used.

* As in past years, hunters who applied for either an antlerless permit or firearms special hunt in 1998 and those hunters who last applied in 1995 and were restricted to bucks-only will be mailed a DNR postcard with a peel-off label for use on the permit application form. The labels are bar-coded. Hunters are encouraged to use the labels to minimize the possibility of errors and reduce data entry costs. In northern areas where permit area boundaries and numbers have changed, including areas that were restricted to bucks-only hunting last year, postcards have been mailed with the permit area left blank. Hunters must fill in the area number to ensure a valid application.

* Five-county two-deer area in northwestern Minnesota where hunters were allowed to tag deer with both regular firearms and archery licenses, was not re-authorized by the Minnesota Legislature for the 1999 season. Thus, the one-deer restriction will again be statewide this fall.

Licenses cost $23 for residents ($45 for multi-zone buck licenses that allow hunters to tag bucks-only in more than one zone) and $111 for nonresidents. There is also a $5 youth firearm deer license, without a tag, that is available for residents 12 to 15 years of age. This license requires that the youth be accompanied by a licensed hunter at least 18 years of age who possesses a valid tag, and that any deer taken by the youth hunter be tagged by another member of the party.

Hunters are encouraged to visit the "Gamefinder" feature on the DNR website for maps and tables showing detailed information on past deer harvests and permit information. The address for Gamefinder is www.dnr.state.mn.us/gamefind.

In 1998, approximately 435,000 firearms hunters harvested 143,000 deer during the firearms season and an additional 3,100 deer during the muzzleloader season. Also, 65,000 archery hunters harvested a total of 12,300 deer last year.

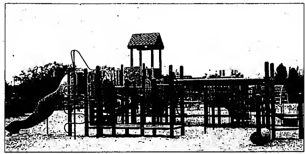
Back To School



During the summer new playground equipment was erected on the pre-school, kindergarten and first grade playgrounds, and on the fourth and fifth grade playgrounds. The new equipment represents phase I of a project that will result in new playground equipment for all students at Challenger Elementary school in Thief River Falls. The playground equipment was purchased with donations, and erected with the assistance of numerous volunteers on July 16.

Changes in personnel will be the major change in SD 564

More than the new playground equipment at Challenger, or the painted lockers at Franklin and Lincoln-and more than the new carpet in 20-plus rooms at Lincoln, changes in personnel will be the most significant change affecting students and parents this year in School District 564.

Twenty-seven people have been hired so far to fill the 31 vacancies in School District 564 staffing. Those are just the changes among educators, and don't include other staff changes.

Without reviewing files, Superintendent Jerry Robicheau guessed that the district has probably hired 50-55 educators in the past two years. Robicheau noted that this amount of change is a reflection on the climate of public education. Many other districts are experiencing similar changes.

This is the third year the district has experienced significant changes. It is also the third year the district has held a new staff orientation. During this two-day orientation, the recently hired educators will be introduced to the district's policies and expectations.

In a recent column of "Speaking of Education," which is written by Robicheau, Robicheau said "We look forward to the 1999-2000 school year with high excitement and great enthusiasm."

Biggest Initiative

Other than adjusting to all the changes in personnel, Robicheau said the biggest initiative in the district this year will be a focus on student achievement, and how do we get student achievement in the forefront of everyone's mind. It will take everyone working together, Robicheau said, to set goals for student achievement.

Indeed, the mission of School District 564 is "to ensure quality learning by developing individual abilities within a challenging and caring environment."

The first step in the addressing student achievement was answered recently with the development of a brochure called "Unlocking Student Potential." The new brochure is the product of considerable effort by volunteers in the community. It spells out the responsibilities parents, students and community are expected to take in regard to student achievement.

Enrollment

Enrollment is not expected to change significantly. The district is expecting about 150 students to enroll in kindergarten this year, which about the overall average per class. There are some exceptions however, particularly in the middle school.

At the conclusion of the 1998-99 school year, the district recorded 2,217 students, about 54 fewer than than at the end of the 1997-98 school year. According to the enrollmem report, there were 154 students in grade 12. The enrollment projection for kindergarten this year is about 150.

Class size is expected to be very good at all three schools. Robicheau noted that parents and educators in School District 564 knew long before the state, that class size was important, and had been making steps in improving class size before the state started making recommendations.

Security

One of the biggest issues in the media is security for children. It is a direct result of what happened at Columbine High School in Colorado last spring.

Robicheau said the district continues to look at security issues. Access into Challenger and Franklin is limited to the front doors of those facilities. Robicheau said he realizes that this poses some inconvenience to parents, but hopes they understand. The district does require that all visitors report to the principal's office. It is also considering some kind of visitor's pass.

Robicheau said he recently attended a conference, and one of the issues at the conference was security. Experts at the conference noted that statistically, children appear to be safer at school than at home, in some instances, or in the community.

Saying that, however, Robicheau doesn't want anyone to get the idea that the district isn't concerned for children's safety. The district, he said, has a very low tolerance for weapons or aggression. There are immediate consequences for actions that threaten or cause harm in all relationships — students to students, students to teachers, teachers to students, and so forth.

He said he realizes we live in a hunting culture. All students and parents should be aware of the district policy by now, that no weapons are allowed on School District property, and that includes parking lots. (The definition of weapons also includes firearms, ammunition, and knives.) Robicheau asks that parents and students please make sure that they leave all of their hunting gear at home before they go to school.

Notices

Robicheau asks that parents and students pay attention to the many notices being set to homes in the district. Many notices have been sent to parents lately, including notices about bus routes. Parents and students will be also receiving a summary of district activities handbook.

Replacements for the 1999-2000 school year will include the following: Lincoln High School — Carter Rogalla teaching business education; Casey McCausland teaching physics; Shelley Steva teaching environmental science/biology; Rebecca Winters teaching English; Darlene McCauley teaching Home Ec.; Larry Langevin teaching physical science; David Christianson teaching band.

New carpet was installed at several locations at Lincoln High School during the summer. In addition, the lockers and some trim in the hallways were painted.

St. Bernard's school in TRF begins Sept. 1

Classes at St. Bernard's School in Thief River Falls are expected to begin on September 1. School officials expect enrollment to be at 147, up from 136 last year.

Children attending the school will observe new pre-kindergarten equipment on the playground this year, along with the addition of several printers. Sr. Kathy Kuchar, principal, explained that a generous donor gave the school some printers which will allow the school to expand its computer program.

Sr. Kuchar also noted another change. Dates for the pizza and auction fund-raisers have been switched. That means that this year the pizza fund-raiser will be held in the fall and the auction in the spring.

St. Bernard's School began in 1923. It is a fully accredited member of the Minnesota Non-Public School Accrediting Association. The school's mission statement is: "... to nurture a positive, trusting environment that will enable everyone to grow spiritually, emotionally, intellectually, and physically. Our purpose is to enhance each child's self-esteem, values and ideals in harmony with the family. Above all else, our Father in Heaven wants us to love each other and thereby be a positive influence in our faith community and our world."

The philosophy of education at St. Bernard's School is based on the Church's recognition of the dignity of all as a human being and as a child of God.

Our Saviour's Christian Academy opens Sept. 1

Our Saviour's Christian Academy opens its doors to students on September 1. Joining the staff this year will be Miss Alice Sather teaching in the primary grades two through five.

Our Saviour's Christian Academy has been in existence for over 25 years. Located just outside of the Thief River Falls City limits, the academy's philosophy of education is founded upon the principles of scripture. This Christian philosophy affirms that each subject will be taught from the Biblical principles of that subject because the Word of God is the only source of absolute truth, wisdom, and knowledge. An educational objective at the school is to learn to reason from the Bible in all aspects of life.

The curriculum used is a modified School of Tomorrow curriculum. Most students complete the core subjects individually, advancing only when they have mastered the subjects/materials. High school students do many of their subjects through lecture classes. All pupils are held accountable to high academic standards.

The academy is an accredited school from pre-kindergarten through 12th grade. The accrediting agency is The Association of Christian Schools International.

Back-to-School time is not just for kids anymore

by Richard W. Riley
U.S. Secretary of Education

Back-to-school time has always been exciting for children. It's a time to meet new friends, new teachers, and resume the adventure of learning.

But back-to-school time is not just for kids anymore.

If our schools are going to do the job we expect them to do, everyone must pitch in and help. That includes parents and everyone in the community.

The fact is, schools today can't do the job alone. There are more children in our schools this fall than ever before — more, even, than at the height of the baby boom! There is more diversity — in some schools, students come from dozens of nations. We are living in the Information Age, a time when our nation's economy and security depend more on the quality of education than at any other time in our history. That's why more and more states and communities are requiring students and teachers to reach for high standards of learning, and why the public is demanding real results for its tax dollars.

So I encourage every parent, family, and citizen to use this back-to-school season to make a personal commitment to supporting better education in their community. When children are surrounded by adults and communities that value education, they get the message that their education is important. And they're more likely to buckle down and do their best. When children see that adults and communities don't care about education, they get the opposite message. And we all lose.

To spread the message about the importance of family and community involvement in education, the U.S. Department of Education conducts a national initiative each year called "America Goes Back to School." We hold events all around the nation to stir excitement for the new school season. This year, I'm personally taking a five-state bus tour to spread the message. I'll be traveling through Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, and North Carolina. If you pass me on the highway, be sure to wave. I'll also be visiting communities in the East, West and Midwest.

We've also prepared a colorful, fact-filled "America Goes Back to School" kit which provides plenty of good ideas for getting involved in your schools and staying involved all year long. It's called, "Challenge Our Students and They Will Soar," and you can get a free kit by simply calling the U.S. Department of Education at 1-800-USA-LEARN, or by visiting our web site at www.ed.gov/Family/agbts.

Here are a few ideas that can get you started:

• Employers: Be "Family-friendly." Give your employees the time to meet with teachers or volunteer for school activities. It's good for education, and good for your bottom line. Giving parents flexible work schedules helps you keep your top-notch workers. Also, encourage your employees to be mentors and tutors to young people. Offer students internships and work-study experiences. And invite teachers into your workplace to show them the skills that today's workers must have. This will help teachers to make sure students take the courses they'll need to gain those skills.

• Parents: Try to slow down your lives and help your children grow. Spend at least 30 minutes a day supervising your children's education. Start early, and read to your youngest children. Share books with your older children. Keep in touch with teachers. Make sure your children are doing their homework. Keep TV watching to a minimum. And talk with your children frankly about drugs and violence and the values you want them to have.

• Educators, community leaders and law enforcement officials: Many communities are holding town meetings with mental health professionals to talk about troubled youth and school violence. Think about holding one in your community. Talk about ways to help troubled youth and find ways to connect each young person to at least one caring adult. Every child should feel that he or she is the most important person in an adult's life. Creating connections and a caring environment in the home, at school, and in the community is an important part of preventing violence. And work with others in your community to develop quality after-school and summer programs. Isn't it better to have children in school where they can continue learning, rather than being at home alone, or going to the mall to play violent video games?

• Teachers and school officials: Make your school parent-friendly. Reach out to families and remove the obstacles that sometimes make them reluctant to get involved in school activities.

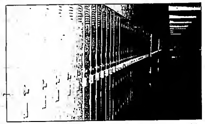
• Students: Challenge yourselves! Take the tough courses in middle and high school that will put you on the road to college and careers. Take algebra in 8th grade, geometry in 9th grade, and physics, chemistry and trigonometry in high school. Take four years of a foreign language, and an Advanced Placement art, music, English or history course. Explore tech prep and other career courses. Studies show that students who take academically challenging high school courses are more likely to attend and complete college and earn more in the work world, regardless of their family's financial status, race or gender.

Elementary school students should focus on reading, reading, and reading — and math, too. Develop those basic skills. And no child should be promoted to a grade they're not ready for. Let's get rid of social promotion. If some children aren't making the grade, give them the extra help they need, either after school or over the weekends and summers.

At the national level, we're working hard to provide communities like yours with more of the resources you'll need to accomplish these goals. If Congress agrees, we will expand after-school programs, help reduce class size by hiring 100,000 well-prepared teachers, fund safe and drug-free schools programs, provide mentors for middle-school students and put them on the road to college, and build or modernize schools to alleviate overcrowding and put computers into every classroom. Technology is critically important if we're going to prepare our children for success in the 21st century.

If you want to get involved, you don't have to go it alone. Building partnerships is the key. Join with others in your community to determine your school's needs and then ask teachers and principals how you can support their efforts.

No one stands taller than when they stoop down to help a child. Get involved with your community's young people, and you will stand taller — and feel taller — than you ever have. Back-to-school time is the perfect time to start.



Lockers at Franklin Middle School and Lincoln High School in Thief River Falls received a fresh coat of paint during the summer. It is hoped that the lighter color will brighten up the hallways.

Police chief urges drivers to use caution

Thief River Falls Police Chief Ken Froschheiser is urging drivers to be extra alert this time of year. "School is open again, and it's an exciting time for children, especially youngsters attending school for the first time. Unfortunately, it also means that young, inexperienced pedestrians and bicyclists are in the traffic mix, where they are more likely to be struck by cars," said Chief Froschheiser.

Motorists can help reduce the risk to children going to and from school by:

- slowing down in school and residential areas;
- watching for clues that give warning of children in the area (safety patrols, bikes, adult crossing guards, school buses);
- obeying school bus stop laws;
- clearing fogged windows before driving;
- obeying all traffic signs;
- avoiding school zones during arrival and dismissal hours.

Each year thousands of children are struck by automobiles. Chief Froschheiser suggests that all parents instruct their children in safe crossing practices before the opening of school. Walking the route to school several times before it opens is recommended.

Instruct children on how to judge if there is adequate time to cross a street. Never enter the roadway from between parked cars. When there is no sidewalk and it is necessary to walk on the roadway, walk on the far left side, facing traffic. Use crosswalks and designated school crossings whenever possible.

Some youngsters, especially those venturing away from home for the first time, may never have learned traffic safety. Others may have forgotten over the summer. Thus drivers need to be cautious, especially around schools, bus stops, and areas where children walk to school.

One clue that can alert drivers to the presence of school children is the familiar orange "Sam Browne" belt worn by School Safety Patrols. These young leaders, who help their classmates safely across streets, have protected school children and even saved lives for many years.

"Remember, children are greatly influenced by their peers and imitate the actions of adults even if they are poor traffic safety role models," reminded Chief Froschheiser. "Excitable and unpredictable students are in traffic areas they may have never experienced before or may have been away from for three months," Froschheiser concluded.

Get Up and Go!!! Can Back-To-School Be This Simple?

Bzzzzz--the sound of the alarm clock rings. The dreaded day has come . . . it's time to get up and go back-to-school! We all remember making the difficult transition from relaxing summertime slumber to the early mornings associated with heading back-to-school. While the act of just getting out of bed can send kids and parents into a tailspin, it's the rituals at sunrise, following the wake up call that can make school mornings so hectic. It's no wonder then, that parents are constantly seeking ways to simplify mornings and make things run a little more smoothly.

Lands' End Kids has evaluated the activities that can complicate school mornings.

Multiplying Morning Madness. According to a recent survey commissioned by Lands' End, 62 percent of children start their day between 6:00 and 7:00 a.m. And, as kids wake up, the craziness begins. The survey results indicate kids and parents alike try to cram a day's worth of activities into those precious hours before school. Common activities for kids before they leave the house, include eating breakfast (89 percent), watching TV (51 percent), listening to the radio (30 percent), and doing household chores (25 percent).

"The morning routine and getting ready for school may cause anxiety for both parents and kids," said Susan Lipton, Lands' End Kids merchant. "One great way to alleviate some of the stress is to make the big decisions, such as what to eat for breakfast or what to wear, the night before."

Solving The What to Wear Woes. Many parents and children (40 percent) have already attempted to minimize the "what to wear woes" by choosing outfits the night before. Of the 60 percent of parents and kids who choose the school outfit in the morning, 48 percent of them are spending a mere five minutes making a decision.

One thing that can simplify the dressing dilemma, is choosing clothing that embodies a coordinated color scheme making it easier to mix and match. This year, softer, sophisticated colors are popular for both boys and girls. "Most often, parents and kids are deciding together what will be worn to school," said Lipton.

Common Denominators. Rest assured, parents can tackle potential morning dressing problems in advance. It's no secret that kids and parents don't always agree on the perfect wardrobe or outfit, but 56 percent of them are making back-to-school shopping decisions together. And the team effort goes beyond the point-of-purchase decision, as 49 percent of parents and kids report they select each day's school outfit together. According to Lipton, its a two part equation. "First, back-to-school shopping should be attacked strategically--aim to build a wardrobe that both parents and kids agree upon. Second, simplify mornings by anticipating dressing woes the night before so they don't become as predictable as the alarm clock.

The Must-Haves. Although parents and kids may not always stand on equal ground when it comes to dressing or shopping for back-to-school, there are some things they can agree upon, such as the "must-have" classroom clothing, which includes backpacks and jeans.

When asked which one item they "can't live without" when going back-to-school, both parents and children ranked jeans and backpacks as their top choices. Kids stated backpacks (41 percent) were the necessity, followed by jeans (21 percent). Parents thought jeans (47 percent) were of top importance for their kids, followed by backpacks (26 percent).

"Parents and kids may want to spend more time choosing the 'must-have' items for back-to-school," said Lipton. "A simple discussion before you begin shopping can eliminate arguments later on."

Shopping for Simplicity. To avoid back-to-school shopping miscalculations, Lands' End merchant, Lipton, is providing parents and kids with a formula for finding a "Get Up and Go" wardrobe:

- First, conduct a closet audit to determine what still fits and what doesn't. Next, measure the child, so you know what size you'll need. Trying on clothes currently in the child's closet and having measurements on-hand will be a great guide to current sizing.
- Next, evaluate which pieces of clothing were worn most often the previous year and which collected dust in the closet. Sometimes this is a good reminder for parents that kids will wear what they like and what's comfortable.
- Calculate a shopping list and budget. This will help both kids and parents to stay on track.
- To alleviate shopping mall distress, try alternative back-to-school shopping methods such as Internet or catalog shopping from home. Kids will enjoy the quiet time together with parents.

"Kids tend to lose interest and get frustrated during back-to-school shopping. Work with them to develop a shopping plan, keep them involved in all decisions, and most of all, remember that shopping with your child for back-to-school clothing can be fun," said Lipton.

Doctors, School Nurses Offer "Heads Up" About Ringworm Epidemic

Evaluation, Treatment Critical to Reducing Risk of Reinfection

Doctors and school nurses around the country are working together to help families keep an unwelcome guest out of the nation's homes and classrooms. Through the Community Alliance for Ringworm Education (C.A.R.E.) program, the nation's healthcare professionals have teamed up to raise awareness about ringworm of the scalp, the most common pediatric fungal scalp infection worldwide and a health concern that is nearing epidemic proportions in the United States.

Ringworm of the scalp, also known as tinea capitis, is one of the earliest human infections to be documented in medical literature. It is a highly contagious disease, accounting for over 90 percent of fungal infections of the skin in children under the age of 10. Teenagers and adults can easily catch it as well.

The C.A.R.E. program, sponsored by Ortho Dermatological, provides physicians and school nurses with educational materials designed to assist children and their families in understanding ringworm, its contagious nature, and the need for medical treatment. "Early recognition and treatment are essential both to slowing the spread of infection and to preventing reinfection of ringworm," explains Judy Robinson, RN, Executive Director, National Association of School Nurses. "By working together, school nurses, doctors, and parents/caregivers can ensure that children with tinea capitis come full circle from evaluation to treatment to cure."

While it is not tracked by health authorities in the United States, there is general agreement among health care professionals that incidence of ringworm has been increasing steadily over the past few years, and that it constitutes a significant public health problem in this country. Researchers at Wake Forest University School of Medicine, analyzing data of 1996 visits to physicians for tinea capitis infection from the National Ambulatory Medical Care Survey, observed the following:

- In 1996, 207,000 cases of ringworm were reported.
- Children between the ages of five- and 18-years-old represented more than three-quarters (77 percent) of the cases, while those younger and older accounted for 19 percent and four percent, respectively.
- Males accounted for 58 percent of the cases.
- African-Americans represented 81 percent of the cases reported.

"Previous studies showed a high incidence of ringworm in individuals who do not visit a physician, thus suggesting that our analysis may even underestimate the actual incidence of this condition," notes one of the Wake Forest researchers, Amy McMichael, M.D., Assistant Professor, Dermatology and Director, Hair Disorders Clinic.

Tinea capitis is more common in African-American children, especially those in urban areas, than in Caucasian children. Dr. McMichael stresses, however, that the infection is known to defy demographics. "Failure to consider ringworm as a possibility in every child carries the risk of missed diagnoses, with resulting absence of treatment, persistent infection and unwanted transmission to others."

Recognition of ringworm of the scalp is difficult because the symptoms often mimic other scalp conditions. Typical early signs include redness, itching, and flaking.

The average ringworm patient is between four and six years old. In addition to schools, outbreaks have been noted in daycare centers, as well as in nurseries among infants as young as nine-days old, and frequently among high-school age athletes, particularly wrestlers. Tinea capitis is also becoming increasingly common in adults.

The infection spreads through close human contact, as well as from contact with inanimate objects such as combs and brushes, barrettes, bed linens, stuffed animals, telephones, wrestling mats, and theater seat-backs.

Topical therapy is not effective in eradicating tinea capitis. Griseofulvin has been the standard of treatment for the condition for nearly 50 years. One form of griseofulvin, available in an oral liquid suspension formulation for children, is GRIFULVIN V (griseofulvin oral suspension). Parents may find that the liquid suspension form is easier and more pleasant for children to take, which may increase the likelihood of compliance with the full regimen. When side effects occur, they are most commonly of the hypersensitivity type, such as skin rashes and hives.

"Compliance is crucial to treatment," emphasizes Dr. McMichael. "The full course of treatment must be completed without regard to whether symptoms have improved."

Sending Young Adults Away to School is Easier For Parents and Kids

with Sensible Safety, Communications and Dorm Room Storage Products

It's a moment teens dream about, and many parents wish would never come. A turning point for both, the day a child leaves for college or school away from home is exciting and emotional. To help ease the transition into semi-independent life, and make themselves fairly comfortable with this new out-of-the-house living arrangement, parents can equip kids headed away to school with special gear. An array of items available today will make it easy to stay in touch, boost safety and organize a cramped dorm room, all while fitting in with the cutting edge image of today's youth.

These days, the most wanted items on a young adult's back-to-school shopping list may not be new clothing. The latest high tech pager, safety equipment for the car and cool, functional storage organizers are essentials, too. On-the-go students and parents seeking peace of mind will certainly find these necessities useful and convenient.

Internet information services, staying in-touch with the outside world is easy . . . even if you're stuck on campus in the middle of nowhere. With the internet not only can freshman receive those little reminders from mom and dad that they're loved and missed (immediately), but they can also find out their daily horoscopes, weather, the latest news, sports scores, music and local movie charts without ever leaving the classroom.

Students won't have any trouble finding their homework and other important school papers with the Rolling Storage Filing Cabinet from Tamor Corporation, a Home Products International (HPI) company. Class notes and hand-outs are within fingertip reach in the unit's open-top letter-size hanging files. When not in use, books and school supplies can be stashed in the cabinet's two drawers. The 15 1/4 x 13 1/4 x 27-inch upright design maximizes space and the entire unit can be easily rolled into a closet or corner.

After a long night of studying, students need a good nights rest--and a favorite pillow can be a reassuring reminder that home isn't too far away. A pillow made of latex provides unmatched comfort, conforming to the sleeper's every move, as well as health benefits. Latex is a natural substance that's inherently anti-microbial, anti-bacterial and dust mite-resistant.

Give your kid's college career a jumpstart with a remote engine starter. Sending a son or daughter off to school for the first time is stressful enough, but sending them with that new car from graduation (or an old car) can be a whole other story. Remote starters provide the type of affordable convenience and security that every parent needs for peace of mind and every child should have in his or her car.

With or without a car, students can't always bring the laundry home to mom, so sorters and laundry accessories are necessary to help get the job done.

To keep clothing hanging neatly, hangers designed for specific needs are needed. A variety of styles and designs are available at specialty and mass merchants nationwide.

While there are a couple of slides pictured in the new playground equipment on the fourth and fifth grade playground, most of the new equipment emphasizes upper body development. The new equipment was installed July 16 with the assistance of many volunteers, and purchased with donations. Also as part of phase I, playground equipment was also installed on the kindergarten and first grade playground.

Popplers celebrates 60th

Popplers Home Furnishings in Thief River Falls is celebrating its 60th anniversary.

Throughout its 60 years of doing business in Thief River Falls, Popplers has witnessed and adapted to many changes.

It began in 1939 when Cy Poppler of Grand Forks opened a furniture store across from the Post Office in Thief River Falls. A few years later he hired Stan Larson to manage the store. Popplers then expanded and moved into the present Kezar Music building. Stan and his brother Bill Larson, who owned and operated a furniture store in Grand Forks then purchased the store from Cy Poppler. Shortly after, an addition was added to the back of their store, which increased their space by 50 percent.

In 1964, Popplers Furniture was on the move again, doubling in size again by moving to the FW Woolworth building, which is Popplers present location.

In 1969, Jerry Hendrickson purchased Bill Larson's share of Popplers and became Stan Larson's partner.

In 1973, Popplers warehouse, located just south of Northern Pride, caught fire. The building, as well as the merchandise inside the building were badly damaged. The following year a new warehouse was built on Highway 32 North, its present location. During this time, Jerry's son Jeff delivered furniture while attending Lincoln High School.

The transition of the store from Stan Larson to Jerry Hendrickson was finalized in 1975 when Stan retired and sold his part of the business to Jerry.

In 1976, an addition was built onto the warehouse and Popplers Furniture Outlet was opened. Jeff Hendrickson continued to work at Furniture Outlet while attending Northland Community College. In 1978, he married Nancy Halbasch, and they moved to Grand Forks where Jeff attended the University of North Dakota. While attending UND, Jeff worked at Crossroads Furniture.

In 1979, Jeff and Nancy moved back to Thief River Falls and Jeff joined his dad in business.

Throughout the next few years Popplers went through numerous remodeling projects. In 1993, Popplers expanded into the adjacent Hamiltons Clothing building, adding another 3,000 square feet to the store.

On January 1, 1997, after 28 years in the furniture business, Jerry Hendrickson retired, and sold the business to Jeff. Jerry and his wife Arlys now live in Alexandria, MN.

The current staff at Popplers include Jeff Hendrickson, Terry Voecks, Jenny Bernier, Mike Hoglin, Jon Carpenter, Casey Skjerven, and Craig Wawrzyniak.

Senators and officials to tour Northwest Minnesota

State Senator LeRoy Stumpf (DFL - Thief River Falls) announced that the Senate Environment and Natural Resources Committee has scheduled a two-day tour of sites around Northwest Minnesota. The group will tour East Grand Forks, Warren, Roseau and the Beltrami Island State Forest on August 25 and 26.

Stumpf also announced that Minnesota Department of Natural Resources Commissioner Allen Garber and several members of his staff will accompany the Senators on the tour, as well as high-level administrators from other state agencies.

"I'm glad the committee and the Commissioner will come visit us so that they can learn about the issues we face," Stumpf said. "Sometimes it's hard for state policymakers to understand our local opinion on a variety of natural resource and recreation issues. This trip will give them a chance to see a few sites first hand and talk to the people who are affected by state policies."

The Senators and Commissioner will meet with city officials in East Grand Forks and Warren to conduct an oversight visit on how previous state appropriations for flood control projects have been spent, and to learn about plans for the future. Between the two cities, the tour will visit a farmstead ring dike site.

"We've worked hard to get the dollars for these projects," Stumpf said. "It'll be good for the legislators to see the work that's been done, as well as learn about what is left to be done."

A public meeting will be held in the Roseau High School Gymnasium at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, August 25th. Several natural resource management and environmental recreation issues are on the agenda, including the Minnesota-Ontario border waters tourism dispute; the DNR's fish and wildlife operating budget; personal watercraft and snowmobiling issues, a proposal for Cervidae shooting preserves, goose hunting and tourism, non-game tourism; and the dispute over state classification of consolidated conservation land.

Several area residents have been invited to provide testimony, and there will be a brief opportunity for public comment.

On the following day, the Senators will take a guided All-Terrain Vehicle tour through the Beltrami Island State Forest. The Senators are scheduled to view DNR timber harvest management sites, examine State Forest roads and the forest trail system, evaluate a site for a proposed Cervidae shooting preserve and inspect sites where legislative appropriations have been used by the DNR to improve forest recreation.

"We're going to see and do a lot while we've got these Senators and state officials up here," Stumpf said. "This should be a very productive trip."

Wolves program at Rydell Refuge on Sunday, Aug. 22

At 2 p.m. on Sunday, August 22nd, Andreas Chavez, Fish and Wildlife Co-op student from Utah State University, will give a presentation at the Rydell National Wildlife Refuge about an on-going wolf research project.

The project is tracking radio-collared wolves that inhabit Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge. The goal of the project is to understand the movement patterns of wolves that travel on and off of the refuge. Andreas will discuss wolf ecology, the status of the wolf in Minnesota, the wolf's legal status in the U.S., other wolf research projects and the ongoing wolf research at Agassiz.

In the Agassiz NWR area, depredation events do not occur often even with wolves in close proximity to livestock. However, it is a common notion that wolves utilizing the agricultural areas surrounding Agassiz NWR are a risk to farmers' livestock. The intent of the study is to evaluate the relationships between wolves and livestock that surround Agassiz NWR. The study is looking at three objectives to assess the risk that wolves pose to livestock: (1) describe the potential risk that wolves pose to livestock by evaluating daily movement patterns of wolves, (2) document the actual risk that wolves pose to livestock by examining historical records of depredations in the surrounding area and by analyzing wolf feces, and (3) assess the perceived risk of wolves by neighboring agricultural landowners.

This program is free and open to the public. It is being cosponsored by the Maple Lake Improvement District, the Union Lake Sarah Improvement District, and Friends of the Rydell Refuge Association. To get to the Rydell Refuge go 3 miles east of Mentor or 3 miles west of Erskine on U.S. Highway 2 and turn south on Polk County 210. Follow 210 about 2.5 miles south to the large entrance sign and main gate of the Refuge. If arriving from the south, turn north off of Polk County 41 onto Polk County 210 and go about 3.5 miles north and turn left at the Refuge entrance sign. If you have any questions contact the Rydell Refuge at (218) 687-2229 or Wayne Goeken at (218) 574-2622.

My Grandparents
by Riley Hemly - 6th Grade Winner
(Daughter of Brent and Linda Hemley)

I chose my closest grandparents. I will tell you about my grandpa first. My grandpa is a great guy. Sometimes he will play with us, like pass the football to us or pitch the baseball to us. We will walk with him until he gets to the shop. He sometimes will make us wood boats or guns. He will even take us fishing down by the river. He will grab some fishing poles and we will walk down there. It really doesn't matter if you catch anything. Its just nice to talk to grandpa and if you catch something, well, your pretty darn happy. You have to be careful around grandpa. Sometimes when you're not looking he will grab you and tickle you until you can't laugh anymore. If one of my cousins try to help the other one get away, he gets them too. Grandpa always wins no matter what we do! When I was little I would climb on grandpa's foot, and he would give me a bull ride. When we were little we would climb into grandpa's lap and just watch TV with him. One of grandpa's many talents is gardening. He is the best of the best. He has everything. One of my favorites are his strawberries. They're the best! His flowers are so pretty!! He has so many. We try not to kick the ball into the flower beds, but it happens and we cover it up as much as possible and try to look innocent. He can do so many things!! I really love my grandpa and I would hate if he would leave us. So I tried to spend the most time with him and I don't mind it because he is tons of fun. He will bring us some wood from the sawmill for a fort. He will even help us build one.

We can't forget about grandma. Her cooking is awesome!!! She makes so much, but my favorite would have to be her chocolate chip cookies. They're so soft! But her great cooking isn't all that she is great for. Sometimes grandma will ride bike with me or walk. Sometimes we will just sit and talk, or laugh at something in a Country Magazine. It really doesn't matter what we talk about. When I was little and stayed over at grandpa's and grandma's, I would get scared so sometimes she would sing to me. She would always bring in this night-light in the shape of Mary. It would always make me feel at home. She would say my prayers with me. I really like spending time with grandma and I love her very much. My grandparents mean a lot to me. At Christmas time they would give 10 dollars to every grandchild. There are 21 grandchildren. Once we made a movie of all their 15 kids and their families and showed it to them at their 50th anniversary. The thing was when they movie was over they both were in movie or to see all their kids and most of their grandchildren in the same room. I love my grandparents very much! Maybe that's why they are called grandparents. Because they're so grand!!!!

Two Special People
by Ryan Fisher - 6th Grade Winner
(Son of Ray and Marilyn Fisher)

Two very special people in my life are my grandparents. I go visit them a lot. I always love to go over there. My grandparents had 15 children. I love having so many aunts, uncles, and cousins. Some days during the summer we have a barbecue at my grandparent's house. My uncles and I play football.

My grandpa is very good with wood and repairing small engines. One time he was going to throw away an old riding lawnmower. Instead he fixed it up for me to drive. I loved to drive that lawnmower.

My grandma is a very good cook. She always makes food when we have get togethers. My grandma makes a German pastry called "buchinga." It is made with squash. We all love it. My grandma makes the best cookies. She always gives me some. My grandma buys a big bag of skittles and gives us some when we come over.

When my mom and dad went to Florida they watched us for a week. I had so much fun over there. I went and built forts in the snow. At Christmas time they give the grandchildren presents.

I love my grandparents because they are so nice. I like having my grandparents living so close to me. I think my grandparents are very special. THE END!

Community's Health Situation Unhealthy

Recent news stories and letters in The Times/Northern Watch have drawn focus of the public to an obvious rift in the Thief River Falls health community. Differences of opinion, divergence of direction and probably conflicts in personalities have led to what we consider to be an unhealthy situation for the overall health future of our city and a sizable area of northwestern Minnesota.

More than ever before, rural Minnesotans must draw together and work cooperatively if they hope to maintain a quality standard of life and living. There is trouble on many fronts in the "outstate" and ample temptation to make decisions for the present that will have unforeseen but long-lasting consequences. This means that it is necessary for some give and take—with the emphasis on a determination to give—in order to forge alliances and partnerships that can assure mutual survival if not total satisfaction.

Disagreement between Northwest Medical Center and Dakota Clinic Ltd. on the present and future of community health care and facilities in Thief River Falls has come to light prior to, and in connection with, the forthcoming annual meeting of the Northwest Medical Center Association on September 13. It is not a newly-created rift; rather, circumstances surrounding the annual meeting and election of directors have served to bring it to public attention.

Before this writer goes any further in expressing opinion, readers should know that he is a past member of the board of what was then Northwestern Hospital Association and served as its president at the time the medical office building was built as an extension of the hospital. That was way back in the mid-1970s, and it was a different era in the health and medical field than exists today. One of the major differences, it appears to us, is that there were fewer dollars involved in health care at that time.

There were differences of opinion among people in the medical and health community in the mid-seventies, but there was also an interdependence among facilities which made those differences manageable. The hospital provided the facilities and often the equipment for care of patients and the medical clinics provided the patients and the expertise in medical care. (There were two clinics operating in Thief River Falls at that time—Falls Clinic and Thief River Clinic.) Expenditures for costly diagnosis and treatment equipment were the responsibility of the hospital. Justification of need for the expense was provided by the clinics.

It made sense then—and we believe it still does—that facilities and equipment which could be jointly used was utilized cooperatively. The patients received the benefit of what was then advanced technology, the hospital recovered its expense by user charges for the equipment and the clinics profited from being able to provide procedures they would not be equipped to do otherwise.

The medical office building came about because it was agreed by hospital and clinic management, medical staff, hospital board and city government that having clinic facilities adjacent and connected to the hospital would be convenient and efficient for doctors in both clinics (each clinic had one floor in the new building), for clinic and hospital personnel and for patients.

The city council became involved in the sale of bonds through a united request by hospital and clinics. This involvement resulted in reduced finance costs and therefore lower costs to patients than would otherwise have been necessary. Soundness of the plan has proved itself over time; at least until the two clinics became one and that clinic later decided to vacate its space in the medical office building and construct its own free-standing facility. That move left the hospital with bonded debt to pay and no tenant to make offsetting lease payments.

There should be no quarrel over Dakota Clinic's decision to build and to move. Medical practice is a business as well as a vital service, and business can not operate without profit. For all the public relations talk about patient convenience and the like, however, potential for profit must be considered the primary motivating factor in building the new clinic facility.

What is unfortunate about that motivation is that the new clinic building was designed to provide several of the revenue-generating services previously conducted through the hospital. Loss or reduction of demand for these services severely reduces the latter's ability to offset costs of other expensive but revenue-neutral or net loss services which hospitals must provide.

That is one reason why Dr. Langland's recent letter stating the Dakota Clinic's desire for cooperation in building Thief River Falls as a medical center—as admirable a goal as that might be—has a bit of a hollow ring. It is not a call for cooperation so much as a request for acquiescence. True cooperation is a two-way street, and we have seen little in recent past actions to indicate that Dakota Clinic's intent has any one else's interests at heart.

Thief River Falls is not alone in its turmoil involving health care entities. Acknowledged centers such as Grand Forks and Fargo, ND, both have situations where changes are taking place without community coordination or consensus. A nation which prides itself on free enterprise should not be surprised that independent decisions will be made in health care as well as other areas of business.

Change is inevitable. We have seen it and continue to see it in agriculture and now we are experiencing it locally in health care. There is not likely to be a return to the days of a cavalier "all for one and one for all" approach in community health care. We would like to believe that it is possible for all local entities to sacrifice self for the long-term growth of the medical community in Thief River Falls, but that would appear to be a false hope. We may lament it, but that's the way it is.

The apparent effort by Dakota Clinic Ltd. to gain representation on the Northwest Medical Center board through a mass enrollment of 100 employees and family members in the Northwest Medical Center Association seems questionable if true cooperation is a goal. That enrollment, shortly before the deadline to achieve eligibility to vote at the annual meeting September 13, has more of the characteristics of a hostile take-over.

To be blunt, we would foresee more heat and less light resulting from what may well be adversarial roles among directors of the hospital association. And in a situation of ill health, more stress is scarcely needed.

The Strandquist Seniors met at the Center on Thursday with Borbra Veor as a guest. They worked on making a quilt and hope to finish it next week. You are invited to bring your darning needles and help tie it. Helen Jacobsen brought a delicious lunch which was enjoyed by all. Barbra won the door prize.

On Sunday, August 15, neighbors and friends of Zion Lutheran Church had a potluck dinner and spent the day eating and visiting. There was a good turnout.

Naomi Peterson of Lake Bronson, and Marlye and Austin Lofrooth visited Elsie Lofrooth on Wednesday. On Saturday, Pat Lindstrom and son, Tylar and his buddy, Daniel Nelson, and Paul Thompson visited her.

Wednesday afternoon Kelly Lofrooth, Judy Kleinvachter, Elphie Adils, and Toni Kasprowicz visited Sylvester and Clara Kasprowicz at Warren. Jerry and Mary Carlson of Warren also stopped over there.

Saturday visitors at the Peter and Pearl Thompson home were LaVonne and Brian Johnson, LaVerne and Bev Rasmusson and Tommy, and Rev. Virgil and Ruth Rasmusson. Becky Johnson visited on Friday evening.

Visitors at Judy Kleinvachter's home this week were Kelly Lofrooth, Claudia Barggren, Jessie and Cheyena, and Amanda and Jessica Lofrooth.

Sonny Sands of Kalispell, Montana called to chat with me (Myrtle Vaglo) and said he read about the bears in last weeks paper. He said, three grown-ups had been mauled by grizzlies out there this past week and are hospitalized in Kalispell; one is in real bad condition. Since grizzlies are protected, they have turned to hunting people and laying claim to all the huckleberry patches out there, instead of people picking huckleberries and shooting grizzlies. I think these "so-called environmentalists" have forgotten or have never learned that human beings were given authority over animals and not the other way around.

Sonny also said that he had planned to sleep in Sunday morning, when at 6:00 a.m. his cousin Gene called him to get up because he had found out that most people die in bed. The real reason was that Gene's sister, Fern Svoboda from Greenbush, Minnesota had arrived out there and the whole relationship was ready for a get-together and have a "potluck." They had a great time.

Closing for this time with a child's retention from Sunday School--God said to Moses, "Take two tablets and call me in the morning!"

To The Editor:

"We Have a Dream" began last September, 1998 with a small group of four working moms from Lancaster, Hallock and Kennedy determined to take a stand against child abduction and bring an awareness message to the small communities in northern Minnesota and North Dakota.

As a loving tribute to Julie Ann Holmquist, two projects have now been completed in her honor.

With the donation of two songs, written and recorded by local singer /songwriter Kim Carlson during Julie's disappearance and discovery, along with permission from Julie's family, a cassette tape was produced in memory of Julie and went on sale in over 40 area businesses and churches in 10 cities over the holidays. Our first project became a reality.

Wanting to reach out further with the "Missing Children Awareness" message and contact as many children, teens, parents, grandparents, etc., where could we go? The county fairs!

With the help of several area sponsors, including six county fair boards donating us booth space, we became a "traveling dream team."

Joined by the Jacob Wetterling Foundation of St. Joseph, who donated several brochures to this project—as well as over 40 local volunteers from sponsors to ribbon makers to booth workers—we traveled nearly 700 miles to six county fairs over the first three weeks in July.

Our booth volunteers were made up of all area people who were involved with Julie's search efforts last summer.

The "Missing Children Awareness" booth made its appearance at the Pembina, Kittson, Grand Forks, Marshall, Roseau and Pennington county fairs as well as Heritage Days in Lancaster.

A total of 896 people registered at this booth and we put that figure at over 1,000 to include those parents who stopped for their brochures with their children who registered. Hundreds of brochures were given out, our "awareness" message was being received and our second project was now a reality.

Our hearts still ache. We will never forget Julie Ann Holmquist. "We Have A Dream—We Have a Prayer For Missing Children—We All Can Make A Difference."

To date, over $4,000 has been raised and will be donated to the Julie Ann Holmquist Scholarship Fund when established and National Missing Children Programs for posters and educational materials.

"We Have A Dream" is a tax-exempt, non-profit organization under MN Stat. 501c (3).

Sincerely,
Peggy Gjovik, volunteer

Five years ago the congregation began making plans for the new edifice to accommodate the growing congregation and the site was purchased in 1946, with construction work getting underway in the summer of 1948."

CITY AFFAIRS
Election of Officials Will Be Held November 7.

"The biennial election of city officers will be held on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November, and there is already considerable talk of candidates for the various offices. A thorough discussion of all affairs pertaining to the city's welfare is now in order and the suggestion has been made that it would be a good idea to have a convention at which resolutions expressing the wants of the people will be adopted. This would be an excellent thing to do, but the selection of aldermen is of more importance. There is no denying the fact that the city's affairs should be conducted more economically. The aldermen and mayor should serve without a salary; the office of city attorney should be abolished and the other city officials should have their salaries reduced."

CONTRACT LET
For the Buildings of the Odd Fellows' Hall.

"The contract for the building of the Odd Fellows' hall was let last week to L. Johnson of Red Lake Falls. The building is to be completed by October 1 and the price paid is $3,625. The store room of the building has been leased to Martin Evenson, he having signified a willingness to pay $40 per month for the same."

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS PENNINGTON COUNTY BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS MARCH 23, 1999 8:30 A.M.

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Pennington County Courthouse in Thief River Falls, MN, Tuesday, March 23, 1999 at 8:30 a.m. Members present: Bob Carlson, Charles Naplin, Arden "Bud" Comstock, and Oliver "Skip" Swanson. Members absent: Donald Jensen.

Howard Person and Pam Parkinson met with the county board to discuss solid waste matters. The Minnesota Pollution Control Agency has stated they would allow SWIS PENNCO to operate under a two year negotiated stipulation agreement in lieu of the issue of a solid waste permit. A draft of the stipulation agreement would be sent to the county and SWIS PENNCO. Commissioner Swanson moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to support and encourage SWIS PENNCO to negotiate and enter a stipulation agreement with the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency. Motion unanimously carried.

Pam Parkinson noted that the Red River Basin Commission has invited her to work with them and be the facilitator of the group. Pam will be attending the next Northern Counties Land Use Coordinating Board meeting.

County Sheriff Mike Hruby met with the county board to discuss matters related to the Law Enforcement Center. Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to approve the booking fee policy as submitted by the Sheriff and set the booking fee at $10.00. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Comstock moved, seconded by Commissioner Swanson to increase the fee for obtaining a copy of a driving record to $5.00 per request effective immediately. Motion unanimously carried.

The following resolution was introduced by Commissioner Swanson, seconded by Commissioner Naplin and upon vote unanimously carried.

RESOLUTION
BOAT & WATER SAFETY AGREEMENT

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Pennington County Board of Commissioners authorize the chairman, sheriff, and auditor to enter into an annual county boat and water safety agreement with the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources for the term January 1, 1999 through December 31, 1999 in accordance with the provisions of M.S. Sec. 86 B.

Sheriff Hruby noted that he is working with the Department of Corrections on the training needed for new jailers as they are attempting to back out of some of the free training they were to provide. He is working on a revised budget for the new Minimum Security Facility. The sheriff also requested that the highway department bring in a couple loads of sand for sandbags.

Paul Nelson then met with the county board regarding the American Festival scheduled for June 26 and 27, 1999. Commissioner Comstock moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to appropriate $1,000.00 to the American Festival to be paid by auditor's warrant. Motion unanimously carried.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS PENNINGTON COUNTY BOARD OF EQUALIZATION JUNE 17, 1999 10:00 A.M.

Pursuant to law, the Pennington County Board of Equalization met in the County Board Room in the Pennington County Courthouse in Thief River Falls on Thursday June 17th, 1999 at 10:00 a.m.

Present: Commissioner, Don Jensen, Bob Carlson, Charles Naplin, Oliver Swanson, Arden Comstock and County Auditor Ken Olson. Absent: none.

Also present were County Assessor Adeline Olson, County Attorney Dave Olin, Ole Tweet, Roy Lunde, David Rindahl, Richard Bjerklie, David Arveson, Darrin Arveson, Robert Flynn, and Steve Keogh.

The members of the Board of Equalization signed the official oath of office.

Chairman Carlson called the meeting to order and explained the purpose of the county Board of Equalization.

David Rindahl, Richard Bjorklie, David Arveson and Darrin Arveson representing the Hickory Township Board voiced their concerns regarding land values increasing because of the sale of hunting land in their township. These sales drive the other land values up with no regard to the people trying to live and farm the land. The board noted and agreed with their concerns. No specific adjustments were requested and the board took no further action.

Robert Flynn representing Ole Tweet made a request that this property be reduced to $260,000.00. Mr. Flynn indicated that he did not believe he could sell this home for $331,500.00. The board asked Mr. Tweet if he had a private appraisal of the property or if he was willing to get one. Mr. Tweet indicated he would get an appraisal of his property.

Roy Lunde made a request to reduce the value of his home to $175,000.00 as he felt this would be a fair market value for his home. The value is currently set at $194,700.00. No action was taken to reduce the value on this property.

The county assessor then reviewed the changes made at the township and city boards of review. Several of the larger reductions were discussed at length with the board.

Steve Keogh then met with the Board of Equalization to discuss the value and corresponding taxes being placed on the higher valued homes in the county. He indicated that construction of the higher valued homes would stop if the taxes continued to rise. Mr. Keogh could not ask for a reduction of value on his home because he had not appealed his value to the Rocksbury Township Board.

Commissioner Don Jensen moved, seconded by Commissioner Oliver Swanson to send a letter to: Joan Sorvig-Strong, Mark Thune, Eugene Kalinowski, Lowell Swanson, Westside Motors (Ron Nelson), Ole Tweet, Darcy Harbott and/or their representatives indicating that the County Board of Equalization intends to increase the value of their property to the original amount determined by the county assessor and that they have a chance to present their appeal at the continuation meeting 5:00 p.m. June 29th, 1999. Motion unanimously carried.

The Rocksbury Township and North Township chairman along with the Thief River Falls mayor were also to be sent a letter indicating that their board or council was invited to the meeting.

Commissioner Jensen moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to adjourn the county Board of Equalization to 5:00 p.m. June 29th, 1999. Motion carried.

The weather in northwest Minnesota has taken on a stubborn streak, (Roy calls that his consistency!!!) with more rain every 24 hours or so, accompanied by lots of thunder and lightening. It saves on the water bills and the work of watering the lawns, but then you have to watch for a time to mow them. Roy has to give them a haircut at least every few days, the grass grows so fast. I don't know if it is because he can ride and ride on the "green machine", but he sure keeps the lawns looking nice. It must be something as now he rides on an electric cart that our son Neil brought to him from Roseau, even to get the mail.

Minnesota Commissioner of Transportation Elwyn Tinklenberg cut a ribbon officially dedicating the new city bus for the City of Thief River Falls during a visit here Tuesday morning, August 24. The stop was one of four by the commissioner who also visited Warroad, Roseau and East Grand Forks. Prior to the dedication Tuesday morning, Commissioner Tinklenberg met with county and city officials and representatives of local business and industry regarding transportation needs. On the photo from left are Donald Jensen, Pennington county board member; Commissioner Tinklenberg; Patrick Hughes, assistant commissioner of Mn/DOT; Steve Baker, district highway engineer from Bemidji; and Mark Borsheim, mayor of Thief River Falls.

Farm Cabinet pledges help to NW Minnesota farmers

Following a visit to Roseau county recently, Governor Jesse Ventura's Farm Cabinet has discussed plans to help area farmers recover from the crippling combination of poor weather and low prices, according to Gene Hugoson, Minnesota Commissioner of Agriculture.

Cabinet members met with local farmers and officials in the Roseau county area to learn how northwestern Minnesota's agricultural economy has been affected by heavy rains and flooded fields.

"Unusually heavy spring rains in northwestern Minnesota washed out many fields and in some cases prevented planting entirely," Hugoson said. "Local officials estimate that up to 70 percent of Roseau county annual crops may not be harvested this year due to the excess moisture, while some nearby counties could lose up to 50 percent of their tillable acres. Damage estimates are in the millions, and the timing could not be worse as farmers in Minnesota and around the country struggle with the lowest commodity prices in a decade.

"Even with a bumper crop it would have been a tough year financially for these farmers," the commissioner added. "When you throw in three months of torrential rains and thousands of acres of ruined crops, the picture gets even more bleak."

Joining Commissioner Hugoson on the visit to Roseau county were Wendy Wustenburg, Gov. Ventura's legislative relations director; Jerry Carlson, Commissioner of Trade and Economic Development; Dean Barkley, State Planning Director; Jenny Eng, Assistant Commission of Revenue; and Kevin Murphy, Deputy Commerce Commissioner.

Following the meeting, Farm Cabinet members said they realize the state must do what it can to assist local communities in the recovery effort. While they promised to take their message to Congress and the State Legislature, they said the first step will be to push the Clinton Administration to reverse its earlier decision to deny the state's request for a Presidential Disaster Declaration.

"We plan to meet with Governor Ventura, others in the administration and our state legislators to look at what we can do as a state, and we're also going to coordinate our efforts with the federal government," Commissioner Hugoson said. "With the combination of low farm prices and poor weather, thousands of northwestern Minnesota farmers are in an incredibly tough spot. There's a clear need for federal action."

Governor Ventura created the Farm Cabinet earlier this year as a means to combine the resources of a number of state agencies to help boost the competitive position of Minnesota's agricultural community.

In addition to the Minnesota Department of Agriculture, the cabinet includes the Departments of Commerce, Trade and Economic Development, Revenue, Finance, Planning and the Pollution Control Agency.

School board hears request to expand school-to-career program

School District 564 board of directors heard requests for an expansion of the School-to-Career program Monday night during the regular school board meeting. During an update on the program, Bill Stock and several other individuals requested that the board consider hiring a full-time school to career representative.

The School-to-Work program was implemented in the early 90's following a curriculum review. The name change to School-to-Career program was a result of a program emphasis on helping students explore different careers, not just finding them a job.

Presenters, including Robyn Preum, Rocky Ammerman, Marie Ilvidsten, Taryn Pream, Tim Olson and Josh Balmer, supplied the board with information indicating that program expansion would benefit students. The budget estimated for the program was roughly $31,708.

Stock, counselor at Lincoln High School, said old data shows that roughly 25 percent of sophomores, 50 percent of juniors, and 75 percent of seniors at Lincoln High School hold part-time jobs.

The school board did not take any action on the request.

■ Preliminary cost estimates to replace and improve phone lines at Lincoln High School, Franklin Middle School and Challenger Elementary school ran as high as $200,000. Repairs and improvements would include an upgrade at Challenger along with voice mail; repairs to the intercom system and installation of phones and voice mail at Franklin; and new wiring, new phones, voice mail, and repair of an intercom system.

■ Beverly Ranum, educational assistant at Lincoln High School, tendered her resignation to the school board Monday. The school board accepted her resignation and authorized a letter of appreciation to be sent to her for her 30 years of service in the school district.

■ School District 564 board of directors recognized the following: Nicole Kopari who was named the Gatorade MSHSL Girls Track and Field Athlete; and Fisher Electric, which donated the flood lighting for the Franklin Middle School sign.

Power tower at the intersection of Greenwood Street and Pennington Avenue was recently constructed by Minnkota Power Cooperative of Grand Forks, ND. Ray Burnstad, manager of transmission engineering for Minnkota, said the 80-foot tower was constructed at a central location to provide a four-way switch to the four substations serving the Thief River Falls community and increase reliability of electrical service. Burnstad said that the tower will permit Minnkota to isolate lines when problems occur by providing connections from the tower north to the Thief River Falls municipal substation, east to the Thief River Falls substation about two miles east of Thief River Falls on Highway 1, south to the Morris Owen substation and west to the John T. Anderson substation under construction on the west edge of the city. The tower was built in conjunction with an electrical line built from Oslo to Thief River Falls to increase available power and reliability of service. Project completion is projected for December 1.

Rodney Hoffmans are 1999 SWCD Outstanding Conservationists

by Marvin Lundin

Thief River Falls Times Editor

Name a soil conservation practice and the Rodney Hoffman family has probably given it a try. The rural Goodridge family is this year's selection by the Pennington Soil and Water Conservation District as its Outstanding Conservationist.

Not only do Rodney and Sylvia (Hermanson) Hoffman both throw themselves fully into their farming operation, their daughters Alissa (17) and Lacey (14) are expected to play their role as well. Usually, that involves operating some of the farm's tractors, combines and other equipment.

"I guess we all do our share of equipment handling," Rodney said. "Alissa is our combine operator. Lacey runs the tractor and 20-foot mower to maintain the CRP. And the wife handles the Versatile (four-wheel drive tractor)."

Doing What Needs To Be Done

"We do what needs to be done to make the farm work," Sylvia added, noting that she was introduced to equipment operation while a youngster on the home farm. "And we get some much appreciated help from Kristian Solberg, a classmate of Alissa's at Goodridge, and Dave Naeseth, my brother-in-law."

Doing what has to be done to make the farm work carries over to other decisions in addition to spreading the work load among the family members. Often Rodney has tried to adjust his own crop practices to accommodate customers for his area custom seeding, field spraying and combining business.

"Years ago the harvest season was a couple of months," Rodney recalls. "Now everybody wants to get everything done in a couple of weeks. It puts a lot of pressure on trying to meet the needs of our customers, especially when one of our good customers is as far away as Argyle."

Meeting the needs of customers has sometimes meant delaying his own harvest or rushing to finish something so he will be available to his clients when they want him.

CRP Is A Guarantee

Doing what needs to be done has also extended to enrolling part of the farm in the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP).

"CRP is a guaranteed income," he said. "It may not provide a whole lot of money per acre overall, but it is a constant that you can count on and allows you to do some other things. We did everything we could to qualify for the last sign-up—native grasses, ditch plugs, competitive offers—to get our qualifying points as high as possible. And we were able to get some of our land accepted."

All things being equal, the Hoffmans would prefer to be totally involved in production agriculture and not be concerned with CRP or Sylvia's work as a special education aide in the Goodridge school system where she has worked for the past 10 years. Unfortunately, as for most area farm families, weather and prices have narrowed the options. The tendency is to dig in your heels, try to get the best hold you can on what you have, and hope you can hang on until things get better.

Began Farming In Partnership

Rodney began farming with his father John and brother Roger. He purchased a 148-acre farm in the 1960s, then enlisted in the U.S. Air Force in 1965 and worked on fighter aircraft instrument systems in Spain and Vietnam before his discharge in 1969.

He returned to farming with his father and brother and they purchased additional land as a partnership. In 1971 he and Sylvia were married at Zion Lutheran church in Thief River Falls. They lived in a mobile home from their marriage until 1980 when they moved the mobile home to the present farmstead—on the land Rodney had purchased in the 1960s.

They built their present house in 1993, doing most of the work themselves with the assistance of family, friends and neighbors when the need occasioned. In fact, according to Rodney, they aren't done with the construction yet.

Conservation Practices

As they added to their farm holdings and rented other land as part of their operation, the Hoffmans paid a lot of attention to conservation practices. Soil testing was done to assure best application of fertilizer. Field drainage was given special attention and an estimated 15 miles of field ditches constructed over the years, first with crawler tractors and blades and more recently with a scraper and road grader.

To reduce erosion where field ditches drained into larger road ditches, more than a dozen erosion control structures were installed. Trees of a number of different species were planted to increase the farmstead windbreak, including spruce and flowering crab.

Crop rotation was practiced,

Rodney and Sylvia Hoffman of rural Goodridge and their daughters Lacey (left), 14 and Alissa, 17, are the 1999 Outstanding Conservationists for the Pennington Soil and Water Conservation District. The Hoffmans have been involved with many conservation efforts from field drainage ditches and erosion control structures to soil testing and tree planting.

Combine operators on the Rodney and Sylvia Hoffman farm east of Goodridge are Rodney and his 17-year-old daughter Alissa. In addition to harvesting their own crops, the Hoffmans use their two combines in custom harvesting in the area. Alissa has operated one of the combines for several years.

New buffet is beginning of expansion at casino

Dream Catcher buffet opened at the River Road Casino Friday following a ceremony at the casino. The 200-seat buffet, housed in a bubble-shaped structure, is the first of what may become a multi-million dollar expansion project at the casino.

Bobby Whitefeather, chairman of the Red Lake band of Chippewa council, said that it was the beginning of an effort to be very progressive in gaming throughout Minnesota and the nation. Whitefeather said he knows there are limitations, but with support of the council, gaming management will meet the challenge. The one thing Whitefeather said he has demanded is what he learned from his grandparents — when you do something, do it well.

Whitefeather hinted at some of the plans still being considered for the facility including a motel, golf course, race track, and water park. He said they will continue to improve the facility and noted that in a year, visitors probably won't recognize the facility. Whitefeather also hinted that they are planning to look at expanding the Warroad facility.

Speakers at the event included Verdeen Grove, Wyandotte township chairman; Bud Comstock, Pennington County Commissioner, and Thief River Falls Mayor Mark Borsheim. Each congratulated the casino and council on the expansion and expressed an interest in continuing to work with the Red Lake Band of Chippewa in the future.

A number of plaques were awarded to individuals who helped make the expansion possible. The board also recognized three employees, Jeannette Etienne, Gina King, and Shelly May, who all submitted a name for the new buffet —"Dream Catcher.

Bobby Whitefeather, tribal chairman for the Red Lake Band of Chippewa, spoke at the grand opening ceremony for the Dream Catcher buffet. Whitefeather said that the buffet was the first of many changes that will take place at the casino in the near future.

The large open buffet at the River Road Casino seats about 200 customers. This recent addition to the casino is the first of many planned changes at the facility. A grand opening ceremony was held at the facility Friday, August 20.

OUR SAVIOUR'S CHRISTIAN ACADEMY

"Train up a child in the way he should go..."
Proverbs 22:6

HISTORY

OUR SAVIOUR'S CHRISTIAN ACADEMY (OSCA) has been in existence for over 25 years. Pastor Carl Wosje (a former area pastor) donated land for a Christian school in 1973; the school began with the name King's Way Academy. In 1979, Our Saviour's Lutheran Church became the school's sponsor, and its name was changed to Our Saviour's Christian Academy. NOTE: The school's association with Our Saviour's Lutheran Church will be changing in the near future, so watch for a name change!

Our Saviour's Christian Academy is located on Highway 59 Southeast, just outside the Thief River Falls city limits. Two additions have been added to the original building since the school began.

PHILOSOPHY

The philosophy of education of Our Saviour's Christian Academy is founded upon the principles of Scripture because we desire that our explanation of the reason of all things be true. This philosophy gives direction as to why we teach, what we teach, and how we teach; thus, our curriculum and methodology are distinctively Christian.

This Christian philosophy affirms that each subject will be taught from the Biblical principles of that subject because the Word of God is the only source of absolute truth, wisdom, and knowledge. One of our educational objectives is that students learn to reason from the Bible in all aspects of life.

SPIRITUAL EMPHASIS

Our Saviour's Christian Academy is a CHRISTIAN school which means that Jesus Christ is uplifted and honored in every aspect of school life. Students are given a strong foundation in the Scriptures. They both memorize and learn to reason from the very Word of God.

Our Saviour's Christian Academy is an extension of the Christian home. Students are taught Christian living through Bible-based curriculum. They are challenged to be Light and Salt in their homes, churches and communities.

Is OUR SAVIOUR'S CHRISTIAN ACADEMY For You?

God tells the Israelites in Deuteronomy 6:4-9 to teach His Word diligently to their children—from morning to evening. Our Saviour's Christian Academy's purpose is to assist the home and church in building a solid Christian foundation in the life of each student—from morning to evening! It is our goal to produce true Christian scholars who will be used of God to propagate the Gospel to the whole world and restore our American Christian Republic to its historic, Biblical foundation.

If this sounds like a ministry you would be interested in, give us a call at (218) 681-7753.

ACADEMICS

Academic successes at Our Saviour's Christian Academy are numerous. Students consistently score above the national average on standardized achievement tests. Graduating seniors have done well in college and vocational settings.

The curriculum used is a modified School of Tomorrow curriculum. Most students compete the core subjects individually, advancing only when they have mastered the subjects/materials. High school students do many of their subjects through lecture classes. All pupils are held accountable to high academic standards.

Our Saviour's Christian Academy is an accredited school from pre-kindergarten through twelfth grade. The accrediting agency is The Association of Christian Schools International (ASCI).

Small classes and qualified, caring staff provide a unique atmosphere for learning.

Pre-kindergarten classes for 3- and 4-year-olds are included for those parents who desire a Christian influence in the very early, formative years.

SOCIAL/SPORTS

Although students at Our Saviour's Christian Academy are expected to work hard, they find time to relax and have fun together. Christian friendships are created that last for many years beyond graduation.

Our Saviour's Christian Academy offers soccer, boys' and girls' basketball, and girls' volleyball. Other extracurricular activities are also available.

Japanese visitors enjoy stay with local 4-H families

Times Reporter

She didn't understand the language, but Glenice Johnson knew the question the two teenagers were asking as they rode in the back seat of her car from Minneapolis to Thief River Falls late in the evening on July 24.

While their words were foreign, their tone was universal. "When are we going to get there?" they asked in Japanese.

Glenice is the Pennington county extension educator, and she made the trip to the Twin Cities to pick up the Japanese youth and an adult who were participating in an international 4-H exchange program.

Fifteen-year-old Noriko Ito stayed at the home of Tim and Tawnya Panek, and Takeshi Morisato, 17, spent nearly four weeks with the Alvin Asp family. Both of the students were placed through the Utrek Exchange program and prior to coming to Thief River Falls had spent a week at a Utrek camp near Rochester.

Haruko Konno is a staff coordinator for the Labo International Exchange Foundation, and she enjoyed her time in Minnesota as the guest of Glenice Johnson.

With many common interests, Haruko and Glenice thoroughly enjoyed each other's company.

Arriving in town for the last day of the Pennington County Fair, Haruko had the opportunity to take in the event, and she particularly enjoyed the booth of the Thief River Falls Quilters Guild and meeting some of the organization's members.

The following week, she and Glenice attended the monthly meeting of the Quilters Guild where Haruko showed a silk quilt that she had made and talked to the group about quilting in Japan.

This was Haruko's fourth trip to the United States. Previously she had been to Illinois and twice to Pennsylvania. She was impressed by Minnesota's open expanses of land, commenting that it is very different from her native Tokyo.

Haruko had the opportunity to visit with Jane and Heidi Shafland who have spent time working in Japan.

As a Christian, Haruko said that she enjoyed attending church with Glenice. Only about one percent of today's Japanese population are Christian, with the majority practicing a combination of Buddhism and Shinto.

Glenice took Haruko to Walnut Grove, a small community in southwestern Minnesota and the childhood home of Laura Ingalls Wilder. Haruko also saw the Mississippi River, another world-renowned Minnesota landmark.

Through 20 years of study, Haruko has become a master of the Japanese tea ceremony and performed such a ceremony as a guest at Glenice's home. The women wore kimonos, the long sashed robes which remain the traditional Japanese dress for social events and special occasions. Glenice commented that the tea consumed during the ritualistic ceremony was not the flavored, sweetened tea usually consumed by Americans but a strong, bitter green tea.

The Japanese life that Haruko lives, full of age old traditions and customs, is perhaps different than the lives of the teenagers who visited the Asp and Panek families. As many of the traditions remain strong, Japan's rising generation is beginning to change society's view of economic security, family relations, politics and male and female roles.

Takeshi, at 17, has one year of high school left before going to college. His family lives in Tokyo where is father works at the middle management level for a liquor company, his mother is a homemaker, and he has a 14-year-old brother, Suguru.

While the family owns a car, day to day travel is accomplished by train.

Having previously visited an uncle who resides in California, this was Takeshi's second trip to the United States. He, too, found Minnesota's wide open spaces a contrast to the world's most populous city.

While spending time with the Asps, Takeshi took an avid interest in the mechanical aspects of farming, and when it was time to make repairs, "he was right in there," Robin said. Because of this year's wet spring which necessitated the replanting of many of the Asps' crops, harvest was late.

In addition to home schooling her sons, Robin is employed at Digi-Key in Thief River Falls. Left to their own devices, the Asp boys claim to eat cereal, particularly Lucky Charms, three times a day. Like his teenage American peers, Takeshi, says Daren, eats "any thing, any time, any where."

During her stay at the home of Tim and Tawnya Panek, 15-year-old Noriko Ito cooked a Japanese meal for the family which includes 16-year-old Amber and Ashley, 13.

While she adapted to this country's food, she was amazed at the large portions of food eaten by Americans. Noriko particularly enjoyed corn on the cob and cheese from a pressurized can.

Unlike Haruko and Takeshi who reside in Tokyo, Noriko lives in a much-smaller city with her parents and sister, 18-year-old Tomoko. While her mother is a kindergarten teacher, Noriko does not know the nature of her father's occupation, only that he wears a suit and works at a desk.

When she returns to school, Noriko will be in her first year of high school, and she has aspirations of some day becoming a nurse.

The Paneks could probobly have answered any questions she might have had about American medical practices. Both are employed by Northwest Medical Center where Tim is a registered nurse and Tawnya is a pharmacy technician.

When they weren't working, Tim, Tawnya, Amber, Ashley and their young guest were on the road, taking in all of the area sights and events and participating in numerous outdoor activities. Noriko even had the opportunity to ride the infamous "Ole the Ox" which belongs to Tawnya's father, Laverne Hamre.

There was also time for one of Noriko's favorite pastimes — shopping. She loves butterflies and had purchased a number of colorful butterfly clips for her hair as well as a butterfly necklace and rings.

While her personality was demure, Noriko's smile was radiant, and the Paneks commented about how appreciative she was.

Questionnaires preceded the young Japanese visitors to the United States, and both listed sports among their hobbies and interests. Although athletics are not included among school activities in Japan, Takeshi and Noriko both enjoy basketball, swimming, volleyball and skiing.

Takeshi also participates in baseball and soccer and has taken instruction in Aikido, a Japanese martial art.

Noriko plays tennis and enjoys watching game shows, comedies and news on television.

Listening to music is another interest shared by the teens and is obviously an area influenced by western culture. Smash Mouth is Takeshi's favorite musician while Noriko favors the music of Kiss.

At 99 percent, Japan's rate of literacy is high. Reading is a popular pastime and was included among the interests of both of the visiting teens.

While neither of the youngsters admitted to being homesick, Haruko was anxious to get home to Japan on August 20, although she mentioned that she would be returning to Tokyo during the hottest part of the summer.

All of the hosts would gladly have kept their Japanese guests longer, and the goodbyes said in Detroit Lakes on Thursday, August 19 were sad.

Friendships were forged, however, and guests and hosts alike learned many of life's interests and ideas as well as smiles and laughter are universal and that, perhaps, the world isn't such a big place.

Haruko Kunno of Tokyo, Japan recently spent a month at the home of Pennington county extension educator Glenice Johnson. Heruko is a staff coordinator for the Labo International Exchange Foundation, and this was her fourth trip to the United States.

MN Lions Eye Bank Reports 20% increase in Sight-Saving Transplants

Last year in August, the Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA), the division of the Department of Health and Human Services that oversees Medicare and Medicaid, issued a rule that required hospital staff to report every death that occurred in their facility to a donation organization. Potential eye donors in Minnesota were referred to the Minnesota Lions Eye Bank, located on the University of Minnesota's Minneapolis Campus. Eye bank staff then contacted each eligible family and offered them the option of eye donation.

"Many families consider eye donation an opportunity to make something positive come from a family tragedy," said Carol Engel, executive director of the Minnesota Lions Eye Bank. "The goal of the HCFA rule is simply to give families the option to chose or refuse eye donation."

The cornea is the clear, contact lens-shaped window of tissue in the front of the eye. It is the only part of the eye that is regularly transplanted. Every cornea is a gift from a family who has looked beyond the pain of losing a loved one to help restore someone's sight.

Last year, the Minnesota Lions Eye Bank provided corneal tissue for 827 corneal transplants, an increase of 138 from the previous year. Since 1960, they have provided tissue for over 10,000 sight-saving transplants.

"Our message to the public is for individuals to discuss their wishes regarding donation with their families," said Engel. "Carrying a donor card or having 'Donor' printed on one's driver's license is only an expression of one's wishes. Donation can only occur with consent from the decedent's next of kin."

Hospital compliance with the HCFA rule becomes mandatory on September 1, 1999.

NWMC and ACS provide support to cancer patients

Northwest Medical Center and the American Cancer Society will offer a cancer support group for anyone with cancer and members of their families.

The next meeting will be held on Thursday, October 14 from 6 to 8 p.m. in the north conference room at NWMC. Dr. Ashok Patel will be the speaker.

Research studies are gathering evidence that mutual help group attendance, in conjunction with good medical care, contributes to the quality and length of life. Through such groups people with cancer have access to information about developments in the field of cancer treatment, local and state resources and cancer research. Sharing with others and learning together can be a powerful experience.

For more information about the support group, contact Janey Poole, RN, at (218) 683-4211.

County master gardeners hold monthly meeting

Pennington County Master Gardeners held their monthly meeting on Wednesday, August 18 at the courthouse meeting room with 15 master gardeners in attendance.

The meeting was called to order by president Betty Kezar. The minutes were read and approved, and the county fair booth was discussed. The decision was made to have a booth again next year with added features. Winners of the garden books given away daily at the fair were Jan Lee, Kitty Cornell and Eunice Stavenes. The plant arrangement was won by Eugene Prestegaard.

A report on the garden tour on August 7 was presented. Seventy-seven people visited and enjoyed the gardens of Challenger School, Norm's and Arlene Thune, Douglass and Kay Steiger, Ted and Darlene Koropotaicki, David and Betty Peterson and Peder Engelstad Pioneer Village. A unanimous decision was made to hold a tour again next year.

City flower beds were discussed, and plans were made to weed them and move some plants this fall. Books on gardening helps were examined, and plant problems and helps were a topic of conversation.

The next meeting of the Pennington County Master Gardeners will be a potluck picnic at Oakland Park. The group will view the grounds and discuss possibilities for beautification.

New Kinship Caregivers support group created

What is a Kinship Caregivers Support group? Who are Kinship Caregivers?

Kinship Caregivers are family members who are raising other family members' children. The number of families doing this is growing quickly in the United States. Many of these are grandparents who are raising their grandchildren. However, this group also includes aunts and uncles who are raising their nieces and or nephews. According to the Bureau of Census, in 1997, 2.4 million of the nation's families were maintained by grandparents who had one or more of their grandchildren living with them. This number had increased 19 percent from 1990.

Kinship Caregiver situations arise through a variety of circumstances including the death or incarceration of parents, physical and or sexual abuse, parental abandonment and mental illness, etc.

Being a Kinship Caregiver brings many joys but also can bring many challenges. Some of the challenges are: the increased economic strain, the increased physical labor and time, the emotional strain, dealing with legal issues, etc.

The Northwest Area Agency on Aging (a program of the Northwest Regional Development Commission) and the U of M Extension Service (Red Lake County) are looking into the possibility of starting some form of a support system for Kinship Caregivers living in our region. This support system could include such things as a support group meeting, a telephone tree between Kinship Caregivers, and or a newsletter dealing with above mentioned issues.

The Red Lake County Extension office would like to hear from people interested in starting a support system for Kinship Caregivers. For more information contact the Red Lake County Extension office at 218-253-2897 or the Northwest Area Agency on Aging at 218-745-6733.

...Unwritten Rummage Sale Rules

First we will talk about rules for those buying things at sales. Maybe these rules will sound trite and tacky, but they can make rummage saling so much more pleasant for everyone if they are followed. After all, rummage saling is supposed to be fun and relaxing and make us happy. Who wants to get all upset while rummage saling and go home in a bad mood?

Most rummage sales are held in the backs of houses, along the alley. I've noticed people who park their vehicles in the middle of the alley and block it up for everyone else. This is a definite no-no. It is very impolite to park in the center of the alley so no one else can get by, especially when driving something like a van or other large vehicle. This can tie up the whole rummage sale for a long time with many of us sitting in our cars waiting for the van driver to get done shopping and get the heck out of there. Plus, we are afraid they are buying up all of the good things while we sit there stuck in our cars. Of course most of us waiting are old hands at saling, and are much too polite to honk our horns or yell at the driver to "Get a move on." (not that we wouldn't like to).

It is also impolite to drive fast down the alley and splash muddy water on other cars or people walking to and from the sale. Again, I restate, saling is a fun and relaxing event, and no one should be in such a dreadful rush to get from one sale to another that they have to drive in a hazardous manner. They should take it easy.

Speaking of impolite, if there is anywhere that manners should be minded, it is at rummage sales. Just because there is a bunch of wonderful stuff on tables within easy reach is no excuse to forget what your mother taught you. There should be no grabbing things out of another person's hands, no pulling or pushing, no shoving, and no stepping on another's feet. Rummage saling should be a calm, orderly procession around the tables with everyone remembering to say, "please" and "thank you" and "excuse me" if you accidentally bump into someone. There is no reason to act like one was born in a barn, is there?

And if you think that making a scene at the sale is the way to get the seller to come down on the price, think again. All you are making is a fool of yourself. It is also impolite to remark on the prices of things under one's breath. I've heard many a crabby-faced persons murmur, loudly enough for those having the sale to hear, "Too expensive," or "Priced too high." Even if you are thinking it, don't say it out loud. It's very impolite and makes everyone around you feel embarrassed. Instead of muttering nasty things beneath your breath, pick up the item and go to the person having the sale and ask if they will take less. Very often the sales person will be happy to come down in price and you will get a wonderful deal. Don't go around like a grump at rummage sales.

One unwritten garage sale rule is to leave things as you found them, or better. Just because they call it a rummage sale doesn't mean you should rummage around like a pig in a pile of muck. If things were folded, fold them again after you have looked at them. If they were stacked neatly, either leave them stacked or place them out neatly if there is space. Why not be neat and orderly while you rummage?

And then there are rules for those having garage sales. First of all, if at all possible, have your address on your house or on a sign out front. There are too many houses in this town that don't have numbers on them. What with running through this alley and that alley, anybody is bound to get mixed up as to where they are and end up missing some wonderful sales. No sense to losing customers because they either can't find your house or don't recognize the front or back of it and think they've been there before.

Try to have everything priced. Yes, I know what a hassle it is to put those little tags on everything, but it will be good in the long run. Many times I have just left something on the table that I might have purchased if it had been marked. Don't make the mistake of thinking that we all like to bargain for our rummage. Most of us hate to bargain, unless we think the prices are outrageous. If an item is marked, at least we know where we stand.

Speaking of marking, please don't think your rummage is the best in town and mark it too high. If you don't go to rummage sales yourself, it might be a good idea to go to a few before your sale just to get an idea on the prices. You can get a clue that your prices are too high when lots of people come and look and then leave without buying. Then it is time to come down in your pricing – unless you want to pack everything back up and keep it – and maybe you do.

I've noticed there are some sales out there that are being held over and over. I think I've even noticed some of the rummage I sold at my sale at some of these sales, which means the seller has been rummaging at other sales for things to sell at their own sale, usually marking the prices higher. Isn't this a business? Shouldn't there be a law against it or shouldn't someone be paying taxes? For you sales people who are doing this, guess what? We who go to rummage sales aren't dumb. We can tell if you are trying to sell stuff higher than you bought it for. And if you think that having a sale over and over will make us finally buy your high-priced stuff, forget it. You'll find that you have fewer and fewer shoppers each week and, come winter, you will be packing up all that junk of your own and other people's that you priced too high and keeping it.

And if you are having a sale, please remember those of us who work all day. If you can't have your sale on Saturday, at least try to give us a little time to get to your sale and don't have it from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. We just can't make it then and remember that you'll lose a whole lot of customers.

I hope you've enjoyed reading these Unwritten Rummage Sale Rules. After conferring with several rummage-saling friends, I certainly enjoyed writing them.

Down On The Farm

Eric Bergeson

The first acorns fell on the driveway the other day, a signal that summer is soon over. The maples over in the lake country are showing some hints of red.

The first signs of autumn alway give me a jolt. Seems like we just got rid of the snow, and already my animal instincts are urging me to build up the woodpile again.

One can be a pessimist and groan that the days are getting shorter and that it's all downhill from here. Or, one can be an optimist and enjoy the brilliant days of late summer and autumn. Is there any more beautiful time of year?

I'll never forget when I first discovered that my hair was getting thin, at age twenty-three. That was a jolt, too, terrifying evidence that my body was starting its long, downhill slide. Thinning hair, expanding gut, blurring eyesight, could bypass surgery be far behind?

I ran out and got some of that monoxidil hair-fertilizer stuff, hoping to forstall the inevitable. I irrigated my scalp faithfully, hoping for signs that I could recover my youth.

That lasted a couple of weeks before I decided that putting off aging is about as futile as trying to postpone winter. I decided to take good care of what I have and leave it at that.

Part of the secret of aging gracefully, it seems, is not to try to cover up the fact that you are growing older. Instead of adjusting to their age, many men coil long strands of their remaining hair on top of their bald spot. Some women get face-lifts which stretch their skin as tightly as saran wrap on a bowl of leftovers.

But there are advantages to age beyond senior discounts at Hardee's. The older people I admire have used their years to gain a sense of peace and calm. They have adjusted. They look comfortable in their wrinkled skin. Years of experience have made them wise.

I am less than half way to the grave, according to the insurance charts. But even if my life is half over, I wouldn't go back to being ten years younger if I were paid. Can you think of anybody in their early twenties who has their act together, who is calm and serene? Young bodies, tormented minds.

It is understandable that we usually don't see the benefits of getting older. But, one just as well enjoy the fruits of the ripening days rather than fight the inevitable decline and become bitter. Either way, winter is going to come.

PARENTING TIPS

Preparing for Success In School

There are many things a parent can do in the home that can help to prepare a child for success in school. Here are five things your child will be expected to do in a classroom setting, as well as what you can do to help him or her get ready as he or she nears school age:

1. Follow simple directions precisely ("I want you to go to your room and bring me your red sweater.")
2. Wait a reasonable length of time. ("I can't read you a story until after I have finished washing these dishes.")
3. Listen to a story and respond to simple questions. ("Listen carefully because I will ask you some questions about the story I'm going to read to you.")
4. Complete a task. ("Pick up all your toys and put them in the toy box.")
5. Take turns. ("I will ask each of you a question: first Mary, then Jim and then Joe.")

Children who develop these five skills in the home will more easily adjust to the classroom setting. As a result, they will more likely enjoy their school experiences.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Talk with your child about school and what it will be like. Help your child to look forward to this new experience. Don't threaten your child with school.

including wheat, barley, oats and sunflowers. Chisel plowing to leave more crop residue on the surface was done for a number of years, but soil erosion from the wind has not been a problem on the farm and a return to moldboard plowing tended to reduce crop diseases and increase yields. Planting procedures were also affected by prices, potential yields and the aforementioned custom operations.

This year the farm took a double hit from the weatherman, not only preventing planting on the farm but creating a situation where two of Rodney's largest custom harvest customers never planted a kernel of grain this spring.

Community Involvement

Despite a normally busy farm schedule for the family, the Hoffman's make time for community involvement and service. Rodney serves on the Goodridge Fire Department board as a representative from Reiner township, on the Goodridge Area Development Corporation board and on the governing board for the community center which was built as an addition to the Goodridge school.

He also serves on the board of Farmers Union/Cenex which operates service stations in Thief River Falls and Goodridge and has been a member of the council at Ekelund Lutheran church.

Sylvia taught Sunday School at Ekelund for 15 years, is a member of a circle in the church Ladies Aid and, as noted previously, has worked with special education in the Goodridge schools for 10 years. She says that serving as transportation supervisor for their daughters' activities also seems like a full time occupation.

Girls Active In School

Alissa will be a senior at both Goodridge high school and Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls this fall, taking morning classes in Goodridge and afternoon classes at Lincoln. She plays volleyball and basketball at Goodridge and was a member of the Lincoln softball team. A member of the band, choir, triple trio and annual staff at Goodridge, she is also a Sunday School teacher at Ekelund Lutheran.

Lacey will be a freshman at Goodridge high school this fall and is already into the volleyball, basketball, band and choir routine. She will also be teaching pre-school children in the Ekelund church Sunday School.

Both of the girls have taken piano lessons since they were four years old and on occasion have demonstrated their talents by performing in church and school.

While construction and finishing of their house has been a time-consuming activity for the Hoffmans, Rodney is a deer hunter and also found time last fall to visit relatives in southern California and slip away to the Baja Peninsula of Mexico for a couple days of ocean fishing. He was the one who was "hooked" by the experience and he plans to give it another try this year.

The Hoffmans will be recognized at the annual meeting of the Minnesota Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts in December in Duluth and at the annual banquet of the Pennington SWCD next spring.

U of M website has info on temporary storage of grain

Grain storage space is likely to be in short supply on many farms this fall with a lot of 1998 grain still in storage and the 1999 crop on the way.

Temporary grain storage may be the best option in some cases, according to Bill Wilcke, engineer with the University of Minnesota Extension Service.

A U of M website developed to provide a variety of information on the topic has been created and deals with such items as calculating the bushel capacity of a storage space, on-farm grain storage costs, converting tower silos for dry grain storage, temporary grain storage ideas and using flat buildings for dry grain storage.

Address for the website, which is updated as new information becomes available, is www.bae.umn.edu/extens/postharvest/tempstor.html

Those without a home computer and Internet service can access the information at county offices of the University of Minnesota Extension Service.

Number of skunk reports received by LEC high

Law enforcement officials in Thief River Falls are reporting that they are receiving many more reports of nuisance skunks than they typically receive at this time of year. Friday morning, August 20, the animal control officer received seven calls regarding skunks.

Residents are reminded to tie up their pets, don't put out garbage for pick up until the last minute, don't leave garage doors open, and put up or put away pet food.

Skunks are the largest carriers of rabies, however the animal control officer has not observed any skunks with rabies yet.

Red Lake Co. youth injured in accident

A 14-year-old Red Lake county youth has been admitted to Riverview Hospital for observation following an accident Monday afternoon.

According to the Red Lake County Sheriff's department, at about 4:03 p.m. on Monday, August 23, they received a report of an accident on County road 3. They learned that Brian Nihart of Winton was traveling north on County road 3 in a semi truck pulling a gravel trailer when a three wheeler traveling north and driven by a 14-year-old local male, turned in front of the semi. The three wheeler went under the semi and both vehicles went into the ditch.

The 14-year-old male was transported to Riverview Hospital in Crookston by the Red Lake Falls Ambulance Service and admitted to the hospital for observation. The driver of the semi truck was not injured.

The accident remains under investigation by the Red Lake County Sheriff's department.

Jeff Reese lifted the ball on to the green Sunday during the 1999 Thief River Golf Club championship flight title match against Sten Sjoberg. Reese won the 18-hole match-play event 2-up. It was his fourth Club title, but first since 1988.

Jamborees will aid Prowlers

■ TRF volleyball team rebuilding most of its line-up

Preseason high school volleyball jamborees that are scheduled today (Wednesday) and Friday in Thief River Falls should be a major benefit to the host Prowlers, who are in the process of rebuilding a line-up that lost four starters to graduation.

Senior Rachel Mathson and junior Becky Bray are the only returning letter winners from a 1998 team that went 16-9-1, so the jamboree scrimmages will afford co-head coaches Amy Roche and Bruce Jean the opportunity to see their new combinations in match-like conditions.

"We've got a lot of new faces," acknowledged Roche. "Rachel and Becky are the only players who played extensively for us last year. The others have had success on the junior varsity and in Junior Olympics, but they haven't played at the varsity level."

Mathson is one of six seniors on the roster, along with Kim Almquist, Keli Waterworth, Beth Carpenter, Katie Jorde, and Ann Newton.

In addition to Bray, the juniors in the program are Teri Krogstad, Ayla Donlin, Katy Hook, Kylie Rogalla, Sara Jensen, Lindsey Nordhagen, Melissa Adamson, Lisa Joppru, and Amy Christenson.

Sophomores reporting for the start of practice were Loretta Hruby, Rachel Halverson, Stacey Harbott, Mandi Johnson, Andrea Hagen, Kelly Bendickson, Brenda Kopari, Kiley Brazier, Naomi Kenner, Nicole Ryan, Angie Bohm, Meagan Lunke, Brianna Dyer, and Anna DeMars.

Freshmen playing volleyball this fall will be Riley Jesme, Andrea Stenseth, Kayla Loe, Melissa Skjerven, Katy Olson, Cari Harbott, Jenna Owen, Amy Boyd, Alicia Peterson, Ashley Bergerson, Brittany Borseth, Ally Torstveit, Janna Clow, Tera Fugleberg, Julie Blazejewski, Chelsey Helgeland, Krista Brenna, Amber Russ, Becky Lehrer, Kallie Kezar, Lindsey Swanson, and Brittany Swanson.

Mathson and Bray are proven hitters, and most of the newcomers possess skills to complement their front row ability.

"We should be pretty quick," noted Roche. "We should be okay in the back row. We'll just have to wait and see how it all falls in place."

Jamboree activity will take place in the two Lincoln High School gyms. Wednesday scrimmages will feature varsity (main gym) and junior varsity (auxiliary gym) matches beginning at 3:30 p.m. Friday's match-ups are varsity-only affairs that start at 3:30 p.m.

Reese is Golf Club champion

Jeff Reese became a four-time Thief River Golf Club champion Sunday with a 2-up victory over defending champion Stan Sjoberg in the 18-hole match play championship flight final.

The two had met in the finals once previously – back in 1986 when the then 25-year-old Reese won the first of his three straight Club titles. The Hallock native returned to his home town after winning the 1988 tournament and did not renew his Thief River Golf Club membership until last year, when he was beaten in the Club semifinals by Sjoberg.

Reese, now 38 and a partner in a Hallock CPA firm, advanced to the finals with a first round win over Scott Blankenfeld, a quarterfinal victory over Eric Barber and a semifinal decision over John Sjoberg, Stan's son.

"I didn't play as well (in the finals) as I did against John in the semifinals," said Reese. "Lucky for me, Stan didn't have his A game going, either. But I was pretty solid on the greens. I was making the 3-4-5-foot putts pretty consistently."

The two played the front nine even. The edge finally came when Reese won No. 13. He carried the one-hole advantage to the final tee box, and iced it by winning No. 18.

"Neither one of us wanted it to go down to No. 18 because it's such a tough hole," explained Reese. "But that's the way it ended up, and I happend to win it."

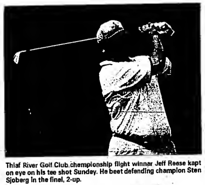
Ironically, it was tips from his opponent, a long-time friend and weekly golfing partner, that helped produce the title, according to Reese. "Earlier this year I was really struggling with my game," he explained. "About halfway through the season I was on the driving range and asked Stan to take a look and see what I was doing wrong."

Advice on hand position on the club was received and processed by Reese. Even more recently, Reese listened as Sjoberg talked about loosening the grip on the putter. Another tip that proved beneficial. "I guess he (Stan) created a monster," joked Reese.

Sjoberg returned to the finals by first beating youngest son Paul in the first round, Rory Nordheim in the quarterfinals and Tom Williams in the semifinals.

Reese figured playing a familiar foe helped ease some of the pressure that comes from playing for the Club title in front of a collection of on-lookers. "It made me more relaxed," he said. "We talked about how much fun it would be to play each other in the finals. I know Stan wanted to play John in the finals, and I understand. But I was his No. 2 choice."

"It feels really good to win," offered Reese. "With Stan, John and Paul, there's too many Sjobergs playing good golf right now. I feel fortunate to have won it now. There might not be that many opportunities in the future."



Thief River Golf Club championship flight winner Jeff Reese kept an eye on his tee shot Sunday. He beat defending champion Sten Sjoberg in the final, 2-up.

Three champions were determined earlier in the day when Tim Delmore beat Chuck Tuthill in the finals of the president's flight; Brent Lunke defeated Kevin Sanders in the first flight finals; and Rick Nordhagen stopped Gary Johnson in the second flight title match.

Participants in the Thief River Golf Club junior tournament teed off after the championship flight got underway, with Matt Nordhagen (10-11) and Shane Peterson (15-17) winning age-group honors. There were no entries in the 12-14-year-old category.

NCTC golf opener delayed

Riverland Invitational, scheduled to be played Friday in Austin, has been scratched from the Northland Community and Technical College men's and women's golf schedule.

The Pioneers' new fall program will now make its debut under coach Rick Nikunen at the Itasca Invitational Sept. 1 in Grand Rapids.

Pioneers open season at Brainerd

Northland will open its 1999 football season Saturday with a 1:30 p.m. Minnesota Community College Conference game against Central Lakes in Brainerd.

A year ago Dan Willoughby made his Northland coaching debut with a 39-7 loss at the hands of the Raiders. The Pioneers went on to finish 2-6, making their third straight two-win season.

Once again, Northland starts the year with four match-ups against MCCC Southern Division foes Central Lakes, Fergus Falls, Ridgewater, and Minnesota West before finishing with four games against Northern Division rivals Hibbing, Vermilion, Itasca, and Mesabi Range.

Games within your own division are worth two points in the MCCC standings, while games against teams in the other division are one-point affairs. Top two finishers in the two divisions earn post-season playoff spots.

The 1999 Northland home opener will be Saturday, Sept. 4, vs. Fergus Falls.

At mid-week, Willoughby and his staff wasn't ready to name a first-game starting line-up. "We're solid with our sophomores - we know what they can do," he said. "But we're still looking at the freshmen. We've got a lot of kids fighting for spots."

Early practices have produced the usual bumps and bruises, said Willoughby, but no major injuries have occurred. "We figure all of our kids will be ready to go by Saturday," he noted.

Nicole Kopari was presented with a plaque identifying her as the 1999 Gatorade Circle of Champions Minnesota high school girls track and field Athlete of the Year during Monday's regularly scheduled Thief River Falls school board meeting. Making the presentation of the award, which was announced last week, was Prowlers track coach Tim Olson. Kopari, a 1999 Lincoln High School graduate, swept the shot put and discus titles at the Class AA state track meet as both a junior and a senior. She starts classes in September at the University of Minnesota, where she accepted a scholarship from the Gophers' women's track program. State winners in the prestigious Gatorade-sponsored program are eligible for one of the eight regional awards, a field that will then produce the national Circle of Champions Athlete of the Year. Two plaques were received from the Gatorade company – one is for the award winner and the other is for display at the school.

Stan Sjoberg followed his putt Sunday in the Thief River Golf Club championship flight finals against Jeff Reese. Sjoberg, the defending champion, lost a 2-up decision.

High school football starts with Pigskin Preview...

TRF will have smaller line-up

There will be no size advantage for Thief River Falls this fall. The Prowlers, who have had their share of good-sized players over the years, will begin the 1999 high school football season with a much smaller line-up, according to head coach Jeff Mumm.

"We're going to be one of the smallest Prowler football teams in my tenure here," said Mumm, who is beginning his 15th year as Thief River Falls coach. "In the skill positions – quarterback, runningbacks, receivers, tight ends – we're in pretty good shape. We just need to find some people up front."

The quarterback job belongs to senior letterman Brad Bulger, said Mumm, but there is young talent on hand, too, in juniors John Sjoberg and Justin Skjerven, along with sophomore Robby Anderson.

Top halfbacks on hand include Nick Drees, who showed breakaway ability when he filled in for injured Nick Chiodo a year ago while otherwise playing at wingback; hard-running Adam Haviland, who has been moved from fullback, where he was a season-ending starter, to halfback; and junior Brian Loe, who earned a varsity letter as the Prowlers' punter last fall.

Johnson, a linebacker, is the only starter back on defense from a team that lost a 40-33 overtime decision to Sauk Rapids in the Section 8AAAA quarterfinals to end a 4-5 season.

"Again, at end, linebacker and in the secondary, we should be okay on defense," mentioned Mumm. "It's in the line where we need help. We have lots of kids, but we may have to move some of them around to fill positions and make us a better football team."

Other returning lettermen on hand are seniors Josh Jensen, Tim Hraby, Jonathon Pream, Nic Miller, Luke Miller, Kyle Newton, Matt Trontvet, Bailey Nordin, Derek Walseth, Peter Radniecki, and Brent Nelson.

The coaches will test their product Saturday during the 27th annual Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Pigskin Preview at Prowler Field.

Two sessions of varsity and junior varsity scrimmages will take place. The 10 a.m. match-ups will feature Thief River Falls, Crookston, Bemidji, and East Grand Forks. The 1 p.m. session will include Badger/Greenbush-Middle River, Red Lake Falls, Roseau, Lake of the Woods, Fertile-Beltrami, and Warren-Alvarado-Oslo.

Thief River Falls' 1999 regular season opener will be a Friday, Sept. 3, game at Spring Lake Park. They will also be on the road for a Week 2 game at Hibbing before playing Crookston in their Sept. 17 home opener.

Comments are sought on DNR forest program

A plan that proposes methods to preserve unique or endangered habitats through conservation easements on private woodlands had been developed by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources. Public comments on the plan are being sought by the DNR Forestry Division through Sept. 10.

"Conservation easements have been recognized tools for preserving unique or endangered habitats," said Thomas Kroll, the DNR Forestry private forest lands coordinator. "The attached draft plan proposes a method to expand that kind of protection to working forests as well."

Privately owned woodlands are under increasing pressure for conversion to nonforest uses, Kroll noted. "Conservation easements provide a method for landowners to assure the future stability of the land base while retaining the options needed to keep their forest productive and sustainable," Krall said. "In effect, landowners voluntarily 'zone' their lands to be working forests and forgo the possibility of conversion to housing or other nonforest use."

Forest Legacy is a state-administered federal program that provides a specific type of easement and the potential for funding. Other organizations such as the Minnesota Land Trust are already moving forward with conservation easements for working forests. This draft plan is required for the Forest Legacy Program, but is intended to be useful for all potential working forest conservation easements applications in Minnesota. The Forest Legacy Program draft plan suggests 14 areas of Minnesota where such funding would be a priority. It also lays out a process to ensure local involvement before any easements could be taken.

To obtain a copy of the draft plan, contact Sharon Schantz, DNR Forestry, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155-4014, call 651-297-7298.

Northland Community and Technical College volleyball...

Numbers improve prospects

A goal for Northland Community and Technical College volleyball coach Mike Zachow this fall was to increase two numbers over his first-year 1998 totals: the Pioneers' roster size and their win total.

He met the first objective when 13 players reported for the start of practice in preparation for the upcoming 1999 season. A year ago he got the job too late to recruit and wound up with an eight-player line-up. That left few bench options available as the Pioneers struggled through a 2-19 campaign.

More bodies will mean more flexibility, along with fresher legs. That should improve the Pioneers' prospects on the scoreboard.

"We're looking better than last year," said Zachow after just a couple of practices. "We've got more numbers, and we've got more height than last year. We'll be better."

Jessica Johnson of Warroad is a sophomore at Northland, but is in her first year of college volleyball. She played basketball for the Pioneers last winter.

First-year players on hand include Shelli Eriksen, Thief River Falls; Tammy Berberich, Brooks; Tami Johnson, Fosston; Sandy Brekke, Trail; Karis Flom, Orr; and Beth Burger, St. Thomas, ND.

Kathy Huselde and Rhonda Lofberg are working as Zachow's assistants this fall.

Northland opens the 1999 schedule against the North Dakota State College of Science Wednesday, Sept. 1, in Wahpeton. The home opener will be a Friday, Sept. 3, Pepsi Quadrangular when the Pioneers will be joined by two more North Dakota foes – Lake Region and Bottineau.

GREENBUSH RACE PARK

by Bob Hultgren

Points champions for the 1999 season will be decided Friday, Aug. 27, at 7 p.m. at the Greenbush Race Park. With no single driver dominating any class, all five points titles are up for grabs.

Awards presentations will take place in front of the grandstand about a half-hour after the final race. Fans, drivers and pit crew members are invited to stay for the program and enjoy a free late night lunch, courtesy of the Greenbush Race Park. The track will also draw from the season-long kids go-cart registration.

Annual track championship races were held Friday, Aug. 20.

Points leader Nolan Olmstead of Badger jumped out to a substantial lead in the Wissota Modified final and appeared untouchable until something broke on his car on Lap 12, sending him to the pits. Shannon Gust of Strathcona took advantage of the opportunity, shooting to the lead and the feature win. Gary Johnson of Karlstad had another impressive outing and finished second.

Bob Shafer of Bemidji won the Super Stock feature, and in the process climbed on top of the standings by a point or two over Dean Forst of Thief River Falls. Joey Pederson of Warren was the second car at the line, with Forst finishing third.

In the Outlaw Street Class, Jade Fredrickson of Stephen jumped out to an early lead and appeared to be running away from the field through the first five laps of the 15-lap feature. However, Richard Jacobson of Wannaska reeled in Fredrickson and took the lead on Lap 9. Jacobson would lead the rest of the way for the win, with Fredrickson second.

Roger Fiola of Ste. Anne, MB led the Super Sport feature flag-to-flag. He has been out front most of the season, and Friday was no different. But even with the win, Fiola still has just a five or six-point lead in the standings. Jamen Foss of Greenbush finished second in the 18-car feature.

In the Mini-Sprints, Cory Olson of Roseau held off the always-fast Robbi Peterson of Middle River to pick up the feature win. After a rough start early this season, Olson has settled into being a solid and fast competitor. It was his second feature win of the year. He is currently in second place in the standings, approximately 13 points behind Merrek Hietala of Badger.

The Race Park is located one-half mile north of Greenbush on County Road 7. Admission is $8 for ages 13-over and $4 for ages 6-12. Children ages 5-under are admitted free.

Two area hospitals receive state Health Dept. grants

by Sen. Roger Moe

Two area hospitals in Mahnomen and Ada will receive state Health Department grants, due in part to the hard work of many local residents. These grants come at a time when many rural hospitals are facing difficult financial choices, many facing closure, leaving rural Minnesotans without adequate health care services and being forced to travel many miles to see a doctor. I commend the residents, hospital personnel and community leaders in both Mahnomen and Ada for their dedication and hard work over the past few years. It is efforts like this that will help us provide adequate health care to rural residents and slow the increase of rural hospital closings we have seen over the last decade.

The state Department of Health's Office of Rural Health and Primary Care is working closely with rural hospitals, medical centers and area residents to set up a rural health plan. Part of that plan includes grant programs that will benefit the Mahnomen Health Center and Bridges Medical Center in Ada that recently received grants to help each hospital maintain programs and viability at a very critical time. The Mahnomen Health Center received two grants — one to continue its work as a "Critical Access" Hospital, and a Sole Community Hospital grant designed to support the state's most isolated and financially fragile hospitals. Bridges Medical Center in Ada also received a Sole Community Hospital grant.

Both facilities have done a great deal to maintain quality health care services in the face of adverse financial conditions. As a matter of fact, last April, Mahnomen was designated the first "Critical Access" Hospital in the six-state area (Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Iowa and Indiana). Their $13,500 Critical Access grant will allow them to go forward with plans to increase Medicare reimbursement and ease federal regulations, lighten work loads on their rural physicians, help them retain quality medical personnel, and produce hospital cost savings. In receiving the Critical Access hospital designation, the Mahnomen Health Center worked with community leaders, local residents and hospital/medical personnel to design a plan that will work best for the area. The Mahnomen Health Center was a pilot project for the state as we, along with the federal government, moved forward on the critical access issue.

Let me explain a bit about Critical Access hospitals and Sole Community hospitals. As the health care crisis loomed in the mid-1990s, the federal government realized there was a need across the country to maintain essential care and medical access at rural hospitals. The state, also realizing the need and in conjunction with federal legislation, established a rural hospital flexibility program and a rural health plan that provided the opportunities for Critical Access and Sole Hospital grants.

The Sole Community Hospital grants that the Mahnomen Health Center and Bridges Medical Center received will also be a boost to the financial stability of these centers. The state appropriated $200,000 to the program, and Mahnomen and Bridges received the balk of the funding — $117,212 and $60,088 respectively. The hospitals will use the money to help cover operating expenses. These grants came on top of $1.5 million that each medical center received last year. Mahnomen used that money to upgrade its facility and Ada used it to cover flood-related costs. Again, I commend these communities for their hard work and commitment to making health care available to residents.

We have heard over and over again about the shortage of adequate health care in rural Minnesota. It is increasingly difficult to keep our network of rural hospitals, clinics and doctors strong, and than it is increasingly difficult for rural residents to receive care. I think the state and federal government have taken an important step through the programs outlined above, and I hope that community members across Minnesota will work with us to preserve hospitals in rural areas, enhance access and help cut ever increasing costs.

Would Public Opt For Unicameral Legislature?

Governor Jesse Ventura has been traveling the state of Minnesota recently to promote his push for a unicameral (single-house) legislature for this state. He claims it would reduce the cost of government, make it easier for the press and public to follow progress of legislation, increase accountability for legislators and eliminate the need for conference committees.

Many Minnesotans may be tempted to take a chance on a unicameral legislature if given the opportunity to vote for a constitutional amendment on the general election ballot on November 7, 2000—much as they elected Ventura in a minor rebellion against the status quo a year ago. Wisdom of that choice in the long run is yet to be proved, although popular opinion continues high.

Among the major opponents of a unicameral legislature is Sen. Roger Moe of Erskine, the Senate Majority Leader and a long-time participant in Minnesota law-making. He is very familiar with the existing system and feels it is not in need of replacing with something so drastic as a one-house operation.

Today we are publishing a column written by Senator Moe as a guest editorial. It provides the senator's reasoning and arguments in favor of retaining the existing bicameral system. Next Wednesday, in the September 1 Thief River Falls Times, we will publish a list of questions and answers on a unicameral legislature provided by Gov. Ventura's office. We suggest keeping Sen. Moe's comments below to contrast with Gov. Ventura's arguments next week.

Bicameral Legislature Recognizes Rural Interests Protected

GUEST EDITORIAL

by State Sen. Roger Moe

If the recent push to change Minnesota's bicameral legislature to a unicameral system proves successful, the best interests of our rural communities will be poorly served.

Eliminating one legislative chamber, as proposed, would result in fewer legislators serving. This translates into less of the work for constituents done directly by your elected representative, and more duties handed over to paid staff in their St. Paul offices.

At the same time, the unicameral system encourages hastier decisions and rapid shifts in power. When redistricting takes place after the 2002 election, rural Minnesota will suffer from a shift in power to the Twin Cities metropolitan area. Under the unicameral plan, we will surely feel the full thrust of the loss in rural representation immediately.

Aren't many of our rural communities already suffering enough?

The fact that rural residents would be hurt by a switch to the unicameral is important, but several sound points can be made opposing the one-chamber legislature that should appeal to every Minnesotan regardless of where they live.

Unicameral supporters cite the lone example of the small, homogenous State of Nebraska, which has had a unicameral system for more than 60 years. Why should we, a larger tri-partisan state, model ourselves after Nebraska? Some undesirable traits in the Nebraska system are attributable to its unicameral system.

Nebraska's Legislature is much more dependent on staff. Although legislative pay there is lower than in Minnesota, its per capita cost for each legislator is higher. Instead of having two legislators for each constituent, Nebraska has only one. The additional professional staffing drives up costs and reduces constituents' direct contact with their elected representatives.

While the bicameral process can be confusing to anyone not familiar with it, rules enacted in Minnesota in recent years open up the process far more than the closed-door policies employed in Nebraska. Past history points to some procedural legislative abuses in Minnesota, such as most major bills coming together in smoke-filled back rooms. Over time, public expectations were raised and the process was significantly improved.

We now have less-concentrated power, greater accountability, and much more public participation. Through rule changes, the conference committee process has greatly improved. We can continue making changes to ensure that the conference committees process is even better.

Our laws are special because they establish the rules under which all other business and government decisions are made. Decisions made by corporations, agencies and local governments must answer to the law, as rendered by the Legislature and Congress. Creating the law of the land should require a very high level of care and deliberation, encouraging all parties to seek out reasonable compromises. Minnesota and 48 other states have these checks and balances.

A unicameral legislature can pass new laws more easily, without resorting to compromises. With fewer obstacles, narrow special-interest groups will have more influence to move their extreme agendas forward rapidly. We have a lot of laws in this state. Should we make it easier to pass more laws? I think not.

As for the local units of government, fewer jurisdictions means decisions are made far away from home. Ask families and school officials who have suffered through a school district consolidation if they believe their communities and the students affected are automatically better off.

The current unique three-way power-sharing arrangement at the state level has the full confidence of the citizenry. In its place, do we think Minnesotans would rather have perpetual one-party control of the Legislature? I doubt it.

After one legislative session under this tri-partisan arrangement, public polling indicates that the actions of Governor Ventura and the Legislature are very popular. In fact, the polls show both the Executive and Legislative branches approaching all-time record high approval ratings. Most people like the idea that the new arrangement has forced everyone involved to make compromises. Under a unicameral system, three-way power sharing would not be a possibility.

Do we want to abandon the balanced and stable system we have now? Bicameral gives the public more representation, more direct contact with their elected officials and more opportunities for participation. The alternative proposal would give us a one-party legislature dominated by staff, special-interest groups and single-issue politics. The unicameral plan would be an unwise choice for all Minnesotans.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Editor:

I would like to comment on your recent editorial "Community's Health Situation Unhealthy."

The Dakota Clinic Region Health & Surgery Center is not only cutting edge but also cost cutting. Medicare and the Blues reimburse a free standing Ambulatory Surgery Center considerably less than an outpatient service in a hospital. They are therefore strongly supported by all reimbursement agencies.

Reimbursement agencies are also able to help the hospitals bring their charges in line if a local ASC exists in the community. All of this results in lower premiums and more dollars in consumers' pockets and a richer community.

The new Center promotes more health and creates more wealth for the consumer and should be applauded!

Thank-you.
Sincerely,
Tom Williams

To The Editor:

Currently there are a few influential members of the Thief River Falls city government working to get a bridge built on Greenwood Street. A project of this magnitude will significantly impact our community, and after attending several city council meetings and speaking with various councilmen and city personnel about it, I think it is safe to say that personal agendas, not project merit, are the real driving forces behind this proposal.

A bold statement, yet—but how else do you explain the dogged pursuit of a "solution" to a "problem" that no one has been able to define?

Valid reasons for building a bridge are to solve transportation problems like traversing rugged terrain or waterways, safely and effectively accommodating different forms of transportation or alleviating traffic congestion.

As far as I can tell, we already have three places within the city to drive across the river; the only accommodations we have to make for other forms of transportation are to wait for trains and co-exist with trucks; and in my nine years of driving here, I've yet to see traffic congestion.

Be honest—with the exception of waiting for a train, have you ever waited behind traffic for more than two cycles of any stop light? Is it possible to start from any point A and go to any point B in the city and fail to get there in less than 15 minutes?

Reasons for building bridges that are not valid include "it's been in the plan for 40 years," "this is something my dad started," "we need to accommodate the growth of Arctic Cat, Digi-Key and the community expansion to the south," "we'll lose $294,000 in federal money if we don't do it," "we'll have to repay Municipal State Aid funds that were used to improve Greenwood Street if we don't do it" and "we already bought that house that was in the way."

So far, all I have gotten from the city are these non-valid reasons; non-valid because they are all either fundamentally wrong, irrelevant or easily refutable.

It is my hope that some day Thief River Falls will be known for its sensible progress and well managed projects. Can our city be objective when planning and executing projects? Can we start today?

Sincerely,
John T. Zins

Show At Airport Set For September 11

"The local Civil Air Patrol unit, in cooperation with the Civic and Commerce association, is sponsoring a free flying demonstration at the Thief River Falls municipal airport Sunday afternoon, September 11, at 2 o'clock, it was announced today by G. A. Frahm, CAP secretary. In addition to numerous free airplane rides to be given to visitors, the program will include a demonstration by 'Dusty' Huggins on 'How Not to Fly.' Many new model planes also will be on exhibit. Frahm stated that pilots from towns throughout this area are being invited to participate in a brunch that day. No admission, he added, will be charged the visiting public."

Treatment Plant, New Bridge Make Steady Progress

"The driving of sheathing for the cofferdam for the No. 1 pier of the new First street bridge is expected to get under way next week, City Engineer Douglas Stewart stated this week. In the meantime, a portion of the south truss of the old bridge has been removed to give the derrick access to the No. 1 pier nearest the east bank of the river. Excavation work for the east abutment of the bridge also is in progress.

"Construction work on the new water treatment plant is well up to schedule, Stewart stated. Slabs for the operating floor are being poured this week and brick work will get under way in a week or two.

"Following the complete failure of the old Kendall avenue sewer lift station during the past week, a gasoline engine has been installed to pump the sewage, much to the annoyance of nearby residents. Stewart reported that the new lift, now in the last stages of completion, will be put into use as soon as the necessary shafting arrives. The brick structure housing the old lift has been removed."

Pennington County Booth At State Fair To Feature Flax

"Utilizing for its combined theme the Minnesota Territorial Centennial and the prominent role played by this area in flax production, the Pennington booth designed by Orrin Hall for exhibition at the Minnesota state fair was taken to St. Paul Wednesday. Hall accompanied the exhibit and is setting up the booth, while Ronald Ness will serve as attendant during fair week."

High School Students Urged To Register Now

"Kalmer Ostby, Lincoln high school principal, today reminded students who plan to enter high school September 6 that it is necessary for them to call at his office and complete their registration, if they have not already done so. He asked that they register not later than Saturday noon, August 27."

Soo Employees To Enjoy Fine Picnic September 1

"Picnics come and picnics go, but the picnic of them all is coming on Labor Day. So say the Soo Line employees, who are sponsoring the event scheduled at Squaw Point for Monday, September 1. In fact, there is only one thing which possibly could interfere with the complete success of the venture. And that is weather such as to make it entirely impossible for folks to assemble out-of-doors.

"Prizes have been donated by Thief River Falls businessmen to be used as awards in the various sporting events. There will be two baseball games, one for ladies and another for Soo Line employees, tugs-of-war and 25 or 30 other sporting events in which both old and young may participate. A dance will be enjoyed afternoon and evening in a bowery twice the size of that used last year. There will be something doing every minute of the day without a dull moment for anyone.

"Free ice cream and coffee will be served but visitors will be required to furnish their own lunches. Cigars and soft drinks may be purchased on the grounds if desired."

Force Attends Picnic

"The entire force of the local store of the J. C. Penney company motored to Grand Forks last Sunday to attend the district picnic of Penney store employees. The day was ideal and with 150 visitors from Fargo, Grand Forks, Crookston and Thief River Falls, a most enjoyable outing resulted. The picnic was held in Riverside park, Grand Forks, a place which is ideally suited to such a purpose."

Hello People Picnic

"Members of the Northwestern Telephone company exchange in this city hugely enjoyed themselves Thursday evening at a picnic supper served on the banks of the Red river three miles east of town. Those present included Misses Marie Thill, Olga Knutseth, Olga Skarr, Carolyn Rhodegard, Louise Kvall, Ethel Peehie, Florence Baker, Edla Norquist, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Erickson, the Messrs. G. A. Russell and W. R. French."

Zion Lutheran Church

"George Larson, Pastor. Evangelistic meetings begin Wednesday evening at 7:45 and last to the 27th, afternoons and evenings and all day Sunday. J. A. Peterson and Anker Berg from Minneapolis will sing and preach the Gospel. They will speak in Rindal church Saturday evening and Monday evening at 8 o'clock, in Goodridge Tuesday evening and Wednesday evening at 8 p.m., August 26 and 27. Zion Ladies Aid Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock sharp. The Evangelists will sing and speak. Mrs. P. Hustad and Mrs. G. O. Wigness will entertain. Goodridge Ladies Aid Wednesday afternoon, August 27th. Zion Sewing Circle meets with Mrs. Laura Feragen Tuesday evening, August 26."

Augustana Church

"Albin A. Larson, Pastor. Swedish services at 10:30. Sunday school 11:45. English Bible class at 7:00 and English services at 8:00. The Willing Workers will be entertained at the K. Sundahl home, 309 Conley avenue South, Thursday evening, August 28."

FROM THE UPPER FALLS

THE NEWS, JOHN W. EASTMAN, PUBLISHER AUGUST 24, 1899
THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA

SOME SUGGESTIONS

"The suggestion was made to the News by a gentleman deeply interested in the future of Thief River Falls that at the next city convention a resolution be adopted to the effect that the salary of the city clerk be reduced from $300 to $100; that the office of city attorney, which now costs the city $200 a year, be abolished; and that the five aldermen and mayor, at present receiving $25 and $40 per year, respectively, serve without pay. This would make a direct saving of $565 a year, this amount to be expended upon the roads leading into the city.

"If the city is to expend money upon the country roads next year, and this seems to be almost the unanimous opinion, it will be well to consider the most feasible ways. If the work was let by the contract to the lowest bidder, it is highly probable that the money expended would go further. And the roads to be built should be those upon which the farmers are willing to donate the most labor.

"The greatest handicap to the prosperity of the farmers in this section is the cost of hauling their goods to market. While many may not realize the truth of this assertion, it is nevertheless true. If the roads were in good shape, farmers could market their crops in about one half the time it takes at present and time should be money to the settler who is improving his farm."

Well, I am back from a very enjoyable trip to visit my son and his children in Georgia. It was so nice down there; no wind or mosquitoes or flies. It was pretty hot the last few days, but air conditioning takes care of a lot. I got back Saturday afternoon and On Sunday I went to Drayton with two cousins, Lorraine Carlson of Fertile, and Hazel Templeton of Winnipeg, to visit my sister, Margaret Kirkeby.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Hjelle hosted a brunch at the Best Western for her brother and wife, Douglas and Florence Floodstram of Brooklyn Park. They were here for Douglas' class reunion at Lincoln High School.

Lillian Sundby of Grand Forks was an overnight guest at the Gordon Skjerven home on Monday night. They also visited at the Arnold Skjerven home and on Wednesday they visited at the Janet LaBine home in Argyle and with other relatives. They also stopped at the Ruby Jorgenson home.

Bill and Marion Glatfelte of Honolulu came on August 9, are visiting at the Bert and Joyce Kron home and also enjoyed a picnic at Florian Park on Sunday.

The Miriam Circle met at the JoAnn Peters' home on Monday evening. Those who attended were Joyce Erickson, Lenae Halvorson, Bernyce Grandstrand, Janet Berg, Emma Erickson, Virginia Engen, and Amy Hjelle.

On Sunday, August 1, Dan and Donna Sustad, Blake and Bradley, accompanied LeRoy and Ruth Sustad to a hospital in Fargo where her brother, Bud (Harry) Peterson of Backus, MN, is a patient. His son, Raymond, and daughters Debbie and Carol of Cottage Grove, were there also to see their dad.

Last Saturday night, Earl and Joyce Erickson attended the Lincoln High School class reunion at the Evergreen Restaurant in Thief River Falls.

On Monday evening, LeRoy and Ruth Sustad enjoyed the Lutheran Brotherhood West Branch annual picnic in Warren, after which they were visitors at the Doug Gloude home.

On Saturday, Randy Skjerven of Grand Forks and Christopher and Natalie visited at the Gordon Skjerven home.

Visitors on Thursday afternoon on August 5, at the LeRoy Sustad home were Lenella Peters and daughter, Sharon, and Duane Chador of Madison Lake, Minnesota.

On Monday afternoon, August 9, Lloyd Ranum was a coffee guest at the LeRoy Sustad home.

A week ago Sunday, the Arnold Weleski family, along with Barb, Dave and Judy Weleski of Thief River Falls, and Eddie Weleski of Lancaster spent the day at Roseau River, Manitoba, visiting with relatives from Winnipeg, Toronto, and British Columbia.

On Saturday, August 7, LeRoy and Ruth Sustad attended the 50th wedding anniversary of Floyd and Adeline Nelson which was held at New Hope Lutheran Church in Newfolden.

The past weekend the Weleski family spent at Cass Lake visiting with Arnold's sister, Shirley Sauer, and their family from the Kalispell, Montana area.

On Friday, August 13, Dawn Gustafson of Thief River Falls, and Ruth Sustad went to Dakota Hospital in Fargo to see her brother Bud. His entire family, and brothers Bob of Brooklyn Park, and Walter of Blaine, were also there to see him.

Sen. Stumpf not thrilled about stadium proposal

"I really don't see much difference between this stadium deal and previous ones," states Sen. LeRoy Stumpf of Thief River Falls regarding the latest proposal by St. Paul Mayor Norm Coleman and Minnesota Twins owner Carl Pohlad to build a new baseball stadium.

"The latest version still ignores the desires of the public, leaves too many unanswered questions and distracts us from important issues that matter most to rural Minnesotans," he said.

Under the Coleman proposal, an open-air stadium costing $325 million must be available to the Twins in 2003. Mr. Pohlad must sell his team to a new owner (or owners) who will contribute a third of the cost of the stadium while St. Paul and the state would be providing the remaining two-thirds of the bill.

"So what's wrong with the plan? Plenty!" Sen. Stumpf says. "Over several years the public has consistently said 'no' to the public funding of a sports stadium, including last month's Minnesota Poll in which 80 percent of Minnesotans said they were opposed to the Coleman stadium plan. Similar stadium proposals have also failed to pass the State Legislature, even after a 1998 special session was called by Governor Arne Carlson and devoted completely to the stadium issue.

"As for the financing of the stadium, I see several problems. First, most, if not all, of the up-front costs are actually provided by the state, under the assumption that the state will be reimbursed. Under Coleman's plan, the state would issue government bonds that would be repaid over 30 years by the team's annual fee, proceeds from St. Paul's half-cent sales tax (if approved this fall by St. Paul voters) and increased state tax revenues from team operations."

The senator emphasizes that the entire plan is based on estimated costs and income.

"What happens if revenue from the Twins' business enterprises and St. Paul's sales tax falls short of expectations?" he asked. "Guess who gets stuck with the bill? We do. This means that tax revenue the state could use for other purposes (like farm assistance or rebates) would instead go toward the stadium. And after all of the debate, votes, funding and construction for a new stadium has passed, what is there to prevent the new owners of the team from moving to another city or state?"

Stumpf is concerned that while all of the questions and numbers about a baseball stadium are being "batted around," attending is being drawn away from serious problems in Greater Minnesota, especially in the area of agriculture. Commodity prices are down and farmers have suffered from years of bad crops, excess moisture and wheat disease. More and more farmers are going out of business; the total number of farms in Minnesota has shrunk by 10,000 over 10 years.

"Mayor Coleman, Mr. Pohlad and other supporters may argue for the community value of a baseball stadium," Stumpf said, "but I don't see them arguing for the community value of family farms and the extreme challenges that have been faced recently in rural Minnesota.

"It's simple," he concluded. "The financial arrangement for this stadium deal is not guaranteed, there are still too many uncertainties, and Minnesotans could wind up being the ones to bail out the Twins long after Mayor Coleman and Mr. Pohlad have left the public arena. If the State Legislature has to vote on this stadium package, it is more than likely that I will not support it."

Commissioner Earl Wilson of the Minnesota Department of Economic Security gave an update to employees of the local WorkForce Center at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls Friday, August 27. His stop here was one of three that day as he continued his effort to visit all of the departments local offices.

DES Commissioner Wilson visits WorkForce Center

Commissioner Earl Wilson of the Minnesota Department of Economic Security paid another visit to Thief River Falls Friday, August 27, updating employees of the local WorkForce Center at Northland Community and Technical College and fielding questions from them.

The commissioner reviewed his involvement with the Governor's Workforce Development Council (GWDC), a group consisting of 32 members representing business, community-based organizations, education, labor, elected officials and members of the governor's cabinet.

"Currently there are approximately 60 federal and state employment and training related programs administered by 12 different state agencies that spend just under $200 million in federal dollars and just under $100 million in state dollars each year," Commissioner Wilson said.

"The GWDC is working closely with Governor Ventura to develop and implement a strategy for a workforce development system that will shape what and how workforce services are delivered well into the next century."

Wilson said he is "truly excited" about the new council which was created in state statute in 1995 but met for the first time in early August of this year. Well over 100 prominent persons applied to serve and provide their individual and collective visions, he said, and those selected to serve will advise the governor on workforce development policies, plan strategies regarding the state's workforce and coordinate and integrate service delivery on a statewide basis.

"Consensus of the council is that the state and federal funds provide enough money to meet the workforce development needs," Wilson said, "and our focus is on how to avoid duplication without cutting services in meeting those needs."

Commissioner Wilson continued his support of technical training for young people who have interests and skills in technical fields and are similarly disinterested in four-year degrees. He said the emphasis by parents on sending children to college for four-year degrees may be over-rated, citing his own family where none of his three children are working in the field for which they were educated.

He called for more examination of technical training in higher education and a realization that severe workforce shortages indicate a need for training in specific employment areas. He called the change to a semester system in the state's colleges and universities "a step backward" in meeting needs of the state's employers.

The commissioner also told local WorkForce Center representatives that he is working to have the department better aligned to support the people working in the field. He acknowledged that changes are not taking place as quickly as he would like, and cited the care that must be taken to avoid violating federal rules on expenditure of funds as one of the reasons for the deliberate pace.

"There are federal auditors who have their offices in our building," he said, "and they are constantly monitoring how we expend federal money. There's nothing wrong with that, except that it seems when resources are developed at the federal level they tend to be done at the lowest common denominator. It takes Washington some time to catch up with improvements the states are already making."

Asked about his relationship with Governor Ventura, Wilson termed it "very positive." He called the governor an "outstanding communicator" who is straight forward in letting you know where he stands. He said he meets with the governor two or three times a month in addition to cabinet meetings.

"I appreciate his being open and supportive," Wilson said. "He has always been receptive to ideas for making service to Minnesotans better. He believes in personal responsibility and accountability of his cabinet members, he doesn't micromanage but he is very involved in the process."

Commissioner Wilson also applauded the work done by WorkForce Center employees. "I want you to know I appreciate the work you do out here," he said. "You have helped give the department a good reputation across the board and made us the recognized provider of choice."

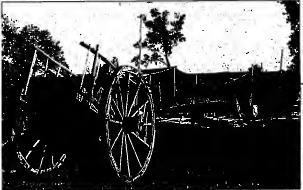
He also said that having the WorkForce Center located in the college building is the "optimum scenario" in providing service.

Wilson makes an effort to visit all of the WorkForce Centers in the state at least once a year. On Friday he visited the offices in Crookston, Thief River Falls, and East Grand Forks.

Officers to attend first day of school

Thief River Falls Police Chief Ken Froschheiser has announced that city officers will make their presence known on the first day of school this year.

Chief Froschheiser said following a staff meeting, officers were assigned to each school location in Thief River Falls for the first day of school Wednesday, September 1. He said they will be specifically looking for youth violations such as smoking and littering, and for traffic violations and problems.



A voyageurs encampment was part of the AFRAN Chatauqua and French Festival at Old Crossing Treaty Park last weekend. A variety of folk art, historical stories, food and traditional equipment were all part of the encampment display.

Governor urges retailers to help on tobacco laws

Retailers in Thief River Falls are among thousands throughout the state to receive letters recently from Gov. Jesse Ventura, urging them to meet their responsibility to abide by laws against selling tobacco in any form to people under 18 years old.

"Obviously, parents bear the first responsibility for raising their children to make good decisions and living with the consequences when they do not," the governor wrote. "However, all of us—businesses, local community organizations, schools, social services, local government and Minnesota state departments—need to work together to enforce the law and stop the problem of teen tobacco use."

While adolescents obtain tobacco products in many ways, Ventura acknowledged, illegal retail sales continue to be a significant source. The governor's letter advises several points for retailers:

- Be sure clerks are trained to follow the law at all times and understand ways to prevent illegal sales;
- In accordance with state and federal law, check identification from anyone appearing to be under age 27;
- Remind employees that store owners and clerks can receive fines or penalties for illegally selling tobacco products to anyone under 18;
- Consider eliminating all self-service tobacco displays from stores to force minors to ask a clerk for tobacco.

"Curbing access to tobacco for young people is an absolutely essential part of any effort to reduce smoking rates," adds Jan Malcolm, commissioner of the Minnesota Department of Health. "Most people become tobacco users by experimenting at a young age and are hooked by the time they are adults. To the extent that we can block the ability of young people to purchase tobacco, we can help to eliminate those first important steps down the road to addiction."

COLORED INK

Possible prank lacks humor to store owner

With the beginning of school, officers found themselves dealing with several youth in the past week.

Prank? Police in Thief River Falls are investigating what they suspect could be a prank. On August 27 at 1:56 p.m. police received a complaint from McDonald's that someone had taken "the life-size Ronald McDonald from outside of the business. If it was a prank the store owner was not amused. The statue is valued at about $1,000. The incident remains under investigation. The store owner is offering a $100 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for taking the statue. Anyone with information is urged to contact the police department investigator at 681-6161. Any information provided to police will be kept confidential.

Red lights and the siren were activated, but the driver would not stop. The driver was identified by the officer as 36-year-old Kevin John Hamre, Thief River Falls. Hamre allegedly continued to attempt to evade officers with a passenger on the ATV. Hamre has been charged with fleeing a police officer and reckless driving.

These reports include names of individuals charged, arrested or cited with various crimes and offenses by police, the sheriff's department or other law enforcement officials. Depending upon the circumstances of a case, charges can be, and sometimes are, changed or dropped by law enforcement officials or attorneys even before the case reaches court. Please remember to care for our resources

by Mike Ramstorf
DNR Conservation Officer

Our mission is great. To provide reliable, fair and honest Natural Resource law enforcement for the public of Northwest Minnesota.

My name is Michael Ramstorf, I am the Conservation Officer assigned to the 7123 beat. This area includes eastern Red Lake, Pennington County, and Marshall counties, and Beltrami County north of the Red Lake Indian Reservation.

I came to this area in October last year after completing the six month training academy and field training at Camp Ripley near Little Falls. Prior to being hired by the Department of Natural Resources, Division of Enforcement, I was a police officer in Park Rapids for eight years.

Time willing, this will be the first of a weekly article hopefully localizing the laws and procedures for our very unique area.

The job of Conservation Officer is proving to be a challenge. Trying to insure that laws are being followed without upsetting those using our resources properly for both work and play. Although some laws seem somewhat petty on the face, if you look at the "big picture" they make more sense. In firearm safety classes I ask the students to think if everyone did what I just did, what would be the consequence. Or if every firearms deer hunter left one soda can in the woods each year, it would equal 465,000 cans or about 19,375 lbs of aluminum in our woods and fields.

Fall is coming fast and with it many great opportunities to use the outdoors.....

September 1st marks the opener for bear season. Hunters, please remember to leave the forest like you found it. Non-biodegradable items are not allowed in baiting stations.(cans, plastic; etc)

September 4th early goose season opens. This is something new to the northwest region. This year the season runs through the 15th. Regular waterfowl rules apply with the additions of a two bird limit and you cannot hunt within 100 yards of water (this does not include temporary flooding from a recent rain). An early goose season license sticker is available at most license outlets for $3.00. This is a fantastic opportunity to start a child hunting. The weather is mild and with a little scouting the hunting can be fantastic.

School's Open - Drive Carefully Urges AAA Minnesota/Iowa

In just a few weeks, sidewalks, school bus stops and roads will once again be filled with children walking and biking their way to school. With this comes the increased risk of a deadly collision between a child and a motor vehicle, says AAA Minnesota/Iowa.

"During the summer, drivers forget about school kids, bus stops and crossing zones," said Barb Buchholz, spokesperson for AAA. "We are urging people, especially parents who are dropping their kids off at school, to pay extra attention when driving during the next few weeks to avoid a serious incident."

To help make drivers aware of the dangers, AAA Minnesota and Iowa has launched its annual School's Open - Drive Carefully campaign. AAA will be posting special banners in public areas and distributing educational materials. AAA School Safety Patrol members will be using extra caution when directing child pedestrians.

"Kids are particularly vulnerable to being struck by a vehicle because their actions are unpredictable and they are smaller, making them harder to see," said Buchholz. "We really want to get the word out so we can reduce the risk of a tragedy."

AAA Minnesota/Iowa offers these tips for drivers:

* Get in the habit now of recognizing school zones on your route
* Look for bicycles, children playing, or AAA School Safety Patrol members, which indicate children nearby
* Scan between parked vehicles and other danger zones for hiding children
* Drive with headlights on at all times so children and other drivers can see you
* Be prepared to take evasive action - fast
* Avoid using cell phones while driving, especially in the hours before or after school

"Driving always demands our full attention, but it is especially important this time of year," said Buchholz.

AAA has conducted the School's Open - Drive Carefully campaign for 66 years. The AAA School Safety Patrol program is currently celebrating its 79th anniversary.

First day of school brings flood of memories for many

For many years, rural schools were an important part of Minnesota landscape

by Kathi Carlson
Times Reporter

The 1999-2000 school year begins — a time of year that causes many of us to reflect on our own school years and remember the "good old days" stories of our parents and grandparents.

"I Walked Three Miles . . ."

During the early part of the century one room schoolhouses were an important part of the rural American landscape, and Pennington county was no exception.

Minnesota laws, at that time, stated that schools and school districts should be established under the jurisdiction of township officers, and it wasn't uncommon for several districts to exist within a single township with classes held in homes that had been designated as schools or in buildings which had been constructed on land "lent" by farmers.

Many schools were built as close to the center of the district as possible, equalizing the distance that the students had to walk.

The typical school house was a one room structure with three windows on each side of the building and a front entry where students hung their coats. The teacher rang a bell to designate the beginning of the school day.

The structures were heated by wood burning barrel stoves with the teacher arriving as early as she could to start the fire. Those who remember those days can tell us that during the dead of winter, it often took the better part of the day before the room was brought to a comfortable temperature. With no electricity, any light that was needed was provided by gas lanterns or kerosene lamps.

Outhouses were the schools' only bathroom facilities, and drinking water was brought to school by either the teacher or one of the students in an open pail. Students shared the water, drinking from a dipper. Later, water fountains, covered crocks with individual cups, were used.

Syrup pails were used as containers to carry the students' cold lunches in many of the rural schools. At other sites, parents took turns bringing a casserole that would feed everyone. A few of the schools included a luxurious two or three burner kerosene stove on which the teacher, with the help of her students, would prepare a simple dish for lunch.

The school term varied from district to district with some schools operating only two months out of the year and others in session for as many as nine months.

Because children were needed to help with farm work, the growing season, which varied from year to year, determined when school was held. Some schools also opted to suspend classes during the coldest weeks of winter.

The Three R's

In the earliest rural schools, only five grade levels were taught to students between the ages of six and 24.

The course of study for first and second grade students included reading, spelling, language and numbers. Geography was added to the curriculum of third graders, and fourth grade students also learned arithmetic and U.S. History. Fifth graders received instruction in U.S. and Minnesota history, grammar and arithmetic as well as such practical subjects as the elements of bookkeeping, physiology and hygiene, government and use of the dictionary. Penmanship was stressed at all levels of education.

Later, six, seventh and eighth grade classes were added, and seventh and eighth grade students were required to pass state board examinations before they could pass their grades. These examinations were eventually discontinued, and students were passed or failed on report cards completed by the teacher.

While the eighth grade often marked the end of formal education for many rural youth, some opted to attend high school in Thief River Falls or at the Northwest School of Agriculture in Crookston. Youngsters as young as 13 left home and rented rooms from townsfolk, often performing household tasks in exchange for room and board.

"All Work and No Play . . .

. . leaves Jack a dull boy." In addition to being centers of learning, schools were also the hub of social activities in rural areas.

Some of the events served as fund-raising activities, generating funds for books and supplies for the schools.

At basket socials, the women brought lunches in decorated baskets which were auctioned off to the men. The male who purchased the basket shared the contents with the female who brought it, sometimes sparking romance.

Ice cream socials featured homemade ice cream and pies.

Carnivals were also popular fund-raising events. Bingo was enjoyed, and booths contained other games and handmade and donated items for sale. Larger items were sold by raffle or during spirited auctions. Lunches were always served, and in communities where it was permitted, dances were sometimes held at the conclusion of the evening.

The annual Christmas program was the highlight of the school year and involved weeks of preparations. Christmas trees were trimmed with real candles and decorations made by the children, and the program included plays, recitations, songs and dialogues. At the end of the program, everyone delighted in Santa Claus' visit as he delivered bags containing hard candy, peanuts and a shiny red apple.

Valentine's Day provided another opportunity for parents and friends to participate in a school activity, and scraps of pretty papers, fabrics, lace and buttons were used to make the homemade valentines which were exchanged.

Play day was held in the spring with school districts competing against each other in various races and field events. Parents and others cheered for the children, and everyone enjoyed a picnic at the conclusion of the day.

The best spellers from each school competed in an annual spelling bee with the winners from each district competing in Thief River Falls for a chance to represent Pennington county at the Red River Valley Winter Shows in Crookston. Declamation contests were also held, but mostly for the purposes of local entertainment.

The Rural Teacher

Although the earliest rural school teachers sometimes only had grade school educations themselves, laws later required them to have high school educations as well as one year of normal training.

The nine-month course included several months of classroom training and two months of practice teaching at a rural school in the spring. Those completing the course were awarded a first grade certificate which was good for one year. Renewal of the certificate could be accomplished by reading and reporting on a designated book. The renewed certificate was good for two years.

While state laws mandated more education for teachers as years went by, many of the earliest teachers were hardly any older than the students that occupied their classrooms.

Teachers usually stayed with farm families, and in addition to going to school early each morning to get the fire going, they often worked late performing the janitorial duties which were theirs also.

It was not unusual for 20 to 50 children of varying ages to attend the country schools, and teachers often recruited the help of the older students in cleaning up at the end of the day, hauling water, helping the younger students with their studies and supervising them during recess.

Often teachers had to make do with what they had. Books were sometimes in short supply or in poor condition, and the children of early settlers often had to be taught how to speak English.

Most teachers were expected to visit the homes of each of the students at some time during the school year. They were also required to keep attendance records, and often, these records had to be submitted and accepted before the teacher's final check for the year was authorized by the school board.

At the turn of the century, rural school teachers were paid between $20 and $50 per month. By 1920, they were receiving between $70 and $100 per month. During the Great Depression, however, the monthly salaries for teachers dropped as low as $40. By 1960, a rural teacher was usually paid $300 or more per month.

The End of an Era

Modern transportation and school buses meant changes in education, and the majority of students attending rural schools during their elementary years went on to attend high school in town. Many rural schools also closed, opting to send students into town or consolidating with another rural district.

Finally, during the 1960's, laws were passed in Minnesota for the purpose of conserving and consolidating all school resources which eventually led to the closing of all of the state's rural schools.

While an era ended, memories of Minnesota's country schools live on to be told and retold as stories of the "good old days."

Middle River Women of Today kick off project

Middle River Women of Today have started a new project, "Suitcases for Kids" in Marshall county.

After visiting with Marshall County Social Services it was discovered that when children are placed in foster care, most leave their home with their possessions in a bag or box.

The project will provide duffel bags for the youth (which can double as school bags) and "Care Bear" suitcases for the toddlers. The bags and suitcases will be inventoried with Marshall County Social Services and presented to children when they are placed in foster care, providing them with their "very own" suitcase.

Items the organization hopes to include in the duffel bags are toothbrushes, toothpaste, pens, notebooks, socks, hats, gloves and other items that are donated or purchased with donations. The toddler suitcases will included toothbrushes, toothpaste, crayons, coloring books, toys, hats, mittens and other items.

The Women of Today have purchased 10 duffel bags and will begin a fund-raising project to fill them. Anyone wishing to donate items or cash for this project are asked to call Wendy Wahl at 222-3013 or Jo Walton or Linda Riggs at 222-3538. Donations can also be left at the Middle River American Legion or with any Woman of Today member.

Organization members hope that this will be an ongoing project with suitcases and duffel bags replenished as they are distributed by Marshall County Social Services.

MR Women of Today "Kiss a Pig" project ranks top in nation

The Middle River Women of Today's recent "Kiss a Pig" contest won first place in the United States Women of Today competition in the external program area.

Area members were advised of the honor on August 13 and 14 as 23 members of the Middle River organization attended the Minnesota Women of Today summer awards program at Jackpot Junction in Morton.

The group were also informed that they had received numerous other awards in national competition, including most new members during the fourth quarter; fourth quarter G.O.L.D. chapter; 1998-1999 Growth chapter; certification in March Madness; and Buckets of Sunshine participation.

Also on a national level, Tanna Engen, Patty Stephens and Jovenia Walton were certified in S.T.E.P. III; Janet Logan was recognized for participating in an effective writing competition; Tammy Johnson and Tanna Engen were certified in Focus on Women/Chaplin; and Tanna Engen, Tammy Johnson, Patty Stephens and Jovenia Walton were certified in effective writing and speaking.

While all of the national awards had been announced in June at the National convention in Lancaster, PA, Minnesota River Women of Today was not aware of its successes until the August convention in Morton.

In addition to the national awards, the organization also received awards from the Minnesota Women of Today for the first quarter 1999-2000, including third in Success and first in Success in population division; 100 percent membership retention; Chapter Growth Plus 5; Double In-House Extension (eight new members in a month) and the Chapter Mile Award traveling trophy.

Also recognized at the summer awards program was Linda Riggs as outstanding local program manager in ways and means. Linda also received a Presidential pin, and Jovenia Walton received a Presidential medallion.

On March 19, 1999 the Middle River Women of Today had 21 members. To date, 22 new members have joined the organization for a total of 43 members.

Club members extend their appreciation to area businesses and the community for the support the organization has received in its projects.

SPEAKING OF . . .

Sherry LaCoursiere

...Go For It

There's still time.

Have I heard you making dissatisfied sounds and grumbling about city government? There's still time to do something about it. There are four positions open on the city council this year, and you could run for one of them and get elected on November 2 and change city government as we know it. Couldn't you?

Wards 1, 3 and 5 are open this year, as well as an alderman-at-large position. Milt Borstad currently holds the Ward 1 position. This ward encompasses Main Street north and then east, over the river and through the woods to include the area of the college and east. Ward 3 is the southwest part of town, including the area around Arctco and Oakland Park Road. Dale Wennberg is the present councilman. Ward 5 councilman is Frank Hamerlinck. His ward is on the east side of town, along some of Merriam and then south and east across the highway to the river. Jean Heinrich's position of alderman-at-large is one that encompasses the entire city.

Who may run for offices? You must live in Wards 1, 3 or 5 to run for these particular council positions, but the alderman-at-large is a city-wide position and is open to any resident. Other requirements are that you must be eligible to vote in Minnesota, you are at least 21 years old, you have been a resident of the district for at least 30 days before the election (November 2), and you have only filed for one office in any election.

Filing for city council positions has been open since August 24, and will end September seventh. You must have your application in the City Administrator's office (at the Depot) by the seventh – not in the mail – but in the office. At the time you present your application, you will pay a filing fee of two dollars.

The Affidavit for Candidacy is a very simple form. You are asked to write your name, the office you seek and for which district, and your address. Your signature is to be notarized (signed before a Notary Public), which I am sure they have in the city offices, so you can just fill out the form right there.

There is another way to get on the ballot for the November election, and that is called "Candidacy by application of voters." According to Minnesota Statute 205.13, subd. 1, any five voters may file a petition on behalf of a candidate. So, if you know a good person you would like to be in on the city government, give it a shot. Before you go out and round up four other people to get your good friend Buddy on the council as a joke, however, you should know that you must present Buddy with a copy of the petition and he must sign it before you can file it. He may not think much of the joke and punch you in the nose with your petition. You'll also be responsible for the 2 dollar filing fee, by the way.

Now that you have a rather general idea of how it works, think it over (just don't take too long about it, though) and decide to run for one of the open positions. The main qualification you need to have is that you want to help your city and your fellow residents. No doubt you will take your share of abuse, because, as Honest Abe said (more or less), you can't please everybody all of the time. You won't be getting much money, but you will be paid $450 per month for being a councilperson, and normal travel expense. You'll be attending meetings frequently, but your employer is required by law to allow you time off for meetings if they are held during working hours.

If it sounds like a lot of work, it is. But there are some good things about being a part of city government too. You're going to get an education in the workings of the city in a hurry, and you're bound to, as Honest Abe said, more or less, please some of the people some of the time. Doing a good and honest job helping the people will be the best part of the job.

If you are at all interested in running for city office and have questions, feel free to call the City Administrator, Roger Delap, at 681-2943. He can answer your questions about exactly where the wards are and tell you whether or not you live in a particular ward, and any answer any other questions you might have. If you've thought about running before, I hope you'll give it another think this year. The best and brightest city council is a diverse one, and your presence on the council may be just what Thief River Falls needs to get everything sparking in the year 2000.

A 1932 Chevrolet one and one-half ton truck with dual wheels was recently donated to the Western Minnesota Steam Threshers Reunion by June Steiger of Moorhead and formerly of Thief River Falls. The truck had been restored by her late husband Maurice Steiger, a co-founder of the Steiger Tractor Company, who was killed in an airplane crash in 1991. The truck will be in the twice-daily parades at the 46th annual Steam Threshers Reunion at Rollag Friday through Sunday, September 3-6. The reunion boasts 70 acres of exhibits and demonstrations.

Down On The Farm

Eric Bergeson

Few annual events in this area are as much fun as the Steam Thresher's Reunion in Rollag. They still call it a reunion, although the number of people who remember real threshing is fast dwindling.

To those of us from up north, Rollag is no more than a bump on the road to the Cities. I don't know if you can even get gas there anymore.

But come Labor Day weekend, tens of thousands of people make a pilgrimage to the fields outside Rollag to watch as the mechanical dinosaurs hidden in the hills awake from hibernation to lumber around the grounds for a few days.

When they are fired up, the old steamers seem alive. They hiss and puff, then coast along without making a lot of noise. I can't imagine what it was like for people at the turn of the century to see one of those monsters coming down the road for the first time.

Look under the hood on a modern vehicle and you find an incomprehensible mass of wires and tubes. You have to have a degree from tech school to even begin to know what's happening.

But everything is out in the open on those old steamers. The gears, the chains, the coal, the firebox, the clickers and the clackers, the flywheels, nothing is under a hood. Even a mechanical idiot like myself can figure out what many of the parts were meant to do.

Today, famous inventors do things the average person can't appreciate. They write new software, or develop new chemicals and drugs. We normal people use their inventions, but we'll never figure out how they function. If they work, we're happy. If they don't, we shrug our shoulders and call up an expert.

But as the steamers go by at the parade in Rollag, one can not only watch the many parts at work, but you almost see the wheels spinning in the minds of the long-dead inventors as they try to outdo each other. One tractor will have a new gadget, which will be slightly improved on the next tractor, which will be made even better on a steamer down the row.

Those inventors were real show-offs. They were well aware that no hood would hide their work, so they built machines which not only did the job, but which were beautiful to watch at work.

They succeeded, if the crowds which flock to Rollag are any indication. No computer programmer will be lucky enough to have thousands of people mesmerized by his work decades after his death.

Feelings

The following poem and song are ways for your child to talk about his or her feelings.

My Feelings

Sometimes I feel happy.
Sometimes I feel sad.
Sometimes I feel silly.
Sometimes I feel mad.
I may not feel like you do
Every minute of the day.
But feelings are a part of me;
I'm glad I'm made that way.

Feelings, Feelings
(Tune: Daisy, Daisy)

Feelings, feelings,
Feelings are part of me.
I feel happy
Climbing my favorite tree.
But if I should skin my elbow
I might feel sad tomorrow
It isn't strange
When feelings change
That's what feelings are all about.

Feelings, feelings
Feelings are part of me.
I feel mad
When I have to eat my peas.
But if I should find a nickel;
I might feel really tickled.
It isn't strange.
When feelings change.
That what feelings are all about.

Check Out Safety Caps for All Prescriptions: Yours and Grandparents

A routine check of medication containers in households with young children is a must. All medicines should be out of the reach of children and prescription medicines must be stored in child-proof containers.

This caution is also a good idea for households where children visit frequently, including grandparents, friends, neighbors and other relatives.

Kids will be kids and those little bottles sometimes look so inviting. So, although grandparents may have to struggle to open the child-proof caps on their medications, the effort may save their grandchild's life.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Talk to your child about medicine. Tell him/her that they should take medicine only if you or a doctor has said that they need it and that you will give it to them when they need it. NEVER call medicine candy.

She taught ECFE for School District 564 for two years and from 1993 until recently, was a substitute teacher in the district. Her experience included filling several long-term substitute positions. In the summer of 1992 she was surprised and honored to be asked to participate in a professional exchange program to Russia and Eastern Europe. She was equally surprised when she was asked to go to China during the summer of 1994. "These were amazing, life-changing experiences," said Sather.

She is a poet, with some published work, and says she is fortunate to have some terrific piano students. She said she will deeply miss the children she knows in the public school system; however, she enthusiastically anticipates getting to know the students and staff at Our Saviour's Christian Academy and looks forward to a productive year.

SPEAKING OF . . .

email: lacour@spacestar.net

...Go For It

There's still time.

Have I heard you making dissatisfied sounds and grumbling about city government? There's still time to do something about it. There are four positions open on the city council this year, and you could run for one of them and get elected on November 2 and change city government as we know it. Couldn't you?

Wards 1, 3 and 5 are open this year, as well as an alderman-at-large position. Milt Burstad currently holds the Ward 1 position. This ward encompasses Main Street north and then east, over the river and through the woods to include the area of the college and east. Ward 3 is the southwest part of town, including the area around Arctco and Oakland Park Road. Dale Wennberg is the present councilman. Ward 5 councilman is Frank Hamerlinck. His ward is on the east side of town, along some of Merriam and then south and east across the highway to the river. Jean Heinrich's position of alderman-at-large is one that encompasses the entire city.

Who may run for offices? You must live in Wards 1, 3 or 5 to run for these particular council positions, but the alderman-at-large is a city-wide position and is open to any resident. Other requirements are that you must be eligible to vote in Minnesota, you are at least 21 years old, you have been a resident of the district for at least 30 days before the election (November 2), and you have only filed for one office in any election.

Filing for city council positions has been open since August 24, and will end September seventh. You must have your application in the City Administrator's office (at the Depot) by the seventh – not in the mail – but in the office. At the time you present your application, you will pay a filing fee of two dollars.

The Affidavit for Candidacy is a very simple form. You are asked to write your name, the office you seek and for which district, and your address. Your signature is to be notarized (signed before a Notary Public), which I am sure they have in the city offices, so you can just fill out the form right there.

There is another way to get on the ballot for the November election, and that is called "Candidacy by application of voters." According to Minnesota Statute 205.13, subd. 1, any five voters may file a petition on behalf of a candidate. So, if you know a good person you would like to be in on the city government, give it a shot. Before you go out and round up four other people to get your good friend Buddy on the council as a joke, however, you should know that you must present Buddy with a copy of the petition and he must sign it before you can file it. He may not think much of the joke and punch you in the nose with your petition. You'll also be responsible for the 2 dollar filing fee, by the way.

Now that you have a rather general idea of how it works, think it over (just don't take too long about it, though) and decide to run for one of the open positions. The main qualification you need to have is that you want to help your city and your fellow residents. No doubt you will take your share of abuse, because, as Honest Abe said (more or less), you can't please everybody all of the time. You won't be getting much money, but you will be paid $450 per month for being a councilperson, and normal travel expense. You'll be attending meetings frequently, but your employer is required by law to allow you time off for meetings if they are held during working hours.

If it sounds like a lot of work, it is. But there are some good things about being a part of city government too. You're going to get an education in the workings of the city in a hurry, and you're bound to, as Honest Abe said, more or less, please some of the people some of the time. Doing a good and honest job helping the people will be the best part of the job.

If you are at all interested in running for city office and have questions, feel free to call the City Administrator, Roger Delap, at 681-2943. He can answer your questions about exactly where the wards are and tell you whether or not you live in a particular ward, and any answer any other questions you might have. If you've thought about running before, I hope you'll give it another think this year. The best and brightest city council is a diverse one, and your presence on the council may be just what Thief River Falls needs to get everything sparking in the year 2000.

We normal people use their inventions, but we'll never figure out how they function. If they work, we're happy. If they don't, we shrug our shoulders and call up an expert.

But as the steamers go by at the parade in Rollag, one can not only watch the many parts at work, but you almost see the wheels spinning in the minds of the long-dead inventors as they try to outdo each other. One tractor will have a new gadget, which will be slightly improved on the next tractor, which will be made even better on a steamer down the row.

Those inventors were real show-offs. They were well aware that no hood would hide their work, so they built machines which not only did the job, but which were beautiful to watch at work.

They succeeded, if the crowds which flock to Rollag are any indication. No computer programmer will be lucky enough to have thousands of people mesmerized by his work decades after his death.

Feelings

The following poem and song are ways for your child to talk about his or her feelings.

My Feelings

Sometimes I feel happy.
Sometimes I feel sad.
Sometimes I feel silly.
Sometimes I feel mad.
I may not feel like you do
Every minute of the day
But feelings are a part of me;
I'm glad I'm made that way

Feelings, Feelings
(Tune: Daisy, Daisy)

Feelings, feelings,
Feelings are part of me.
I feel happy
Climbing my favorite tree.
But if I should skin my elbow
I might feel sad tomorrow.
It isn't strange
When feelings change
That's what feelings are all about.

Feelings, feelings
Feelings are part of me.
I feel mad
When I have to eat my peas.
But if I should find a nickel;
I might feel really tickled.
It isn't strange
When feelings change.
That what feelings are all about.

Check Out Safety Caps for All Prescriptions: Yours and Grandparents

A routine check of medication containers in households with young children is a must. All medicines should be out of the reach of children and prescription medicines must be stored in child-proof containers.

This caution is also a good idea for households where children visit frequently, including grandparents, friends, neighbors and other relatives.

Kids will be kids and those little bottles sometimes look so inviting. So, although grandparents may have to struggle to open the child-proof caps on their medications, the effort may save their grandchild's life.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Talk to your child about medicine. Tell him/her that they should take medicine only if you or a doctor has said that they need it and that you will give it to them when they need it. NEVER call medicine candy.

Lawmakers ask FEMA for reconsideration of state request

Minnesota's Congressional delegation has joined in a request to the Federal Emergency Management Agency to reconsider its denial of federal assistance for northwestern Minnesota counties hit by severe storms this past spring.

U.S. Senators Rod Grams and Paul Wellstone and U.S. Representative Collin Peterson sent a letter to FEMA director James Lee Witt calling the denial decision unfair.

Gov. Jesse Ventura had requested the declaration for Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau counties. FEMA denied the request, saying that state and local governments were able to effectively meet known emergency needs.

A number of North Dakota counties were granted disaster designation earlier. "These counties in Minnesota were affected by the same severe storm that hit several contiguous counties in North Dakota," the letter to Witt stated. "As the storm did not recognize the state line, the damages to these communities, farms, roads and rural electric cooperatives were virtually identical."

The delegation also pointed out that northwest Minnesota has been extremely vulnerable to major flooding due to winter storms and that crops have been severely damaged by disease.

"Forced to endure major floods year after year, farm families continue to suffer from depressed prices, had growing conditions and increased expenses," Sen. Wellstone said. "The wet weather this year has just been terrible. Combined with the abysmal state of the farm economy, there is no question in my mind that federal assistance is sorely needed for the six-county area. These difficult conditions have taken their toll on the people of northwestern Minnesota."

"The Minnesotans I visited earlier this month in the northwestern part of the state have dedicated the last two years to recovering from severe flooding in three of the last four years," Sen. Grams wrote. "Most, if not all, cannot afford another recovery cycle without some measure of assistance from the federal government. I hope that this appeal is granted, and soon."

Bells to ring memories of WWII treaty

America's churches, mosques, temples and synagogues are being asked to ring their bells for a full minute at 9:04 a.m. Thursday, September 2, to mark the anniversary of the moment in 1945 that representatives of the Japanese government signed the surrender treaty aboard the USS Missouri, officially ending World War II.

American Legion National Commander Butch Miller has asked for the tribute to honor the memory of America's patriots of the Second World War. The message has been relayed through the various local American Legion posts throughout the nation.

"World War II was our century's defining moment," Commander Miller said. "A pause to mark the war's ending must become our nation's moment of national reflection and thanksgiving.

"More than 16 million Americans departed their families, set aside personal ambitions and fought for freedom in World War II," he continued. "These men and women represented all social and ethnic backgrounds. All of them, and particularly the more than 400,000 men and women who made the supreme sacrifice by giving their lives, are worthy of a minute of our time.

"Our houses of worship can play a major role in reminding Americans of the enormous contributions of America's greatest generation," Miller said.

Vernon Lee of Ecklund-Holmstrom Post 117 in Thief River Falls has made the request of local churches which have bells.

"When you hear bells ringing on Thursday morning," he said, "take a moment to reflect on those who served their country in World War II and made freedom more secure for all of us."

Lawful gambling taxes continue to be reduced

"With a sales tax rebate, a cut in the income tax rate, direct relief payments to farmers and significant agricultural property tax cuts, this past legislative session has truly been a memorable one," states Sen. LeRoy Stumpf of Thief River Falls.

"However, issues like a tax reduction for lawful gambling—also known as charitable gambling—have made only slow progress this year."

Stumpf said he has been supportive of cutting these taxes and had authored a bill to reduce the rates by 50 percent, and that he appreciated calls and letters by people urging reduction of the taxes. After working with other senators, he had expected to achieve at least a 20 to 25 percent cut.

"Like many folks, I was disappointed that these taxes were only cut by five percent this year," he said. "I know that many lawful gambling organizations were counting on a larger reduction. However, with so much pressure to provide substantial income tax cuts and a rebate of the state budget surplus, there was limited revenue available for other types of tax reductions. Since the great bulk of tax reduction dollars were put into the income tax cut, we should be glad to have this five percent reduction."

Stumpf said that all of the tax reductions passed by the legislature, including the charitable gambling tax cut, went into effect July 1. More of the money being raised by local charitable organizations from pull-tab and tipboard sales will stay in the communities in which they are raised. Combined with a five percent reduction passed last year, this year's cut means nearly $5.4 million more per year remains with the various community organizations operating charitable gambling.

"It seems foolish to me that the state should take such a large bite out of money raised for charitable purposes," Sen. Stumpf said. "I'm not done working on this issue. No matter how long it takes, we must further reduce this tax.

"To those who either take part in charitable gambling or those who operate the games, I applaud you and the efforts of your organizations for supporting various charities," he continued. "It is people like you and your organizations that make our communities and the state of Minnesota a better place to live."

The senator said he will continue to press for further reductions in charitable gambling taxes during next year's legislative session. State policy should make it easier for community organizations to help contribute to a better quality of life in Minnesota, he said.

Clara Johnson, 91

Thief River Falls - Clara Johnson, 91, died Monday, August 30, 1999 at the Warroad Care Center in Warroad.

She married Arthur Spilde in Kittson county and worked as a nurse at the Hallock Hospital for several years.

In December of 1945 she was united in marriage to Helge Johnson at Hallock. Clara worked as a registered nurse in the CNC unit at Northwest Medical Center until her retirement. Helge died on August 2, 1998.

Clara enjoyed doing things for others. She lived at Valley Home in Thief River Falls from 1992 until 1999 and recently moved to the Warroad Care Center to be near her niece, Betty Erickson.

Rep. Peterson applauds action

Recent decision by the United States Trade Representative's (USTR) office to request "consultations" with the government of Canada regarding regulations and practices affecting sport fishing on Lake of the Woods has been applauded by Congressman Collin Peterson of Detroit Lakes.

The consultations are the next step in the section 301 investigation that USTR initiated on April 29.

"I'm glad to see Ambassador Barshefsky take up this cause on behalf of my constituents, and all other Americans who currently suffer sport fishing discrimination at the hands of the Canadians," he said.

"I am hopeful that this forceful action by the USTR's office will leave no doubt on the other side of the border that we are serious abut this case, and will help bring about a swift and equitable resolution to this long standing dispute."

Since 1994, Congressman Peterson explained, the Ontario government has limited the number of fish that can be caught and kept by fishermen who are not also lodging on the Ontario side of the lakes that straddle the U.S.-Canada boundary. "As a result," he said, "these regulations unfairly discriminate against U.S. resort owners, fishing guides and other businesses tied to sportfishing—as well as the fishermen themselves.

"I became involved in this situation a few years ago when some of the resort owners at the Northwest Angle brought it to my attention. Gary Deitzler, Paul Evans, Rick Carlson, Paul and Celeste Colson and others deserve a lot of the credit for developing the understanding and support necessary to get the USTR to take up the cause."

Peterson said he has been in regular contact with officials of the Ontario provincial government and the Canadian government and has told them that this issue needs to be addressed.

"The lakes are shared resources between the U.S. and Canada and as such should be managed cooperatively for the benefit of citizens of both countries. Where someone spends the night should have nothing to do with how many fish they can keep," he said.

The consultation request is the opening step prescribed pursuant to Chapter 20, Article 2006 of the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA).

Provided by the Social Security District Office in Grand Forks, ND

Q. Can my stepchildren receive Social Security through my record?

A. Stepchildren can receive SSA benefits through the retirement, survivors or disability aspects of Social Security just like any other child assuming they meet the usual requirements and also assuming that the duration of marriage and support requirements are met.

Q. Is it true that sending my check directly to the bank is cheaper than getting it by mail?

A. Depositing your check electronically saves the government a lot of money, and it is also much safer and more convenient for you. According to recent information, the Treasury Department saves about 28 cents on each government payment that is sent electronically instead of by mail. Overall, savings are huge, considering the number of government programs and other checks sent each month.

As of April 1999, approximately 75 percent of all Social Security Administration payments are made electronically. This percentage will continue to increase as the vast majority of all new Social Security beneficiaries, about 92 percent, elect to use direct deposit.

The agency encourages the use of direct deposit because clients have far fewer missing check problems with direct deposit instead of mailed payments. Also, the few problems that do occur are usually easier to correct than when mailed checks are involved.

You can sign up for direct deposit at the financial institution of your choice or directly with Social Security. SSA representatives at the national toll free number, 1-800-772-1213, can take care of it for you. You will need to know your SSA claim number, the electronic routing number of your bank and your bank account number. This information can be found on your check blanks but not on a deposit slip.

Q. My dad died last month, and I know that the Social Security check deposited to his checking account is not due. How should its return be handled?

A. A person must be alive throughout the entire month to be eligible for the retirement benefit. In other words, a person dying during the month, even on the last day, is not due payment for that month. Social Security checks are paid after the month is completed so the payment received in August is for July.

Returning to your question, the family should not have to do anything. The Treasury Department has a process called reclamation by which Social Security or Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payments made after the death of a client are automatically deducted from the bank account of the deceased on behalf of Social Security if the funds were deposited by direct deposit. Although it is not as easy, a similar process between the Treasury Department and the bank where the check was cashed also exists if a paper SSA or SSI check was involved.

Best Western Inn in Thief River Falls received a More Progress Award from the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce Ambassadors recently. The Best Western received the award after it remodeled its lounge area. The remodeled lounge area now includes a disc jockey booth, bigger dance floor and laser light show. The disc jockey spins records Wednesday through Saturday. Karaoke is held every Tuesday night. The Best Western Lounge features many theme nights. Last week, the theme was Beach Bash. Gas prices not keeping people home

A near-record number of Americans are expected to travel this Labor Day weekend in spite of gas prices that have soared 8 cents since last month and 18 cents since Labor Day 1998, according to AAA.

The average price of unleaded, self-serve gasoline is $1.25 per gallon nationwide, 8 cents higher than in July. A year ago, the pre-Labor Day average price was $1.07.

"This, the second major increase in gas prices this year, has sent the average price of gasoline to its highest level since October 1997," said Barb Buchholz, spokesperson, AAA Minnesota and Iowa. The first dramatic spike came in April, when gas prices jumped 18 cents after the announcement of an OPEC agreement to limit production.

In Minnesota, the average price is $1.22, 11 cents more than in July when the average price in was $1.11 per gallon. Last year, Minnesota motorists spent $1.06 to fill their tanks. In 1997, they spent $1.28 per gallon; and in 1996, they spent $1.27.

The national average prices for self-serve regular unleaded gasoline in AAA's pre-Labor Day survey for the last five years were: 1998, $1.07 per gallon; 1997, $1.26; 1996, $1.25; 1995, $1,18; and 1994, $1.20.

AAA's Fuel Gauge Report is based on data from Oil Price Information Service - the nation's most comprehensive source of petroleum pricing information (800) 929-4824, ext. 2645.

Americans to travel in near-record numbers.

An estimated 34.8 million Americans are expected to travel 100 miles or more from home this Labor Day holiday - the second highest total ever, according to AAA.

That figure represents an increase of nearly 2 percent over a year ago. The record for Labor Day weekend is 34.9 million in 1997.

"This has been a busy summer for travelers," said Buchholz. "A strong economy, low unemployment and minimal increases in vacation costs have led consumers - in high numbers - to plan vacations this year."

Approximately 29.2 million will go by automobile, light truck or recreational vehicle, up 1 percent from last year's 29 million motorists. Holiday travel by air, bus, rail or ship is expected to reach 5.6 million, an increase of nearly 6 percent compared to last Labor Day.

In the Midwest* 5.6 million people will be traveling by auto/truck/RV, or 11 percent of the population, a figure that is consistent with the number of people traveling last year.

* Midwest figures include West North Central states: Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota; and West South Central states: Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas.

A majority of travelers - 23 percent - plan to visit cities, with another 20 percent going to towns or rural areas and 19 percent visiting oceans or beaches.

Other popular destinations include mountains, 14 percent; lakes, eight percent; state or national parks, five percent; theme or amusement parks, two percent; and other, three percent. Another six percent had not yet determined their destination.

proud to sponsor this essay and speaking contest each year," states Gary E. Klemetson, commander of Post 2793. "It is an excellent exercise in citizenship and communication and encourages students to give serious thought to our country and its future. We are pleased to offer cash prizes of $50 for first place, $35 for second place and $25 for third place in each school in which our post sponsors the contest."

To enter the Voice of Democracy contest, students write an essay on the contest theme and record their presentation of it on tape. The tapes and written essays are submitted for judging, either within the schools or by the sponsoring post. Tapes and themes by school contest winners are also submitted to the post for advancement to district competition where additional prizes may be earned.

District winners advance to the department (state) level for judging and the state winner advances to national competition. Scholarships are offered to winners at state and national levels.

Details on how to enter and a list of the new deadlines for the contest are included in the informational booklets sent to school administrators. If the contest is not mentioned in school classes or posted in the school, students may request information from the high school office.

Cindy Waterworth promoted to Police Lt. in New Mexico

A veteran of 22 years in law enforcement, Cindy Waterworth of Newfolden was recently promoted from Sergeant to Lieutenant with the police department in Santa Fe, NM, where she has served for the past 11 years, including the past eight years as Sergeant.

With her new rank she has been placed in charge of the evidence section and the fleet/property section of the police department.

Her last assignment prior to the promotion was over the traffic division where she was in charge of all motorcycle officers and was the first female in the history of the Santa Fe Police Department to be assigned to ride a motorcycle.

Prior to working in the traffic division, Lt. Waterworth worked as the Detective Sergeant in charge of violent crimes. She has also worked in accreditation, assisting in preparing the department to become an accredited police department.

Most of her time as a Sergeant, however, was spent "having fun" on a patrol team.

Lt. Waterworth is a graduate of the University of North Dakota with a bachelor of science degree in criminal justice. She began her law enforcement career in Stillwater, OK, as that department's first female police officer.

After moving to New Mexico, she worked for the New Mexico State University Police Department in Las Cruces, then spent some time as a federal investigator for the Office of Personnel Management in Los Alamos, NM.

Lt. Waterworth resides south of Santa Fe where she enjoys working with her Arabian horses during her non-duty days. Recently she and her mother, Eunice Waterworth of Newfolden, took a trip to Sweden where they visited relatives and saw the area where her grandfather was born and raised.

Lt. Waterworth returns to Newfolden nearly every year to visit family and friends. She was the subject of a Thief River Falls Times feature a number of years ago after being shot in the face with a .38 caliber handgun at point-blank range while on patrol duty in Las Cruces.

Cindy lost most of the vision in her right eye due to damage from the bullet. Her assailant, who served a jail term for the shooting, has since been deported.

Cindy Weterworth, formerly of Newfolden, was promoted to Lieutenent recently in the Sente Fe, NM, police department.

Swanson earns MS degree; seeks doctorate

Kelly Swanson, son of Van and Deanna Swanson of Thief River Falls, received his degree of Master of Science in Nutritional Sciences from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign on August 9.

He is currently enrolled in the Division of Nutritional Sciences at the University of Illinois as a Ph.D. student and continues to receive a half-time assistantship with tuition waivers.

Kelly's Ph.D. research will focus on the health benefits of fiber and its role in companion animal diets.

Heart ailments main cause for hospitalization in area

In northwest Minnesota, residents were more likely to be hospitalized for heart ailments in 1998 than for any other cause, according to a new report released by the Minnesota Hospital and Healthcare Partnership (MHHP).

Nearly 22 percent of people hospitalized in northwest Minnesota suffered from diseases of the circulatory system, such as heart attacks, hypertension and pulmonary heart disease.

Rounding out the top five causes for hospitalization were diseases of the digestive system (13 percent), respiratory problems (12 percent), injury and poisoning (11 percent) and complications of pregnancies (six percent).

This is the second year that state and regional hospitalization data has been made available by MHHP. The information is collected through a collaborative effort of local public health agencies, the Minnesota Department of Health and MHHP.

Health care officials throughout the state now have the opportunity to compare statistics from previous years to pinpoint trends of why local residents are admitted to a hospital. Available online at the MHHP Web site, hospitalization data can be used to augment birth and death statistics provided yearly by the Minnesota Department of Health. The report offers insight to hospitals and public health officials, providing age group statistics such as the five leading causes for hospitalization and the number of admissions and discharges in various health care categories by county, region and overall state statistics.

"This information allows health care officials to take a deeper look into their communities to determine causes for hospitalizations. These reports should be used as the backbone for community health planning across Minnesota," said Bruce Rueben, president of MHHP.

The Internet site contains regional and statewide data which can be contrasted with and compared to other like regions. Public health officials use the information to determine courses of action to provide more comprehensive care for certain diseases, or how to stem the tide of high hospitalization rates for specific causes.

To access the information, dial http://www.mhhp.com and click on the "Data and Information Services" icon. Then choose "Community Health Reports" under the section titled "Data Collection and Reporting."

Pioneers edge Raiders 28-26

■ NCTC beats Central Lakes in football opener

Freshman runningback Scott Olsen carried the ball 33 times for 295 yards and three touchdowns Saturday as Northland opened the 1999 football season with a 28-26 Minnesota Community College Conference win over Central Lakes in Brainerd.

It was the first time the Pioneers defeated Central Lakes, or opened the season by beating anybody, since 1994. They actually did register a season-opening victory in 1995, but it didn't come until after the season was completed when it was discovered that Worthington had used an ineligible player and was forced to forfeit what had been a win.

Olsen, a 5-9, 245 pounder from Hillsboro, ND, had an impressive college debut. His busy afternoon included touchdown runs of 2, 67 and 1 yard. "Scott had some long runs," noted Northland coach Dan Willoughby. "He's 240, and if he gets through the line, he runs right over defensive backs."

Olsen's efforts offset the numbers racked up by Central Lakes' Shawn Nelson, who carried 20 times for 212 yards and three touchdowns (62, 67, 18 yards). In contrast to Olsen's power, Nelson was a shifty runner who made people miss tackles.

After a scoreless first quarter, the two teams combined for five second quarter touchdowns – all of them by Olsen and Nelson. Olsen scored from two yards out on the first play of the period to get it started, only to have Nelson response moments later with his 67-yard breakaway. By the time halftime arrived, Central Lakes had a 20-14 edge.

Northland came back to go ahead 28-20 in the third quarter as Olsen scored on a 1-yard run and Kelly Fossum, a sophomore from Thief River Falls, caught a 23-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Ben Mosack, a freshman from Motley.

A 19-yard touchdown pass from Central Lakes quarterback Luke Milsop to Matt Sletten early in the fourth quarter completed the scoring.

"We played hard," said Willoughby. "We had a few more turnovers than I would have liked, but there were no letdowns. They played hard for a full 60 minutes."

The Pioneers out-gained the Raiders 411-292 in total yardage. Behind Olsen, Northland rushed for 362 yards. Mosack was 5-for-10 passing with no interceptions, good for 49 yards.

Place kicker Ryan Polzin, a freshman from Isanti, became a major factor in the outcome by going 4-for-4 in the extra-point department. Central Lakes, on the other hand, scored on just one of four conversion attempts. Nelson added a two-pointer after his third touchdown, but the Raiders missed a kick, came up short on a run and threw an incomplete pass on the other tries.

Defensively, free safety Mark Bessmann, a sophomore from Hibbing, had a strong game, pointed out Willoughby, with 11 tackles and an interception.

Northland was the only Northern Division team to pick up a win against a Southern Division opponent on the opening weekend of the MCCC season. The Pioneers will make their home debut Saturday with a 1:30 p.m. game against Fergus Falls at Prowler Field. The Spartans beat Hibbing in Week 1. It'll be Parent's Day and the annual Pepsi Bowl designation, with fans receiving free Pepsi products as they enter the gate.

Prowlers face new opponent

A new opponent awaits Thief River Falls Friday when the Prowlers open the 1999 high school football season with a 7 p.m. game at Spring Lake Park.

Thief River Falls last played a football game in the Twin Cities area in 1973 when the Prowlers lost a 15-14 decision to Fridley. That was the only meeting between the two teams. This time a two-year, home-and-home contract will have Spring Lake Park coming to Thief River Falls next fall.

Spring Lake Park and Thief River Falls are both Class AAAA football schools, but the Panthers are at the upper level of the enrollment bracket with 984 students in grades 10-12, while Thief River Falls is one of the smallest schools in the group with an enrollment of 553, according to the latest figures used by the Minnesota State High School League.

The Panthers' edge in size will also carry over on to the football field, according to Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm, who said earlier this will be the smallest team he has fielded in his 15 years at the school. "They (Panthers) have good size," he warned. "They're big and physical. We don't expect them to run anything fancy, they play a pretty basic, aggressive, physical style of ball. Physically, we just don't match up with them. We're just not a very big football team."

An even bigger problem for the Prowlers will be the fact that Panthers also have talent to go with the size. "I would be very surprised," said Mumm, "if they aren't among the top five teams in the state when the rankings come out this week. For sure, they will be in the top ten."

But that doesn't mean the Prowlers can't be competitive. "I think we can be a pest on defense," noted Mumm. "We'll have to gamble. We'll take some chances. We will try to be aggressive. We'll make some plays, but we'll give up some big plays, too, if we gamble and guess wrong."

Offensively, the Prowlers will again be at a disadvantage physically, pointed out Mumm. "We're just not that big up front," he said. "We'll have to execute."

Mumm declined to name a starting line-up as the final week of pre-season drills got underway. A big concern was the status of senior Mike Dowers and junior Ben Myers, who are both fullback-linebackers. Dowers has a shoulder problem and Myers has been bothered by a hip injury. "We need to have those two kids in the line-up," said Mumm. "They are both tough, physical players. For us to be successful, we need them on the football field."

The coaching staff got a look at the Prowlers in game-like situations Saturday during the annual Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Pigskin Preview. "It was a typical scrimmage," pointed out Mumm. "We had a chance to play a lot of kids. I thought it went pretty well. We got into the end zone quite a few times, and we did some good things on defense."

Thief River Falls will follow the trip to Spring Lake Park with another long drive the following week when the Prowlers drive to Hibbing for a Sept. 10 match-up with the Bluejackets. The 1999 Thief River Falls home opener will be Sept. 17 vs. Crookston.

Early goose hunt starts Saturday

Goose hunters in northwest Minnesota will join the rest of the state this fall with the area's first-ever early season Canada goose hunt, scheduled Sept. 4-15. The Northwest Goose Zone includes all of Kittson County, most of Marshall and Pennington counties, and portions of Roseau, Red Lake and Polk counties.

Early September goose hunts are aimed at controlling local populations of giant Canada geese around the state. In many rural areas, rapidly expanding populations have caused severe crop depredation problems.

"In the past, the northwest area of Minnesota has not had the severity of goose depredation problems as experienced in other portions of the state where September goose hunts were established several years ago," said John Williams, a Minnesota Department of Natural Resources area wildlife manager in Thief River Falls. "By including the Northwest Goose Zone in this year's early hunt, we hope to keep local goose populations at levels that do not result in severe crop depredation in the future."

Bag limit for the September hunt will be two Canada geese per day, and four in possession. Hunters may not take geese within 100 yards of surface water. Because this is a new hunt, the DNR will set up goose check stations at several locations within the zone to collect data on the subspecies of Canada geese being harvested. During the first three seasons, data from the check stations will be used to determine the proportion of local geese and migrant geese harvested during the September season.

The check station procedure only takes a few minutes. Some of the stations will be self-serve, where hunters can just drop off the appropriate parts of their geese. At other sites, wildlife workers will determine the age and sex of each goose, and measure the size of the bill and the length of a central tail feather, to determine if it is a Minnesota-grown, giant Canada goose, or the smaller subspecies that fly in from Canada during the fall migration.

"Examining the ends of the central tail feathers for the presence of a little V-notch indicates whether the goose was hatched this year," explained Steve Maxson, goose specialist with the DNR Wetland Wildlife Populations and Research Group in Bemidji. "Knowing the age and sex of the bird, you can then determine if it is a giant Canada goose, or the smaller subspecies, by measuring the size of the bill and the length of a central tail feather."

"The reason the Northwest Zone was originally established was to lower the harvest of migrant geese from the Eastern Prairie Population in Canada," explained Maxson. "During the new season, hunters will be allowed to harvest either subspecies, but the intent of the early season is to encourage the harvest of local, giant Canada geese before the smaller subspecies from the EPP begin arriving in Minnesota."

According to Maxson, the first EPP geese begin showing up in northwest Minnesota around the middle of September, and for that reason, the Northwest season will close Sept. 15 – one week earlier than the rest of the state.

Hunter participation at goose check stations is voluntary. However, hunters are strongly encouraged to present their geese in order to provide good management data. In the Northwest Zone, every hunter who checks in during the September hunt will have his or her name entered into a raffle for several prizes donated by local businesses and sportsman's groups. At the end of the September season a drawing will be held to determine the winners.

Geese harvested in the Northwest Zone can be checked in at any site where a check station is located. For hunters on or in the vicinity of the Thief Lake or Roseau River wildlife management areas, check-in will be at the WMA headquarters.

Other check station locations include Petro Pumper in Thief River Falls, Express Mart in Newfolden, Goodridge Hartz Store, Gatzke Country Store, Roseau County Coop Association in Badger, Boze's Cenex C-Store in Greenbush, Cenex Coop Services in Hallock, Bernstrom Oil in Lancaster, and the DNR area wildlife offices in Karlstad and Crookston.

Hunters are reminded that a special $3 dollar permit is required for the September hunt, in addition to the regular small game license and stamps needed to hunt waterfowl. The permit and stamps are available at county auditor's offices and most license vendors. The use of selected blinds within the controlled hunting zones at the Roseau River and Thief Lake wildlife management areas will be allowed on a first-come, first-served basis. Open blinds will be posted at the access points, or information can be obtained by contacting the WMA headquarters.

All questions regarding the September goose hunt and hunting on state WMAs may be directed to local area DNR wildlife managers in Thief River Falls, 218-681-0946; Thief Lake WMA, 218-222-3747; Karlstad, 218-436-2427; Roseau River WMA, 218-463-1557; and Crookston, 218-281-6063.

GREENBUSH RACE PARK

by Bob Hultgren

Greenbush Race Park wrapped up its 1999 season Friday with the Season Finale and annual awards presentation. A good number of fans and racers stayed after the races to enjoy a free late night lunch provided by the park, and to take part in the presentation of points plaques for first, second and third place finishers in each of the five classes of cars at the Greenbush facility.

In the Wissota Modifieds, Nolan Olmstead of Badger led the feature from start to about one foot from the finish line. Olmstead ran strong but was unable to stay ahead of the hard-charging Greg Ferris of Emo, ON. Ferris ran second the entire race, until he made a move coming out of Turn Four on the final lap to literally nose out Olmstead at the finish line. Terry Blacklance of Thief River Falls had his strongest run of the year in the third position.

Olmstead was the Modified champion with 596 points, followed by Shannon Gust of Strathcona with 577 and Gary Johnson of Karlstad 569.

Wissota Super Stock feature was won by Dean Wensloff of Wannaska, who led flag-to-flag. Along the way, several racers took a shot, but were unable to pass the No. 88 car. Gordie Lancaster of Bemidji finished in second with Bob Shafer of Bemidji in third.

Third place was enough to give Shafer a one-point margin of victory in the points race over Dean Forst of Thief River Falls, 603-602. Forst was involved in an incident on Lap 9 of the feature race, which damaged his car's radiator. He would run one more lap, but then sit and watch as Shafer locked up the championship. Julie Osowski of Drayton, ND finish third in the points race with 567.

Roger Fiola of Ste. Anne, MB locked up the season points championship in the Super Sport Class by running flag-to-flag for the final night feature win. Dan Gregoire of Ste. Anne was second and Rod Peterson of Thief River Falls finished third. Fiola claimed the points crown with a 655-642 margin of victory over second place Dave Meyer of Thief River Falls. Peterson finished third in the points race at 630.

Richard Jacobson of Wannaska finished ahead of Jade Fredrickson of Stephen in both the heat and feature event – just what Jacobson needed to win the Outlaw Street points title. Jacobson led most of the way, followed by Bryon Berger of Badger in second and Fredrickson in third. The win gave Jacobson 653 points and a one point margin of victory over Fredrickson. Corey Omdahl of Salol wrapped up a consistent year by finishing third in the points race with 612.

Robbi Peterson of Middle River raced to the Mini-Sprints feature win, leading flag-to-flag over a small field of cars. LeMar Rantanen of Thief River Falls finished second, with Shawn Bugge of Thief River Falls in third.

Merreck Hietala of Badger was kept out of victory lane all season, but had consistent runs each week to win the Mini-Sprints title with 565 points. Cory Olson of Roseau finished second with 551 points, and Peterson was third at 520. The first and second place points finish made things exciting Friday night. Hietala damaged his car when he flipped during the opening heat of the night. Olson was running second through nine laps of the feature when he got sideways and tumbled his car. Neither driver was injured.

Four of the five points winners – Olmstead, Shafer, Jacobson and Hietala – sport the No. 4 on the side of their car. Fiola's No. 33 was the only exception to the winning number. A total of 132 different racers competed this summer at the track.

Greenbush Race Park also presented its 1999 Rookie-of-the-Year award to Wissota Modified racer, Richie Berger of Badger. Berger finished the season fifth overall in the modified points standings.

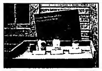
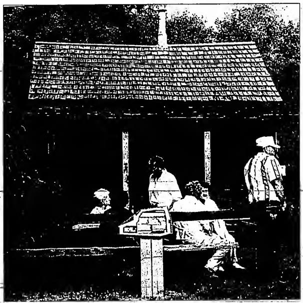
Visiting Old Mill State Park's mill . . .



◀ Several plaques and displays explain how the Larson mill works at Old Mill State Park.

Thousands of visitors stop by the Larson Mill in Old Mill State Park each year. Last weekend was the one time a year that the steam engine is fired up and put into operation.



Visitors to Grinding Day at Old Mill State Park gathered in front of a cabin similar to the one used by the Larsons when the grist mill was in operation. Once a year, the steam engine is fired up. Last weekend, the old grist mill was in operation.

Grain funneled onto the grinding stones at the grist mill in Old Mill State Park near Warren is ground into flour, middling or bran. Once a year the steam engine is fired up and used again.

Horse-drawn wagon rides were available to individuals attending Grinding Day at Old Mill State Park last weekend. A number of activities were held that weekend, including operation of the Larson Mill.

More than 600 people attended Grinding Day Sunday, August 29, at Old Mill State Park west of Newfolden, according to Mary Broten, park manager.

Also included in the day's activities was dedication at noon of the new entrance sign created by artist Jeff Kreitz of Cross Lake, who was present for the dedication. The sign uses cedar, Core-10 steel and lettering of stainless steel to identify the park entrance with the Old Mill State Park name. Some 300 feet of welding rod was used to create the sign. A grant through the state arts board provided funds for the project.

Volunteers operating the mill and handling related duties during the flour grinding from 1 to 4 p.m. were Kent Broten and Darlene Bruten, Viking; David and Betty Conely, Derwin and Pauline Broten and Delvin Potucek, Warren; Ward Sinn, Thief River Falls; Dennis Hjelle and Ed Soares, Newfolden.

Power to turn the mill stones was provided by Cast Steam Engine No. 359 built in 1878 and restored in 1958 by local volunteers.

Members of the Marshall County Historical Society sold fresh ground flour and bran at the site. Ethel Thorlacius of Stephen, curator of the Marshall County Historical Society museum at Warren, helped visitors make butter in the antique butter churn at the mill site and shared stories from the past.

Viking Volcanoes 4-H club members raised money for their community pride project by serving roasted corn on the cob, hotdogs, frybread and doughnuts along with home-made ice cream, root beer floats, bars and soft drinks.

Park naturalist Renee Neys of Warren, who also serves as naturalist for Lake Bronson and Hayes Lake State Parks, led an interpretive nature hike in the morning and a children's activity on cattail crafts at the mill site in the afternoon.

Horse-drawn wagon rides were provided by three teams of horses driven by volunteers Cliff Schultz of Euclid, Daryl Johnson, Middle Dan and Jan Vigstol, Jennie, Monica and Blake Riebe of Cedar and St. Francis were house guests of the Byers from Friday night until Sunday afternoon. They had come to attend the Malwitz reunion held at Plummer Hall on Saturday and Sunday.

Mike and Sandy Greenwald drove to Jamestown, North Dakota on Thursday and were overnight guests of daughter Cheryl and Jeremy Schlale.

North Dakota Trip

Wavell and Lloyd Sorenson accompanied Tony and Virginia Weber of Trail to North Dakota, leaving on Friday. They traveled to Dickenson the first day and stayed with Virginia's cousin Cecilia and attended the musical at Medora that night. On Saturday they visited Bob and Gert Marty and then headed for Minot, stopping at Garrison Dam. They visited with Lee and Jean Vigstol on their farm northwest of Minot and went on to Rolette where they were overnight guests of Virginia's brother Fillmore and Joyce Agnes. On Sunday they visited with Virginia's mother Josephine Agnes before going on to the Peace Gardens and returning home that night.

Malwitz Reunion

The annual Malwitz reunion was held in Plummer the weekend of August 13-15 with about 150 attending. Theresa Avelsgaard, Crystal Martell and Fern Hesse were in charge. Friday night they were at the Legion Club rooms where they met and got reacquainted. Saturday's entertainment included games, the Boy Scout Train rides for the children, face painting and horseback rides when Floyd and his two daughters Bonnie and Diane rode in on Bonnie's horses. A Saturday night supper was served with a pork roast supervised by Doug Martell and a turkey grilled by Jay Martell - plus all the trimmings. A program ended the evening which was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Sunday morning breakfast was served with many people attending. A Sunday morning devotional service was held at 10:30 led by Fern Hesse with Dan Vigstol leading the singing after which they left for their homes. Attending were relatives from South Dakota, California, Wyoming, Minneapolis-St. Paul area, Rochester, Blue Earth, Alexandria, Fosston and many local areas plus Arizona. It was a great success and enjoyed by all.

Lila (Malwitz) Brekko of Mesa, Arizona arrived on Thursday to attend and help with the Malwitz reunion and to visit relatives and friends. She stayed with her niece Theresa Avelsgaard in Crookston.

Diane Grinde spent the weekend at her parents Floyd and Fern Hesse and also helped with the reunion.

LeAnn Nelson from Diamonds and Designs was the special featured guest. Donna Barrett sang two very nice songs and Ann Henzlik of Chisago City was the speaker. Our next meeting will be held on September 21, 1999. For reservations in the Plummer area please call Kathy Juneau at 465-4246.

Community Club Picnic

There was a good turn-out on Sunday in the Plummer Park for the annual picnic. The day was cool and breezy but tarps were available for shelter. Everyone brought food and our president Don Fox presided over the grill as he and others grilled hamburgers to go along with the potluck food. A good time was had by all.

River and Tom Blazejewski of Newfolden. The wagons traveled along the park roads and over park trails from the picnic area to the mill site and many people took advantage of the service.

Old Mill State Park will be open year around but services and facilities will be reduced after the Labor Day holiday. The 26-site campground will be closed until Memorial Day of 2000 and office hours will be reduced due to funding shortfalls, manager Broten said. Visitors are asked to self-register if the office is closed.

The seven miles of hiking trails and a self-guided nature trail will remain open and visitors may still fish in the Middle River which flows through the park. During the winter visitors will find 6.5 miles of cross-country ski trails, 1.5 miles of groomed snowmobile trail, a sliding hill near the picnic area and a warming shelter.

The park is located 13 miles east of Argyle on County Road 4, 12 miles west of Newfolden on County Roads 28 and 4, or 17 miles northeast of Warren on County Road 3.

A vehicle permit ($4 daily or $20 season) is required to enter Minnesota State Parks and is available at the park office.

Our community sadly lost a lifelong resident on Monday, July 26. Oliver Holstad passed away after a lengthy stay in the CNC Unit in Thief River Falls. The funeral was held at Oak Park Lutheran Church of rural Oklee on Thursday, July 29, with Rev. Rolf Preus of River Heights Lutheran Church, East Grand Forks, officiating. Interment was in the Clearwater Church Cemetery. Oliver is sadly missed by his many friends and relatives. May his memory be blessed.

Larissa and Brett Chervestad, children of Kim and Barb, attended Bible camp in Minong, Wisconsin from August 1-6. The family then motored to Blaine to spend the weekend with Ramona Bush and attend the Cook family reunion on Saturday in Farmington. Juell and Annabelle Chervestad also motored to Blaine for the weekend. Monday was spent at Valleyfair in Shakopee, and they returned home on Tuesday.

The Sparley family returned home from a well-deserved vacation this week. They motored from the Black Hills in South Dakota to Washington state where they spent some time along the ocean before going on to Utah and Wyoming.

A tragic accident occurred on Saturday morning, August 14, during the installation of a new steeple at Oak Park Church of rural Oklee. Irvin Hamm of Goodridge received a jolt of electricity when the boom of the crane operated by Lloyd Lund of Goodridge made contact with the REA overhead lines. The Oklee ambulance was requested and after being transported to Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls, and stabilized, Irvin was flown by Medi-Vac to the Hennepin County Burn Center in Minneapolis, where he is listed in critical condition.

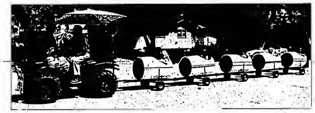
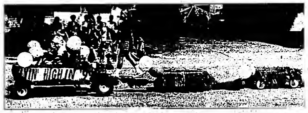
Grygla High School -- 25th Anniversary

Grygla high school's 25th anniversary was noted in several ways during the annual Grygla Fall Festival parade Saturday afternoon. This float carried a number of people who have served on the school board during the 25 years since the school was built, including four of the first board members—Roland Klamar, Arnold Stanley, Ronald Engelstad and John Smaby.



Youngsters riding the cars in this creative train seemed to enjoy watching the crowd as much as the crowd enjoyed them during the Fall Festival parade in Grygla Saturday afternoon. Engineer and conductor for the four-wheeler locomotive was Doug Nordby.



"Flyin' High in '99" was the theme of this entry in the Grygla Fall Festival parade Saturday. Almost anything that could be propelled by a motor found its way into the parade.

Fourtown provided this "Saturday Night Bath" float in the Grygla Fall Festival parade Saturday afternoon in Grygla. Perfect weather brought out a large crowd for the weekend activities.

"The Class That Was Full of It!" proclaimed the sign on this class reunion entry which added a little extra humor to the Grygla Fall Festival parade Saturday afternoon. Several entries in the parade made reference to the 25th anniversary of the Grygla high school, and a number also showed versatility in motorizing previously non-motorized items.

Curfman's Critters included this trio of mules which not only pulled the wagon in the Grygla Fall Festival parade but later provided mule-drawn wagon rides for the public. The Curfmans also provided mule and pony rides for youngsters attending the Fall Festival.

Grygla school band provided music for the Fall Festival parade in Grygla Saturday.

Governor's Views On Unicameral Legislature

Governor Jesse Ventura has been promoting a single-house legislature for Minnesota recently with a view toward getting a constitutional amendment on the ballot Nov. 7, 2000.

In the August 25 Thief River Falls Times, we published Sen. Roger Moe's arguments against such a plan. We urge you to compare his comments with the following "answers" to objections to the plan as prepared by the Governor's Office:

GUEST EDITORIAL

by the Office of Gov. Jesse Ventura

The concept of a unicameral legislature is not new but is often misunderstood. To set the record straight, (these statements) refute the 10 top objections to unicameralism:

1. Our founding fathers did not want a unicameral form of state government.

Wrong. The country's founders supported bicameralism, or two legislative chambers, for the federal government (they wanted to protect the interests of smaller states) but did not take a position on how state government should operate. Both Thomas Jefferson and Benjamin Franklin advocated unicameralism (one legislative chamber) for state government. Many states initially had unicameral legislatures but changed to bicameral in the early 19th century.

2. A unicameral legislature is prone to quick, emotional actions. Legislation should be prudently crafted, with two houses deliberating and carefully thinking through the policy implications of each bill.

A well-designed unicameral legislature will provide a more thorough process for debating legislation. Every bill can be heard three or more times. Time limits can also be required to guarantee that bills are not passed in the heat of the moment. Furthermore, because legislators have more time to debate bills, rather than posture for the upcoming conference committee, bills are scrutinized in more detail—not less. The conference committee system, inherent to bicameralism, promotes hasty, nonpublic decision-making.

3. The bicameral system is a necessary part of our system of checks and balances.

The term checks and balances refers to the three branches of government—executive, legislative and judicial—designed in the U.S. Constitution. These branches all remain intact under a unicameral system. By eliminating conference committees, unicameralism enhances the system of checks and balances by making government more accessible to the public. All debate is scheduled and open; thus, the media and the public can more easily follow the debate.

4. Citizens will not vote to have fewer elected representatives.

The level of representation depends upon the number of legislators serving in a single house legislature. Currently, our state senators and state representatives represent the same constituents in their respective legislative districts (each state senator represents two legislative districts). If the legislature and citizens decide to reduce the number to 135 (the size of the current House plus one), the average size of a legislative district would be marginally smaller. This change would arguably result in more representation. While each district would only have one representative (instead of two that do the same job), citizens would know whom to hold accountable for decisions. Because legislators have a vested interest in maintaining the status quo, this issue must be voted on by the public.

5. A unicameral system will make for a weaker governor.

The system as a whole will be improved because the governor won't be able to play one house against the other. What's best for the people not the governor, should be the guiding principle of government.

6. A unicameral government has not worked anywhere.

Nebraska, the only state in the country with a unicameral legislature, has operated well for the past 65 years. All of Canada's provinces successfully operate with unicameral legislatures. Also, cities, counties and school districts all operate under a unicameral system.

7. Minnesota's two houses were designed to have unique characteristics that enhance the legislative process. The House of Representatives is supposed to be more reflective of the public mood; hence members are elected every two years. The Senate is more deliberative because senators are elected to four-year terms. This balance would be lost in a unicameral legislature.

Minnesota's bicameral houses were designed, like the federal system, to represent different populations (senators represented counties, while house members were elected proportionate to population). This system was struck down by the Supreme Court in the 1960s. The argument for a unicameral legislature is now stronger than ever, as both houses represent the same proportion of people. Under the Governor's proposal, legislators would be elected to overlapping terms. Every 10 years, there will be three legislative terms—two four-year terms and one two-year term. Every two years, one-third of the legislative seats will be up for election. This approach will maintain the best of both systems at a much lesser cost.

8. A number of changes, such as the size, can be achieved by statute or legislative rule. We don't need a constitutional amendment.

While certain changes may be accomplished through statute or legislative rule, changing the structure of the legislature from two houses to a single house must be done through a constitutional amendment. Only the people, by voting for a constitutional amendment, can implement this fundamental change.

9. Lobbyists will become more influential under a unicameral system.

Lobbyists enjoy more influence under a bicameral system for three reasons: one, most lobbyists are paid to stop legislation, which is easier to do in a bicameral system; second, many lobbyists are experts in using the conference committee process to meet their client's needs. This part of the process will be eliminated under a unicameral system. Finally the bicameral legislature, complete with the complex and shrouded conference committee system, is difficult for almost anyone but a full-time, experienced lobbyist to figure out. A unicameral system will be more open. This will make government more accessible to the average person and reduce any special advantage that lobbyists currently have in navigating an outdated system.

10. What if it doesn't work? States are often called the laboratories of democracies. If it doesn't work, the state can return to a bicameral system.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Editor:

There is a quote that should be written by every student starting in the second or third grade and all the way through high school, and kept with them to read whenever they feel like picking on or razzing someone.

If a student is found to be picking on or razzing someone, that student should be made to write the quote 25 to 50 times.

The quote is: "I am no better nor worse than anyone else. I don't like to be picked on or teased, therefore I won't pick on or tease anyone else."

Maybe some of those doing the picking and teasing have been babied too much and maybe some have been mistreated. Maybe some of those being teased have irked the other kids. There are many different circumstances. There is no easy answer except that each person must understand that all people are to be valued equally.

Some who dislike each other are able to become good friends when they get to know each other. It all comes back to the individual and why they think the way they do.

While eating breakfast this morning, I was wondering how we in the community can help the school workers control how some of the students treat other students. The school authorities are looking for answers, but those answers are hard to find. I feel that we in the community should help if we can.

Sincerely,
Lillie Asp

The weather in northwest Minnesota is calling for cloudy skies today, but remember the sun's ultra-violet rays get to us if we are outdoors even if we feel cool and comfortable. After a couple of hot days last week, the cool night air lets us know August is turning in the summer of 1999 to fall, when we turn the calendar over to September on Wednesday.

It's about time we start thinking of the change to winter driving. Of course there has been a lot of change the past 75 years in both roads and the vehicles. Today we only have to learn where the key goes and then the computer takes over, even turning the lights on and off. When Henry Ford made the Model-T Ford, it almost took a three-legged man to run it or someone able to play a pipe organ. There were three pedals on the floor. The one on the right for brakes and the one in the middle was the reverse. The one on the left was the clutch, which when depressed became the low gear which started the whole contraption full speed ahead, unless you had adjusted the spark and the throttle just right.

There were two small do-hickeys, gadgets or levers on the steering column. The one on the left side was the spark, and the one on the right - the gas feed. The spark came from a coil and a magneto under the dashboard. And when the driver turned on a switch he would say "Contact!! Twist her tail!" meaning the other fellow should jeopardize his arm and give the crank a turn or two. If he had dared to forget to keep all his fingers together and the motor would backfire, he'd be going around with a bad arm for a long time. If all went well, he'd quickly get off to the side and jump in as the "Big T" began cruising down the driveway, roaring along in the low gear until they came to a better road. The engineer would reach down on his left side and swing that long lever forward and go sailing along in high gear. It was a good idea to get home before dark as the lights would get real dim if the motor wasn't really wound up.

Then you would have to reach down, pull the high lever back, slap on the clutch, and get in low so you could see to make the turn. If you manage to get your youth back, which we can't, I'd be happy in a Model-T.

The Strandquist Seniors met on Thursday and played Bingo. Mary Manwarren, one of the guests, won both the Bingo blackout and the door prize. Evelyn Kujava was also a blackout winner. Bonita Kazmierczak was the other guest present.

Betty Johnson of Warroad stopped to visit her mother, Elphie Adils, on Sunday. Elphie's other daughter, Linda, also visited her.

Friday, Janice Blazejewski and Aaron visited Elsie Lafrooth and challenged Elsie to a game of "Aggrivation," and he won. Elsie thinks she can beat any of us at that game.

Isaac and Betsy Thompson were supper guests at the Peter and Pearl Thompson home on Thursday.

Barb Chervestad • 796-5842

After several months of planning and preparation, Sunday, July 18 was the departure date for the Clearwater Lutheran Parish Youth Group (LYS) to their destination at Sheriden Lake National Forest Campground, near Hill City, South Dakota. Six boys and seven girls, together with six adult counselors traveled to the Black Hills, arriving on Monday morning. They spent the rest of the week visiting area attractions such as Mt. Rushmore, Crazy Horse Monument, Wind Cave, Custer State Park, and Harney Peak-the highest point east of the Rocky Mountains. Those participating were Dustin and Courtney Neuschwander, Elden Neuschwander, Kallie Sparby, and Jame and Tami Sparby of St. Petri congregation. Also Tim Nelson, Pastor Sparley, Julsine and Laura Sparley, Barb Chervestad, Larissa Chervestad, and Brent and Christopher Nelson, all of Oak Park congregation, as well as Majda Papezova who is visiting the Sparley family for several weeks this summer. Also attending from the Nazareth congregation were Emily Bjerklie, Lucas Bjerklie, and Dereck and Brendan Larson. Despite arriving in rain and fog on Monday, the boys' tent getting drenched on Tuesday afternoon, and a long hot ride back for the girls in Sparby's van, everyone enjoyed the wonders of God's (and man's) beautiful creations in the Black Hills.

Congratulations and best wishes to Travis Vettleson and Leann Hedges who were married on Saturday, July 24 in Hysham, Montana. Many friends and relatives motored to Hysham to attend. Travis is the son of Loren and Vicky (Roisland) Vehleson of rural Trail.

Congratulations and best wishes to Tera Marquis and Stewart Carter who were married on Saturday, August 14 in Princeton. Tera is the daughter of Arlen and Joani (Jenson) Marquis of rural Trail. The couple will be making their home in North Carolina.

Strandquist News

F. Myrtle Vagle • 436-2133

The weather in northwest Minnesota is so frivolous it can make us believe that August is a summer month; but gives us a feeling that we could have a killing frost at any time. Today the sun is in and out like a youngster that wants someone to come outside with him when all the "someones" are busy inside. Tonight we are having a real thunderstorm, so I'll wait until tomorrow to see if there is any damage done. Roy says that now he doesn't have to water tomorrow.

The other day I was looking for a summer outfit that I had put away with some things I had to alter or sew when I have more time to do it. The more I looked at those "boxes and bags of good intentions," I couldn't decide what to do with them, as now I get more attracted to the refrigerator and the recliner than to the sewing machine. Some said I should have a garage or a rummage sale, but I don't have that Saturday fever yet. I was coaxed to go to them when I came back to Minnesota and before I realized it I didn't need all of that which I came home with, nor did I know where to put it so Roy wouldn't ask what it was for, when I came lugging on it. Then I quit that Minnesota pastime before it would spoil my happy home.

On Thursday afternoon, Elsie Lefrooth and I went to the Senior Center in Strandquist to their meeting. They had tied a quilt by the time we got there, but we got in on a delicious lunch that Evelyn Kujava had made for them. Bonita Kazmierczak was also a guest. The members who were there included Elphie Adils, Helen Jacobson, Iris Berggren, and Evelyn Kline, who also won the door prize.

Elsie Lefrooth accompanied Vance Jr. and Kelly Lefrooth and their daughters, Amanda and Jessica, on Saturday to attend the wedding of Chad Nelson and Erica Lefrooth at Bethesda Lutheran Church.

Darwin and Chana Clark of Fargo spent the weekend with Grandpa and Grandma Anderson. (We all call them Morris and Hazel Anderson). On Sunday they all went to East Grand Forks for dinner and a look at the Heritage Days. They all visited Jim and Cindy Wetterlund, and Darwin and Chana visited Darwin's folks before going to Fargo. Morris and Hazel visited Ida Blaze in Stephen on their way home, where they enjoyed hearing from friends from Norway. Ida's daughter Lynette called her Mom to say a bad storm was just a few minutes from Stephen, so Morris didn't spare the horses, and they just made it home before they were doused with an inch and a half of rain. They got some pictures from Norway that Hazel is showing us. It looks like Montana.

Dean and JoAnne Holmstrom visited Elsie Lefrooth on Sunday.

The dahlias are blooming, but they are so huge they don't look real, and are a bit difficult to arrange as the stems are short. The tomatoes are ripening faster than usual. It has been an odd year for growing crops too. The berry season was rather short also. It could be I have shifted into a lower gear and time just keeps ticking.

Sleep testing can find disorders

by Marvin Lundin
Thief River Falls Times Editor

Everybody does it at one time or another, usually at night. It's easier for some to do than for others, and for some it's nearly impossible. Those who do it well never brag about it and those who can't do it often don't complain about it. It's a highly personal type of thing. The subject is sleep.

Something that seems as simple as sleep can be a complex problem for many people. From 25 to 40 per cent of the nation's population may have some form of sleep disorder, but many of those are unaware of it and it could be damaging their health.

Tracy Spry of Thief River Falls checked his symptoms and was led to believe that a sleep disorder might be a problem for him. He was one of the first persons to undergo testing at the recently established sleep lab at Northwest Medical Center....and he's sleeping better because he did.

"I've been a snorer all my life," Spry says, "and I mean someone who really snores! It never seemed to bother me because I slept through most of it, but my wife says I've snored for all 37 years of our marriage and my kids said they could hear me in other parts of the house."

But snoring was only one problem for Spry. He found himself getting tired at work, even after what had seemed to be a good night's sleep. And when driving any distance it was a challenge to stay alert behind the wheel.

There are several classic signs of sleep disorders, including daytime fatigue, irritability, a general foggy feeling, falling asleep on the job, difficulty concentrating, forgetfulness, mood swings even obesity. And they can result in reduced productivity, strained relationships, interpersonal problems and even life threatening accidents.

One of the most common sleep disorders is obstructive sleep apnea. This is a disorder in which the person stops breathing for 10 seconds to two minutes, often followed by awakening and gasping for breath. At best it is irritating and inconvenient; at worst it can be fatal.

"A little dab'l do ya" when it comes to applying adhesive to attach electrodes for sleep testing. Tracy Spry agreed to allow The Times to observe and photograph his preparation for testing in the new sleep lab at Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls. Applying the adhesive is technician Donna McFarland. More photos on the procedure inside this issue.

Prehistoric bones found

Human remains found in June by the Marshall County Highway department in a gravel pit located in Section 17 of Wright township in Marshall County are that of an American Indian adult and child.

According to a news release from the Marshall County Sheriff's department, on June 10, 1999, Michael Johnson, supervisor at the Marshall County Highway department reported finding bones that could possibly be human in a Wright township gravel pit. Sheriff Herb Maurstad contacted the Office of the State Archaeologist in St. Paul and requested their assistance.

On July 8, 1999, Bruce Koenen of the archaeologist office arrived in Warren and made his investigation at the site where the remains were found. Due to its proximity, he assessed the burial was related to the Old Pembina Trail which followed the route of County road 114. There are a number of prehistoric sites in the immediate vicinity, so presence of prehistoric burials in the area is not surprising.

An examination of the remains indicated that they were from two individuals, an adult and a child. The individuals are American Indians, evidently prehistoric (9,500 BC to 1650 AD). The remains will be forwarded to Hamline University as part of a Nagpra collection.

Race develops in TRF city wards

As of Tuesday morning, three individuals had filed affidavits of candidacy for the ward one and the alderman-at-large offices on the Thief River Falls City Council.

Filing for Ward One are Dennis Nabben, Steven Narverud, and Glen Kajewski. Filing for the Alderman-at-Large office are Conrad C. Holten, Roger M. Meunier, and Jerry Unruh. Filing for Ward Three is Dale Wennberg. Filing for the Ward Five office is Terence Blacklance.

Individuals who might be interested in filing for office for the November election have until 5 p.m. on Tuesday, September 7.

COLORED INK

Rep. Jim Tunheim reviews 1999 legislative session

by Rep. Jim Tunheim

I am writing to provide you with information about the 1999 Legislative Session.

Children and families

The Legislature passed a bill for family, early childhood, and adult education this session that does not provide enough funding for important programs that have some very real needs. The state has a large budget surplus, yet only about two percent of the state's budget was invested in this area. I could not support the bill.

According to individuals involved in Adult Basic Education (ABE), the reduced appropriation for sparsity aid will force many rural ABE programs to shut down or drastically reduce services. This bill puts only half of what is needed in ABE to help rural school districts with possible funding cuts due to changes that were made in 1997 in the way ABE programs are reimbursed.

The bill also does not adequately fund the Basic Sliding Fee (BSF) waiting list, which continues to grow. If we want welfare reform to be successful, we must ensure that affordable and quality child care is available. It also provides little additional funding for Head Start and other self-sufficiency programs such as transitional housing, emergency shelters, Minnesota Economic Opportunity Grants, food shelves, food banks and fuel assistance.

Under the bill, funding for Early Childhood Education (ECFE) was only increased for one year of the biennium. With no increase in the second year for this popular program, children and families could see cuts in services, and/or hard working staff would not receive raises.

Public safety

• High speed police pursuits: Statewide and local policies must be established governing the use of high speed police pursuits.

• New judges: To help cover the 16 percent increase in major criminal filings and 24 percent increase in juvenile filings, 13 new judge units (judges, clerks, and reporters) were funded.

• Underage drinking: A loophole in the law which outlawed "selling" but did not prevent "giving" alcohol to under age drinkers is closed. The deaths of three teenagers who were given alcohol by adults led to the change.

• Sale of forfeited firearms: Sheriffs or local law enforcement agencies are allowed to sell firearms confiscated because they were illegal. Previous law required them to be destroyed. This law allows local law enforcement personnel to sell the firearms to a federally licensed firearm dealer or destroy them.

• Revoke teacher license of sex offenders: Anyone who has been convicted of a felony level sexual conduct or indecent exposure crime or assault or domestic assault committed against a child will not be able to hold a teacher's license.

• Admissibility of seat belt evidence: Use or non-use of seatbelts or child restraint systems are not admissible in lawsuits involving injuries resulting from car accidents. The new law allows evidence of defects in the design or installation, or use of a defective seat belt when the injuries were the result of the defect.

Economic development

• Tourism funding: Funding for tourism is increased to maximize efforts to market Minnesota as a tourism destination.

Environment and natural resources:

• Wolf management plan: Although the House approved a wolf management plan for when the animal is taken off the federal endangered species list, a final bill was not approved by the Senate nor sent to the governor.

• Snowmobile studs: The ban on studded snowmobiles is repealed and replaced with a prohibition of studded sleds on public paved trails. A $12 annual sticker will be required for sleds that have studs. Proceeds from the sticker will be used to repair stud caused damage to paved trails.

• Boat license fees: Three-year fees for boat registrations are increased, for the first time since 1981. The $50 surcharge on personal watercraft is repealed and replaced with a $25 license fee. The current personal watercraft fee is $12.

• Cross country ski pass: Fees for these passes are also increased, for the first time since 1983.

• Environment and Natural Resources Trust Fund: $16 million is granted for projects recommended by the Legislative Commission on Minnesota Resources.

Gambling

• Dice games: Establishments that sell liquor are permitted to have dice on the premisses for the purpose of playing games. The wagers or prizes for a game of dice are limited to food or beverages and the establishment cannot organize or participate in the game.

• Pull-tab machines: Automatic pull-tab dispensing machines are permitted in specific locations.

• Canterbury Card Club: The Canterbury Park racetrack in Shakopee is permitted to establish a card club with up to 50 tables for poker players. A percentage of the fees collected by the track (10 percent of the first $6 million and 14 percent beyond that) will be used to supplement purses. Players play against each other, not the house.

Health and human services.

• Rural hospitals: Money is appropriated each year from the Health Care Access Fund for the Rural Hospital Capital Improvement Grant Program.

• Rate increases for nursing facilities and human service providers: Money is appropriated to provide rate increases of 4 percent in fiscal year 2000 and 3 percent in fiscal year 2001 for long-term care facilities and community-based programs. Eighty percent of the reimbursement must be used to increase staff compensation packages.

• Endowments: Three endowments are created using $968 million in one-time tobacco settlement payments. Decisions on how to spend the remaining $402 million in one-time payments will be made in the future. The agreement involves the following: 40 percent will go into a statewide tobacco prevention endowment; 21 percent will go into a community prevention endowment; and 39 percent will be used for a medical education endowment.

• Child support: Courts are permitted to suspend various hunting and fishing licenses of people who owe child support who are at least six months behind on child support and upon whom other enforcement mechanisms have been used without success.

Autumn Fest planned at Settlers Square in Warren

Second annual Autumn Fest will be presented by the Marshall County Historical Society at the Settlers Square museum at the Marshall county fairgrounds in Warren on Sunday, September 12, from 1 to 5 p.m. Public attendance by people of all ages is encouraged.

Workers at the Settlers Square museum have been preparing displays which are new and different from those presented during the Marshall county fair. Board members and volunteers are also planning some new demonstrations of early day activities.

Among the new displays will be such topics as sheep shearing in the early days, different types and styles of barbed wire used for livestock fencing, hand picking of potatoes before mechanical harvesters came into common use and canning equipment used for preservation of garden produce and other food items for future use.

New emphasis on previous displays will be given to the Marshall County Sheriff's Department car reportedly struck by an Unidentified Flying Object (UFO) and a typha baler used to compress cattail "fluff" for shipment and use as a substitute for kapok during World War II.

Plans are to start one of the old steam engines on display and log sawing is also listed as a possible demonstration. Ways of preserving meat and meat substitutes in the days before freezers and refrigerators existed will also be demonstrated, along with such household chores as making soap and butter.

Samples from some of the demonstrations will be available; fry bread, popcorn and lunch will be sold; and a flea market will be part of the afternoon's activities.

Settlers Square will close for the winter at the end of September, and the county historical society looks forward to this one last public event before closing. There is something for everyone to see and enjoy at the museum.

Faculty among changes at Northland for 1999-2000

New faculty and staff join new students amidst new construction at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls. There are a total of 40 positions where there has been a personnel change since the last academic year, including 10 changes in faculty, according to information compiled by Cindy Cedergren, administrative assistant.

The position changes are due to eight retirements, three sabbatical leaves, three leaves of absence, two resignations, two deaths, five internal transfers, four new positions and 13 new adjunct/part time faculty.

"The turnover rate of 22 percent is the highest in the college's history," states Dr. Orley Gunderson, president. "Faculty, and students will all be challenged by construction on the approximately $5 million improvement project which will continue during the school year."

A summary of the new faculty includes the following:

Rhanda Lofberg, a native of Thief River Falls, joins the cosmetology department on a part-time basis. She received her AAS degree and cosmetology diploma from NCTC and is currently working on completing her teaching degree in physical education. Her previous work experience includes co-ownership of the Family Tree Hair Company and current part-time work at Sheers in Thief River Falls. She and her husband Paul have two children, Paige and Devin.

Kathrin Dodds joins the faculty as librarian, filling a one-year vacancy created by a sabbatical leave. A native of Houston, TX, she and her husband, Robert Armstrong, relocated to Thief River Falls from Fort Worth, TX. She has a BA degree in advertising from the University of Texas and Master of Library Science degree from Texas Women's University. Her background consists primarily of corporate library experience, advertising and competitive intelligence research.

Norma Konschak, a native of Goodrich, ND, is the new accounting instructor. She earned her BS degree in accounting from North Dakota State University in Fargo and is a Certified Public Accountant. She has been employed with Great Plains Software of Fargo and Brady, Martz & Associates in Thief River Falls.

Linda Samuelson will be the new music director, replacing long-time music director Les Torgerson. She is a native of Sheldon, WI, obtained her BS degree at Lawrence University in Appleton, WI and her Master's degree in music from Baylor University in Waco, TX. She has five years of teaching music in grades K-12 in Montana. Along with her husband Bob and son Alan, she has moved to Thief River Falls from Deer Lodge, MT.

Mary Jo Novacek joins the cosmetology faculty at NCTC this year and is also a graduate of the Northland cosmetology program. A native of Greenbush, she has six years of experience in area hair salons and is a previous owner of Modern Hair Designs in Greenbush.

Bob Hultgren is transferring from the position as manager of KSRQ radio station at Northland to become radio broadcasting instructor. His home town is Kennedy and he is a graduate of NCTC's broadcasting program. His work experience includes 18 years in various radio positions including announcing, assistant manager, sales, operations manager, program director and station manager at stations in Grafton, ND, Brookings, SD, Staples and Thief River Falls. Bob, his wife Nona and children Sarah and Christian have resided in Thief River Falls since 1989.

Housing coalition receives $50,000 Foundation grant

Northwest Minnesota Housing Coalition has received $50,000 in grant funds from the Northwest Minnesota Foundation (NMF) to continue a program responding to common, region-wide areas of need in housing, including affordability, inadequate supply, poor quality, barriers to home ownership and inadequate staff capacity.

Formed in 1994, the coalition consists of five organizations which together have identified housing problems as a barrier to continued economic development in northwest Minnesota. Organizations included in the coalition are Headwaters and Northwest Regional Development Commissions, Northwest Multi-County Housing and Redevelopment Authority; Tri-Valley Opportunity Council and the Northwest Minnesota Foundation.

The coalition determined that resources should be obtained to allow the member organizations to provide staff assistance throughout the region. They have been successful in receiving financial support from the Minnesota Housing Partnership and the Minnesota Housing Finance Agency. NMF provides staff and financial assistance to these efforts, resulting in a significant regional impact.

Through this program new approaches to meeting housing needs have been developed and tested and a number of programs and projects have been implemented. Coalition members have increased their capacity to provide housing assistance, helping many communities and organizations increase their ability to address their housing issues. A leadership role has been assumed by the coalition.

Support from the NMF grant will help provide the level of service necessary to satisfy the critical housing needs of the coalition communities. Goals are to increase the supply of affordable housing in the region, improve the quality of housing in the region, increase opportunities for successful home ownership and increase capacity to address the housing needs of the region.

According to NMF Executive Director Ruth Edevold, the coalition's programs help the region take a leadership role in the development of affordable housing for rural Minnesotans.

"The Northwest Minnesota Housing Coalition has come to be looked upon as one of the most progressive housing partnerships in the state," she said.

Northwest Minnesota Foundation is a charitable foundation committed to improving the quality of life for residents of northwest Minnesota. To achieve this mission, the foundation focuses its financial resources and activities toward two principal goals: increasing economic growth and business development and increasing the capacity of individuals and organizations to shape the region's future.

Over 83,000 Ag rebates sent out to farmers

According to the office of Rep. Tim Finseth, in the 1999 session, Minnesota State Legislature passed legislation that provided an estimated $122.6 million in tax relief for farmers. So far, legislators have been pleased with how many farmers have applied for the $4 per acre property tax rebates. Around 83,000 Minnesota farmers have received more than $60 million, with the average rebate being $750 per farmer.

"Although it didn't stop the rain, the $4 per acre farm rebate sure has helped with our operating cash flow," said Curt Swanson, who farms near St. Hilaire in rural Pennington county. "It's good to see that legislators realize how important agriculture is to the state economy."

When the 1999 legislative session convened last January, the state was in the midst of a full-blown downturn in agriculture commodity prices. Due to the large state budget surplus, rural legislators felt that there was room to help out struggling farmers and came up with a variety of proposals to ease the difficulty farmers faced.

"With all the different plans out there for rebating the surplus, I wanted to make sure that farmers were singled out for a simple plan that could provide the farm operator with a cash rebate," said Rep. Finseth. "That is why I worked with other rural legislators to come up with the $4 per acre rebate plan, and I am glad to see farmers are taking advantage of it."

Farmers are still eligible to apply for the agricultural rebate until September 30. Forms are available at County Extension offices or by calling the Minnesota Department of Revenue at 1-800-652-9094.

Courtney Vraa on NW Tech College spring dean's list

Courtney Vraa of Goodridge was named to the dean's list at Northwest Technical College-in Detroit Lakes for the 1998-99 spring semester. She is enrolled in the sign lettering and design program at Northwest Tech.

Students who are honored by being named to the list have achieved a cumulative grade point average of at least 3.5 for a minimum of 12 credits.

Dairy farmers give strong support to market order cut

With more than 96 percent of the dairymen voting in a federal referendum supporting consolidation of the current 31 milk marketing orders into 11 orders, Congressman Collin Peterson says he is "cautiously encouraged" by the results.

The consolidation of the marketing orders also included a minimum price for Class I (drinking) milk.

"I am pleased by the overwhelming support that dairy farmers gave to this referendum," the congressman said, "and I think that this just might provide the momentum we need to put these consolidation proposals into practice."

According to Peterson, the 1996 Farm Bill mandated that the U.S. Department of Agriculture reform the federal milk marketing order system. At that time Congress directed the Secretary of Agriculture to consolidate the number of milk marketing orders and to produce a milk pricing system that was more market-oriented.

"People need to know that this consolidation package goes into effect on October 1 unless Congress acts to change it," Rep. Peterson said. "Because of the strong support that farmers have just demonstrated for consolidation, and the short time frame that Congress will be facing, I am cautiously optimistic that we might be able to win this fight for dairy farmers in the Upper Midwest and throughout the country."

The USDA's federal milk marketing order reform process has lasted more than three years and involved the dairy industry, general public and academia. In the public process of extensive study and detailed analysis, USDA received and considered more than 8,000 comments.

"The USDA has done a good job of meeting the objectives that were laid out in the 1996 Farm Bill, as well as the needs of America's dairy industry," Peterson added. "Secretary Dan Glickman has taken a step in the right direction and I hope that continues."

Peterson also said he expects more debate in Congress this fall on the federal milk pricing system.

"We are going to have to remain diligent on this," he said. "Dairy farmers in Minnesota, Wisconsin and throughout the country deserve a milk pricing policy that does not artificially alter the amount of their milk checks simply because of where they live.

"In addition, a proposal to mandate continuance of the current federal milk marketing order system—the status quo—continues to be discussed in Congress."

Pioneer Village closes for year noting successful 1999 season

by Kathi Carlson
Times Reporter

After days of rain and dreary weather, the sun shone brightly on Peder Engelstad Pioneer Village on Monday with Labor Day wrapping a successful 1999 season.

A few visitors milled about the village on Monday afternoon. Some required assistance. One woman asked director Caryl Bugge how toast was made in the 'Little House on the Prairie' days and commented that she would be back next year for another look around. A gentleman purchased a Thief River Falls centennial cap with an embroidered logo.

Between visitors, Caryl took a few minutes to reflect on the many positive things that occurred during the season as well as some of the things that she hopes to see done in the near future.

For the past two years, Caryl has served as the interim director of the village, working without pay with the understanding that the Pennington County Historical Society would use the money that would have been used for a director's salary to make improvements to the village.

When Caryl started, an inspection of the village yielded an 11-page list of 250 repairs that needed to be made. "Everywhere we went," she says, "something seemed to be crying out, 'Fix me.'" While some of the repairs were minor, others were major, requiring varying amounts of money.

Well over half of these repairs were made in 1998, and many more were completed in 1999 to the point where a list of needed repairs is no longer kept.

At the beginning of the 1999 season, leaking buildings were in desperate need of repair. Because Minnesota Historical Society grants are available only for buildings which have not been moved, only the Geving Museum and Engelstad buildings qualify. Funds to repair the Soo Line/Viking depot, the great Northern Depot and the Hendrickson house would have to come from other sources.

The Viking Soo Line depot was repaired and reshingled this year with funding from a Noper Foundation grant as well as the generous contributions of the Beito, Langland and Ness families. In the April newsletter, it was noted that the Viking depot is one of only ten two-story depots left in the state and possibly the only one that is open to the public as an interpretive center.

In August a Hartz foundation grant put a new roof on the Great Northern Depot.

The membrane roof of the Inga Geving Museum is leaking, and caulking has been applied to slow the leakage temporarily. A generous grant from the Beito Foundation will be used as matching funds for a grant from the Minnesota Historical Society, and the roof will be replaced next summer.

Currently, repairs are being made to the Burlington Northern caboose with a $2,400 grant from the state historical society matched by funds and labor from the society budget. While the cabooses were moved to the site, they are not considered buildings but artifacts and thus qualify for Minnesota Historical Society grants.

Built in 1993 with funds donated by Ralph Engelstad, the Engelstad building is not without problems. Moisture condenses in the ceiling and in the spring of each year, it literally rains inside the building. The building houses the village's collection of farm implements and antique cars as well as a number of wooden and paper artifacts and the offices of the Pennington County Historical Society. Currently, the artifacts are being covered with plastic at the end of each season. The more than $5,000 cost for the recommended exhaust fans does not include the cost of wiring. To solve the problem in the summer of 2000, the society will apply for a matching grant from the Minnesota Historical Society.

The Hendrickson house will also be repaired in the year 2000. Fondly nicknamed the Grand Lady of the Village by Caryl, the old house is suffering water damage to some of its interior walls and is in desperate need of fixing. A grant from the Hartz Foundation will be applied for to repair the roof and paint the exterior. The current color of the house and trim is compliments of leftover paint from the Viking depot.

Over the past two years great strides have been made to maintain, improve and preserve the buildings and artifacts at Peder Engelstad Pioneer Village with its interim director hesitant to take all or even much of the credit. "This is not a one person deal," Caryl Bugge is quick to point out.

Employed staff at the village includes caretaker David Race, an assistant, part-time office manager and several youth workers.

In addition to his position at the village, Race is an antique dealer with broad knowledge about the village's many artifacts. Dave also participated in the master gardener program last spring and, along with Beattie Mickelson, has been instrumental in nurturing and extending the gardens at the village, encouraging the donation of plants from numerous area gardens as well as discounts from area nurseries.

Volunteers make up the remainder of the village staff. Linda Spyhalski is Caryl's right hand aide, organizing the Pioneer Family tribute held in conjunction with American Festival and the recent Member Appreciation Night. She also spends numerous hours in the office and, says Caryl, has had a "tremendous impact" on the village.

Until he went to college this fall, Andrew Filer of Newfolden has been the village's computer "guru" since 1996, setting one system which provides for the documentation of artifacts, photographs and documents and a second that includes a scanner and color printer and contains the mailing list. Andrew accomplished this on a limited budget and has come to the rescue every time there was a problem. Caryl notes that he will be sorely missed even though he has promised to stop by on breaks from school and next summer.

Youth curator is the title Caryl has bestowed on 13-year old Matt Langland, the son of Drs. Jim and Penny Langland. Living just down the road, Matt loves the village and has been hanging out there "since he was old enough to get here," Caryl says. Fascinated and knowledgeable about area history, Matt is concerned that the village's visitors really experience life as it was in the early days of Pennington county, and when new artifacts come in, he assists Caryl in their placement.

Matt's talents will also be put to use in the August 2000 newsletter as a story he will write will feature at least four of Thief River Falls' historical homes. He and Caryl have selected the houses which were pictured in a book which is believed to have been published in about 1909 for the purpose of promoting Thief River Falls, and Matt has already interviewed one of the homeowners.

The newsletter of the Pennington County Historical Society is sent to its members and friends and is published twice a year, requiring more than 100 volunteer hours to put together. Printing is currently done courtesy of the Park and Recreation department.

The publications contain current news of happenings at the village as well as a feature. The April 1999 edition featured the history of Northwest Medical Center, and the August issue contained the stories of several Thief River Falls family businesses that have been in existence for many years.

The theme for the April 2000 newsletter will be "Letters from the Military," and Caryl is looking for copies of letters from servicemen and hopes to find material from all of the wars and conflicts from the Revolutionary War through Kosovo. Photographs, which will be copied and returned, would also be helpful. While materials will be needed by March 10, she will welcome them at any time between now and then.

Some of the village's volunteers have donated time in projects that are of special interest to them. Linda Homseth dressed the mannequin used in the booth at the Pennington County Fair and is working on mannequins that will be used at the depot and Hendrickson house. Polly Reed has spent a lot of time working on a TRFinette display, and Erwin Muzzy and Charles Naplin repaired the model train in the Viking depot and enclosed it in a protective case they built.

For fear that she will forget someone, Caryl hesitates to name too many more of the volunteers who individually and in groups frequent the village, deeming each a valuable asset.

Others who have contributed to the maintenance of and many improvements at the village are members of various service groups fulfilling community service hours as well as workers from the Sentence to Service program under the supervision of Bob Cardinal and Scott Peters.

In addition to the already mentioned Pioneer Family/American Festival celebration and Member Appreciation Night, a number of other special activities were also held at the village during the 1999 season.

Pat Klemisch organized the Collectors Days which was held in June. The historical society was represented with a booth at the Pennington County Fair in July. On July 21 and 22, the village hosted Park and Recreation Pioneer Days, a fun and educational activity for 8 to 12 year old children. In mid-August, Bountiful Harvest Day afforded individuals and groups the opportunity to sell produce in a farmer's market atmosphere. Also, the village was one of the stops on the tour of gardens sponsored by area master gardeners on August 7.

While historical society board member Dale Wennberg once referred to Pioneer Village as "Thief River Falls best kept secret," word is getting out. Since 1997 membership in the Pennington County Historical Society has nearly tripled.

The organization had 96 members in 1996. That number has grown to 210 members in 1998 and 270 in 1999.

Membership in 1999 can be attained through a number of donation categories, ranging from a $10 individual membership to a Pioneer membership with a donation of $100 or more. Membership entitles members to free admittance to the village throughout the season.

Caryl credits the increase, in part, to Pat Klemisch who served as this year's membership chairman. Board member and village activist Bill Oce attributes membership numbers to the special activities such as the Pioneer Family event.

Membership is not the only thing that is growing at Pioneer Village. In 1998, 81 individuals brought 1,714 items to the village, and while Caryl has not yet counted this year's donations of accessions, she expects that it will be similar to the 1998 count.

As contributed artifacts are brought to the village, they are documented, tagged and entered into the computer data base. This has been done for all of the items that were brought in 1998 and 1999, and the artifacts in the Geving Museum have been inventoried as well. However, Caryl has not yet had time to get out to the 18 other buildings at the village to inventory and document their contents.

The scanning of the village's vast collection of photographs is another task in the works with about half of the job complete.

The names of individuals, couples and families occupied lines on 29 pages of this year's guest book, and on days such as that of the Pioneer Family event when over 500 people visited the village, many of the guests do not sign the book. Out of town visitors accustomed to other museums marvel at the village's lack of roped off areas and security cameras.

Summing up the 1999 season, Caryl Bugge is pleased with all that was accomplished, and with increased membership and a healthy bank account, the future for Peder Engelstad Pioneer Village looks sunny.

A new roof on the Viking depot and repair to the Burlington Northern caboose are among the many repairs made this year at Peder Engelstad Pioneer Village. A Noper Foundation grant along with donations from the Langland, Beito and Ness families made the depot repair possible. The repair to the caboose is funded by a grant from the Minnesota Historical Society with matching funds and labor from the treasury of the Pennington County Historical Society.

The Hendrickson house, fondly nicknamed the "Grand Lady of the Village" by interim director Caryl Bugge, is still in desperate need of repair. A leaking roof has already caused some interior water damage. Bugge plans to apply for a Hartz Foundation grant to help pay for the repairs. Because the house was moved to the site, it does not qualify for Minnesota Historical Society grants. Peder Engelstad Pioneer Village closed for the year on Labor Day after a successful season.

Diane Hanson weds Rodney Peterson July 31

Bouquets of red roses, memorializing the mother of the bride, father of the groom and Ron Hanson, decorated Redeemer Lutheran Church for the July 31 nuptials of Diane Hanson and Rodney Peterson.

Reverend Marcia Sylvester officiated at the 6 p.m. double ring ceremony. The couple's friend, Jan Nyflot, was the soloist, singing "And on this Day," "A Love until the End of Time," and "Wedding Prayer." Another friend of the couple, Joyce Halbasch, was the organist, playing "Cannon in D" for the processional.

Parents of the couple are Herbert Goethe of Goodridge and the late Blanch Goethe, Sydney and Alta Hanson of Erskine, and Lois Peterson of Thief River Falls and the late Cyrus Peterson.

Given in marriage by her grandson, Tyler Kohler of Ft. Collins, CO, the bride wore an ivory suit featuring ivory brocade on the sleeves and jacket face. She carried a bouquet of Stargazer lilies, carnations and mauve and white roses.

Debi Stenseth of Thief River Falls, cousin of the bride, was the matron of honor. Her two-piece mauve suit featured brocade on the jacket.

The bride's granddaughter, Sydney Amundson, was the flower girl, wearing a long mauve and ivory dress adorned with ivory lace. She carried a small basket of mauve lilies and carnations, white roses and baby's breath.

Paula Adamson of Thief River Falls, friend of the bride, was her personal attendant.

The groom was attired in a black tuxedo with black brocade vest. His boutonniere was a burgundy rose with baby's breath.

The groom was attended by his best friend, Neil Hanson of St. Hilaire.

ACTIVITIES

Old Mr. Scarecrow

Your children will love making these scarecrows with items that are found readily in your home.

You will need: old clothes, such as pants, shirt, gloves, hat, belt, shoes; twine, a large brown paper bag, a large plastic garbage bag, small plastic grocery bags and/or newspaper.

Stuff the large garbage bag with plastic grocery bags and/or newspaper. Tie the end shut. This will be the scarecrow's body. Tie the shirt sleeves and pant legs shut and also stuff them with plastic grocery bags and/or newspaper. Dress the plastic body with shirt and pants. A belt or twine can be used to keep it together. Stuff the brown paper bag with plastic grocery bags and/or newspaper and attach to the shirt with twine for the head. The face can be decorated with markers or cutout pieces of construction paper. A hat and gloves can be added for the final touches. Your scarecrow can be used inside or out to keep pests away!!

Old Mr. Scarecrow

(Tune: "Up on the Housetop")
Old Mr. Scarecrow on a stick
Scares the birds away real quick.
Stuffed with straw from head to toe,
He watches crops so they can grow.

Oh, oh, oh, birds stay away.
Oh, oh, oh, birds stay away.
Old Mr. Scarecrow on a stick
Scares the birds away real quick.

Tips for Non-Custodial Parents

If you are a non-custodial parent you will have to work at keeping and maintaining your relationship with your child. It may be difficult. But remember it is important that you be involved with your child as much as possible. Below are some tips for local and long-distance non-custodial parents. These ideas are from "The Children's Fire," a publication for the prevention of child abuse.

•Call your children regularly. Some long-distance services will let you arrange a number that is toll-free for the caller; this would allow your children to call you without running up the other parent's phone bill.

•Put your thoughts, ideas, and talks with your kids on cassette or video tape.

•Visit them or have them visit you as often as possible.

•Take them on trips with you.

•Make sure you're on the school's mailing list, and participate as much as possible in school activities with your child.

•Do your best to establish at least a cordial relationship with your children's other parent — it makes communications and connections a lot easier.

(From the Children's Fire. Contributed by the Early Childhood Family Education department of School District 564.)

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Talk with your child about his/her activities, interests and friends. Show your child you are interested by listening and knowing about his/her life!

Down On The Farm

Eric Bergeson

Let's just get it out into the open: Credit card companies are evil. Credit card education should come right along with drug and alcohol education, and not just for children.

They lure you in by flattering you. You are pre-approved! You are qualified to be a member, and not just any member, but a platinum member! You have a credit line of up to $100,000! In fact, we'll give you a $5,000 loan right up front!

They don't mention that they charge interest rates of as much as 20%. They don't mention that their fine print is loaded with little catches and disclaimers that make it possible for them to slap charges on you for the slightest infraction, or sometimes for no infraction at all.

Now, according to Forbes Magazine, at least one credit card company has been busted for sitting on the checks they get in the mail until the due date has passed so they can tack on $40 or so in late fees.

No annual fee? Did they mention that you sometimes have to call the company to ask them to have the fee waived? Oh, we must have charged you by mistake, they say. They know few people look over their bills.

Instant cash? Last winter I was around Arizona and ran out of cash on a Sunday evening. I was hungry, so I withdrew money from a cash machine with my credit card. I winced when I was charged $1.50 to get a "cash advance" of $20. That's not smart money management.

I winced even more when the bill came and I had been charged a $40 finance charge on top of the $1.50 withdrawal fee. The $20 from that cash machine in Tucson cost me a total of $61.50! I called and protested, but it was in the fine print, they said.

A couple of fine print violations and they have made money off you for the year, even if pay your balance off every month. Those who don't pay off their balances are really sunk.

Back when religion had a backbone, charging high interest rates was a sin. Those caught practicing usury in the Middle Ages were subjected to unspeakable torments.

A little old-fashioned moralizing might be appropriate here. People should know that credit cards are as dangerous as strong drink. Credit card companies are as warm and cuddly as tobacco companies. They want to addict you to spending money you don't have.

Once you have spent yourself silly, you can't just slap on a patch and quit. Even if you stop spending, you will be paying the card companies interest for years to come.

Seniors benefit from tax relief initiatives

by Sen. Roger Moe

Minnesota seniors will benefit considerably from several initiatives passed by the Legislature in 1999. Significant actions were taken to address concerns in the areas of tax relief, health care and service-to-seniors programs.

Tax Relief for Seniors

This year the Legislature provided the largest tax cut in Minnesota history with significant reductions targeted specifically at seniors. Senate Democrats held firm on a $1.3 billion sales tax rebate plan that ensures seniors on fixed income will get their fair share of the surplus. Democrats successfully insisted on broadening eligibility, which allows many seniors living on Social Security checks to be eligible, even though they might not have had reportable income. The rebate will be based on 1997 state income tax returns. If a senior is not claimed by someone else as a dependent, fixed-income seniors still can qualify without 1997 reportable income by virtue of homeowner property taxes paid that year, or if they rented their residence (and received a Certificate of Rent Paid from their landlord). The rebate checks will be sent out automatically, starting in the second half of August.

Another change in tax benefits for seniors was in the Senior Property Tax Deferral Program. Senior homeowners with fixed incomes up to $60,000 per year can defer a portion of their property taxes if they have lived in their homes for more than 15 years. Previously, income eligibility for the program had been limited to seniors with incomes of $30,0000 or less. The portion of home property taxes above three percent of income is eligible for deferral. Please call the Department of Revenue toll-free at 1-800-652-9094, ext. 6-0335, if you would like more information about applying for this program.

In general, property tax relief from the 1999 Session totals $115 million. If the Legislature had done nothing, property taxes could have increased by $105 million. Instead, property taxes on homesteads are expected to go down a total of $7.7 million. The allowable increase in the market value of residential property is limited to 8.5 percent per year, down from the previous 10 percent cap.

Health Care Needs and Prescription Drugs

At least 17,000 lower-income seniors on fixed incomes will have access to more affordable prescription drugs due to full funding of the Senior Prescription Drug Program at $18.9 million.

Changes in nursing home and home health care policies were also a focus this year. Residents and family members may now have more say in the use of bed rails and other types of restraints for their protection. Residents (or family members in the event the resident is not competent) may now request their use but must have their physician certify that their use will address the medical needs of the resident.

Health care workers in nursing homes, as well as providers of home health care, will see higher pay and benefits, because state Medical Assistance payments for health care facilities and home health programs are set to increase both this year and next year. At least 80 percent of the new money received by nursing homes must go toward employee compensation increases.

Another change allows seniors and other consumers to have greater opportunities to resolve disputes with health plans due to the new uniform complaint process. Consumers having difficulty resolving problems with their health plan will be able to request independent dispute resolution.

Senior Service Programs

I am a strong advocate of service-to-seniors programs and appreciate the efforts of the program volunteers. As such, I am pleased that the hourly stipend for the Foster Grandparent, Retired Senior Volunteer and Senior Companion programs was increased by 10 cents per hour. Further, a $40,000 annual grant was approved to help the Tri-Valley Opportunity Council to expand senior services in ten northwestern counties.

In two separate program areas, increased funding for the Health Insurance Counseling Program and the Senior Linkage Line will allow more seniors to get advice when choosing health care policies, and when requesting other information that helps them remain independent. For more information, please call the Senior Linkage Line toll-free at 1-800-333-2433.

Lawful gambling taxes continue to be reduced

by Sen. LeRoy Stumpf

Between a sales tax rebate, a cut in the income tax rate, and a tripartisan state government, this past legislative session has truly been an historic one. However, some issues — like a tax reduction for lawful (also known as charitable) gambling — have continued to progress as they have in past legislative sessions.

Throughout the 1999 Legislative Session, I was glad to have been contacted by many of you regarding these burdensome taxes on charitable gambling operations. Not only did I support the lowering of these taxes, but I authored a bill to reduce the rates by 50 percent, with the expectations that there would be at least a 20-25 percent cut.

I know that many lawful gambling organizations were hoping for an even larger reduction. However, with so much pressure to provide substantial cuts in a sales tax rebate and in state income taxes, there was limited revenue available for other types of tax reductions. Therefore, the lawful gambling taxes were reduced by 5 percent. With the priority of putting money back into working people's pockets, this will hopefully increase a charitable organization's net proceeds for next year.

When this year's tax reductions go into effect on July 1, these reductions will be applied to the net receipts tax on bingo, the ideal gross tax on pull-tabs and the combined receipts tax on pull-tabs and tipboards. The 5 percent reduction will also be combined with a 5 percent cut that was passed by last year's Legislature. The total of this two year, 10 percent reduction will provide nearly $5.4 million more per year to the various community organizations that are supported by charitable gaming in Minnesota.

But I am not done working on this issue. No matter how long it takes, we must reduce this tax!

To those who either take part in charitable gambling or those who operate the games, I applaud you and the efforts of your organizations for supporting various charities. It is people like you and your organizations that make our communities — and the state — of Minnesota a worthwhile place to live. I will continue to fight during next year's legislative session for further reductions in charitable gambling taxes so that we may all help in contributing to a better quality of life in Minnesota.

New school year features student funding hike

by Sen. Roger Moe

Actions taken by the Legislature this year are already having an impact on public school students who are now starting the new school year. Many school districts took advantage of the opportunity to open earlier this year than in past years, beginning their school year as early as Sept. 1. Based on a law change made a year ago, Sept. 1 is the earliest possible public school start date this year and will remain the earliest date in future years.

In addition to school start dates, actions taken by the Legislature in 1999 are designed to more adequately fund the state K-12 system, ensure that property-poor districts have resources on a par with wealthier districts, and reduce class sizes in the lower grades.

School funding formula. General Education Formula funding increases approved this year are the largest in the past decade. The formula increase provides 4.7 percent additional funding for the 1999-2000 school year and at least 3.2 percent more for the 2000-01 school year. Assuming that the state economy remains strong and state funds are available, an additional $50 million will be distributed to public schools based on the coming November budget forecast. This additional funding will be available for the next school year.

Equity funding. Schools districts in our part of the state are among the major beneficiaries of $43 million in equity funding to close the gap between property-poor school districts and more-wealthy school districts. The changes made this year create two regional equity districts — one in the Twin Cities metropolitan area (excluding Minneapolis and St. Paul) and the other including school districts outside of the Twin Cities area (excluding Duluth).

Class size reduction. Significant steps were taken toward achieving the goal of a 17-to-1 student-to-teacher ratio in grades K-6. Funding includes $80 million toward class size reduction in grades K-3, coupled with $20 million in general formula allowance to be used for reaching the 17-to-1 goal.

Special education. The state is picking up an additional $104 million in special education costs. Therefore, the threshold for obtaining state assistance to pay a portion of excess special education costs has been lowered significantly.

Fast Break, Breakfasts. "Fast Break for Learning" breakfast nutritional programs received a $6 million appropriation for the next two school years, enough to meet a portion of the need in schools across the state.

Telecommunications access. The effort to get all schools hooked up into a single network took a small step forward with $5 million designated for Telecommunications Access Grants. The grants will encourage schools to enter a system that provides shared information and distance learning opportunities. Telecommunication Access Grants are particularly important in rural school districts.

Teacher License Revocation. Teachers who are convicted of child abuse or sexual abuse are more likely to have their licenses automatically revoked based on a law change this year. The State Board of Education and State Board of Teaching are given greater authority to revoke or refuse to renew a license based on child abuse or sexual abuse convictions. In addition, local school boards are directed to fire any probationary teacher after receiving notice of a felony sexual conduct conviction.

Safer Schools. Many school districts are now in the process of developing crisis management policies to address potential violent situations. Schools have until January 15, 2000 to set their policies.

While Donna McFarland attaches another electrode to the face of Tracy Spry, trainee Jennifer Eisenhouth waits to plug the other end of the wire into the appropriate receptacle. The preparation was taking place in the new sleep lab at Northwest Medical Center.

Technician Donna McFarland shows trainee Jennifer Eisenhouth how Tracy Spry's sleep movements are indicated on the computer screen. The television monitor in the background at right permits the technicians to monitor the sleep test patient from outside the room via closed circuit television. Data collected by the technicians is interpreted by a physician.

ment. at Northwest Medical Center opened its sleep lab this past spring. It utilizes a room on the third floor used on weekends by doctors staffing the emergency room. And the testing involves use of full 16-channel polysomnograpy which records the patient's four main stages of sleep.

Spry's testing was typical of the procedure which is now done about once a week at Northwest Medical Center. He arrived at the sleep lab about 8 p.m. and was met by Donna McFarland, the technician doing the testing, and Jennifer Eisenhouth, who was a technician in training.

McFarland attached numerous wires to contact points on Spry's head and face. Each of these wires was plugged into a circuit board which in turn was connected to a computer outside the room. The computer provided a visual and printed record of Spry's sleep pattern.

"The wires really weren't that uncomfortable," Spry said about the procedure. "The only problem I had—and it was a minor one—was that it took several days for me to get all of the glue out of my hair. And it really wasn't all that difficult to go to sleep even though I had all those wires attached."

Technicians doing the testing not only watch the computer monitoring the sleep patterns, they are able to observe the patient's movements on closed circuit television from outside the room.

The registered respiratory therapists serving as sleep study technicians score the data accumulated during the test. The data is then interpreted by physicians specializing in internal medicine, pulmonary medicine and sleep medicine. If a sleep disorder is detected, a recommendation is made to the patient's own medical doctor who prescribes whatever assistance is needed.

In Tracy's case, obstructive sleep apnea was diagnosed and a sleep apnea machine was recommended and prescribed. The machine is calibrated by the doctor according to the sleep test results. A mask which covers the patient's nose is attached to the machine, and the unit provides a constant flow of air—referred to as "continuous positive airway pressure."

"It took a couple of nights to get used to it," Spry said, "and I even tried sleeping one night without it. But I went right back to using it and now that I've become accustomed to it, I'm sleeping much better than I have for years. My wife says my snoring has stopped, although now she has to tolerate the noise of the machine. At least that is a steady noise that is easier to become accustomed to than the snoring."

Spry says he also sleeps more soundly than before, sleeping through the night or awakening only once when he previously would be awoke and up three or four times a night.

"I believe I feel more alert during the day and I don't think driving is the problem it was," he said.

At present Spry leases the machine from Country Health LLC on a monthly basis. Having determined that he will continue to use it, however, he will be purchasing his own unit.

The testing and the machine are covered under Spry's health insurance policy. Different policies have different coverages, so individuals considering sleep testing are advised to check on what their policy provides.

Everyone's need for sleep is a personal thing, but sleep is more than merely a break time between busy routines. It is essential to physical and emotional health. Adequate sleep helps bodies recover from illness and injury and carries mental benefits as well. With enough sleep, it's easier to concentrate, accomplish tasks and handle minor annoyances.

Not enough sleep can impair ability in regard to memory, learning, logical reasoning and mathematical calculations. Sleep disorders may lead to serious complications such as high blood pressure, stroke, fluid retention, abnormal heart beat and heart disease.

If you have trouble sleeping or difficulty staying awake during the day, you have plenty of company. In a survey conducted by the National Sleep Foundation, two-thirds of those surveyed reported a sleep-related problem such as insomnia, snoring or restless leg syndrome (involuntary twitching and muscle discomfort).

More than a third of those surveyed say they were so sleepy during the day that it interfered with their daily activities. Twenty percent admitted to falling asleep behind the wheel of their vehicle in the last year but only five percent had consulted a doctor about the problem.

The National Highway Safety Administration says that drowsy drivers are responsible for 100,000 police-reported crashes a year that cause 1,500 deaths and 76,000 injuries. Among truck drivers, 58 percent of single truck crashes are fatigue-related and 31 percent of all commercial driver fatalities are related to fatigue.

Sleep studies are still in their infancy, since sleep disorders weren't officially defined until 1965. Available and developing technology is making it possible to do more definitive testing and record more information.

Americans, geared to a high-tech, clock-driven lifestyle, accumulate a sleep debt of up to 500 hours a year. It's a debt that can't be repaid by sleeping in on weekends or holidays and some in the sleep testing field refer to it as "the other national deficit."

Persons who agree with any of the following statements may want to discuss their sleep patterns with their physician. They could have a sleep debt that is affecting them in ways they don't even realize.

- Falling asleep is hard for me.
- I have too much on my mind to go to sleep.
- When I wake up during the night, I can't go back to sleep.
- I can't relax because I have too many worries.
- Even when I sleep at night, I still feel tired in the morning.
- Sometimes I am afraid to close my eyes and go to sleep.
- I wake up too early.
- It takes me more than 30 minutes to fall asleep.
- I feel irritable when I can't sleep.
- I feel that I am dreaming all night long.

A doctor may recommend lifestyle changes that can help promote sleep, recommend over-the-counter or prescription medications, or suggest that you undergo diagnostic sleep testing.

For more information about Northwest Medical Center's sleep lab, call the respiratory therapy department direct at 683-4485.

Nearly ready for his sleep testing, Tracy Spry has been connected to a number of wires which will monitor his movements and give an indication to technician Donna McFarland the stages of sleep he is going through.

Several pets held at TRF Animal Pound

Several pets are being held at the Thief River Falls Animal Pound. Owners may claim their pets by proving ownership. Pound fees, license fees and any other expense incurred by the Thief River Falls Police department will be assessed prior to release. Each will be kept for a minimum of 10 days from the date of impoundment.

For more information about the following pets, please call 681-6161: a male black and white dog, impounded August 30 from the Plummer area; a male black lab puppy, impounded August 22 from Marshall county; a male black and white collie cross, impounded August 25 and brought to the LEC; a gray and white female cat, impounded August 11, from Route 2; two gray and white kittens, impounded August 24 in Marshall county; an orange female kitten, impounded September 2 in Marshall county; a male peek-a-poo, impounded September 4 from along Highway 59; a male gray cat brought to the LEC August 14; a male gray cat, impounded August 18, from along North Duluth; a male gray and white cat, impounded September 6, from along South Crocker; a male gray and white cat, impounded August 26, from the 100 block of South St. Paul.

Ready to sleep—if he can—Tracy Spry is wired for monitoring in the sleep testing lab at Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls. As it turns out, Spry did indeed sleep and the tests indicated he has obstructive sleep apnea—a cessation of breathing which disturbs his sleep and occasionally causes him to awaken. He now uses a machine that provides "continuous positive airway pressure" that allows him to breathe through his nose, reducing his sleep interruptions....and his snoring!

How To Do Business With The Government

So you're a businessman who would like to get some of those government funds to help bolster your revenue? All you have to do is comply with a few little roles and regulations and you can qualify as a vendor. Let's take the Women, Infants and Children (WIC) program as an example.

President Paul Nelson of Hartz Foods, Inc., recently was so incensed with regulations regarding vendors in the WIC program that he wrote letters of complaint to his state and federal Senators and Representatives. His question was, "When was it that common sense disappeared in government?"

Paul sent us a copy of his letter along with the 13-page form which lists all of the rules and regulations to which a vendor must agree and comply in order to sell product to participants in the WIC program. He also sent copies of the rules to the elected officials noted above. We quote from Nelson's letter:

"Enclosed is a copy of the new 'agreement' necessary for any store to be allowed to participate in the WIC program. You can quickly see that the rules now extend to 13 pages. One can assume that this will expand over time to even more rules.

"Please note that pages one and two contain a list of the minimum amount of inventory that must be kept in stock in a store, at all times, for each category, in order to qualify for the program. If upon inspection, you do not have these minimums on hand, then you will lose your WIC status. If you lose your WIC status, then your customers must go shop somewhere else.

"The minimums are outrageous for almost every small town grocery store. Stores in Roosevelt, Argyle, Erskine, Grygla, Newfolden, Middle River and on and on, cannot keep this much product on hand without it going out of date. When they asked about this problem at a recent seminar, the stores were told to send the out of date to their wholesaler for credit. Needless to say, we have no such program nor does any other wholesaler. No one bothered to check this out with us.

"Also please note letter 'D' on page two. (Editor's Note: This regulation states: The Vendor will be open to the public for business at least Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., unless the commissioner determines that the Vendor needs to be open for business during different hours because of a religious or cultural reason.) The State tells us when and how long we have to be open? Says who? Why? Have any of these people ever lived in a small town? Do they have any clue about life outside of the Metro area? Have they ever shopped in a small town grocery? Do they care? Or are they part of the system that is in fact putting the small town grocery out of business by forcing the customer to the large town and large supermarket?

"The irony in all of this is to have the Department of Agriculture and State of Minnesota purport to be concerned about the crises in farming, and to come and talk about saving rural America and the rural farmer, and then have a policy that works in a totally opposite direction.

"I wish I could say that I am surprised. Neither the stores that attended this meeting, nor the staff at Hartz, is the least bit surprised. It is just more government bungling, that will force the small retail grocer to go out of business.

"When was it that common sense disappeared in government?"

We can readily understand the frustration felt by Nelson and owners of the stores that Hartz Foods serves. We tried to wade through some of the 13 pages of regulations to see if we could determine if they were all necessary. Some of them seem unnecessarily cumbersome. For instance, letter P on page 5:

"For a minimum of two years, the Vendor shall maintain documentation, including receipts or invoices, showing all purchases by the Vendor while this agreement is in effect of all WIC-allowed foods for which the Vendor accepted one or more vouchers. This documentation shall specify the quantity of each WIC-allowed food purchased by the Vendor, the date of purchase, the name and address of the entity from which the purchase was made, and the date of delivery to the Vendor. Within 15 business days of a request by the commissioner, the Vendor shall provide to the commissioner this documentation and the Vendor's inventory records relating to the inventory maintained during the two years before the commissioner's request."

The grocery business is not a high mark-up business to start with, and the burden of record-keeping for the government and dealing with vouchers and voucher users would seem to make WIC business a losing proposition.

And some of the regulations are a little humorous, or at least ironic. Despite all of the responsibilities placed on the vendor, letter M states: "The Vendor shall not require a WIC customer to provide information or identification other than the WIC authorization folder."

Section VI states: The Vendor shall not provide false or misleading material information on any document submitted to the commissioner. The Vendor shall not bribe or attempt to bribe a representative of the WIC Program."

Bribe or attempt to bribe? One would think that "attempt to bribe" would be sufficient wording unless, of course, the assumption is that representatives of the program are prone to accepting bribes.

This appears to be one more case where the law enacted by the Congress and/or Legislature may be good but the regulations created by the agencies administering the law go completely overboard. We hope Paul's letter does some good.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor,

I read John Zins' letter to the editor in the August 25 issue of The Times and to paraphrase a TV commercial must say, "I don't know him, but I like him." His statements were right on "track". I've followed some of the other arguments for and against the Greenwood bridge and feel that most arguments for construction are very weak.

The citizens of Thief River Falls don't need the Greenwood bridge, long range plan or not. Arguments that we'll have fewer accidents with the Greenwood bridge don't sell me. It seems that our less traveled streets even have an accident now and then.

If we told friends or relatives in metro areas that it took 15 minutes (discounting train delays) to get around town they'd say that was great. Then if we told them we need another bridge to get to and from work, school or recreation even faster, they'd ask what medication we were on and where they could get the same prescription.

Although it's been a few years since the City's long-range plan was approved, there was an opportunity for leadership at that time to perform traffic studies to determine the need for both the Greenwood Street and Sherwood Avenue bridges. Studies conducted then probably would've eliminated all the rhetoric, emotion and money being invested in these projects, short and long term.

I don't believe there is a legal requirement to follow a flawed 20-year plan. It's time to move on to other business and take the Greenwood bridge off the construction agenda.

I agree with John Zins; the city has an opportunity right now to be known for well managed and thought out projects. The time is now.

Sincerely,
Glen A. Kajewski

Boy Scout Training

Jeal and Ryan Demarais recently attended a week-long training school for junior leadership, where they learned the eleven skills necessary for highly effective leaders. This was held at Heart Butte, ND. They also went on an eight-day backpack trip to Glacier National Park with six boys and four adults. Jeal just recently received the Pope Pius Award in Scouting, which is the highest level award given for religious works. Jeal is a junior high student and Ryan is an eighth grader. They are sons of Keith and Karen Demarais of Plummer. Congratulations, boys, and keep on Scouting!

Dakotas Trip

Doris Malwitz and her four daughters, Arleen Slick of Baudette, Jodi Story of Warroad, Connie Peterson of Middle River, and Barb Culkins of Plummer enjoyed a trip to the Dakotas recently. They went first to Spearfish, SD, where they saw the Passion Play, and historic places such as Deadwood and Custer's Last Stand. In North Dakota, they went to Medora for the musical and ate at the Pitchfork Fondue place. The Painted Canyon was another beautiful place. It was a wonderful trip for mother and daughters.

Callers at Lorena Westerlund's home last Wednesday were Jean Anton-Evich and Vivian Olson of Grand Rapids, Joy Pauley of Deer River, Kem and Alica Tillmon and Danielle Tillmon who is visiting her grandparents, Pat Larson, and Frances Schiefert.

Dakotas Trip

It seems the Dakotas have been calling many folks lately. Jerry and Emilie Skjerven also made a trip to South Dakota, stopping overnight in Watertown to visit son, Jerry Jr. Going on, they met daughter, Melanie and Bob Parisa and family in Rapid City, and they spent two days with them in a KOA Campground. From there Jerry and Emilie went on to South Heart, ND, near Dickenson, where they visited her sister, Elaine and Loren Mathson, formerly of Oklee. Loren is the school superintendent at South Heart. They took in the musical at Medora, where they happened to meet Doris Malwitz and her daughters. A small world! They returned home on Saturday, stopping to visit Bob and Gerty Morty in Dickenson.

Merle Foster and Bill Swick of St. Paul, visited on Friday evening at the Art Frolland home, and went on to Roseau to assist in a wedding. They returned to Plummer for Sunday evening and Monday. Other visitors on Sunday at the Frolland home were Dennis and Audrey Brinkman of Thief River Falls, and Rick and Arlene Frolland.

Strandquist

Weather in northwest Minnesota is taking on both cool and muggy at the same time, making some of us who have a breathing problem a bit uncomfortable. But it is great that we have no snow yet. Time has gone so fast for us that it seems that the snow just left. Maybe our age is what makes us think time goes faster than it used to do and it is we who move slower and don't accomplish all we'd like to do. Roy thinks he should be able to go in high gear but face he uses his electric cart to go for the mail, and going to water the dahlias a couple of blocks away. He's out now picking the beans and tomatoes while the sun is shining. I couldn't reach a lot of the beans. That eight-foot trellis he has erected for them to climb on, seems to bear mostly at the top.

The Strandquist Seniors met on Thursday and quilted. There were four members present and three visitors, Eva Bernard, Marian Pederson and Mary Menwarren. Elphia Adils took the quilt home and finished putting it together. Evelyn Kline brought the lunch and the door prize was won by Elphie Adils. Next Thursday, they hope to finish the quilting and I'm sure they plan to help the Lefrooths who had the misfortune of having their house burn.

On Friday morning, when Loyal and Shelly Lefrooth and their daughters were in Karlstad grocery shopping a fire broke out from an overheated fireplace and gutted out their home. Without insurance they are staying with Shelly's father until they can make other decisions.

The Bethesda Lutheran Church is having Family League on Sunday, September 12, in the evening with Pastor Dalager from Grand Forks speaking and having special music. These get-togethers are always nice for friends and neighbors to share.

Cindy Wetterlund visited with her parents, Morris and Hazel Anderson on Sunday afternoon.

Phillip and Yvonne Boen are the proud grandparents of a boy born to Corey and Candi Boen of Bemidji. Drew Phillip weighed 7 lbs. 2 ozs, and is joined by brother Cameron. Phillip and Yvonne Boen and Brent and Carla Boen visited with Corey, Candi, Cameron and Drew on Friday.

Elsie Lefrooth was happy when four of her little granddaughters came to visit her on Sunday. They were Emily and Taylor and Sara and Amanda Donaldson. Emily and Taylor were the little ones whose home burned on Friday, and you can be sure Grandma knew just how to comfort them.

Karen Thompson of Thief River Falls and her grandmother, Pearl Thompson visited Elsie Lefrooth on Sunday afternoon. Karen had spent the weekend with her friends and relatives in this area.

It could be all this rain we have had this year has brought out all these tiny beetles. Many are complaining that they have to rid their bathtubs of them before they can use the tubs. I have no idea where they get in, but I'm sure I destroy at least ten or more a day. Ten is all the fingers I have to count them. They are not ladybugs that come in when I bring in the flowers to put in vases. Roy keeps an eye out for them so he doesn't want them over winter in his domicile, and points them out for me every time. They love to hide in the curtains and it is still time for them to stay outside, so there's where I put them. When the dahlias are done this fall, they won't have any way to get in the house, and that will solve the problem.

"The Independent Supermarket this weekend is staging a double celebration, commemorating the completion of a store-wide remodeling program and the 20th anniversary of the establishment of the store here, A. M. Magnuson, proprietor, announced today.

"A new front has been installed on the building, with Twindow double plate glass and with the doors moved to a new location. The sales room has been completely redecorated in shades of ivory and yellow.

"The fruit and vegetable department has been moved from the west to the east wall and a self-service meat counter and dairy food counter have been installed at the rear of the room, in addition to a half dozen frozen food and refrigerator counters. New lighting fixtures also have been added as well as new cash registers for three check-out counters.

"The general remodeling contract was handled by the Modern Builders, while Elmer Johnson installed the front and shared in the fixture work with the Northern Woodwork company. The Falls Decorating company handled the painting contract, while the Paint and Glass Supply installed the floor covering, the Brodin Sheet Metal Works made alterations in the heating system, and the Danielson Electric company carried out the electrical contract."

Legion Post To Take Over Hanson Motor Company Building October 1

"In a transaction completed Tuesday, Ecklund-Holmstrom post of the American Legion purchased the building at 119 Main avenue south, built and occupied by the Hanson Motor company, Ingvold Hanson, proprietor. The structure, which will be taken over by the post October 1 for its headquarters, was built in 1946, with an addition erected in 1948, and has dimensions of 50 by 140 feet.

"Partial remodeling of the building, to fit the needs of its new owners, will get under way in October, and will provide space for meetings of the post and its auxiliary unit, as well as a lounge and reading room and kitchen facilities, it was announced by A. C. Tiedemon, post commander, and Robert Bredeson, chairman of the building committee."

Former Service Men Are Urged To Prepare Papers For Bonus Applications

"With application blanks for the World War II veterans' bonus due to be received here October 1, H. J. Rafteseth, veterans service officer, today reminded former servicemen to procure without delay a certified or photostatic copy of their discharge papers. He added that Navy veterans must have Form 553 included in their certified copy of their service record, as most Navy discharges do not include Form 553."

COMPULSORY

The State Board Says All Should Be Vaccinated.

"The state board of health, at a meeting held in July, made a vaccination compulsory with all pupils attending the public schools of the state. Every pupil, before being admitted to the schools in September and thereafter, will be required to furnish a certificate showing that said pupil has been properly vaccinated. Circular letters to this effect have been sent out to the health boards all over the state.

"In ordering the school children vaccinated the state board of health is simply taking a precautionary measure to prevent an epidemic of smallpox, as cold weather comes on. Some little apprehension is caused from the fact that some 50 cases have been reported since May."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Editor:

I hate to write this letter as some may take umbrage at it, but all of us will be involved with medical care at some time in our lives; therefore everyone should take an interest in our medical community.

Although I have had no monetary relationship with the Dakota Clinic for 11 years, I see things from a physician's perspective. You should take that into consideration.

Many times when I was on the medical staff a consultant would be called in by administration. The letters SWOT were put on a board. The letters represented Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities and Threats. Input was called for. It might now help to evaluate things in this manner.

Strengths: We have a good hospital with excellent and caring personnel. Having been patients in quite a few hospitals, my wife Ina and I can say "it's as good as it gets." Optimism and high morale appear to be present.

The clinic size burgeoned to the extent it couldn't be contained and now there is a large new facility with more parking space. Blizzards often, floods rarely, keep people in this area from entering into the valley at times, and that is a plus for our facility. Isn't it reassuring to know that there is Family Practice, Orthopedic Surgery, Internal Medicine, Urology, Ophthalmology and excellent facilities all available in a crisis?

Doctor owned and managed clinics: Everybody wants to be their own boss. Many of you probably think you could make more money working for someone else, but like to do things right even at financial risk. Doctors are no different. They make decisions about what to obtain that will give the best results, diagnosis and treatment. Under communism workers and consumers suffered. Managers thrived.

Weaknesses: We have met the enemy and he is us!

Being a small community, things get more personal. Many don't want to "get involved." This precludes meaningful evaluation by the citizenry. Many people are unable to fathom what the conflict is all about and more smoke than light is present. A source of disagreement is how premiums paid by large companies will be divided up. When I sought out one of the board I was told that the clinic wanted all the lab and x-roy proceeds. This didn't seem possible. So I asked a doctor who said that "the administrative fee" is not reasonable.

For 41 years, I have been here and the hospital always has been averse to medical input, ignoring the benefits of same. Example: Remodeling and additions were done. When the nurses occupied the quarters they would exclaim, "...this is awful, where is the storage?" etc. After awhile the medical staff would be called in and asked why the extra beds were not filled. Doctors work to keep people out of the hospital!

We are at a disadvantage in that many perceive bigger as better. An area physician was called in during a blizzard to help a woman who had had a baby in Grand Forks, but on arrival at home had massive postpartum bleeding. Gynecological intervention and seven units of blood saved her, but she returned to Grand Forks for her next delivery.

Opportunities: It's possible to do many procedures here, including cardiac catheterization for one.

Places like Erskine have "step up" facilities that look attractive to our generation, but it is hard to move away from friends and a place where "things are going on." Think how nice it would be for an independent spouse to be able to just walk over to C&NC from their quarters in the building, or to move over to assisted living when necessary.

Since Altru has to return $10 million which they over-charged Medicare and the hospital has a surplus it should be able to make low bids on contracts.

I would urge the hospital membership to elect Dr. Dicken to the board. He is independent and has a background in family practice. His counsel should be helpful and his one vote should pose no threats.

Threats: Former Senator Marv Hanson of Hallock complained that Grand Forks and Fargo are "giant Black Holes" that suck everything in. Grand Forks is no different from other places, but it is too close to us.

Distance makes a difference. Bemidji is with Meritcare. It is so far from Fargo that it is still a vital center. If Meritcare tried to cut staff there, an independent clinic would soon evolve.

Crookston is different. Remember all the specialties they had there? When Altru took over specialists were promised. The retiring OB/GYN would be replaced. The orthopedist just retired. No replacements.

We know many physicians left Altru because it reneged on promises. Beware of Greeks bearing gifts.

The propaganda that the Grand Forks Herald puts out is amazing. A team came there to get a donor organ. The information printed made it seem that organ transplants were being done. Actually, "harvesting" organs can be done anywhere that life support is being maintained. We never read about patients who are misdiagnosed, mishandled and had to go elsewhere. No letters from disgruntled patients are published.

You, dear reader, probably have disagreements and/or corrections. Please write. Join the Northwest Medical Center Association and vote.

Spring Lake Park quarterback Justin Lechinski got off an option pitch to a trailing back before being brought down by Thief River Falls defenders Peter Radniecki (making the tackle) and Nate Sorvig during Friday's high school football game on the Panthers' field. The Prowlers' Adam Haviland (22) and Josh Jensen (52) trailed the play. Thief River Falls won the 1999 season opener for both teams 13-7.

TRF upsets Spring Lake Park 13-7 in football opener...

Prowlers pull off surprise

Pleasantly surprised. That's the way Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm felt Friday after the Prowlers' 1999 season-opening 13-7 high school football win at Spring Lake Park.

The Panthers, 7-3 a year ago, were ranked No. 7 in the Class AAAA preseason Associated Press poll announced earlier in the week. The Prowlers were coming off a 4-5 season and the coaching staff had more questions than answers, admitted Mumm, as they boarded the bus that morning for the long drive to the northern Twin Cities suburb.

"I had no clue what to expect tonight," said Mumm. "We had a lot of question marks, and we still do. But this should help answer some of those questions. To come in here and beat a team of that caliber – a team that is always in the state playoffs, and from all reports is still the cream of the crop down here – says a lot for our kids and our program. It was a great win. A great effort."

Two long touchdown runs by Brian Loe in the final moments of both the first and second half spelled the difference in an otherwise even match-up.

Loe, a 5-11, 170-pound junior who lettered a year ago as the Prowlers' punter, turned his first varsity start at runningback into a memorable one when he scored on a 67-yard run with 59 seconds left in a scoreless first half, then duplicated that effort by scoring on a 56-yard run with exactly one minute remaining in a 7-7 tie.

Going against a team that featured 6-3, 215-pound defensive end Jason Cook, an all-state selection as a junior who has drawn interest from schools like Nebraska, Michigan State and Northwestern, the Prowlers racked up 229 yards on 41 running plays. The two breakaway runs enabled Loe to finish with 168 yards on 15 carries, while his backfield mate, 5-9, 165-pound senior Nick Drees, contributed 57 yards on 19 attempts.

"They (Loe, Drees) are quick," noted Mumm. "They ran hard. They're seat backs. If they get in the open they're hard to catch."

Neither team had mounted a serious scoring threat when Loe took a hand-off on a third-and-two from the Thief River Falls 33 as the clock approached the final minute of the first half. He headed to the left side, cut back and made an open field move on the final defender near midfield to break into the clear. Bailey Nordin's conversion kick made it 7-0.

Spring Lake Park went to a hurry-up offense in the second half, and it paid immediate dividends as the Panthers put together a first possession, 17-play, 59-yard scoring drive. Halfback Kevin Nelson, who would finish the night with 126 yards on 28 attempts, collected most of those yards with nine carries off an option attack. But Cook made one of his frequent appearances at fullback to score the touchdown on a straight-ahead dive from a yard out. Nelson's kick tied it at 7-7 with 6:26 left in the third quarter.

The Panthers tried to combine their size and 90-degree weather with the no-huddle attack most of the rest of the second half in an effort to gain a physical edge over the Prowlers, only to lose whatever advantage they had to eight fumbles – five of them recovered by Thief River Falls defenders.

"They wanted to wear us down in the second half," said Mumm. "We're not a very physical team. We have tough, strong kids, but we're just not very big."

The fumbles were a factor, according to Mumm, and he wanted his team to get credit for them. "They (Panthers) are probably upset with themselves for fumbling like that, but I think we had a lot to do with it. We may not be very big, but we're pests on defense, and I think we forced a lot of those mistakes."

After the touchdown, the next three Spring Lake Park possessions also moved the ball into Thief River Falls territory in the final quarter. But the Panthers ran out of downs at the Prowlers 37, then fumbled away their next two drives at the 21 and 44 yard lines.

On the very next snap following that second Spring Lake Park fumble Loe squirted through tacklers in the middle and burst into the open on his game-winning 56-yard touchdown run. He crossed the goal line as the clock hit the one-minute mark.

The extra point snap was high, spoiling the conversion attempt, but it wasn't needed since the Panthers also fumbled away their final chance at the Thief River Falls 48 with just 24 seconds to go.

Neibauer, Gators win opener

Tom Neibauer is the new head high school football coach at Badger/Greenbush-Middle River. But with years of experience directing the girls basketball program and working with football team, Neibauer is not your typical rookie head coach.

Steve Willman led the Gators for six years before he resigned to accept a coaching job at Winona at the end of the 1998 season. His teams won the Section 8C championship in 1996, took the Section 8AA title in 1997 and returned to the Section 8AA finals again last fall before losing a 31-30 decision to Mahnomen.

Because of a drop in enrollment, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River will be in Section 8A this year.

The Gators return four starters on offense and three on defense off the 1999 team that finished 7-3 overall.

"We lost some good players," said Neibauer, who is quick to add that the Gators will remain competitive. "We'll be in every game," he promised.

They began the 1999 season Friday with a 32-6 win over Fosston. "We played real well for the first time out," mentioned Neibauer. "We didn't have a lot of penalties (15 yards)."

Senior David Truscinski returns for his third year of starting duty at quarterback. Senior Kagen Waage moves from tight end to fullback. Senior linebacker Ian Rinde leads the Gators' defense.

Truscinski carried the ball 14 times for 70 yards and threw a 41-yard touchdown pass to Josh Smith in the first-game win. Waage, Billy Brazier and Tim Bentow also reached the end zone. The lone Fosston touchdown came with just seven seconds to play.

The Gators netted 202 yards on 44 running plays and were 5-for-8 in the air for another 81 yards. Truscinski was intercepted once. The Grayhounds rushed 54 times for 175 yards, with quarterback Pete Ofstedal getting 59 of those yards on 26 carries. He was 2-for-7 passing for 18 yards, with one interception.

Kasey Scharf, a linebacker, and Truscinski, a free safety, graded out the highest on the Gators' defensive charts, pointed out Neibauer.

The Gators play Ada-Borup on the road Friday.

Pioneers off to a 2-0 start

■ Northland beats Fergus Falls 16-8 at UND

Northland Community and Technical College football team sports a 2-0 record for the first time in 13 years following a 16-8 Saturday afternoon win over Fergus Falls in the Pioneers' 1999 "home" opener played at Memorial Stadium on the University of North Dakota campus in Grand Forks.

Scott Olson, a freshman fullback from Hillsboro, ND, followed up a 295-yard rushing effort in a season-opening 28-26 win over Central Lakes with a 33-carry, 180-yard performance against the Spartans as the Pioneers knocked off their second straight Minnesota Community College Conference Southern Division opponent. It's the first time Northland began the season with two wins since 1986 when the Pioneers opened with victories over the Moorhead State University junior varsity 14-13 and Mesabi Range 20-0 en route to a 5-4 finish.

Olson scored twice, on runs of 5 and 33 yards, and place kicker Ryan Polzin remained perfect in the extra-point department through two games with a pair of conversions.

It was announced Friday that the Northland-Fergus Falls game would be moved from Thief River Falls' rain-soaked Prowler Field to the artificial turf at UND. The site switch didn't affect the Pioneers, who had a 7-0 halftime lead and carried a 16-0 edge into the final quarter.

In addition to the Olson touchdowns, the Pioneers picked up points on a second quarter safety when the snap went through the hands of the Fergus Falls punter and into the end zone.

A Northland gamble that failed to produce a first down on a fourth and short attempt from the Pioneers' 28 set up the Fergus Falls touchdown – a 5-yard pass from Josh Tolle to Jason Kral – early in the fourth quarter. Tolle played extensively in relief after the Spartans' starting quarterback left the game with an injury.

The Spartans had another scoring chance after recovering a Northland fumble at the Pioneers' 35-yard line with a minute-and-a-half left. Northland surrendered one first down – just the third of the game for Fergus Falls – before ending the dramatics with a Mark Besemann interception in the end zone with 38 seconds to play.

"Overall, we didn't play very well offensively," said Northland coach Dan Willoughby, "but defensively, we made the big plays."

Mike Moore had two interceptions for the winners, while Scott Safranski and Besemann had one each, both in the fourth quarter.

Northland, the only MCCC Northern Division team with a win after two weeks of the 1999 season, will play Ridgewater Saturday in Willmar. Ridgewater, featuring 18 returning sophomores from a year ago, is also off to a 2-0 start.

Mustangs blank T-C...

RLCC is a 22-0 winner in 1999 football debut

Wade Westlake carried the ball 20 times for 113 yards and two touchdowns Friday as Red Lake County Central opened the 1999 high school football season with a 22-0 win over Tri-County at Oklee.

The Mustangs started the game on the right foot when Matt Hruby came up with an interception on the first snap of the night. Moments later Westlake scored on an 8-yard run.

Midway through the second quarter a 37-yard Carl Dugstad touchdown pass to Benji Kvasager produced a 14-0 scoreboard spread.

But the second touchdown was followed by game-ending injuries suffered by the two Red Lake County Central starting tackles – Cole Mickelson and Karl Vigstol. That slowed the attack as head coach Gary Brantl looked for replacements.

Westlake added an 18-yard touchdown run in the third quarter.

"Overall, I thought we played well defensively," said Brantl. "Offensively, you expect a few mistakes at the start of the year, but I thought we had a few too many penalties."

Hruby added 98 yards on 16 carries to the Mustangs' 196-yard ground game. Dugstad was 4-for-8 passing for 47 yards, a touchdown and no interceptions. Kvasager (41 yards) and Chris Lessard (6) both caught two passes.

The defensive charts were led by Hruby with 12 tackles, a quarterback sack and an interception; Westlake with nine tackles and a fumble recovery; Mickelson with seven tackles; and Heath Rosten with two sacks.

Red Lake County Central will be at Red Lake Friday for a 4 p.m. game.

Gators looking for an increase in volleyball win column this year

Christine Adrian, in her third year as head high school volleyball coach with the Badger/Greenbush-Middle River cooperative, hopes the Gators will take a step forward in the win column this fall.

Adrian's first B/G-MR squad finished 11-15 in 1997, but they slipped to 9-17 last year.

"Overall, we look for a stronger, quicker, deeper team from '98," said Adrian. The Gators' strong points, she explained, are serving, depth, team chemistry, and defense. Possible problem areas, it was pointed out, include lack of power on offense, and subsequently, the inability to get the key side-out.

The Badger/Greenbush-Middle River roster includes seniors Larissa Holm, Kelly Everson, Melissa Madoll, and Allison Johnson, along with juniors Vanessa Reese, Kara Gregerson, Vanessa Madoll, Tabetha Blazek, Jessica Smith, Angie Reese, and Sarah Peterson.

A 15-3, 15-3, 15-5 Tuesday (Aug. 31) season-opening sweep over Tri-County was highlighted by strong serving and defense, noted Adrian.

Thursday, the Gators lost three close games to Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke, 16-14, 15-12, 16-14.

DNR NEWS

Survey Covers Fishing Issues

A recent survey by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources shows that Minnesotans want rules protecting lakes to be more restrictive, that the agency should base management decisions on biology, and that fish should be handled carefully by tournament participants.

These are among the findings of a survey developed by DNR fisheries researchers and conducted in 1998 by the University of Minnesota. The mail survey asked 1,600 randomly selected citizens whether they agreed or disagreed with statements on a range of topics.

Ron Payer, DNR fisheries chief, said the survey was conducted to provide the agency with better information about the public's attitude toward various aspects of aquatic resource management in Minnesota.

"For us to make prudent decisions about the state's fisheries, we need the best information possible," Payer said. "A big part of the equation is what the public thinks about these issues."

Among the survey findings:

1. Although most Minnesotans aren't particularly bothered by fishing tournaments, the survey found that nearly one out of five anglers (18 percent) responded that a fishing tournament had interfered with their fishing or water-related recreation. The most common complaint was increased boat traffic from tournaments.

Payer said that the survey results indicate that tournaments are not causing a problem with most water recreationists, "but that's likely because most tournaments occur on a relatively small number of waters. Anglers on those lakes who aren't fishing in tournaments appear to have some legitimate concerns about crowding." Payer added that in 2000, the DNR will propose new fishing tournament regulations that would reduce tournament pressure on the heavily-used waters.

2. Minnesotans believe strongly that fish caught in fishing tournaments should be handled carefully by tournament participants. The survey found that 66 percent of respondents agreed that the DNR should not allow tournaments to weigh and display caught fish away from the water, such as at the Mall of America or other sites.

According to Payer, the DNR is against off-site weigh-ins because they can stress and even kill the fish. "It looks like our position has public support," he said.

3. Relatively few Minnesotans – even those who own shore land – oppose more stringent rules that would protect shoreline and lake bottom habitat. Only 24 percent of shore land owners and 16 percent of non-owners disagreed with a survey statement that rules protecting lake shores should be more restrictive.

Agreeing with the statement were 45 percent of land owners and 49 percent of non-land owners. Having no opinion were 31 percent and 35 percent, respectively.

"That tells us people understand the link between land use and quality fishing," Payer said. "We're now more confident that the public will respond favorably to stricter land-use regulations intended to improve water quality and fish habitat."

4. Though the DNR has been often accused of not listening to anglers' concerns, the survey found that an overwhelming percentage of citizens believe the agency listens to public concerns about fishing. Only 10 percent of respondents disagreed that the DNR listens.

"The survey shows that people know we're responsive to their concerns," Payer said. "Obviously we can't satisfy every single angler because often one angler has completely different wants from another. But we definitely treat all public concerns seriously and with respect and these results show that people know that."

5. When it comes to decision making by the DNR, most respondents want the agency to do what's best for the resource – even if that means thwarting public opinion. Only 16 percent of respondents disagreed with a statement that the DNR should use a management practice to benefit fish, even if the public does not believe it would be beneficial. Almost 60 percent of respondents agreed with the statement and 25 percent had no opinion.

"Our stakeholders want us to make biologically correct decisions and are generally confident that we will do so," Payer said.

6. Minnesotans are also willing to put up with the more complex fishing regulations that focus on the needs of individual lakes. "The Minnesota Fishing Roundtable has long recommended individual lakes management, but we didn't know if the public in general supported the concept," Payer said. "Apparently they do. Only 19 percent of respondents disagreed with a statement that the DNR should manage lakes individually, although the regulations may become more complicated. Thirty percent had no opinion and 51 percent agreed with the statement.

"This is good news for anglers," Payer said. "We've proceeded cautiously with individual lakes management so far, but now we're more confident that we'd have general public support for applying this management approach to more Minnesota lakes."

Farmland/Resources Conference

Barely a day goes by that a person fails to hear or read about urban sprawl, an issue that has generated concerns at the local, state and national levels. In Minnesota, more than 45 organizations are planning a conference entitled Sharing the Heartland, to be held Oct. 29-30 at the Radisson South Hotel in Bloomington. Conference goals are to recognize the benefits of protecting farmland and natural resources, and to provide local decision-makers with an understanding of available tools, techniques and processes for protecting and conserving farmland and natural resources.

Conference Chair Julie MacSwain said few land-use issues will be of more importance in the 21st Century. "The competition for land will continue to intensify as our population grows. Ensuring a future that includes an adequate land resource base will require a proactive effort to save our precious farmland and natural resources," MacSwain said.

The Sharing the Heartland conference is designed for local elected and appointed officials; local, state and federal agency staff; landowners; farmers; resource planners; real estate professionals; organization representatives; conservationists and naturalists; state legislators and staff; and other interested individuals.

MacSwain said desired conference outcomes include providing:

- Practical information about tools to help local decision-makers protect farmland and natural resources.
- Practical guidance on how tools, techniques and processes can be used to help protect productive farmland and natural resources.
- Practical do's and don'ts presented from real-life case study examples, including challenges faced and lessons learned.
- An expanded network of people and organizations for ongoing communications about the challenges of protecting farmland and natural resources.

For more conference information, contact MacSwain at 651-430-6818.

MCC Football
Friday, Sept. 3 - at Norman County West; Friday, Sept. 10 - Kittson Central; Friday, Sept. 17 - Kittson County North; Friday, Sept. 24 - at Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke; Friday, Oct. 1 - East Grand Forks Sacred Heart; Thursday, Oct. 7 - at Stephen-Argyle, Tuesday, Oct. 12 - at Tri-County.

Second-year Marshall County Central High School football coach Scott Parker says the Nordics will field an improved product this year. The team won just one game last fall.

"We should be better this year," said Parker. "We have a better team. We're still not where we want to be, but we're moving in the right direction. As long as we keep improving from game to game, that's all that we can ask."

The Nordics lost an 18-6 decision to Norman County West Friday at Halstad in their 1999 opener. They face Kittson Central in their home debut Friday at 7 p.m. in Newfolden.

"He had a lot of mental breakdowns on defense," reported Parker. "Those are things that we can work on. We already addressed them in practice Monday."

Senior runningback Bjorn Halvorson scored the only Marshall County Central touchdown on a 1-yard run midway through the fourth quarter. Halvorson finished with 105 yards on 25 carries, and was also one of the Nordics' bright spots on defense at outside linebacker. Junior quarterback Zach Holthusen was 3-for-8 passing for 11 yards and one interception.

"Offensively, our line needs to do a better job firing off the ball," noted Parker.

Halvorson will again be the focal point of the Nordics' attack this fall, but Parker looks for junior fullback Matt Waterworth to pick up yards when defenses step up to stop Halvorson.

Tyler Knutson, a 5-11, 310-pound junior, leads the Nordics' line play.

We sang several old-time songs, and a few of the Holly Hock members came in their 50's attire and led in several of the songs. A "Know Your Neighbor" quiz was worked out in small groups and we got to learn something about our close neighbors. Several readings were given by Howard Greenwald and Bunnie Byer, Frances Schlefort and Effie Byer. Then we had the pleasure of Pauline Walker playing the piano for more old favorite songs. The afternoon closed with coffee, cake and ice cream being served to all. Thanks to all who attended and I hope we can do it again!

Two elected to Hospital Board

by David Hill
Associate Editor

With emotions running high weeks prior to the election, 560 of 734 eligible voters cast their ballot at the annual meeting of the Northwest Medical Center Association Tuesday at the Best Western in Thief River Falls.

Four candidates, Robert Carlson, Dr. Robert Dicken, Lyle Hanson and Karen Kirkeby, were vying for two spots on the Association's board of directors. Although two spots on the board would not affect a majority interest on the board, residents and candidates acted as if the future of the hospital and medical health care in the community were at stake. For all intents and purposes, it was also a battle between the non-profit Northwest Medical Association board of directors, and the for-profit Dakota Clinic physicians, who were once partnered on the Northwest Medical Center campus.

When the votes were counted by the five election judges hired for the election, Karen Kirkeby and Lyle Hansan, the incumbents, were elected by a large majority. Kirkeby received 360 votes, and Honson received 365 votes. Robert Carlson, a former Thief River Falls mayor and current Pennington County Commissioner, received 196 votes. Dr. Robert Dicken, an independent ophthalmologist with Northwest Eye Center, located on the Dakota Clinic campus, received 197 votes.

Northwest Medical Center published its annual report Saturday on the back of a map of Minnesota. The unaudited balance sheet for the period ending April 30, showed a positive growth. Total liabilities and fund balance grew from $25,865,124 to $27,072,181. During the same period of operation, expenses increased from $18,490,633 to $20,388,738. Hospital patient days increased from 8,467 to 9,829. The number of outpatients decreased from 14,540 to 13,842. The number of outpatient visits increased from 43,496 to 49,518; and hospital admissions increased from 1,929 to 2,156.

Chief Executive Officer Dick Spyhalski thanked the board of directors, management, medical staff, employees, auxiliary volunteers and physicians, for the positive annual report.

In the annual report, Spyhalski said, "As we look to the year 2000 we are excited about the challenges and opportunities that are ahead of us. Northwest Medical Center is committed to providing the full spectrum of care on our campus, right where you want it. Look for us to renovate and upgrade our facility in the year 2000. Patients will be able to look for improvements that will increase their comfort and well being, including more private rooms, each with its own private bathroom, and a modernized floor plan that puts each patient room close to a centrally located nurses station." During a presentation that evening, Spyholski reviewed plans for renovation at the clinic.

To Dr. Jim Langland of Dakota Clinic, the hospital's positive balance sheet shows exactly what physicians thought would happen when Dakota Clinic moved off campus. But Langland and Dakota Clinic supporters wanted more. They wanted to have a say on the board of directors and a say in the direction of health care provided by Northwest Medical Center.

During a speech at the annual meeting, Dr. Langland challenged medical staff, the hospital board and administration to nine goals. He challenged the medical staff, hospital board and administration to work on three goals: treat each other with respect and appreciation, discontinue public criticism, and to work together on improving dialog and communication between the medical staff and board.

He challenged the medical staff to create a cooperative atmosphere and a stronger medical center; complete records in a timely fashion and optimize length of stays; and third, work on establishing multi-disciplinary hospital rounds incorporating all clinical service areas in the hospital working side by side with the physician on rounds on a regular basis in the hospital.

He challenged the hospital board and administration to include physicians on the hospital board; restore the peer review process to the medical staff; and to not conduct its business in secret meetings.

Tom Kays, board president of the hospital board, and Spyhalski, argued that charts are being reviewed by physicians and medical staff, and that any so called "secret meetings" are being held in accordance with the law and have only been used to discuss issues regarding competition between Dakota Clinic and the hospital.

St. Hilaire school demolition leaves mixed emotions

by Donna Myhrer

I have this strong recollection of a frosty cold morning riding the school bus for about a half hour on my way to the eighth grade at the St. Hilaire school with none of my math homework done for that day. I had a strong hunch as to what my teacher, Hilmer A. Sudahl, was going to say about that. For a few brief moments I had a wonderful vision of the school building falling into a smoldering heap within the next 30 minutes or so. Well, maybe not 30 minutes. Any time before math class would have been okay with me.

Last Saturday, September 11, 1999, my vision became a reality -- albeit about forty years late for my math homework. So standing in the drizzling rain with a feeling of sadness, loss and nostalgia, I watched the St. Hilaire school building being subjected first to a controlled fire and then to wrecking equipment knocking down the towering brick walls. My sons, who had also attended this school, were also on hand.

It was necessary, of course. According to St. Hilaire Mayor Ione Scott, the building, which had been unused since 1982, had presented a serious hazard to local children for some time and the city, which has owned the building for a number of years, had been trying to find the funds to get it torn down for some time. The interior ceilings had decayed and fallen into the basement and the roof in one corner had also collapsed. However, the part of the structure which houses the gym and former cafeteria, built in 1940, is still standing and will continue to be used by the local community.

So, on Saturday morning at 8:22 a.m. a controlled fire was started in three different locations by Lee Rolland, Dave Hoefer and Dave Rasmussen. Seventeen members, male and female, of the St. Hilaire Volunteer Fire Department were on hand to assist with the burn. Many of them, by coincidence, are former students. Fire Chief Joe Haglo, who had attended the St. Hilaire school as a child for several years in the early 1970's, directed the intentional burn. He said, "It was excellent. There was no smoke in the gym part of the building and only about an inch of water in the lowest area of the basement [in that part of the structure]." He added that the firefighters used a "chimney effect" so that most of the smoke went straight up.

There were two pumpers at the site and a third one on standby, and a tanker and a drop tank for shuttling water. A 3,000-gallon portable pump was stationed at the river, pushing water through a five-inch line to the pumper at the school yard. Two deck guns were used to spray a mixture of water and Class A Foam over the roof of the gym to protect it from the fire. Chief Haglo stated that the weather cooperated beautifully as well, with just enough rain to keep the fire under control, but not enough to put it entirely out. Mayor Scott also emphasized that the public had been very helpful by staying outside the marked boundaries and not causing traffic snarls by stopping to watch at inappropriate places on the highway.

Members of the fire department attend training programs in which a controlled burn is done about once a year.

Several days before the demolition, Lloyd Noreen and Kenny Noreen of Noreen Construction, Ron McKercher, Todd Kruse and Kim Johnson removed the capstone which had been over the front door on the west side of the building. This stone, which has the words "St. Hilaire" carved into it, will be put on display in some way, according to Mayor Scott, possibly as part of a walking path which is being planned for the empty block north of where the school building had stood, where some of us used to play baseball, softball, dodge ball and have snowball fights as Demolition of the St. Hilaire school building, following a controlled fire by the St. Hilaire Volunteer Fire Department, took place Saturday, September 11, 1999, as a light rain fell on the project. The building, which was 80 years old this year, had last been used in 1982 and since then had been slowly deteriorating until the roof had partially collapsed and it had become a hazard to the well-being of local children, who might be expected to trespass. The Forest River Salvage company was brought in to demolish the building after the fire. - Photos courtesy of Patrikk and Donna Myhrer, both former students at the St. Hilaire school.

Distribution of over-the-counter drugs discussed by S.D. 564 board

School Nurse Vicky Jensen attended the meeting of School District 564 board of directors, fielding numerous questions regarding the Oral Medication Administration policy and procedure which was presented for the board's approval at Monday night's regular meeting.

The new policy includes such over-the-counter medications as Tylenol in its definition of "drugs," requiring a written request of the parent/guardian accompanied by a written order from the prescribing physician before such medication can be administered by the school nurse or other authorized personnel.

Jensen explained that the new policy is in compliance with a state health official's interpretation of state mandate. She also expressed concern about her licensure as a nurse being jeopardized by the unauthorized administration of over-the-counter drugs.

Board members responded to the policy with concerns of their own, including the possibility that more students will be in possession of over-the-counter medications and treating themselves. Students who possess and control such medications may not understand dosages or may share the medications with others, posing potentially dangerous situations.

In previous years, the policy has been liberal with the administration of over-the-counter medications left to the discretion of the school nurse.

After a lengthy discussion, the matter was tabled with Superintendent Robicheau stating that he and Jenson would further discuss the policy and that it would be brought before the board again at a later date.

- School District 564 board of directors recognized the following: members of the Challenger Playground Equipment Committee — Dianne Kaya, Pat Hescbke, Gordon Campbell and Valorie Johnson — for all of their hard work; and Marvin Lundin, retiring editor of the Thief River Falls Times for his support of education throughout the years.

- School District 564 board of directors heard a presentation by Darcy Reese, Lincoln High School choir director, about proposed choir trips. From an audition tape recorded last spring, the LHS concert choir has been selected to perform at the Minnesota Music Education Assn. convention in February. Also, the choir has been selected to perform at Carnegie Hall in New York City, possibly as the prelude choir, on Palm Sunday in April. A parents' meeting was last week, and Reese is waiting to see how many families are interested in committing to such a trip.

- School District 564 board of directors heard reports from the following: Barb Kalinoski, Multi-Events Center; Randy Twistol, Northwest Service Cooperative; Mike Spears, LHS alternative scheduling committee; city council/school board meeting; Harry Nelson, business manager; and Jerry Robicheau, superintendent.

Fuel oil spill stopped in TRF

Fuel oil spilled into the Red Lake River near Thief River Falls Friday afternoon. Absorbent material and booms deployed at two locations prevented the fuel oil from entering the city's water treatment facility.

Law enforcement officials in Thief River Falls received a complaint of a strong odor of fuel oil coming from the river near the Sherwood Forest area of Thief River Falls at about 4:36 p.m. Friday, September 10. Officers went to the location and did see oil in the river. The State Duty officer was notified, along with the Thief River Falls Fire department, as law enforcement officers began looking for the origin of the oil spill.

Eventually, the oil spill was tracked to the Russ Sparby residence in section one of Rocksbury township. The cause of the spill is under investigation, but law enforcement said that Farmers Union Oil had filled the fuel tank at the residence recently. According to law enforcement officials, 534 gallons of number 2 heating oil fuel had been put in a 500 gallon tank that had an undetermined amount of fuel oil already in it. According to independent reports, fuel leaked from a rusted out spot in the fuel tank. The fuel oil went from the drain tile directly to the river. How much fuel oil entered the river is still unknown, but estimates place it at about 150 to 200 gallons.

Thief River Falls Fire department attempted to deploy a boom at Tindolph park, but the current was so strong the anchor could not hold the boom in place. A second boom and absorbent material were placed down river across the river near the Fire hall, which is located near the First Street bridge and above the water intake.

The water treatment plant and its pumps were shut down even before the oil reached that area, according to Water Treatment Plant Superintendent Al Lamm. Lamm explained that demand was down in the city on Friday and the treatment plant reservoir was full so they had shut down early that day.

Lamm said he was concerned anyway because to maintain minimum fire protection it would require a long day on Saturday if it was necessary to treat water. He said they watched the situation carefully on Saturday but no fuel oil entered the treatment plant. Lamm did go on the radio Saturday to ask residents to reduce their use of water. He said he really appreciated their cooperation.

Beltrami Industrial Services of Bemidji was called out by the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency. They are now in charge of the clean up efforts.

Local law enforcement and emergency response officials are thankful they went through a training exercise about six weeks ago that simulated a diesel fuel leak on the river. Pennington County Sheriff Mike Hruby said it was unfortunate the accident happened but all things considered, it worked out about as great as it could.

Hruby also said he was thankful that the CP Railroad had donated emergency spill pack to the city last summer, because it was used Friday.

The number of agencies participating in the cleanup seemed to be taken from a page of the emergency training exercise in August. They included the Pennington County Sheriff's department, Thief River Falls Police department, Thief River Falls Area Fire Department, Thief River Falls Water Department, Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, Minnesota Pollution Control Agency, and Beltrami Industrial Services.

Traffic violations listed in county court reports

Several traffic violations were listed in the latest edition of the Pennington County Citation Disposition Bulletin.

Thief River Falls Police department cases: Chester Phelps Haire, Jr., Fertile, 67, expired registration, $55; Rhonda Jean Anderson, 19, Thief River Falls, minor consumption, $85; Denise Mary Bukowski, 20, Thief River Falls, minor consumption, $85; David Charles Lucker, 20, Hatton, ND, minor consumption, $85; John Wayne Olson Sr., 51, Thief River Falls, allowing dog to run at large, $57.50.

Minnesota State Patrol cases: Jeremy John Anderson, 18, Thief River Falls, no seat belt worn, $60; Shala Leann Brekke, 20, Red Lake Falls, seat belt, $60; Linda Ann Pirkl, 44, Fargo, 65/55, $75; Dennis Raymond Bresee, 50, Moorhead, 65/55, $75; Geoffrey Fonseca, 55, Matawan, NJ, 81/55, $135; David Leroy Johnson, 51, Thief River Falls, 77/55, $105; Ronald Matthew Black, 25, Thief River Falls, no seat belt, $60; Sarah Ann Moran, 19, Red Lake Falls, 65/55, $75; Frank John Boyer, 56, Northome, 75/55, $95.

Pennington County Sheriff's department cases: Chad Michael Hengemuhle, 20, Thief River Falls, exhibition driving, $75.

Plummer man indicted for oil spill in Plummer

Randy Lee Konickson, vice president of Plummer Excavating, Inc., has been indicted by a federal grand jury in Minneapolis on charges of willfully violating the One-Call Notification System and a violation of the Oil Pollution Act. The charges stem from an incident on September 16, 1998, during which an employee of Plummer Excavating struck a crude oil pipeline with a backhoe.

This is the first case in the nation under the National One-Call law which requires that any person who engages in an excavation activity must first use an available one-call notification system to establish the location of underground pipelines in the excavation area.

Konickson was contacted by The Times on Thursday and he said he had no comment at this time.

According to the indictment, on or about September 11, Konickson ordered Bobby Joe Watne, an employee of Plummer Excavating, to remove rocks in a field adjacent to Plummer Excavating's facility. Neither Konickson nor his company obtained a One-Call excavating ticket prior to digging in the field, which they allegedly knew contained buried pipelines.

On September 16 Watne struck a crude oil pipeline with a backhoe. Watne informed Konickson of the incident, but he allegedly ordered Watne to cover the pipeline with dirt and not to tell anyone about it. Konickson did not report the incident to authorities.

The pipeline ruptured as a result of a gash in the pipeline and caused nearly 5,200 barrels or 218,000 gallons of crude oil to spill into the field and eventually into a county drainage ditch that flows into the Clearwater River. As a result of the crude oil leak and corresponding noxious fumes and fire hazards, authorities evacuated the town of Plummer.

According to the indictment, as a result of the oil leak, Lakehead Pipe Line Co. suffered over $1 million in damages, including actual damage to property of more than $50,000.

If convicted, Konickson faces a maximum potential penalty of five years in prison and/or a $250,000 fine for violating the One-Call law and up to one year in prison and/or a $250,000 fine for Oil Pollution Act violation. Plummer Excavating faces up to five years probation and/or a $250,000 fine for violating the One-Call law and up to one year probation and/or a $500,000 fine for a violation of the Oil Pollution Act. Any sentences would be determined by a judge based on the federal sentencing guidelines.

The case is the result of an investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency — Criminal Investigation Division, the U.S. Department of Transportation, the Minnesota Office of Pipeline Safety and the Red Lake County Sheriff's department. Assistant United States Attorney R.J. Zayed is prosecuting the case.

Warroad woman killed Sunday in Warroad accident

Lorraine Mae Lindgren, 76, Warroad, died following injuries sustained in an accident Sunday in Warroad, according to the Minnesota State Patrol.

Minnesota State Patrol received a report of the accident at 8:05 a.m. on Sunday, September 12. Lindgren was waiting at a stop sign on Moody in Warroad facing south when she drove her car into the intersection with Lake Street. Her vehicle was struck by a westbound pickup driven by 18-year-old Joshua Duane Tuorila, Warroad.

Lindgren was taken to the hospital where she later died from her injuries. Tuorila had a cut on his forehead.

Lindgren and Tuorila were not wearing seat belts. The Lindgren vehicle was considered a total loss. There was minor damage to the Tuorila vehicle.

Dakota Clinic - Foot Notes
by Mark Yuska, DPM (Podiatrist)
Bunions

A bunion (hallux valgus) occurs when the great toe begins to drift toward the second toe. As it moves, the first metatarsal bone is pushed outward, creating a bony protuberance at the base of the great toe.

This common deformity can develop in childhood, but more often during adulthood. Bunions are often the result of faulty foot mechanics causing them to progress with time. The deformity runs in families, but it is the foot type that is hereditary, not the bunion itself. People with flat feet are more prone to develop the problem than people with high arches. Arthritis and improper footwear are other causes. Women are more frequently affected with bunions; likely because hereditary factors are enhanced by restrictive footwear such as high heels.

The treatment plan selected by a doctor of podiatric medicine varies with the age, activity level, and health of the patient, as well as, with the severity of the bunion.

Conservative treatment measures may consist of supportive shoes with adequate size in the "toe box", pads, and/or custom-molded orthotics.

When conservative treatment does not provide satisfactory relief, or when the condition interferes with your activities and/or work, surgery may be necessary. Pain and deformity are significantly reduced in the great majority of patients who undergo surgery. In addition to easing pain, the purpose of bunion correction is to remove the bony enlargement and realign the joint to restore a more normal function and appearance of the foot.

Many surgical procedures are used to correct bunions depending on the severity, as well as, age and activity level. A podiatrist can provide detailed information on which course of treatment, conservative or surgical that best suits you and your painful bunion. Surgery may be performed at a hospital or surgical center. Most cases are performed under local anesthesia and on an outpatient basis.

Health Care issues addressed at federal and state levels

by Sen. Roger Moe

In recent weeks, much attention has been focused on the health care debate in Congress. The decisions made there will have a significant impact on everyone involved in the process -- patients, medical providers, businesses, health maintenance organizations (HMOs) and insurers.

At the same time, decisions made at the state level also have an impact on the health care coverage and medical care received by Minnesotans. Our state has been a leader not only in the medical products field, but also in the way health care services are delivered. We also have struggled with many of the growing pains associated with the growth of managed care.

This past legislative session was an active one for law changes affecting health care and associated issues. We passed bills dealing with health care consumer protection, the shortage of health care workers, nursing home regulations, and ambulance services among other things.

Some of the 1999 changes are discussed below.

Health Care Consumer Protection. Consumers will have a level playing field when it comes to resolving disputes with health plans through a uniform complaint process. Consumers having difficulty resolving problems with their health plan will be able to request independent dispute resolution. The consumer protection process was worked out with the help of the Minnesota Office of Dispute Resolution.

Health Care Workers. Health care workers in nursing homes and home health care providers will see higher pay and more benefits. Lawmakers are concerned about the statewide shortage of health care workers and it's apparent that skill levels necessary to carry out the duties of the jobs do not match with the pay currently available.

State medical assistance payments for health care facilities and home health programs have been increased by four percent in the current fiscal year, and three percent the next year. At least 80 percent of the new money received by nursing homes must go toward employee compensation increases.

Guaranteed Medicare Supplemental Coverage. Corresponding to a similar federal law change, Minnesota law now guarantees issuance of Medicare supplemental insurance without limits for pre-existing medical conditions. The previous state law contained instances in which coverage wasn't assured.

Nursing Home Regulations. Residents and family members may now have more say in the use of bed rails and other types of restraints for their protection. Residents (or family members in the event the resident is not competent) may now request their use but must have their physician certify that their use will address the medical circumstances of the resident.

To ease administration, nursing homes may require that residents use "unit-dose" drugs but cannot specify that drugs be ordered from a specific pharmacy. Also, incontinent nursing home residents must be checked according to a plan that meets the individual needs of the resident, rather than every two hours as previously required.

Ambulance Service Excellence. Three significant changes in laws affecting ambulance services are designed to improve service and lower costs. Of particular concern to smaller, rural ambulance services is a change that allows some flexibility in service levels between basic life support (BLS) and advanced life support (ALS). BLS services are now allowed to upgrade in providing ALS services on a part-time basis. In the past, qualifications for ALS required offering the advanced service on a 24-hour, seven days a week basis.

Ambulance services and other first responders also now have the benefit of peer review working with other medical professionals. Peer review is used by medical professionals to discuss and consider controversial incidents in an effort to find solutions when problems arise without fear that the information exchanged will result in civil litigation.

In addition, ambulance services are also now allowed to participate in shared service purchasing arrangements to obtain new ambulances, equipment and supplies, a change that is expected to reduce overall costs.

Rain delays Mn/DOT projects in NW Minnesota

Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) construction crews have been contending with project delays all summer due to the unexpected amount of rain that Northwest Minnesota has been receiving.

Two of the projects impacted are bridge replacements which have detours in place until the projects are at or near completion. Another project impacted is that portion of Trunk Highway 2 between Bagley and Solway.

The bridge over Mashaug Creek on T.H. 200 west of Mahnomen was expected to be completed in mid-September, however, according to Larry Randall, Mn/DOT project supervisor, the project completion date has been moved to the end of September and may be longer depending on the weather.

The other bridge project is over the Sand Hill River on T.H. 59 south of Winger. Mn/DOT Project Engineer J.T. Anderson reports that his project was scheduled for completion by mid-October but is now behind schedule at least two weeks. This delay will extend the time for the required detour into the end of October.

Duane Hill, project engineer for major improvements to that portion of T.H. 2 between Bagley and Solway said that with so much rain it was impossible to keep his project on its timeline which was scheduled for paving by mid-October. Hill stated, "we will continue working until freeze-up, but because of delays we will not be able to move the east bound traffic back to the other side of the road before winter. This means that the two-way traffic in the west bound lane will remain in place through the winter and into next summer when the project resumes."

An electronic message board is in place and began warning motorists today that the two-way traffic on the nine-mile stretch would be in place through the winter. In anticipation of winter plowing, Mn/DOT will remove the raised pavement markers sometime in October and motorists are being advised that they will need to be extremely cautious when approaching this area and traveling through it as the speed is reduced from 65 miles per hour to 55 miles per hour.

Mn/DOT is asking motorists for their continued cooperation to slow down and obey traffic signing instructions when approaching all highway work zones.

Agassiz refuge invites public to join in duck banding event

Interested persons from throughout the area are invited to participate with Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge staff in an evening of duck banding on Thursday, September 16. People of all ages are welcome and no pre-registration is required.

Participants will meet at the refuge headquarters office building by 5:30 p.m. and banding will be completed by dark. Refuge headquarters is located 11 miles east of Holt on Marshall County Road 7.

Interested persons can assist with banding ducks or simply come to observe the procedure. Rain wear or clothing which can withstand soiling is recommended for those who wish to assist with the banding.

If it is raining or ground conditions are too wet for Thursday evening, banding will be canceled and rescheduled for Tuesday, September 21. If it is necessary to cancel the banding on both of these evenings, a third date of Thursday, September 23, has been scheduled.

According to Gary Tischer of the Agassiz refuge staff, participants and observers will learn banding techniques including baiting, rocket and trap net set-up, caging, handling and sexing and aging of mallard ducks.

Other species including pintail, black duck, wood duck and blue-winged teal also are caught on occasion, providing an opportunity for an up-close view of these ducks.

"This is a hands-on experience for participants who would like to learn more about waterfowl and the procedure and reasons for the banding program," Tischer said. "If you would like more information, please call the refuge office at 218-449-4115."

Goals 2000 and other programs to be reviewed

Michele Bachmann and Mike Chapman of the Maple River Education Coalition will be speakers Saturday, September 18, at a public meeting to be held from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the National Guard armory in Thief River Falls.

Topics for discussion will be Goals 2000, the Profile of Learning, Teacher Re-Licensing Act, School-to-Work, Workforce Investment Act and local partnerships. A full hour is being allotted for a question and answer session, according to local organizers of the session.

Bachmann, Chapman and many others are concerned about the loss of local and parental control as a result of the educational programs which are now being implemented on a national level, including in all area school districts. Sponsors of the meeting encourage all parents and educators to attend, listen to the presentations and ask questions of the speakers.

There is no admission but donations will be accepted to help pay for building and public address system rental.

Multi-Events Center Phase I nears completion

Nearly all of the funds necessary to complete Phase I of the Multi-Events Center in Thief River Falls have been raised. During a Joint Powers Board meeting Wednesday it was announced that because of a recent $150,000 matching grant to the softball complex and the City of Thief River Falls by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, there remains only about $36,000 left to raise to complete Phase I.

Phase I includes the football field, track, bleachers, lockers and building center, softball fields, infrastructure and parking lot. Funds are still being sought to complete the rest of the project, which could include soccer fields, tennis courts, and a swimming pool.

Letter of thanks. The Joint Powers board approved a letter of thanks to the project's architectural firm of THA for a donation of $10,000 for work on the track.

The proposed dedication on September 25 of the Multi-Events Center has been postponed. Due to construction delays brought on by weather and other problems, the track and field is not ready for use. The Joint Powers Board is considering whether to hold an open house in October. The dedication of the facility has been tentatively scheduled for the fall of next year.

TRF United Way begins its 1999 fund campaign

"Caring Hearts Build Hope" is the theme for United Way's 1999 fundraising campaign. The Thief River Falls United Way, which provides financial assistance to as many as 38 non-profit human care service organizations, has set a goal of raising $120,000 this year.

Local businesses have already begun receiving information about this year's campaign, but the official kick-off begins during the second week of September. The campaign concludes in October and then solicitation of requests for assistance begins. Those requests are reviewed and by April, funds are awarded by the local board of directors, which is made up entirely of volunteers.

The board realizes, that the donations do not meet all of the needs of these 38 organizations, but this one fund-raising event helps eliminate duplication of effort among the many human service organizations receiving funds.

Executive Director Mary Anderson said, "The key to United Way's success is the volunteer. Because of countless hours of work by your friends and neighbors, our United Way is able to keep its operating costs at a minimum. This means that more dollars get to programs which help people right here in Thief River Falls."

The 1998 United Way campaign generated $116,000 in contributions. It hopes to raise $120,000 this year.

If you are missed during the upcoming fund-raising campaign and want to make a donation, contact the Thief River Falls United Way at 681-3303.

School Dist. 564's Early Childhood Family Education program notes 20 years

by Kathi Carlson
Times Reporter

On Sunday, September 19, the Early Childhood Family Education Program of School District 564 will host the Teddy Bear Band concert and picnic in observance of the program's 20th anniversary.

The outdoor activity will be held at the Challenger Preschool playground, and everyone is invited to bring their teddy bear, a picnic lunch and a chair or blanket to sit on and join the fun beginning at 4 p.m. Cost of the event will be $2 per family, and in the case of inclement weather, the concert will be held in the Challenger gyms.

Providing the entertainment will be the Teddy Bear Band, a group which originated with a group of EFCE dads and an early childhood teacher whose intention it was to perform a one-time benefit concert for the Bloomington/Richfield EFCE program.

In its 14-year history, the group has enjoyed phenomenal success, winning numerous awards and topping parent polls, and has produced two videos and five cassettes and compact discs. In its enjoyable program, the ensemble provides young children with opportunities for developmentally appropriate participation through music.

It's appropriate that the Teddy Bear Band was selected to provide the entertainment for this very important anniversary celebration for the Early Childhood Education Program which has known many successes of its own during its 20-year history in School District 564.

Joyce Froschheiser, the program's coordinator since its beginning in the 1979-80 school year, estimates that, through the years, the EFCE program has served over 7,000 local children and families in educational activities and that many more have attended the special activities of the program each year. That translates into thousands of children and parents who have benefited from the services of the program.

Froschheiser also says that during the 20-year span, the program has employed more than 20 teachers and 14 support staff members and has included more than 120 parents and community members who have served on its advisory board.

Currently, in addition to Froschheiser who also serves as one of the program's teachers, the staff includes Mary Broten, EFCE teacher for 10 years; Cindy Clow, EFCE teacher for seven years; Rosie Dahlen, educational assistant for three years; and Lisa Siroenson, secretary for four years.

The current EFCE advisory council includes Susan Hazard, chairperson, and Jean Larson, Bud Comstock, Amanda Okeson, Melanie Ortloff and Evadell Tangquist.

Also involved in the program are Nancy Tofte as community education director for School District 564 and Carolyn Haugen, secretary.

Statewide, the EFCE program began in 1974 with six pilot programs under legislation introduced by Sen. Jerome Hughes. In 1979-80, the program was expanded to include 36 school districts, including Thief River Falls. Today, more than 350 Minnesota school districts have ECFE programs, encompassing more than 99 percent of the state's ages 0-4 population.

Early participants will remember the program being called Children and Parents Learning Together (CPLT) from 1979 to 1986. Originally, the state intended for each program in each school district to have its own name and identity. In 1986, however, it realized the need for a state-wide name which families would recognize regardless of where they lived. At that time, the Thief River Falls program dropped the CPLT name and become EFCE.

Froschheiser notes that the program began with a budget of $30,000 and four staff members, serving 64 families with children between the ages of 2-1/2 and kindergarten. Seven classes were held along with Daddy N' Me nights and a number of special events, and original services included a library and newsletter.

Since that time, program services have been expanded to include evening classes, a library story hour, WIC program, home visits, teen and young parent services, making and receiving referrals, agency coordination, concert, a Safety Town educational program, a family literacy program and more.

Throughout the years, budget and staff have varied, and the program has been headquartered in six different locations. For the past five years, it has been located at Challenger Preschool.

Froschheiser also reports that the number of eligible children between the ages of birth and kindergarten is declining from a historical high of 1056 in 1979 to its current 747 children.

ECFE has been recognized as a national model for parent education and family support with its goals and objectives remaining constant through its history.

The overall goal is to strengthen families by enhancing and supporting parents' abilities in providing for their children's learning and development while providing opportunities for children to develop to their full potential.

Programs are based on the recognition of the home as a child's first learning environment and of parents as the child's primary and most influential teachers.

Objectives include (1) engaging the interest and talent of parents in recognizing and meeting the emotional, intellectual and physical needs of their children; (2) promoting healthy self-concepts among family members; (3) sharing alternative child rearing approaches with parents and offering them the opportunity to share skills, techniques and ideas with each other; and (4) providing creative learning experiences for both children and parents.

Statistics offer evidence in supporting the program's claim to success in preparing Minnesota's children for success in K-12 education.

A study showed that 72 percent of the children who participated in the family-centered program were more independent, had better communication skills and improved relationships with other children. Also, 65 percent of ECFE participants reported handling their own frustrations better, and 70 percent of parents studied reported using better guidance strategies with their children.

Recent advances in neuroscience have also offered new information and insights regarding infant brain development. Unlike other major body organs, the human brain is not fully developed at birth, and a baby's early interactions with parents and caregivers actually affects the size and architecture of the brain as it develops. Such research further substantiates the value and importance of programs such as Early Family Childhood Education.

Currently, the program is offering 13 classes with the fall quarter for this year beginning this week. Anyone who wants more information about ECFE or who is interested in the program and did not receive a newsletter is encouraged to call 681-8670. Froschheiser continues to seek more parents and children to participate in the program's daytime offerings.

As this program begins its third decade, it will, if it has not already, encounter a second generation of ECFE participants who will value the many benefits of early childhood family education.

For several years, Safety Town has been one of the special events sponsored by the Early Childhood Family Education (EFCE) program of School District 564.

This picture was taken during the 1980s at one of the ECFE program's special Daddy N' Me events. The program is currently celebrating its 20th anniversary as part of School District 564.

The photograph of this unidentified infant is among the many photographs that have been taken over the past 20 years by staff of the Early Family Childhood Education program at School District 564. The program has been responsible for many smiles throughout the years as it's provided fun and educational opportunities for children and families.

Infant massage is one of the special classes held by School District 564's Early Childhood Family Education program during its 20-year history.

Amy, you are a very dear daughter/sister. Your smile, your spirit, your goodness will remain alive in the hearts of everyone who knew you. So [illegible] full of life, we haven't forgotten how you walk, your voice, the way you danced, the love that was in our home. These memories ambush us at many unlikely moments and tear us apart. We live by your motto "laugh now, cry later" because people expect us to be better by now, so we continue to pretend. Life without you will always leave a hole in our hearts, but we will never let any part of you go. You will be with us always no matter where we go or what we do in life. Life can be the same after a trinket has been lost, but never the same after the loss of a treasure. Time takes away the edge of grief, but memory turns back every leaf.

Sadly missed
But lovingly remembered,

School Dist. 564's Early Childhood Family Education program notes 20 years

Such research further substantiates the value and importance of programs such as Early Family Childhood Education.

Currently, the program is offering 13 classes with the fall quarter for this year beginning this week. Anyone who wants more information about ECFE or who is interested in the program and did not receive a newsletter is encouraged to call 681-8670. Froschheiser continues to seek more parents and children to participate in the program's daytime offerings.

As this program begins its third decade, it will, if it has not already, encounter a second generation of ECFE participants who will value the many benefits of early childhood family education.

The photograph of this unidentified infant is among the many photographs that have been taken over the past 20 years by staff of the Early Family Childhood Education program at School District 564. The program has been responsible for many smiles throughout the years as it's provided fun and educational opportunities for children and families.

Infant message is one of the special classes held by School District 564's Early Childhood Family Education program during its 20-year history.

JULY 24/80— SEPTEMBER 8/97
Amy you are a very dear daughter/sister. Your smile, your spirit, your goodness will remain alive in the hearts of everyone who knew you. So much love-so full of life, we haven't forgotten how you walk, your voice, the way you dance, the love that was in our home. These memories ambush us at many unlikely moments and tear us apart. We live by your motto "laugh now, cry later" because people expect us to be better by now, so we continue to pretend. Life without you will always leave a hole in our hearts, but we will never let any part of you go. You will be with us always no matter where we go or what we do in life. Life can be the same after a trinket has been lost, but never the same after the loss of a treasure. Time takes away the edge of grief, but memory turns back every leaf.
Sadly missed
But lovingly remembered,
Mom, Dennis, Robby

Q&A SOCIAL SECURITY

Provided by the Social Security District Office in Grand Forks, ND

Q. How many Social Security cards does Social Security process each month?

A. A lot. During July 1999 the agency processes about 1,215,902 Social Security number applications for those who have never had a number before, are changing their names or need to replace a lost card. Locally, the Grand Forks district processed 502 applications during the month of July.

To replace a lost card, you need to complete the application (ss-5) and present current identification.

To a change a name, you need the application and documentation such as a marriage or divorce certificate which show the name change. A variety of other documents are also accepted if they identify you by both names.

Evidence required for an original card will vary so you need to read the instructions on the applications. If you have questions, call the national toll-free number at 1-800-772-1213. Photocopies of documents are not accepted. Original documents will be returned. The process can usually be completed by mail or in person, and the ss-5 application can be obtained from the agency website, www.ssa.gov or at any Social Security Administration office. There is no charge for any Social Security number activity.

Q. Can I start Medicare coverage at age 65 even if I am working full-time and not planning to start retirement benefits?

A. Yes, you certainly can. You will still need to complete an application, and depending on your individual circumstances such as expected earnings during the year, it may be possible to pay some SSA retirement benefits even though you are working.

Where to spend the New Year's celebration? Advertisements are already appearing for resorts and hotels, cruise lines, casinos and nightclubs.

Don't miss the "party of the millenium," they say.

What a bunch of bunk. New Year's is a useless holiday, a mere creature of our calendar. This particular New Year is nothing more than a big round number. It would be completely without meaning if there weren't the threat of a few computers going goofy.

I get more thrilled when my car's odometer turns over to 100,000 miles. Now there's a big round number with meaning. Turning over an odometer is a time to pull over and reminisce about one's car. I get misty-eyed every time it happens.

But New Year's leaves me cold. I have tried to go out and join the crowd. I have paid a bunch of money to get in the door, only to be handed some noisemakers and a silly cap. I usually leave before midnight to get home before the road clutters up with tipsy drivers.

The most fun I ever had on New Year's was when I stayed home with the flu. While wallowing in my misery, I noticed an 800 number on the side of my 7UP can. "If you have comments about this product, please call this number 24 hours a day, 365 days per year."

I called. Sure enough, an operator was waiting to take my comments at 11 pm New Year's Eve! I told the woman that I just wanted to take a moment on this important day to thank the people at 7UP for all they had done for me during my illness. She thanked me very much, and wished me a happy New Year.

The holiday spirit overtook me. I went to the fridge. Sure enough, there was an 800 number on the milk carton. And the orange juice bottle. And the salad dressing! I called them all, thanked them for their wonderful products, and talked to the operators about spending New Year's Eve waiting for people to call with comments on yogurt.

Were they lonely? No. In fact, they and the other operators were having a good time. They were relieved, they said, to have an excuse to stay away from all of the obligatory parties. I told them I was relieved to have the flu so I could stay away from the celebrations, too.

That was in high school, as you may have guessed. Now, I am old enough not to need the flu as an excuse to stay home. When the big odometer turns over this New Year's, I will be beside the fire reading a book. If the electricity goes out, I'll light a candle and keep on reading.

Public invited to forums on volunteerism

Lieutenant Governor Mae Schunk is inviting Minnesotans to discuss volunteerism at a community forum. The Minnesota Office of Citizenship and Volunteer Services (MOCVS) is organizing nine meetings around the state to gather information from volunteers to document the role and impact of volunteerism.

Meetings held in our area include: September 20 from 3 to 5 p.m. at St. Joseph's Church in Moorhead; and September 21 from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. at Paul's Playhouse in Bemidji.

"I would like to see all sorts of volunteers attend these meetings," said Lt. Governor Schunk. "If you are a student or a mentor, whether you volunteer at your church, in your neighborhood or for a non-profit organization, we would like to hear your stories."

Stories and information gathered from volunteers will be included in the 5-year study conducted by MOCVS, State of Volunteerism 2000 Report. Organizers of the forums are seeking comments about the impact of volunteerism, emerging trends and why people are motivated to volunteer. In addition to stories and comments about volunteerism, written remarks and photos will also be appreciated.

For more information call MOCVS at 651-296-4731 or 1-800-234-6687.

SPEAKING OF . . .

...Wisdom of the Ages

These might make you smile, bring a tear to your eye, or give you a perspective on something, but no matter what, they are worth reading.

What I Have Learned...

Age 6: I've learned that I like my teacher because she cries when we sing "Silent Night."

Age 7: I've learned that our dog doesn't want to eat my broccoli either.

Age 9: I've learned that when I wave to people in the country, they stop what they are doing and wave back.

Age 12: I've learned that just when I get my room the way I like it, Mom makes me clean it up again.

Age 14: I've learned that if you want to cheer yourself up, you should try cheering someone else up.

Age 15: I've learned that although it's hard to admit it, I'm secretly glad my parents are strict with me.

Age 24: I've learned that silent company is often more healing than words of advice.

Age 26: I've learned that brushing my child's hair is one of life's great pleasures.

Age 29: I've learned that wherever I go, the world's worst drivers have followed me there.

Age 39: I've learned that if someone says something unkind about me, I must live so that no one will believe it.

Age 42: I've learned that there are people who love you but just don't know how to show it.

Age 44: I've learned that you can make someone's day by simply sending them a little note.

Age 46: I've learned that the greater a person's sense of guilt, the greater his or her need to cast blame on others.

Age 47: I've learned that children and grandparents are natural allies.

Age 48: I've learned that no matter what happens or how bad it seems today, life does go on, and it will be better tomorrow.

Age 49: I've learned that singing "Amazing Grace" can lift my spirit for hours.

Age 50: I've learned that motel mattresses are better on the side away from the phone.

Age 52: I've learned that keeping a vegetable garden is worth a medicine cabinet full of pills.

Age 53: I've learned that regardless of your relationship with your parents, you miss them terribly after they die.

Age 58: I've learned that making a living is not the same thing as making a life.

Age 61: I've learned that if you want to do something positive for your children, work to improve your marriage.

Age 62: I've learned that life sometimes gives you a second chance.

Age 64: I've learned that you shouldn't go through life with a catcher's mitt on both hands.

Age 65: I've learned that if you pursue happiness, it will elude you. But if you focus on your family, the needs of others, your work, meeting new people, and doing the very best you can, happiness will find you.

Age 66: I've learned that whenever I decide something with kindness, I usually make the right decision.

Age 72: I've learned that everyone can use a prayer.

Age 75: I've learned that it pays to believe in miracles. And to tell the truth, I've seen several.

Age 82: I've learned that even when I have pains, I don't have to be one.

Age 85: I've learned that every day you should reach out and touch someone. People love that human touch — holding hands, a warm hug, or just a friendly pat on the back.

Age 92: I've learned that I still have a lot to learn.

TIMES FOR TODDLERS

ACTIVITIES

Fill It Up And Pour It Out

Water play is perfect for teaching about opposites! Some plastic cups and a tub of water are all it takes to reinforce the concepts of full and empty. Your child(ren) can fill the cups with water and then empty them out. As they do so, have them tell if the cup is full or empty. To add to the fun, sing the following song:

Fill It Up and Pour It Out
(Tune "Here We Go 'Round the Mulberry Bush")

This is the way we fill it up.
Fill it up, fill it up.
This is the way we fill it up.
Now the cup is full.
This is the way we pour it out,
Pour it out, pour it out.
This is the way we pour it out
To empty out the cup.

Families and Television

Ninety-eight percent of all households in the United States own one or more television sets. Television wisely used can be a wonderful entertainment source in a family. But, like everything else television can also have harmful effects.

Following are some ways to use television to help, not harm, your child.

•Don't use television as a babysitter. It may seem harmless to place children in front of the television, regardless of the quality of programming, when you are busy around the house. However children build strong family ties from their participation in household chores. As much as possible include them in these activities.

•Carefully select the shows your family watches. Be the parent and insist that certain shows are off limits.

•Set aside a time for "family shows" you watch together. When parents and children talk about the program's content, family members gain insight about the program and each other.

•Don't use television as a reward or punishment. If you do, you can place too much value on the medium. Instead try to think of something more directly tied to the child's behavior.

•Be as selective with your child's television diet as you are with what he or she eats. Just as we are what we eat, to some extent, so, too, we are what we watch.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Talk about what is real and what is pretend. Young children tend to think that any program with people in it is real. They do not understand the concept of acting.

Adam Haviland attends Business Venture camp

Adam Haviland, a student at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls, recently attended Minnesota Business Venture (MBV), a summer business and career camp at the College of St. Scholastica in Duluth. He was provided with a scholarship to attend the camp by AT&T.

Minnesota Business Venture is a week-long camp that introduces Minnesota high school students to the world of business, career opportunities and leadership training. Each day, participants are immersed in activities that demonstrate techniques to help them succeed in tomorrow's workplace. Activities include inventing a product and pitching it in a radio commercial, interviewing for a job, creating a business plan and participating in commodities market trading.

MBV participants are placed into groups of 10 to 12 which are known as "companies." Each company is led by a Resident Business Leader — a volunteer from the business community who has donated a week of his or her time to lead and mentor the students in all activities. This year the leaders represented more than 100 Minnesota businesses.

Speakers from businesses also presented information on such topics as marketing, entrepreneurship, technology in the workplace and international business. Two other sessions of Minnesota Business Venture were held at Minnesota State University in Mankato and St. John's University at Collegeville. MBV is funded through financial support of more than 250 Minnesota businesses, financial institutions, private foundations and individuals.

Thief River Falls housing project receives grant funds

Sherwood Park Townhomes project in Thief River Falls, has been awarded two grants — $290,041 from the Minnesota Housing Finance Agency's Affordable Rental Investment Fund, and $180,000 from the Greater Minnesota Housing Fund. The project had previously been awarded $122,299 from Minnesota Housing Finance Agency's New Construction Tax Credit Mortgage program.

The housing project will be located in the newly created Tax Increment Financing district on Sherwood Avenue across from the Multi-Events Center, and next to Northland Apartments. This housing proposal is for the construction of an 18-unit townhome development, which will provide permanent rental housing in Thief River Falls for individuals of low and moderate income.

The Sherwood Park Townhome project was one of two developments in northwestern Minnesota selected to receive funds. The other project, which received $74,016, is located in Bemidji.

The board of directors of the Minnesota Housing Finance Agency (MHFA) recently approved funding for 48 multi-family developments providing a total of 1,393 units throughout Minnesota for a total of $17.3 million.

The MHFA joined with other funding agencies several years ago to offer a single concept-based Request for Proposal, which allows organizations to request funds for a specific development concept rather than from a number or variety of housing programs. Funding agencies involved in this process with MHFA include the Family Housing Fund, the Metropolitan Council, the Greater Minnesota Housing Fund and the Minneapolis Public Housing Authority.

Members of the Hutterian Colony from Forest River, ND, known as the Forest River Salvage Company, brought in a backhoe to push down the walls of the St. Hilaire school building Saturday, September 11, after a controlled burn of the structure by the St. Hilaire Volunteer Fire Department. In the photo on the left, the backhoe is putting its pressure on the south wall of the building at the center. In the center photo, the final standing corner at the southeast of the former school building is being attacked and finally, in the photo on the right, the backhoe has begun to level the smoldering heap of bricks and metal. - Photos courtesy of Patrikk and Donna Myhrer, both former students at the St. Hilaire school.

A smoky haze filled the walls of the former St. Hilaire school building Saturday, September 11, after all the combustible material was destroyed in a controlled burn by the St. Hilaire Volunteer Fire Department. A few hours later the walls of the building were demolished by the Forest River Salvage Company. children.

The demolition of the building was conducted by several members of the Forest River Salvage company, a division of the Forest River Hudderian colony. In addition to the colony's extensive farming operations, this organization has been in the business of cleaning up after elevator fires and other demolished buildings in a large part of Minnesota and North Dakota for many years. The senior member of that work force mentioned that he has been doing this for the colony since 1952.

Can you handle a little more nostalgia?

Eighty years ago, on April 10, 1919, the St. Hilaire Spectator reported: "A New School Is Proposed; Special Election Is Called For April 22 To Vote On Bond Issue.

"St. Hilaire proposes to build a new school house this year to supply a crying demand for better school quarters. Preliminary sketches are on display at the post office. The plans call for a brick building, complete with heating plant, ventilating system and plumbing. The estimated cost of this building is $50,000." It was also mentioned that the building would be faced with special wire-cut brick and would have birch flooring throughout."

A week later:

"St. Hilaire Is Assured a Modern $50,000 School To Be Ready By Fall

"This village, long burdened with an old frame building as a city school, will soon have a modern up-to-date structure. District #102 voted 152 to 18 in favor of the $50,000 bond. Seventy-nine votes were cast by women [who at that time under state and federal law could only vote in school district elections] with 72 of them in favor and five opposed. Now, instead of a three-year high school program, there are also plans for a complete four-year high school department and the district may add an agricultural course later.

"The proposed site at the north end of Broadway, in what is known as the Hooper tract, is beautifully located on the Jefferson Highway [Highway 32] and in full view of passing trains on the railroad a block west, and, best of all, is only 500 feet from the river [for the purpose of piping the school's sewage]. A school is required to have at least a five-acre open area to sustain an agricultural course." This site was also voted on later, with 130 to 42 in favor.

The contracts were let in June, 1919. There were six bids for general contractor. This bid was originally awarded to L.B. McAdams of Thief River Falls on his bid of $41,500. Ed Lee of Thief River Falls got the plumbing contract for $4,370, E. F. Wheeler of Red Lake Falls got the bid to do the electrical wiring for $1,349 and Charles A. Hooper of Wisconsin got the bid for installing the heating equipment for $8,433. There were strong expectations voiced that the building would be done by late fall of that year.

But then in July the Spectator announced that:

"Present indications are that building of the new school will be delayed until next spring. Labor conditions and [illegible] in securing [illegible] to attempt any building this fall. Some work will be done this fall however."

In September 1919 the school board decided they were not happy with the delays, however, and readvertised the bid for general contractor. This time it was awarded to A. E. Rydlum of Minneapolis on his bid of $48,500. He completed the excavation for the basement and poured the concrete for it by November and then work was resumed in the spring.

The following September, 1920, courses began at the beginning of the month, although the paper remarked that the interior was not complete and there weren't enough desks. These problems were soon remedied. S. L. Johnson was principal (and also basketball coach). There were four high school classes, two intermediate classes and two primary classes with teachers in each. There were 140 students in the entire school, about 12 per grade.

During the first semester that year, classes offered for the high school students included English, Elementary Algebra, Plane Geometry, Civil Government, General Science, Modern History, Manual Training, as well as three new classes: Physics, Domestic Science (Cooking) and Animal Husbandry. Later in the fall, a Red Cross nurse was stationed in the area and offered to teach home nursing classes to the girls.

The Spectator stated that:

"In the Domestic Science department the girls canned nine quarts of tomatoes, which are intended to be part of the hot lunches they will serve." During one week in November, these hot lunches (which were not full meals, but only intended to supplement the cold lunches children brought from home) included creamed tomato soup on Monday, spaghetti and cheese on Tuesday, baked pork and beans on Wednesday, creamed carrots on Thursday and cocoa on Friday."

About this time in the "School Reports" column in the Spectator, a bit of humor was evident with the following "ads":

Wanted: Rows of desks kept perfectly straight in the assembly room. - Mr. Johnson

Found: Too much noise in the hall. - Mr. Johnson

Wanted: Less talking and more work in Algebra class. - Miss Anderson

Found: The following words in recent English exams: ambisiousness, revegence, treatury, practicle and five separate ways to spell "tragedy."

After a 19-12 loss in basketball against Greenbush, the column reported:

Why the Basketball Team Lost:
Sigurd: The baskets were loose.
Hazen: The floor was too slippery.
Nels: I like to see the others shoot.
Melvin: Ask Leo.
Leo: It wasn't my fault.
Harvy (the sub): I didn't get into the game soon enough.
Mr. Johnson: Ahem!

The dedication of the new school building took place on Friday evening, January 28, 1921. George A. Selke of the state board of education attended and gave the dedicatory address.

Twenty-two years later in 1943 the high school portion of the school was closed. The Thief River Falls Times reported on September 9, 1943: "As a result of a last minute decision of the St. Hilaire board of education not to operate the high school there this year due to the impossibility of securing a teaching staff, 57 [ninth through twelfth grade] students from that district are being transported here." This difficulty in getting teachers was on account of World War II.

From 1943 to 1968 there were eight grades at the school which annually gave out eighth grade graduation diplomas. In 1968 the eight grades were reduced to six and then in 1980 to five. In 1971 the St. Hilaire School District #102 was consolidated with School District #564 and the school was remodeled. After the school was closed in 1982, the building was sold to Doug Dehnert for a few years and later he sold it to the City of St. Hilaire.

Since then the gym has received heavy usage for open house celebrations (such as for birthdays and anniversaries), for activities like exercise classes and, for the past three years, for a youth program operated by Sean and Stacy Myhrer for the children of St. Hilaire.

The south side door of the former St. Hilaire school building opened on a pile of rubble left from the controlled burn of the building by the St. Hilaire Volunteer Fire Department Saturday, September 11, under the supervision of Fire Chief Joe Hoglo, a former student at the school. Over half of the 17 members of the fire department who assisted with the burn had been students there in their earlier days. According to Chief Hoglo, the burn went very well, with wind, weather and expertise of the firefighters all working together in excellent form. - Photos courtesy of Patrikk and Donna Myhrer, both former students at the St. Hilaire school.

New law protects consumers against plumbing losses

Effective August 1, any person contracting to do plumbing work in Minnesota will be required by law to obtain a $25,000 "code compliance" bond.

The new requirement was adopted in an effort to protect consumers from financial losses that may result when a plumber fails to correct work that does not comply with the state plumbing code.

The new law replaces previous law that allowed but did not require licensed master plumbers to file a $2,000 bond with the state. Plumbers were allowed to use the state bonding mechanism in lieu of being bonded with a local unit of government, in jurisdictions with a local bonding requirement. The old law allowed plumbers to pay for a single bond with the state, rather than paying for a separate bond with each jurisdiction with a bonding requirement.

Master plumbers who already have a $2,000 bond with the state for 1999 will not be required to obtain a bond meeting new requirements until next year.

Under the new law, plumbers can be bonded either with the state or with local government. However, the requirement will now apply statewide — not just in jurisdictions with a local bonding requirement. In addition, whether the bond is filed with the state or a local unit of government, it will still have to meet the requirements of the new law.

The law requires a bond that can be used to reimburse consumers for up to $25,000 in costs, in cases where the consumer ends up paying to correct work that doesn't meet code requirements. While previous bonding requirements applied only to licensed master plumbers, the new requirement applies to any person contracting to do plumbing work in the state regardless of whether they're licensed or not.

The new bonding law will do a better job of protecting consumers, according to Gary Topp, who supervises the plumbing program at the Minnesota Department of Health (MDH).

"The old $2,000 bond amount usually wasn't enough to cover the cost of correcting non-complying work, even for one small job," Topp said. The bonds often provide a necessary consumer safeguard, Topp noted. As an example, he cited two recent cases where plumbers had done non-complying work.

"When we inspected these projects, we found conditions where failure to correct the work would have exposed occupants of the buildings to potentially unhealthy and unsafe conditions," Topp said. "Also, in one of these cases, consumers of food products processed in the building would also have been at risk.

"Neither of the plumbers who did this work were bonded, and both walked away from the jobs without correcting the work," he said. "Each of the two affected building owners then had to pay another plumber more than $10,000 to bring the project into compliance with state code requirements."

For the year 2000, master plumbers will not have the option of renewing their previous bond coverage by providing a continuation bond, because the type as well as the amount of required bonding coverage will change under the new law.

Bonds provided under the old law were "performance" bonds, which covered potential losses incurred by the plumber's suppliers and subcontractors, as well as losses incurred by consumers in connection with work that fails to meet code requirements. The new law only requires a "code compliance" bond, which only covers consumer losses resulting from non-complying work.

The switch to a mandatory $25,000 code compliance bond was support by industry groups, as well as work groups that were set up to advise MDH on plumbing issues, Topp noted. Bonds provided under the new law will cover the current calendar year, and will apply to all projects done by a bonded plumbing contractor during that year.

Because the new law only requires a compliance bond, rather than a performance bond, the cost of obtaining a bond is not expected to increase significantly — if at all — event though the amount of coverage will increase from $2,000 to $25,000.

Ridgewater swamps NCTC

■ Pioneers' unbeaten status ends with 31-7 loss

Mike Williams had just 11 carries Saturday, but the Ridgewater freshman runningback did major damage almost every time he touched the ball with a four-touchdown, 192-yard rushing performance in a decisive 31-7 Minnesota Community College Conference football win over Northland.

The two teams entered the game with identical 2-0 records, but that fact was lost soon after the 1:30-p.m. opening kickoff at Willmar when Williams broke off 42 and 87-yard first quarter touchdown runs. He scored on runs of 5 and 23 yards in the third quarter.

"We missed tackles on every one of his runs," pointed out Northland coach Dan Willoughby. "We either ran by him, or didn't wrap up when we made the hits."

Northland cut the early Ridgewater lead in half on a 35-yard second quarter touchdown pass from Mike Svojanovski to Devin Pavlacky.

First half scoring ended with a 23-yard field goal by Ed Edelbak of Ridgewater, and Williams put the game away with his two third quarter scores.

It was a disappointing outing for the Pioneers, who surprised observers with season-opening wins over Central Lakes 28-26 and Fergus Falls 16-8 but were out-gained by Ridgewater 454-227 in total offense.

"We didn't go after them; they came after us," said Willoughby. "Defensively, we had a heck of a time fighting off their blockers, and offensively we didn't attack them."

The Pioneers' Scott Olson, named MCCC Northern Division Offensive Player of the Week after both season-opening wins, was limited to 47 yards on 11 carries this time out. Matt Hitchen had 44 yards on 9 attempts.

Strong safety Jayson Robinson led the Pioneers with five unassisted tackles and five assisted stops. Linebacker Mike Moore came up with four tackles and six assisted stops.

Northland will host Minnesota West Saturday in a 12-noon game at Prowler Field that will close out the Pioneers' first half season swing through the MCCC Southern Division.

Final four games will be played against Northern Division rivals Hibbing, Vermilion, Itasca, and Mesabi Range. Games against teams from the other division are worth one point in the MCCC standings, while divisional match-ups are two-point affairs. Top two regular season finishers in both divisions advanced to the post-season state playoff semifinals.

The Minnesota West contest will be the Pioneers' first game in Thief River Falls, but technically it won't be their 1999 home opener. That was the Sept. 4 match-up with Fergus Falls that was moved to Memorial Stadium on the University of North Dakota campus in Grand Forks because of the rain-soaked field conditions here. Those conditions haven't improved, and with a Thief River Falls vs. Crookston high school game scheduled at Prowler Field Friday night, the playing surface will hardly be ideal Saturday afternoon.

Red Lake knocks off RLCC

Red Lake posted its first high school football win ever over Red Lake County Central Friday, 34-12.

The Mustangs, after falling behind 14-0, scored on the final play of the first half when Carl Dugstad and Matt Hruby hooked up on a 47-yard touchdown pass.

Red Lake County Central followed that half-ending score with an eight-minute drive to open the third quarter, but failed to reach the end zone. The one-touchdown spread then ballooned to 34-6 on three final quarter Red Lake touchdowns, the last of which was a 20-yard fumble recovery and run by Scott Pemberton off a fourth down Red Lake County Central sack.

A 19-yard run by the Mustangs' Wade Westlake closed out the scoring in the late-afternoon match-up at Red Lake.

"They (Red Lake) played well," pointed out Red Lake County Central coach Gary Brantl. "That's probably the best team they've had in a while. I think some of our guys were looking back at last year (a 62-20 Red Lake County Central win in the 1998 regular season finale) and thinking we were going to have another easy game."

Personnel losses in the line due to injuries and rules violations, likely played a role in the outcome, mentioned Brantl, but he wasn't using it as an excuse. The credit, it was emphasized, belonged to Red Lake.

Westlake carried the ball 20 times for 163 yards and Hruby had 15 rushes for 66 yards in the Mustangs' 38-attempt, 227-yard ground game. Dugstad was 5-for-10 passing for 72 yards, with one touchdown and one interception. Hruby caught three passes for 60 yards.

Defensively, Hruby topped the Mustangs' tackle charts with 13, while Westlake had 10, Benji Kvasager 8, and Chris Lessard 7.

Red Lake County Central, a 22-0 winner over Tri-County in the 1999 season opener, will play Norman County West Friday in a 6 p.m. homecoming game at Plummer.

Prowlers win second straight game on the road, 34-21...

TRF comeback tops Hibbing

Three unanswered fourth quarter touchdowns carried Thief River Falls past Hibbing 34-21 Friday in high school football. Coupled with a 13-7 first week win over Spring Lake Park, the Prowlers are off to their first 2-0 start since 1980.

However, the performance against the Bluejackets didn't match the Prowlers' strong first-week showing against the Panthers, particularly in the second quarter when turnovers and penalties helped create a 14-7 halftime deficit.

"We made some of the mistakes I thought we'd make in the first game," explained Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm. We had fumbles and holding penalties that kept us from doing anything offensively in the second quarter."

The Prowlers did get off to a good start, with a nine-play, first-possession scoring drive that ended with a 16-yard Nick Drees touchdown run and a Bailey Nordin conversion kick.

An exchange of fumbles deep in Thief River Falls territory wound up putting Hibbing in position for a second quarter touchdown on a 1-yard run by T.J Renskers. The Bluejackets failed to add the conversion, but they were back in the end zone on their next possession – a nine-play, 59-yard drive that led to a 17-yard touchdown run by Will Senich. Quarterback Brad Willis tacked on a two-point conversion run for a 14-7 halftime advantage.

Duplicating their game-opening effort, the Prowlers pulled even on their first possession of the second half as Brian Loe broke away on a a 63-yard run and Nordin made the kick.

Hibbing answered with a 14-play, 70-yard third quarter scoring drive to go back on top 21-14 on a 5-yard touchdown run by Linden Zakula and a kick by Senich.

Thief River Falls came right back with a 35-yard Brad Bulger-to-Josh Gallagher pass that was the big gainer on an eight-play, 74-yard touchdown drive capped by a 1-yard Ben Myers run. Nordin's kick tied it again at 21-21.

Three successive penalties against Hibbing in a punting situation – a hold, a motion call and a personal foul – all added up to Thief River Falls possession at the Prowlers' 39-yard near the middle of the fourth quarter. Six plays later Loe scored from 25 yards out to put Thief River Falls up for good, 28-21.

Moments later the Bluejackets lost a fumble at their own 31, an opportunity the Prowlers quickly converted into a game-clinching 14-yard touchdown run by Myers.

"The kids showed a lot of character in the coming back like that," said Mumm. "They grew up in the second half. Hibbing was playing well, and we got a little rattled in the second quarter, but they settled down and played well in the second half."

Loe, who had a 15-carry, 168-yard game against Spring Lake Park, followed that with a 134-yard effort against Hibbing on 13 carries as the Prowlers out-gained the Bluejackets 302-243 in total yards.

"Offensively we eliminated some mistakes and held on to the football in the second half," explained Mumm. "We got some great performances from kids in the middle of the defensive line, and our defensive backs played well. We need to be more disciplined on the ends and at linebacker."

MCC 24, Kittson Central 22...

Nordics beat Wolfpack for the first time

Marshall County Central turned heads Friday with a 24-22 high school football win over Kittson Central at Newfolden. The Nordics have been at, or near, the bottom of the Top of the State Conference standings in recent years, while the Wolfpack have been perennial title contenders – not only within league, but in section and Nine-Man state competition, too.

A year ago a one-win Marshall County Central season included a 47-0 drubbing at the hands of Kittson Central.

"It was a really big win for us," said second-year Marshall County Central head coach Scott Parker. "We played really well. We made the reads and made the plays. We had our share of mistakes, but fortunately, they weren't the really big mistakes; they were smaller mistakes, and we were able to overcome them."

It was the first Marshall County Central win ever over the Hallock-Kennedy cooperative.

Kittson Central led 6-0 at the end of the first quarter and had a 14-12 halftime edge.

First two Marshall County Central touchdowns were scored on passes to Keegan Halvorson – the first on a 25-yard halfback option toss from Bjorn Halvorson and the second on a 13-yard throw from quarterback Zach Holthusen.

The Nordics went ahead 18-14 in the third quarter when Bjorn Halvorson scored on a 5-yard run, and picked up what proved to be the winning touchdown on a 47-yard Matt Waterworth breakaway early in the fourth quarter.

Mitch Deere threw a pair of touchdown passes for the Wolfpack.

Bjorn Halvorson had a busy 31-carry night that netted the 5-9, 170-pound senior 201 yards. Waterworth had a 15-carry, 93-yard effort.

Play in the offensive line by Tyler Knutson and Barry Pederson was instrumental in opening holes for the Nordics' backs, noted Parker. "They did a fantastic job," he said.

Defensively, Mike Filimore, Bjorn Halvorson and Waterworth were standouts at linebacker, mentioned Parker, whose team faces another challenge Friday when they host Kittson County North.

Haviland sets pool mark

Chelsea Haviland not only rewrites the Lincoln High School girls swim team record books, she is also leaving her mark at almost every building she competes in. The Thief River Falls sophomore, the defending Class A state diving champion, broke the pool record at the Bemidji Invitational Saturday while winning the diving competition with 266 points.

The week before Haviland broke her own school record and also set a pool record in a meet at Fergus Falls.

Bemidji won its own invitational team title with 521 points, followed by Moorhead with 456, Warroad 436, Thief River Falls 359, Detroit Lakes 206, Roseau 160, Crookston 64, and Perham 57.

Haviland also had a third place finish in the 200 individual medley. Other Thief River Falls points in the finals came from fourth place finishes by Kristin Naplin in the 100 backstroke, Cami Hendrickson in the 50 freestyle and the 400 freestyle relay; along with fifth place efforts by Naplin in the 100 freestyle, Alissa Norland in diving, plus the 200 medley and 200 freestyle relays.

TRF consolation champ

A four-match split produced a consolation trophy for Thief River Falls Saturday at the Ada-Borup Invitational high school volleyball tournament.

In the round-robin pool play portion of the tournament, the Prowlers fell to Crookston 2-0, beat Climax-Fisher 2-1 and lost to Red Lake County Central 2-0. They finished the day with a 2-0 trophy round victory over Dilworth-Glyndon-Felton.

Crookston handled Thief River Falls 15-8, 15-2 to start the day. "We got in a hole right away," mentioned Thief River Falls coach Amy Roche. "We just didn't play very well."

Rachel Mathson came up with seven kills and Kylie Rogalla had six kills and four aces in the Prowlers' 16-14, 12-15, 15-10 decision over the Knights. Ayla Donlin and Becky Bray also had six kills each. "I thought we really played well against Climax-Fisher," offered Roche. "It was a really good match."

Thief River Falls beat Red Lake County Central earlier in the week, but the Mustangs took the tournament encounter 15-12, 15-11. Mathson led the Prowlers with eight kills and Bray had seven. "They were close games," noted Roche. "We just didn't get the points."

A strong offensive showing carried Thief River Falls past Dilworth-Glyndon-Felton in the consolation match-up 15-7, 20-18. Mathson put away 11 kills and Bray had seven, while Donlin set up her teammates with 21 assists. "We played really well," said Roche. "We were just smashing the ball. We didn't miss very many (spike) attempts."

"Overall, we did okay," said Roche. "We're a little up and down yet, but I think we're improving every game, and that's the most important thing right now."

Prowlers host Pirates

After back-to-back trips to the Twin Cities area and the Iron Range to open the 1999 high school football season, Thief River Falls has probably logged more miles than any other team in the state at this point. In fact, those two trips probably surpass the total mileage many teams rack up for an entire season.

This week the Prowlers won't need a travel agent. They will make their home debut Friday with a 7 p.m. game against long-time rival Crookston. Both are 2-0, with Thief River Falls beating Spring Lake Park 13-7 and Hibbing 34-21, while Crookston has knocked off Wadena-Deer Creek 12-0 and Perham 14-8.

The Pirates are coming off a 9-4 season in which they reached the Class AAA state semifinals. Top players returning from that team include 6-2, 210-pound senior linebacker Chris Coauette, Crookston's leading tackler last year and a college prospect; 6-2, 175-pound senior quarterback Carl Hunt; and senior center Don Doty.

Thief River Falls won last year's meeting 14-13.

"It should be a great match-up," said Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm. "They're as good a football team as we'll face all year."

A waterlogged Prowler Field could slow down both teams, warned Mumm. "The field conditions will play a role," he said. "It's as wet as I've ever seen it out there."

Football JV squad falls to Roseau, Devils Lake

Points have been hard to come by for the Thief River Falls junior varsity high school football team. In two starts the sophomore-junior mixture has produced just two touchdowns in losses to Roseau 26-8 and Devils Lake, ND 19-8.

John Sylvester scored the lone touchdown in the Thursday loss to Roseau, with Mike Langland catching a conversion pass from John Marben.

Gators lose game, quarterback

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River lost starting quarterback David Truscinski to a knee injury on the third play of the game Friday and struggled the rest of the night offensively in a 14-6 high school football setback at Ada-Borup.

Truscinski left before he even took a center snap. The injury came when he was positioned at free safety on defense.

"That really hurt," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Tom Neibauer. "You take your quarterback out of your veer offense, and you've got trouble."

Josh Smith, who is a runningback when Truscinski is quarterbacking, took over the play calling duties for the night.

Aaron Eggen scored both Ada-Borup touchdowns, including what proved to be a game-winning 32-yard third quarter run that saw him bounce off several would-be tacklers.

"We had people in position, but they didn't wrap up on the tackles," explained Neibauer. "When you only score six points yourself, you can't be doing things like that on defense."

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River had a chance at a tie when the Gators reached the Ada-Borup 2-yard line with three minutes to play. A Kagen Wange run was signalled a touchdown by one official, but he was over-ruled by another, leaving the ball inches from the goal line. Moments later the Gators lost a fumble in the end zone.

"It was a disappointing game," said Neibauer. "It's a game we thought we could win, and we just haven't lost very many of those in recent years."

Even more disheartening, acknowledged Neibauer, is the fact that the Gators may be playing the rest of the year without Truscinski.

Wange carried the ball 24 times for 104 yards, while Josh Smith had a 15-carry, 86-yard night for the Gators, who netted 252 yards on the ground. Smith was 1-for-7 passing for 24 yards. Ada-Borup rushed for just 112 yards, but did pick up 73 more yards on 5-for-13 passing.

The 1-1 Gators will host Fertile-Beltrami Friday.

Northland golf squad makes belated debut

Meets hosted by Minneapolis Community College Thursday and Bethany Friday opened the 1999 season for the Northland Community and Technical College golf team.

The program, reinstated to the Pioneers' interscholastic line-up this fall, made a later-than-anticipated debut under coach Rick Nikunen after meets scheduled to be hosted by Riverland Aug. 27 and Itasca Sept. 1 were both canceled.

Thursday's opener was played in the rain and wind on the Wirth Golf Course in Minneapolis. The weather broke for Friday's meet, moved from Mankato to Fairmont, that was played under sunny skies and no wind.

"Thursday was miserable," pointed out Nikunen. "There were ten teams and only one golfer broke 80. The conditions were tough. Friday was beautiful, but the course was a lot tougher."

Bemidji beats TRF 3-0

Bemidji swept visiting Thief River Falls 15-12, 16-14, 15-9 Thursday in high school volleyball.

The Prowlers were led by Rachel Mathson and Becky Bray with 10 kills each and Ayla Donlin with 28 assists.

"We played pretty well," said Amy Roche, the Prowlers' co-head coach, along with Bruce Jean. "But our mental errors threw us off track at times. We didn't do the little things right."

It was the fourth match of the year for both teams, with the Lumberjacks winning all four starts and the Prowlers splitting their outings.

Mustangs finish third

Red Lake County Central won three of four starts Saturday, including a third-place match against Fertile-Beltrami, in the Ada-Borup Invitational high school volleyball tournament.

The Mustangs beat Climax-Fisher 2-1, lost to Crookston 2-0 and defeated Thief River Falls 2-0 in round-robin pool play to earn a spot in the third place match, where they swept the Falcons 2-0.

"We played well, at times," said Red Lake County Central coach Nancy Bray. "We were off and on. At times our passing wasn't really there."

Heather Sebiefert led the Mustangs with 38 kills in the four tournament matches. Sylvia Hilgeman and Amanda Spoog contributed 20 kills each, and Emily Brustad was credited with 40 assists.

Prowlers split pair of Monday tennis duals

A 5-2 score produced a win and a loss for the Thief River Falls girls Monday in a double-dual high school tennis outing hosted by Crookston.

The Prowlers lost to the Pirates and beat Moorhead, with both matches featuring a 5-2 final.

Losing to Crookston snapped a season-opening three-match win streak for the Sylvia Sjoberg-coached Prowlers, who will have another doubleheader Saturday when they play Alexandria and Fergus Falls in matches at Fergus Falls beginning at 11 a.m.

Mustangs collect first win, 3-0 over Falcons

Red Lake County Central broke into the win column Thursday with a 15-3, 15-0, 15-12 high school volleyball sweep over Fertile-Beltrami at Oklee.

"We played much better," reported Red Lake County Central coach Nancy Bray, whose team lost season-opening matches to Fosston and Thief River Falls. "They played together."

After struggling at the service line in a Tuesday loss to the Prowlers, the Mustangs opened Thursday contest with 100 percent first game serving. Heather Schiefert had 15 kills and Amanda Spong 8 for the winners.

"Our serving was much better, and we did a better job passing," noted Bray. "They were talking to each other."

Rick Nelson is reelected to spot on NJCAA board

Rick Nelson, activities coordinator and athletic director at Northland Community and Technical College, was recently reelected to serve as the Region 13 men's division representative on the National Junior College Athletic Association board of directors.

Region 13 is made up of over 30 two-year colleges in Minnesota, North Dakota, Wisconsin, South Dakota and Upper Michigan. Nelson, a native of Oklee, has served as the Region 13 representative the past three years.

At a recent national meeting, Nelson was reelected to serve as Chair of the NJCAA Division III national baseball tournament. He also serves as a national pollster for NJCAA football, hockey, and men's basketball (Division I and Division III), and will assist with coordinating the national hockey tournament.

TRF defending title at Warren-Alvarado-Oslo volleyball tournament

Defending champion Thief River Falls is among the eight teams scheduled to compete Saturday in the Pony Boosters Invitational high school volleyball tournament hosted by Warren-Alvarado-Oslo.

The Prowlers, along with Tri-County, Stephen-Argyle and Crookston, will be grouped in Pool B for the round-robin portion of the tournament. Warren-Alvarado-Oslo, Fertile-Beltrami, Kittson Central, and East Grand Forks Sacred Heart are in Pool A.

Lincoln High School head football coach Jeff Mumm and his staff is extending a special invitation this year to all past coaches, team captains and homecoming queens to attend the Prowlers' home games.

Those people are encouraged to contact Mumm to let them know they will be at the game so introductions can be made at halftime.

Pioneers lose weekend matches

A fast Northland start to the 1999 volleyball season was slowed by losses to Mesabi Range and Vermilion in weekend Minnesota Community College Conference play.

Mesabi Range won 13-15, 15-4, 15-11, 13-15, 15-9 in a Friday night match at Virginia.

Vermilion beat Northland 15-11, 13-15, 15-13, 15-10 Saturday afternoon at Ely.

Northland left on the road trip with a 4-1 record and a four-match win streak. But those victories all came at home.

"We played well at times, but we just didn't play steady enough to come up with the wins," said Northland coach Mike Zachow. "I thought we were capable of winning both matches."

The Pioneers, after a close loss and two wins against Mesabi Range, struggled in Games 4 and 5. Then, after splitting the first two games against Vermilion, they let a 12-8 third game lead slip away and never recovered.

"It was a team effort," noted Zachow. "When we were winning, everybody was playing well for us. But if we were losing, it seemed like everybody was having a tough time."

The Pioneers will be back on their home floor this weekend with a 6:30 p.m. Friday match against Rainy River and the 12-noon Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Triangular Saturday that will include Northland, Hibbing and the North Dakota State College of Science.

Saturday's draw will feature Hibbing vs. Northland at 12-noon; NDSCS vs. Hibbing at 1:30 p.m.; and NDSCS vs. Northland at 2:30 p.m.
